London, Feb. 8.—(C. A. P.)—Lieut.-Col. Welby, M.P., speaking at a Primrose League meeting in West Newington, said a small increase in the price of bread was but little to pay for the consolidation of the Empire.

Three Will Die.

Montreal, Feb. 8.—Nine members of a family named Dupes living at 49 Dufferin street were removed from the house last night suffering from the effects of escaping gas. Three of the family will likely die.

Figuring It Out.

"Did the old lady give you anything when you took her trunk upstairs without knockin' the lid off?" inquired the first porter.

"No, but she thanked me kindly."

"Well, kind words will never die," returned the first porter.

"Neither will they buy groceries."

Disposing of Papa.

"I always contend, sir," said the girl's father meaningly, "that young men should be in bed before 10:30 each night."

"Yes?" replied the young man who was calling on the girl. "I hope you set that good example yourself, sir."

PETERBOROUGH MAN MARRIED IN SARNIA.

Nuptials of Mr. N. W. Pollard and Miss Lois M. Fry.

Sarnia Observer.—Wednesday evening the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Fry, 117 Bright street, was the scene of a happy and joyous event, when their daughter, Miss Lois May Fry, became the bride of Mr. N. W. Pollard, formerly of Peterborough. The marriage was performed at seven o'clock by Rev. Canon Davis, of St. George's church, in the presence of about 30 invited guests. The bride entered the parlour on the arm of her father, by whom she was given away, and presented a charming appearance in a gown of cream silk with point lace trimmings and carrying white roses. The house decorations consisted of a profussion of palms and carnations. Miss Lottie Fry, sister of the bride, assisted as bridesmaid and was handsomely gowned in green crepe de chene with cream trimmings. She carried red carnations. The duties of flower girl were performed by Miss Glenn Fleetham, cousin of the bride, who was prettily attired in old rose cashmere and carried white carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Howard MacArthur. The wedding march was played by Miss Elma Chase. The ceremony over the bridal party and guests partook of a recherche wedding breakfast and the happy couple received the congratulations of their many friends. The bride is one of Sarnia's fairest daughters, and her popularity was amply testified to by the extensive array of wedding tokens of which she was the recipient. The groom is well and favourably known to a large circle of friends with whom he is deservedly popular. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful pearl ring; to the bridesmaid a pearl crescent; to the flower girl a pearl brooch, and to the groomsman a pearl scarf pin. The young couple left on the G.T.R. express for a wedding trip to Toronto, Peterborough and other eastern cities. The bride's travelling dress was of green zebiline with hat to match. On their return to Sarnia they will take up their residence in the cottage at the corner of College avenue and Maria streets.

Mr and Mrs. Pollard are visiting in town.

An Open Session.

There will be an open session of the Park street B.Y.P.U., this evening, with a young people's social. A large muster of young people are expected. Mr. Oldham will entertain with his graphophone, and an interesting programme will be given.—Com.

POLES WERE SMASHED RIGHT AND LEFT.

By the Storm Yesterday – Limbs of Trees Wrenched Off.

All over the town are evidences of last night's storm and many a resident was kept awake expecting the creeking telegraph post, outside his house, to crash through the roof. And in the north end of the town, on the west side of Water street, between Dublin and Smith streets, the wind blowing across the wide expanse of river at and above the goose pond, was felt at its worst. All night long the wind howled around the houses and every now and then the light sleeper would be startled with a crash as pole after pole was splintered like match wood and fell very heavily to the frozen ground. This morning in the neighbourhood of twenty posts are down on Water street alone, and all over the road is strewed the snake-like wires. Most of the poles are snapped off about fifteen feet above the ground, but one was broken in three different places. The whole cross pieces supporting the wires, has in many cases been blown for fifty yards and for a time traffic along that street was stopped. Men, however, were soon at work removing the wreckage from the road and endeavouring to put up their lines of telephonic and telegraphic communication. It is noticeable that the poles on the east side of water street are all firm and standing. As for the town, generally, here and there is a fractured post, but for the most part, it is only the limbs of the trees which are strewed around in all directions. Yet above all one cannot but remark on the beauty of the sight. The trees lining the sidewalks are encased in ice as clear and beautiful as crystal and the head has to be bowed in order to pass under the drooping limbs. The roads are bad and the bleeding legs of the delivery horses evidence that.

But the sun shining on the snow sparkles with such radience as to obliterate the thoughts of destruction and as one gazes on nature the last verse of the first chapter of Genesis is recalled:—"And God saw everything that He had made and, behold, it was very good."

TRAIN SERVICE WAS CRIPPLED

To-day by the Storm – Thick Ice on the Rails.

Perhaps the storm affected no one so much as the railroads, and to-day the service was very badly crippled indeed. All trains were from two to three hours late and many were cancelled owing to the fact that communication between many stations had been cut off and communication regarding the movements of trains at a distance was unobtainable by even the stations. The noon C.P.R. train from Toronto was about two and a half hours late and the other trains were correspondingly overdue. Passengers who did arrive in town state that every little distance the train would have to stop until the road in front had been cleared. The rails themselves were covered with about two inches of ice.

Mr. Norman Jolliffe and Miss Florence Miller are mentioned among those who will contribute to the programme. No admission fee and no collection. A very cordial invitation is given to the Young Men's Guilds, Epworth Leagues and Endeavour Societies in town and vicinity. A large gathering of the young men and young women of town is expected.

A RAILWAY WRECK OUTSIDE PORT HOPE.

This Morning G. T. R. Passenger Let the Rails No One Injured.

(Staff Special.)

Port Hope, Fe. 8. — About ten o'clock this morning the train going west, about one and a half hours overdue, left the rails a short distance west of the town, and was badly wrecked. Almost miraculously no one was injured. The cause of the accident was the thick covering of ice on the rails, and there is no doubt that had the train been able to make greater speed the accident would have resulted in loss of life. The ponderous engine lies on its side, beside the rails, the steam escaping in volumes. All the trains here to day are from two to three hours late, and last night's storm was badly felt. In the town every here and there can be seen a broken telegraph pole and some live wires created considerable excitement for a while.

FROST'S
DIAMOND HALL
349 George Street.

THE WIND CAUSED MERCURY TO DROP.

It Fell 45 Degrees in a Few Hours Yesterday.

Since the last issue of the Examiner we have experienced a sample of weather which is unusual for this part of Ontario, although not uncommon in New York and neighbouring States. Early Sunday morning the snow which had been falling turned to rain and sleet, and the temperature being at its highest 2 degrees below the freezing point, the rain as it fell froze, coating everything it came in contact with. The spectacle was pretty, but the results were disastrous. The wind which had been previously in the east veered to the north-west, and a stiff gale began to blow very suddenly from that quarter, followed by an immediate and decided drop in temperature. Many trees suffered, while wires were laid low in many parts. The gale continued unabated through the night, while the cold increased. This morning the thermometer was down to 15 degrees below zero, having dropped 45 degrees in a few hours. At noon the instrument registered 9 degrees below.

THE FUNERAL OF MRS. STEPHEN MURPHY.

Took Place Saturday Afternoon to the Douro Cemetery.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Stephen Murphy, of Indian River, took place on Saturday afternoon at 2.0'clock from the family residence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery, Douro. The deceased was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien, of Douro, and leaves four sorrowing brothers, whose names are Samuel, Otonabee; Frederic, Francis and William, Douro. She was only aged 28 years and her death seems very premature. The deceased had been ailing for six months and leaves no family. The pall bearers were her four brothers and her two uncles, Michael and Alexander O'Brien.

POLICE MAGISTRATE GIVES HIS DECISION.

In the Case Against the American Cereal Company.

For a Breach of the Lord's Day—"The Work One of Necessity" Said the Magistrate and Case Dismissed.

At the Police Court this morning, Police Magistrate Dumble gave judgment in the case of the Crown against the American Cereal Company for an alleged breach of the Lord's Day Observance Act. The charge was dismissed, the Magistrate being unable in the face of the evidence submitted to make a conviction. Mr. Dumble said:—

"Roszel vs. Pakenham. — The information herein is laid under Chapter 45, Upper Canada, commonly called "The Lord's Day Act," and charges that the defendant "on Sunday, the 7th day of January, 1904, a day known as the Lord's Day, being a mechanic, did do and exercise worldly labour or work of his ordinary calling as a millwright, and not being a work of conveying travellers or His Majesty's mails, by land or by water, or selling drugs or medicine, or any other work of necessity or work of charity, contrary to the statute in that behalf.' There were like informations against two others, and it was agreed by counsel that all the cases should be disposed of on the same evidence. It was proved that the men were employed making repairs on the rolls and spouts of the Cereal Company's mill; that the machinery required overhauling and adjusting every week, and that it could not be done when the mill was in operation; that between 400 and 500 people were employed at the mill, and that they began work at 6 a.m. Monday and continued each day until 6 p.m. Saturday night; that stopping the mill on a week day to adjust or repair would throw the employees out of work. The superintendent of the mill stated that if the work could be done at night they would prefer to do it then, as Sunday labour is more expensive than week day labour; but it could not be done as well at night; that employees would rebel at being idle one day a week.

Mr. Pakenham said that he was a church member, and he did not do the work from choice. He considered it a work of necessity so that the employees might make full time; that the work he was doing could not be done with artificial light.

"Mr. Dennistoun for the defence, submitted that the work under all the circumstances was a work of necessity.

"The Canadian Act is similar to the old English Act 29, Charles II., chapter 7, and under that act and the Canadian Act, there are judgments which may well be considered in disposing of this case.

"On examination of the information I find it faulty and that it does not comply with the forms recognized and used. It describes Mr. Pakenham as a mechanic but does not set the particular work that he did which constituted the offence.

"The general language used is not sufficient, unless the act creating the offence states that such language shall be sufficient. The recognized forms require the trade of the offender to be designated, as butcher, mill wright, etc. 'Mechanic' alone is too broad. All millwrights are mechanics, but all mechanics are not millwrights. The mechanic might be a carriage builder, and would not be exercising his ordinary calling when working as a millwright.

"Then the specific work done — showing that the work was the peculiar work of a millwright, is not mentioned. Oke's Magistrate's Manual and other recognized works would say, 'And the said A.B., being then and there a (butcher) did unlawfully do and exercise worldly labour, business and work in his ordinary calling of (butcher,) aforesaid, upon the said Lord's Day, by then and there (selling to E.F. a leg of mutton), the same not being a work of necessity or charity, contrary etc.' It may be said that this is a small technical objection. Perhaps it is but it has been given effect to in Hespeler and Shaw, 16 V.C. Q. 13, page 106, re Somers, Canadian Criminal Cases 46, also decides that the Act constituting the offence must be set out specifically. The information in this case does not disclose what particular work the defendant did, so that to show that the work was the peculiar work of a millwright, and I think the information is bad for this reason. I am also of the opinion that the work done may fairly be said to be a work of necessity.

"It has been said by Chief Justice Harrison in Pringle v. Napanee, 43 V.C. R., 285, that Christianity is a part of the law of this country. That is true in a sense and yet the courts do not recognize matters that are purely in foro conscientiae. Only matters affecting the laws of civil life are recognized.

Working at one's ordinary business is only an offence against law by reason of the statute creating the offence. The law of the Lord underlies the law of Christian countries, because it is recognized that this law of the Lord is true and also as a basis of law works the best results for society. Hence our laws are said to be formed upon and in harmony with the laws of God.

"The observance of the Sabbath day was enjoined in Adam's day as a day of rest and hallowed day and its observance is necessary for man's highest welfare, worldly as well as spiritually, but the true aim and meaning of the day is best disclosed by Him who came out from and who knew the Father who commanded the observance of the Sabbath day and we may properly look to the teaching of Jesus to learn how that day should be observed in this Christian age.

"He said the Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath. He said it was right to do good on the Sabbath day—to save life, not to kill, and on the Sabbath day and in the synagogue He healed the withered arm on the broad ground. That it was lawful to do good on the Sabbath day and this day being made for man must have embraced the right and even the duty to do whatsoever was needed for his essential comfort and highest well being.

"The change in the ways of modern life with its complexities has made it exceedingly difficult to keep the Sabbath day after the manner of the Jewish law or old Sabbath observance nor does the enlightened judgment of this day call for it. If it was right to pull out of a pit on the Sabbath day, a sheep an ass, or ox, are there not now many acts which humanity will justify as right in the interests of humanity; acts which the Great Teacher would not condemn?

Here the work of a few men for a few hours on Sunday made way for the employment of hundreds of bread winners on Monday. It is not claimed that this mill ran on Sunday, only that the machinery was adjusted and made workable for the coming six days, that people might have work, home, food, fuel for the little ones on the Monday.

"That we have such establishments to supply work is a blessing; to continue in operation there must be a financial success; to hinder and keep so great an establishment idle one day in six might mean ruin and stoppage to the mill, and great hardship of the employees. In this case the spirit of the law was observed. No more work was done than was needed to let the mill go on working on the week days.

"In Regina vs. Buryman, 4 Ont. Rep., page 292, the late Chief Justice Haggarty, a judge of great attainment and high Christian character, in a similar charge of violating the Lord's day, used these words, which I respectfully adopt:—"With the most sincere desire to see the day kept apart as much as possible from the exercise of ordinary worldly labours as a most benign and fortunate intermission to the toil and weariness of the world, we cannot help fearing the inevitable injury that must result to its happy continuance. If a too rigid and practically impossible adherence to the letter of the law be insisted on, under pain of fine and imprisonment.'"

"I am of opinion and I find that under the circumstances here disclosed, the work done by the men charged, was a work of necessity and not a violation of the Lord's Day Act. The charge will be dismissed."

THE RUSSO-JAPANESE ORIENTAL EMBROGLIO.

Sketch of the Recent Events Leading up to the Present Situation.

How the Great Powers are Mixed-up with the Far Eastern Question.

The London Daily Chronicle gives the following concise summary of recent events in the far east, which in view of the imminence of war between Japan and Russia will give readers of the Examiner a better understanding of the situation, and permit of a more intelligible reading of the war despatches which it is feared will soon engage the attention of the world:

In view of these "excursions and alarms," it may be well to recall the course of events in the far east during the past few years. On July 31, 1894, war was formally declared by Japan against China, and notified to the powers. The fighting by land and sea went steadily in favour of the Japanese, who, indeed, carried all before them.

In May, 1895, the treaty of Shimonoseki, negotiated by Li Hung Chang, who visited Japan for the purpose, was ratified, and brought peace as between the two countries. Following the "breakup of China," as it was called at the time, there began a scramble by the powers for territory. Japan, under pressure from Russia, France and Germany, relinquished Port Arthur and the territory she had occupied on the mainland. Germany was the first of China's disinterested protectors to profit by her weakness. The murder of two German missionaries in Shan-Tung gave Germany pretext for landing a force at Kiao-Chau in November, 1897, and demanding mining and railway privileges in the Shang-Tung province. Prince Henry of Prussia was sent to China in command of a German battleship, as the Emperor expressed it, to strike with his "mailed fist," if necessary. Then on December 18, 1897, there appeared an official announcement which heralded much. It was that the Russian fleet, by permission of China would winter at Port Arthur.

On February 22, 1898, came the news that the Chinese Government had agreed with Great Britain to open all the inland waters, and undertaken not to alienate to any foreign power territory in the basin of the Yangtse-Kiang.

In March there was a report that Russia had demanded the surrender by China of all sovereign rights over Port Arthur and Talien-wan, on the same terms as had already been granted to Germany in regard to Kiao-Chau.

Next the world heard that China had practically handed over the peninsula to Russia, and had agreed to conditions for the development of the Trans-Manchurian Railway. The excitement caused in England about this time will not readily be forgotten.

On April 2, 1898, it became known that England had been given a lease of Wei-hai-wei.

The first act of a prolonged drama had thus been the war between China and Japan; the second the scramble for territory following it; and, thirdly, in the summer of 1900, came the "Boxer" rising. It led to large military operations by the powers, and to the successful relief of the Pekin Legations which had been besieged. The allied troops got to Pekin on August 14th, and entered the Forbidden City on the 17th. About the middle of January, 1900, the terms of peace imposed by the allies were accepted; gradually matters grew quieter, and the Chinese court, which had fled, returned to Pekin.

The visit of the Marquis Ito to England last year, heralded another event having far-reaching effects, namely, the Anglo-Japanese treaty. Russia, meanwhile, has secured a firm hold over Manchuria, and completed her railway from the Baltic to the Yellow Sea. Her apparent intention to extend her operations to Corea, as well as her failure to carry out repeated pledges to "evacuate" Manchuria on October 8th has produced the existing tension with Japan, which may snap the leash any day, and "let slip the dogs of war."

103 Men This Month.

An effort is being made this month to add one hundred new members to the Y.M.C.A. It can be done with the co-operation of the members. No association has more inducements to offer, and one wonders why hundreds of young men are not members. Every member is asked to help in this canvas by trying to get at least one new subscriber. Young men who do not belong should not wait to be asked but call at the building right away and get a ticket.

BREEDERS OF SHEEP AND CATTLE.

Held Annual Meetings Friday—The Election of Officers

Toronto, Feb. 6.—The annual meeting of the Dominion Cattle-Breeders' Association was held here yesterday morning. The attendance was not large. The financial statement showed receipts of $3,419, while the disbursements were $3,669.21, leaving a deficit of $250.21. The officers were then elected. Arthur Johnston, Greenwood, being elected President. W. L. Smith urged the members to join issue with the other societies and press upon the Dominion Government the need of a two-cent passenger rate and lower freight cars. A motion to this effect was passed.

In the afternoon the Dominion Sheep-Breeders' Association held their annual meeting. Vice-president for the different breeds were elected: John Campbell of Woodville, a well-known sheep-breeder, wrote, vigorously condemning the present management and deploring the action of the Dominion Government to refusing assistance to enable the sheep-breeders to exhibit at St. Louis. A. W. Smith defended the action of the various associations. Lloyd Jones of Burford strongly urged the association to exhibit at St. Louis, but a resolution pledging the association to loyally support the other association, who decline to exhibit, was endorsed.

He says: "I have been ailing for about a year from deranged nerves, and very often weak spells would come over me and be so bad that I sometimes thought I would be unable to survive them. I have been treated by doctors and have taken numerous preparations but none of them helped me in the least. I finally got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before taking them I did not feel able to do any work, but now I can work as well as ever, thanks to one box of your pills. They have made a new man of me, and my advice to any person troubled as I was, is to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills."

SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER.

But Lovely Woman's Only Political Plank Is Her Sex.

The Melbourne Age thus refers to the candidature of the only lady aspirant for Federal honors in Victoria (who, by the way, was not elected):

There is one element in the Senate contest that is quite novel. It is the candidature of Miss Goldstein. All who have listened to the addresses of the lady describe her as a graceful and attractive speaker, who can talk charmingly apropos of nothing. She has no political grasp of the grave questions which must confront the next Parliament; and she asks women and others to vote for her, not on account of any political opinions she holds, or any high cause she would serve, but simply on account of her sex. That is certainly unworthy of the platform of any candidate, and mere euphonious speech and a pretty face are not substitutes for solid opinions and definite principles in the battle of life. Miss Goldstein owed it to her sex as the first lady candidate to have fortified herself with at least enough knowledge to enable her to take sides.

Noses.

One of the most brilliant essays on nasology is the one which classes noses not by origin, but by mentality. The aquiline nose, for example, is the sign of goodness, amiability and weakness. By that nose Louis XVI. was led to the direst catastrophies. Let us have commiseration for the nose that is very slightly prominent. It is the muzzle of a sheep and belongs to people who are easily deceived. Distrust the nose with the medium part elongated. That elongation marks the extent of desires and the insatiability of appetites. Look out also for the ferret nose, with its sharp point, always on the scent for secrets. It is the nose of the inquisitor. The devil-may-care nose is slightly turned up at the end. It denotes a character without firmness. But when you see a nose that rises from the depths of the orbits and stands out in bold relief take off your hat. You are in the presence of the nose of a thinker.

Brain Work and Longevity.

In a lecture on longevity delivered before the Royal College of Physicians Sir Hermann Weber, himself an octogenarian, gave official support to the doctrine that brain work does not kill, but rather the reverse. A few of his instances were Sophocles, Plato, Galen, Cicero, Moltke, Bismarck, Mommsen and Gladstone, to whom we might add Hobbes, Carlyle, Spencer and Kelvin. The facts are that brain work increases the supply of blood to the nerve cells and promotes their nutrition and health. Mosso, an Italian, laid a man on a delicately balanced table and showed that the head end sank when ever the subject did a mental sum or any other brain work. The increased weight of his head was due to the life giving blood. The truth is that brain work, as such, never killed anybody.—London Chronicle.

Peace and Bones.

A writer in a London newspaper says: "The other day I heard an Englishman defending our system of coinage on the ground that we are the only nation on earth who can say that the system is bone of our bone. For there are 240 bones in the body and 240 pence in the pound; there are 120 bones in the head and trunk and 120 in the limbs and 120 pence in half a sovereign; each limb contains 30 bones, and a half crown contains 30 pence; in the spinal column there are 24 bones and in a florin 24 pence, and as we have 12 ribs on each side, so we have 12 pence in every shilling. See how the proportions of the skeleton of our commerce conform to nature's teaching. No wonder it is vigorous."

The Candle Nut.

The candle nut is a native of the Pacific islands, and the name is derived from the fact that the kernels are so full of oil that when dried they are stuck on reeds and used as candles. The people of Hawaii, after having roasted these nuts and removed the shells, reduce the kernels to a paste, which is flavored with pepper and salt and is said to be a most appetizing dish. The husk of the nut and the gum which exudes from the tree have medicinal values, while the burned shell of the kukui is used to make an indelible ink with which tattooing is done.

DUNSMUIR WILL CASE.

Edna Wallace Hopper and Her Mother Lost Suit—Must Pay Costs.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 8.—Justice Drake handed the judgment down in the famous Hopper v. Dunsmuir will case Saturday morning, giving judgment with costs against both the plaintiff, Edna Wallace Hopper, and her mother, who joined in the suit. The judgment, in regard to the former, failed to "see any right, legal or equitable," which enabled her to attack the will.

By the facts alone, it was found that Alexander Dunsmuir was of sound and imposing mind when he executed his will; that he had for a long time previously expressed his intention of making his will in favor of his brother, James Dunsmuir, and that he did so make it. The judge agrees with Chancellor Spragge that facts sworn to are of far greater weight than scientific opinion. When he finds facts, which prove business capacity, shrewdness, a successful management of a large business concern, without delusions, he is of opinion that such a person is capable of making a will.

The case occupied seventy-two day, and eighty witnesses were examined.

Same Old Story.

Windsor, Feb. 8.—Friends of John Purvis of Maidstone are worried over his continued absence from home. He has a wife and four children, the youngest a babe in arms. A young school teacher who boarded at Purvis' home has also disappeared.

This great medicine awakens the action of the liver, invigorates the kidneys and regulates the bowles. As a result digestion is improved, bodily pains disappear and the health is benefitted in every way.

THE SLED BOAT.

Ingenious Combination Devised by the Fire Island Life Savers.

The life savers attached to Uncle Sam's stations on Fire island encountered great difficulties and dangers in crossing the Great South bay to the Long Island shore, either by water craft or ice craft. Still, naturally enough, they had a longing to visit family and friends when the great island sea was choked with drift ice or partly frozen over. These ingenious people long ago realized the needs of a vehicle capable of traveling on either ice or water safely, and years ago they launched the first "scooter," a boat constructed to travel on both ice and in water. It was a small boat, made fast to a sled, which was pushed on the ice and rowed on the water. This crude mode of travel, with the wind against or across the boat, made the trip one of tremendous exertion. In the course of time a sail was tried, at first square rigged and very small, but it was used only when the wind was fair. Then a special boat was built which was partially decked, and the sled was made lighter until at last the scooter of the present day came about, with nothing left of the sled but the bottom of the runners, shod with iron, or, better still, as experience has shown, with brass. And so has developed the wonderful scooter of the Long Island lakes and bays, a swift iceboat that will sail in the water and from one element to the other quickly without a jar.—Exchange.

Poisons.

Snake poison would kill the strongest man if the smallest possible drop of it were injected into his veins or laid on a cut finger or chapped lip. But the smallest child might drink a teaspoonful—probably a glassful—without suffering the least injury. The same is true of most of the poisons savages inject into their arrows, and you can suck the dangerous wound with impunity.

Arsenic eaters become so accustomed to the use of this drug that one of them could eat as much of it in a week as would kill a troop of cavalry, horses and all. If a man took a dose of lunar caustic and his wife a dose of hydrochloric acid they would be subjects for a coroner's inquest in a very short time. But if either the man or the woman took both doses together the result would hardly be different from that of taking so much strawberries and cream. If two men each took a small quantity of hemlock one might drop dead, if he had a fatty heart, and the other feel only a slight inconvenience, if his heart was all right.

Sudden Changes of Temperature

Bring Hosts of Coughs and Colds—Serious Results are Prevented by the Use of

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

Coughs and colds usually arise from sudden changes of temperature. It may be change of weather, passing from a warmer to a colder room or exposure to a draught.

It is not always possible to prevent exposure in these ways, but it is possible to prevent serious results by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

This great medicine has saved thousands of lives by preventing pneumonia, consumption and other forms of lung trouble.

It is mother's favourite remedy for croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, and the coughs and colds to which children are subject. Being pleasant to the taste, the little ones delight to take it.

It is prized by the old people because of the prompt and thorough relief it brings for asthma and other chronic ailments of the bronchial tubes.

The very fact that the sale of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is more than three times that of any similar remedy, and was never so large as it is to-day, is sufficient proof of its merit. In the great majority of homes it is kept on hand for cases of emergency.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, family size (three times as much) 60 cents, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on the bottle. 3

RAILWAY COMMISSIONS

PERSONEL AND CONSTITUTION OF CANADA'S NEW BOARD.

The Extensive Powers Which Will Be Entrusted to Messrs. Blair, Bernier and Mills After the 1st of February—Their Personal Conduct—Where the Board May Sit—Its Jurisdiction—Provision for Appeals.

A perusal of the Railway Act of last session gives something of an idea as to the vast amount of work to be done by the newly constituted Railway Commission. The Railway Committee of the Privy Council is abolished, and its place is taken by the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada. The Commission is to be a court of record in the ordinary legal sense. The Commissioners may hold office for ten years during good behavior, but may be removed at any time by the Government. They are eligible for reappointment at the end of their term, but must retire at the age of 75. The Chief Commissioner is appointed such by the Government which may also name a Deputy Chief Commissioner. The salaries are $10,000 for the Chief Commissioner, and $8,000 for each of the others. The Board is invested with the powers and duties of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council. Not less than two Commissioners shall attend at the hearing of every case, except where there is no Commissioner.

The Government reserves the right to appoint a Commissioner ad hoc where a Commissioner is interested by kin or affinity to any party interested in a case.

Their Personal Conduct.

The Commissioners must not hold railway stock, shares, bonds, debentures or other security of any railway subject to the Act, nor have any interest in any railway device, appliance, machine, or rolling stock, and on his appointment he is given three months to sell out.

Any member of the Board accepting any gift or favor for himself or for influence on behalf of any person with any railway company or officer for any position or favor, shall thereby forfeit his seat as a member of the Board.

Each Commissioner shall during his term of office reside at Ottawa, or within five miles thereof, or within such distance thereof as the Government determines.

The Commissioners shall devote the whole of their time to the performance of their duties, and shall not accept or hold any office or employment inconsistent with the Act.

To Sit in Ottawa or Elsewhere.

The Government, upon the recommendation of the Minister, shall provide, at Ottawa, a suitable place in which the sessions of the Board may be held, and also suitable offices for the Commissioners, secretary, staff, and other employes.

Whenever circumstances render it expedient to hold sessions without the city of Ottawa, the Board may hold them in any part of Canada.

The Commissioners may sit either together or separately, in private or in open court, but any party to a complaint may demand a hearing in open court. Any two members of the court shall constitute a quorum. The secretary will hold office during the pleasure of the Government. His duty will be to attend the sessions of the Board and keep its records. His salary will be $4,000. In his absence an acting secretary will be appointed. The Government may at times employ experts in matters in question to advise the Board. The Government itself will decide on the number of officials required to carry out the work of the Board, will make the appointments and fix the salaries.

The Jurisdiction of the Board.

As to the jurisdiction and general powers of the Board, the Act sets out that it shall have jurisdiction to determine any application:

Complaining that the company, or any person, has failed to do any act required to be done by this Act, or the Special Act, or by any direction made thereunder, by the Governor-in-Council, the Board, the Minister, or any inspecting engineer, or has done or is doing any act, contrary to this Act, or the Special Act, or any such direction;

Requesting the Board to make any order, or give any direction, sanction or approval, which by law it is authorized to make or give;

And the Board may order any company or person to do, as far as is not inconsistent with this Act, any act, which such company may be required to do under this Act, or the Special Act, and may forbid the doing or continuing of any act, contrary to this Act.

Has Supreme Court Powers.

In this regard the Board is to have all the powers of a superior court. The Board may act upon its own motion or at the request of the Minister of Railways. It may make regulations respecting the speed of trains, the use of steam whistles, passing from car to car, coupling of cars, shelter for employes, devices to avoid fires, and the general protection of property, the employes of the company and the public. The Board may provide penalties, otherwise than those specified in the Act. These penalties shall not exceed one hundred dollars. As to the practice and procedure to be observed in the Board, the Act makes an interesting provision for the development of the function of the Board as a court of record. Every document purporting to be signed by the Chief Commissioner and secretary, or by either of them, or by the Minister or inspecting engineer, shall, without proof of any such signature, be prima facie evidence in all courts, and shall be sufficient notice to the company and all parties interested, that such document was duly signed and issued by the Board, Minister or inspecting engineer as the case may be; and if such document purports to be a copy of any regulation, order, direction, decision or report, made or given by the Board, or the Minister or inspecting engineer, shall be prima facie evidence in all courts of such regulation, order, direction, decision or report, and when served on the company, or any person, shall be sufficient notice to the company or such person, of such regulation, order, direction, decision or report from the time of such service. And similarly plans, profiles and the like, signed by the Board, shall be prima facie evidence of the existence of such documents. The Act makes elaborate provision for the giving of notice to parties interested in matters to come before the Board, the publication of regulations and orders, the notice of applications for enquiry. The existing orders of the Railway Committee may be made rules of the Exchequer Court, or of any superior court of any Province, and penalties for infraction of these rules may be exacted by the new Board. In like manner decisions of the Board may be made rules of court.

Provision for Appeals.

The Board itself is empowered to make rules governing its own procedure under the Act, and it shall be independent of judgments of other courts on questions of fact not binding on it. In other words, its judgment of fact shall not be dependent on simultaneous suits in other courts. The order of the Board shall be final, saving the right of review by the Government and appeal to the Supreme Court on questions of jurisdiction or of law. In case of such appeals, the Board may be represented by counsel.

Neither the Board nor any member of the Board shall in any case be liable to any costs by reason or in respect of any appeal. The Governor-in-Council may at any time refer to the Board for a report, or other action, any question arising under this Act, or the Special Act, and the Board shall without delay comply therewith.

The Board is empowered to fix its own scale of costs, and may make its own orders as to the responsibility for the payment for any construction it may order. It may initiate enquiry into accidents or casualties and exercise the right of inspection of the company's works and documents and will hold the power of an ordinary court to demand the presence of any person for enquiry under oath.

Applications for running rights by railways, within forty yards of the track must be made to the Board, which will exercise also a general supervision of the taking or using of lands by railway companies.

The Board will be charged with the regulation of the construction of branch lines, crossings, and junctions. In the latter regard the Act provides that "the railway lines or tracks of any company shall not be crossed or joined by or with the railway lines or tracks of any other company until leave therefore has been obtained from the Board."

Its Powers Are Sweeping.

It must enquire into all matters affecting works in navigable waters, highway crossings, telegraph, telephone and other lines, and in all these respects must wield a potent influence in the reconciliation of warring interests, drainage, farm crossings, fences, gate and cattle guards, bridges, tunnels and other structures, including station, will all come under the jurisdiction of the Board. It will preside at the inspection of all new railways, and generally supervise the operation of the roads in respect of train service, equipment, telegraphs and telephones, fire protection, and the like.

In the large matter of tolls it is armed with authority to inspect all schedules and provide against unjust discrimination between localities. The whole questions of tolls, freight classification, tariffs, discrimination and general provisions respecting carriage, will be under constant supervision by the Board, which the Act has clothed not only with wide powers of discretion, but hard and fast rules for the protection of the interests of the people at large.

In the whole scheme of Canadian railway development there is hardly one important phase of the relations between the railway corporations and the public, which will not be subject at one time or another to the scrutiny of the Commissioners. Plainly it is a large order, and the Commissioners who are able to fill it must earn their salaries.

An Ingenious Orillia Lady.

One day recently a prominent young lady of Orillia lost her post-office key and soon after complained repeatedly of not receiving any mail. The postmaster and clerks assured her that parcels and letters had been put in her box as before, so she immediately suspected that some dishonorable person had found her key and was appropriating her mail. Last Friday she wrote a decoy letter, stating that a certain amount of money would be sent through the office on Saturday and would reach Orillia at noon. On Friday the lady saw the decoy letter in her box, but left it there, and soon it disappeared in the usual way. That night she again complained to the postmaster and told about sending the decoy letter and how it had disappeared from her box; so he said he would immediately send word to Ottawa and a detective would be sent to attend to the matter. The lady, however, saw the necessity for immediate action, and on Saturday morning asked to be allowed to set a trap, so she put a parcel in her box with a bell fastened to the far end by a long cord, which allowed the bell to extend to the floor of the postmaster's department, where she waited to see what the result would be. At noon, when the decoy letter said the money would be there, the parcel in the box was interfered with, the bell gave the alarm and the person found there was arrested on the charge of being caught robbing the mail.

Locomotives Loaded in Thirty Seconds.

The Grand Trunk Railway has just completed the erection of a new coal shute at the foot of Peter street in Toronto, at a cost of $7,000, which performs the work of about a dozen workmen. The new shute is known as the Fairbank Morrison machine of Chicago. It has two pockets, one on each side of the building, capable of holding 250 tons of coal each and locomotives can be loaded with coal in about thirty seconds. In a test case of how long it would take to unload a car of coal, 50 tons was lifted from a car into the shute in forty-five minutes.

The Pace That Tells.

In the six day bicycle races the pace tells terribly at the end. Man after man falls out exhausted. The victor wabbles wearily over the line. In the business race it's the same. Man after man drops out exhausted. The successful man is often a dyspeptic, unable to enjoy success. When the stomach is diseased there is not enough nutrition assimilated to sustain the body and repair the daily waste of tissues. The result is weakness, tending to collapse.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect assimilation of food by which the body is built up with sound, healthy flesh.

"I have taken one bottle of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for indigestion and liver complaint," writes Mr. C. M. Wilson, of Yadkin College, Davidson Co., N. C. "Have had no bad spells since I commenced taking your medicine—in fact, have not felt like the same man. Before I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I could not eat anything without awful distress, but now I can eat anything I wish without having unpleasant feelings. Last summer our baby was teething and was so poor he was almost a skeleton. We gave him your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and now he is as healthy and well as any child. I will speak a good word for your medicine whenever I have an opportunity."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure sick headache.

There are two kinds of emulsions of cod liver oil—Scott's and all the others. Not one of the latter is as valuable as Scott's Emulsion and there's a reason for it. Only the purest ingredients enter our Emulsion and its quality never varies. That is why it helps when all others fail.

There's not much oil in the market now; it's scarce and high in price. But seal oil and other inferior oils are cheap and plentiful. That's why you can buy so many substitutes for Scott's Emulsion at a lower price.

We guarantee our Emulsion to be the best remedy for weak lungs, low vitality and wasting conditions. Who guarantees the others?

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT

T. A. S. ARE TAKING MANY SUPPORTERS.

They Play Keene at Norwood in the T. V. L. To night.

It is very likely that a large number of supporters will accompany the T. A. S. to Norwood to-night to witness the game in that village between Keene and the locals for the championship of this district of the Trent Valley League. The T. A. S. are playing the same line-up as faced the Peterborough II team a short time back and are very confident of a win. A special train will leave the C.P.R. station at 7 o'clock and tickets may be obtained from the station or the T. A. S. rooms.

THE BURNS—BELLAND CROSS COUNTRY RACE.

The Runners Started off This Afternoon for Downer's Corners Belland won.

The Burns-Belland race began this afternoon at 2.45 o'clock, the men starting from the Oriental Hotel, for Downer's Corners and back. Both seemed in good condition and each man confident of winning. They started off at an easy long stride, and were followed by Mr. T. J. Corbett as referee. W. J. Taylor was the starter.

The race was very close, first one lading and then the other. Turning the corner on the last stretch Belland was in the lead but Burnes passed him. However, Belland sprinted at the finish and came in about a foot ahead and the referee decided accordingly. The finish was such a close one that many were of the opinion that Burns was the winner and others that it was a dead heat.

CAMPBELLFORD 5 WARKWORTH 3.

Result of Friday Night Game in Norwood.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Norwood, Feb. 8th. — The first game of the three-corned tie in this district of the Trent Valley League, was played off here on Friday night, in the Norwood Palace Skating Rink, between Campbellford and Warkworth, the score being Campbellford 5, Warwkorth 3.

The game was a very poor exhibition of hockey, partly on account of the teams being accustomed to small open rinks, and in the first half they appeared to be completly handicapped. Both teams worked hard, but couldn't work much of a combination play. The Warkworth team seemed to have the best of the game throughout but lacked in their shooting. They had several splendid chances for shots on goal, but every time the puck went wide.

The following were the teams:

Campbellford.

Goal—E. Shaw.
Point—H. Lowery.
Cover point—P. Shannon.
Forwards—J. Blute, S. Tate, G. Blute, J. Patterson.

Warkworth.

Goal—A. Kenny.
Point—G. Wilson.
Cover point—H. Clark.
Forwards — W. Wiggins, H. Renidéau, J. Wilson, P. Dumegan.

Referee, Mr. Geo. Lynch, Peterborough; goal umpires, R. Pearce, C. Pearce.

MACHINISTS AND THE BLACKSMITHS

Of the P. Hamilton Manufacturing Co. Met in fearful Battle Saturday.

An exciting game of hockey took place at the Brock street rink on Saturday evening at 6 p. m., the contestants being the machinists and the blacksmiths, of the Peter Hamilton Co's works. For a few minutes after play had begun neither side scored, but after a brilliant piece of work on the part of Plummer and Wills the machinists scored the first goal. Teams faced off again, this time Wills getting the puck, and after a pass to Plummer, the latter tallied, making the score 2 to 0. The Sledge-swingers, after a series of combination plays, finally scored a goal—score 2—1. The machinists, after working hard, managed to pull the score up to 7—1, and just as the referee was about to blow the whistle for the finish, the blacksmiths, after a hard trial, scored a goal making the score 7—2 in favour of the machinists. Plummer, for the machinists, played a star game, while Wills was a good supporter. Halpin, for the blacksmiths, as rover, was certainly all over and succeeded in stopping a good many dangerous rushes.

Bothwell, that fast cover point of last year's Perth team failed to put in an appearance.

Mr Thompson, of the Cordage Co., refereed the game to the entire satisfaction of both teams. Goal umpires, Kenneth Overend and Frank Milliken; timekeeper, Maynard Brown.

The senior Northern Lights visited Lakefield Saturday afternoon, going per 1.30 p. m. train. They took a strong team and tied the score with their opponents, the score being one-all. Leo. Hogan, the locals' goal keeper, stopped some hard shots and the remainder of the team did equally well. The Lakefields were the heavier team. The line-up of the Northern Lights was: Goal, Leo. Hogan; point, A. Coughlin; cover point, Charlie Stevens; forwards, F. Conroy, Quinlan, Jno. Hogan, David Smith.

Russia's Delay Blamed.

Paris, Feb. 8.—The Japanese Government communicated a statement to M. Monotono, the Japanese Minister here, announcing the severance of diplomatic relations with Russia, and giving details of the reason therefore.

M. Monotono took this statement to the Foreign Office. Subsequently the Japanese Minister gave the Associated Press the following statement:

"Tokio, Feb. 6.—The last Japanese note in response to the Russian note of Jan. 5 had been remitted to the Russian Minister to Tokio on the 13th of January. The Japanese Government had insisted that a prompt response be made to it, owing to the gravity of the situation.

"Not receiving the answer requested, M. Kurino, the Japanese Minister at St. Petersburg, has made to Count Lamsdorff on several occasions recently representations in order to secure an answer from Russia. Not having obtained this answer, he asked him to indicate the earliest date for the reply. Count Lamsdorff, while promising to make a response as early as possible, has not been able to indicate when the response could be transmitted to the Japanese Government.

"The Japanese Government having vainly waited, on its part, the Russian answer, for more than three weeks, and having been moreover informed that Russia was making active preparations for war and was concentrating her troops and her naval forces towards Corea, it is under the necessity of breaking negotiations with Russia and with resuming its liberty of action."

Called a Bluff.

Berlin, Feb. 8.—Japan's course is regarded here even vet as possibly a bluff.

First Battle on the Sea.

London, Feb. 8.—The standing fleet of Japan and the Asiatic fleet of Russia, both ready for action, have been for several days ranged a few hours apart, at the entrance to the Gulf of Pechili. The Japanese warships are close to Wei Hai Wei, the British naval station, which, it has been reported, the British have evacuated.

The Russian fleet is just outside of Port Arthur, at the point of the Lenotong Peninsula, a naval station defended by the greatest forts in Asia and containing the only Asiatic drydock in which battleships can be accommodated.

While the land scenes of the impending war must surely be Corea it is likely that the conflict will begin by a battle on the sea.

Ian Hamilton's Part.

London, Feb. 8.—Lieut.-Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton, quartermaster-general to the British forces, will, it is announced, in the event of war between Japan and Russia, be appointed British military attache with the Russian forces.

Pope Plus Will Feel the Ground For Intervention.

(Special to the Examiner.)

London, Feb. 8.—Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Minister, states that military steps contemplated by Japan for the preservation of its interests in the far East have already commenced. The Minister carefully points out, however, that this does not mean actual hostilities, but strategic action through pouring Japanese troops into Corea and Manchuria. This he states is now in progress.

London, later.—The Paris correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company is informed in official quarters that France is determined to make immediate and supreme efforts to mediate between Russia and Japan. It is stated that other powers have assured France of their moral support.

Rome, Feb. 8. — The Pope has instructed Cardinal Merry Del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, to test the ground, and see whether there is a chance of intervention in the Far East. Should there be the slightest possibility of success attending such an effort, His Holiness will use his utmost influence for peace, especially with the Czar.

Never Learn Club.

An enjoyable evening is arranged for Wednesday under the auspices of the Never Learn Club, to take place in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, in the manner of a leap year dance, which will be the closing dance of the season. The young ladies of the club have undertaken the refreshments and the Mariorana Harp Band Orchestra, of Toronto, will furnish the music. This dance, like the others, will be an informal one, and invitations issued for any Never Learn event will be honoured.

It's a warm proposition! Nothing like Furs for a genuine Canadian winter like this one. Such cold weather calls for the warmest of clothing, and for warmth what will compare with Fur? It keeps the heat of the body in, and conserves it longest. It looks well—is not cumbersome—is durable and decidedly stylish if properly cut and made.

"But what about the price," says some one. All we have to say is that Prices were never Lower.

We are compelled by our partnership agreement to reduce stock by the beginning of March to about $20,000. this means the sale of about $25,000 worth of Furs, Hats and Furnishings by that time.

Remnant Sales

In spite of the astonishing sales of the past three weeks, at the Golden Lion, stock-taking discloses large quantities of winter goods which we do not wish to measure up. We would rather count cash than merchandise. For the sake of disposing of them to the last yard, a pittiless cutting of prices is the rule. The chances during these two weeks of Inventory-taking are the most extraordinary yet announced. If you don't buy to-day or to-morrow, don't say we didn't give you fair warning. It would be well to be around every day. You are in the most sensational buying season of your life for the purchase of serviceable gonds.

TROOPS LAND AT MANY POINTS.

Several Russian Merchant Ships Have Been Captured.

Rumors that Fighting Has Already Commenced and that Gun Firing Has Been Heard at Koje Island — Russia Began Occupying Northern Corea and Caused the Japanese to Suspend Diplomatic Relations.

London, Feb. 9.—The Che Foo correspondent of The Daily Mail cables that 60 Japanese transports are landing troops at various ports in Corea, from Masampho and Fusan on the south to Kunsan, Mokpho and Chemulpo on the west.

Seoul is to be occupied and the landing is being covered by torpedo divisions.

The main body of the Japanese fleet, the correspondent continues, will sail in the direction of Port Arthur.

Firing of Guns Heard.

In a despatch from Tokio, a correspondent of The Daily Mail says the Jiji Shimpo has received a telegram from Fusan, Corea, declaring that the firing of guns was heard to the east of Koje Island (about 25 miles southwest of Fusan) at 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

Chinese Court to Move.

In a despatch from Tien Tsin, a correspondent of The Standard says a Russian force is reported at Kalgan (in Pechili Province, 110 miles northwest of Pekin and near the Great Wall), and that preparations are being made for the flight of the Chinese court and the removal of the Imperial treasures, as it is feared that Russia will descend on Pekin.

Japs Land at Masampho.

Berlin, Feb. 9.—A despatch received here from Port Arthur says news has been received there that Japanese troops have been landed at Masampho. The despatch says further that the Russian warships at Port Arthur frequently put to sea and that the inhabitants of Seoul are uneasily expecting the arrival of the Japanese troops.

Russia After French Funds.

London, Feb. 9.—"Russia is negotiating with a syndicate of French, Belgian and Dutch bankers," cables the Brussels correspondent of The Standard, "for a loan of $200,000,000."

The Paris correspondent of The Daily Mail says that France has agreed with other powers to land troops in China directly as soon as hostilities begin, in order to secure neutrality of the middle kingdom.

Where Germany Stands.

Berlin, Feb. 9.—The Cologne Gazette defines Germany's policy in East Asia in an article which is evidently inspired, as follows:

"We direct our attention to seeing that further complications do not arise from this quarrel, and that the regions in China adjacent to the theatre of war are not drawn into the outbreak. We can best subserve this purpose through a policy which will leave no doubt of our fullest neutrality."

Russia Seized Northern Corea.

London, Feb. 9.—In a despatch, dated Nagasaki, Feb. 6, and which was delayed by the censor, a correspondent of The Daily Telegraph asserts that Russia deliberately precipitated the crisis by secretly despatching a few days ago from Port Arthur, transports loaded with a full division of troops and escorted by a fleet and landing them near the Yalu River, thus occuppying Northern Corea.

Japanese patience became exhausted, and to-day Japan moved her ships and took unrestricted possession of certain merchant vessels, including the Hilka and Manchuria. The correspondent continues. "The other Russian vessels were seized and escorted to Saseno, Japan."

The Daily Telegraph says it supposes the foregoing seizures occurred at Masampho, but that the censor suppressed the location.

Russia Long Ago Decided For War.

London, Feb. 9.—In a despatch from Nagasaki, dated Feb. 8, a correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: "It is assured that the Russian fleet will fight. The Russians long ago decided upon war and their delay was due to lack of preparation and uncertainty whether certain powers would intervene or not."

War Is Inevitable.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 9.—The situation is such that the authorities are prepared at any moment to hear that Japan has made an aggressive move, which would make a semblance of peace any longer impossible. War is regarded here as practically inevitable.

No Declaration Needed.

London, Feb. 9.—The British Foreign Office does not regard the Japanese note presented Feb. 5 to the Russian Foreign Office by M. Kurino as establishing a state of war, though it holds it would justify a hostile act without any further notification on the part of Japan, which the Foreign Office understands will not be given.

JAPAN'S HAND FORCED.

Text of M. Kurino's Statement to the Russian Foreign Office.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 9.—The following is the text of M. Kurino's statement of Feb. 5 to the Foreign Office here:

"The independence and territorial integrity of the Corean Empire being regarded by the Japanese Government as absolutely essential to their own country's security and repose, they cannot view with indifference any action tending to render the position of Corea insecure. The Russian Government has by means of an inadmissible amendment successively rejected Japan's proposals respecting Corea, the adoption of which the Japanese Government regarded as indispensable to insuring the independence and territorial integrity of the Corean Empire, and to safeguarding Japan's preponderating interests in the peninsula.

Japan's Hand Forced.

"This attitude on the part of the Russian Government, coupled with their successive refusals to enter into an engagement to respect China's territorial integrity in Manchuria, which is seriously menaced by Russia's continued occupation of that province, notwithstanding her treaty engagements with China and her repeated assurances to the other powers having interests in the same region, has rendered it necessary for the Japanese Government to seriously consider what measures of self-defence she is called upon to take in the presence of the delay on the part of the Russian Government in connection with the pending negotiations which has remained largely unexplained, and of their naval and military activity, which it is difficult to reconcile with an entirely pacific aim. In the pending negotiations the Japanese Government has exercised a degree of forbearance which they believed affords abundant proof of their loyal desire to remove from the relations between Japan and Russia every cause for future misunderstanding.

Russia Was Obdurate.

"But, finding in their efforts no prospect of securing from the Russian Government any adhesion, either to Japan's moderate and unselfish proposals, or to any other proposals, to establish a firm and lasting interest in the Far East, the Japanese Government has no other alternative than to terminate the present futile negotiations. In adopting that course the Japanese Government reserved to themselves the right to take such independent actions as they may deem best to consolidate and defend Japan's menaced position, as well as to protect her established rights and legitimate interests. The Japanese Government having exhausted in vain every means of conciliation with the view of removing from the relations of the countries every cause for future complications, and finding that their just representations and moderate and unselfish proposals made in the interest of permanent peace in the Far East were not receiving from the Russian Government the consideration which is their due, have resolved to sever their diplomatic relations with the Russian Government, which, for the reason named, have ceased to possess value."

At the Japanese Legation here this was regarded as tantamount to a declaration of war, and it is believed that no other announcement will be made to the world.

THE BALTIMORE FIRE

One Hundred and Forty Acres Have Been Burned Over.

BUILDING LOSS $150,000,000

Seventy-Five Blocks, Containing Nearly 2,500 Buildings, Gone Up in Smoke—Fire Checked After 36 Hours of Strenuous Fighting—No Lives Were Lost During the Great Conflagration.

Baltimore, Feb. 9.—Baltimore is staggering under a fire loss which no one has the temerity to put into figures. The important commercial district is a mass of blackened ruins, the result of a conflagration which raged without even a momentary check from 10.45 a.m. Sunday until 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the officials agreed the flames were under control. The fire raged nearly 36 hours, in spite of almost superhuman efforts put forth by the best fighting forces which more than half a dozen cities mustered.

140 Acres Ruined Over.

Throughout the terrible contest which firemen and fire waged for supremacy, humanity was handicapped by a gale which carried burning brands to remote sections. But for the work of volunteers in extinguishing these embers, it is almost certain the burned area would have been much greater. As it is, about 75 blocks, or 140 acres, are gone. The burned district is within the territory bounded on the west by Liberay street, on the north by Lexington, on the east by Jones Falls and on the south by Basin. The districts thus swept by fire comprised nearly 2,500 buildings.

Insurance companies have opened temporary offices in the Lexington Hotel, but their representatives decline to estimate the loss. The answer of one is typical of all: "It is too big. We have not figures to describe it. Make it above $100,000,000. The best we can do." The same indecision was true in regard to estimates concerning insurance.

City Under Martial Law.

The city was early placed under martial law to prevent looting. Gen. Corbin will take command of the militia now here, and the regiments ordered out. The struggle to-day has been with the end of confining the fire to the west side of Jones Falls. No one dares guess the result if the flames had jumped this stream. That the fire was checked was the result of its meeting the concentrated labors of nearly 100 fire companies, aided by the powerful fire tug the Cataract.

Many Men Ruined.

Where the fire has died out nothing remains but ruins, from which rise hundreds of towering, insecure shafts, all that is left of handsome business houses of all kinds. The loss will not be accurately estimated for weeks. Business men, prosperous Saturday, are poor to-day. Expressions heard among these men reveal an astounding number who were but poorly protected by insurance.

50,000 Out of Work.

Col. Supples, a competent authority on factory statistics, estimated the number of persons thrown out of work will reach 50,000.

Inspector of Buildings Preston, after making a careful study of the burned district, placed the building loss alone at $150,000,000.

Last night it was feared that aid must come from the adjacent cities or a partial famine will be an added phase of the situation. Restaurants are entirely without food, and the destruction of the commission houses

QUIT PAYING RENT

And come and secure yourself a [illegible]

In England, their Majesties King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra will be present at Divine Service at St. Paul's Cathedral on Feb. 14 Sunday when the Lord Mayor, the sheriffs and the Corporation will attend in State. The sermon will be preached by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Among the earliest to endorse the suggestion that March 6th should be observed as Bible Sunday were the Archbishops of Canterbury and York; while the Bishops have, with hardly an exception, written letters commendatory of the clergy in their respective dioceses. Cordial resolutions in favour of the observance have also been received from every Nonconformist Assembly and Conference which met last year, including the Baptists, the Congregationalists, the Society of Friends, all denominations of Methodists, the Moravians, and the Presbyterians. In Scotland, both the Established Church and the United Free Church are operating in the celebration.

In the British Colonies the [illegible] was greeted with universal approval. The Metropolitan of Rupert's Land and Primate of all Canada, the Archbishop of Sydney, the Archbishop of the West Indies, and the Archbishop of Capetown, and nearly fifty Colonial and Missionary Bishops of the Anglican Communion, have written cordially endorsing the observance of Bible Sunday. The chief representatives of non-Episcopal Churches in the Colonies have responded with equal readiness, and the proposal has received the hearty sanction of the Synod of the Dutch Reformed Church in South Africa.

In the United States of America, both the chief Presbyterian Churches, the two Methodist Episcopal Churches and the presiding Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church have cordially agreed to observe Bible Sunday in their various Churches throughout the States.

All the great Missionary Societies, without exception, have joined hands to observe this day of common Thanksgiving, many of them having generously arranged to forego their own sermons or meetings on March 6th, in favour of Bible Sunday. That the suggestion would meet with enthusiastic support in the Mission-field throughout the world was a foregone conclusion. Both to the Missionary and to the Native Church, God's Book often stands for more than we can possibly realize. To the [illegible] cut off from most that is helpful and invigorating in the Christian Life, the written Word takes on an added worth as a source of strength and inspiration; while to the converts, the Book itself—even apart from its message—acquires a preciousness from the fact it is frequently the first, and sometimes the only, volume produced in their own language.

But the most significant item in this huge programme is the bringing into line of the Protestant churches on the Continent of Europe, and establishing a link between those that may be most widely sundered on minor points. Bible Sunday will be kept by hundreds of congregations, representing Lutherans, Reformed, and Waldensian churches. The Archbishop of Upsala has written in the name of the Bishops of Sweden, promising the co-operation of all their clergy. A meeting of the Danish Bishops in Copenhagen passed a unanimous resolution in the same terms; while similar resolutions have been passed by the Consistory of the Protestant State Church in Saxony, and the Conventus of both the Lutheran Church and the Calvinistic Church in Hungary. Thus, throughout the world, Thanksgiving will be made to Almighty God in all tongues and by all peoples on this memorable day.

It is obvious that such a festival as this could only be organized by an institution absolutely catholic in its aims, world-wide in its work, and unrestricted by any merely national interest. From the very outset the Bible Society has been able to unify Christians of all denominations in the God-appointed task of seeking to place the [illegible] race. And this universal Thanksgiving exemplifies most forcibly [illegible] of the Society's ideals, which was voiced by Lord Bexley, its second President, in the following words: "If we cannot reconcile all opinions, let us unite all hearts."

G. T. PACIFIC NOT MAD ROUTE.

A Letter From a Recognized Authority.

The Montreal Star's editorial of Saturday last on the subject of the new transcontinental railway says:—

"We should not waste any money on that mad route, unknown, unsurveyed and uninhabited, through the north country, over granite ranges, from Winnipeg to Quebec." Will you allow me to point out that it is a mistake to speak in this way of the immense country between the St. Lawrence and James Bay belonging to the Province of Quebec. Recent surveys and explorations have proved that this great territory is rich in spruce forests, in agricultural soil, in waterpowers and in minerals, and the records of the Meteorological Department prove that it has a climate quite as good as the Lake St. John Valley, distinctly better three degrees, to be precise, than that of the counties of the lower St. Lawrence below Quebec, and a snowfall about half that of Montreal, and in all these respects it is infinitely superior to the barren country traversed by the C.P.R. between Lake Nipissing and Winnipeg. Its geographical position is such that the shortest possible line from tidewater of the St. Lawrence to Winnipeg must pass through the centre of it, and in doing so a line can be secured nearly 300 miles shorter than the C.P.R. These data being correct, there only remains the question of the suitability of the route in point of grades and summits, the object being, I understand, to obtain a lower summit than the 2,000 feet which traffic now has to ascend between Montreal and the Georgian Bay, and easier gradients than the maximum of 52 feet per mile now used on the Canadian Pacific and Canada Atlantic.

Experience proves that almost without exception railways seeking good gradients must follow the valleys of the largest rivers. The Connecticut, the Merrimac, the Hudson, the Mohawk, the Ohio, the St. Lawrence and the Ottawa afford examples of this. Consequently a line from ocean navigation of the St. Lawrence to Manitoba will have to follow one of the three great rivers of this Province, namely, the Saguenay, the St. Maurice, or—as the C.P.R. has done—the Ottawa. A line following the Saguenay or the St. Maurice will cross the watershed between the St. Lawrence and James Bay at an elevation of only 1,200 feet, and if it then keeps far enough north on the James Bay slope, beyond the height of land and north of Lake Abittibi, it will pass over an almost uniformly level country to Winnipeg, because the elevation of Lake Winnipeg is about 700 feet. With such advantages in point of summit and uniform elevation there should therefore be no difficulty in securing the much-sought maximum grade of 6-10ths of 1 per cent., or 31 feet per mile, which is capable twice the tonnage to be hauled that existing roads can handle, with the same power.

Now, a word with regard to the country to be traversed. Let us assume that the Government engineers select the St. Maurice valley as being the shortest, most level and most direct line from Quebec to Winnipeg. The St. Maurice is 300 miles long, and offers the easiest possible route for a railway to the height of land. Instead of being a barren country, the valley of this great river not only contains 12,000 miles of rich timber limits whose lumbering operations already employ 5,000 men, but it covers a large area of land fit for agriculture. The lower part of the river has already been developed by the Great Northern and Canadian Pacific Railways, and the result is the creation of manufacturing interests at the water powers of Grand Mere and Shawinigan, and the building up of prosperous towns at these points as if by magic. Let the new Transcontinental be built up the valley of the St. Maurice, and its water-powers and limits will be developed, and it will soon rival, and perhaps surpass the valley of the Ottawa in lumbering, manufacturing and agricultural importance.

People who have an idea that the country in this province north of the St. Lawrence, is all mountains will be surprised to learn that La Tuque, one hundred miles up the St. Maurice, is only 500 feet above tide-water, or about the same elevation as Sherbrooke, the garden city and great manufacturing centre of the eastern townships, and that above La Tuque the country is level as far as the eye can reach.

At the source of the St. Maurice, the Nottoway, a river as great as the Ottawa, takes its rise and flows through an equally valuable country, into James Bay, forming in its course water powers twice as great as the wonderful power at Shawinigan. Farther west the Albany, rising not far from Winnipeg, flows almost due east through a country so level that this immense river for two hundred miles of its course is suitable for steamboat navigation, and also discharges into James Bay. And all this great level clay country, as great in area as Germany, enjoys as good a climate as, has similar forests to, and better water powers than the Lake St. John District, where these elements have sufficed to form one of the most prosperous and progressive communities in Canada. If any one doubts this, let him visit the Lake St. John Country at harvest time, and see the crops. Let him inspect the greatest pulp industry in the world at Chicoutimi, and the other important mills of the same kind at Jonquirre, Metabetchouan, Ouiatchouen and Peribonca, and let him take in Grand Mere and Shawinigan on his way home, and he will return convinced that we have in the north of the Province of Quebec a great heritage of which we should all be proud.

This northern country is the country described by Prof. Bell, of the Geological Survey, and by Mr. Henry O'Sullivan, F. R. G. S., both of whom have explored it time and again and know every mile of it, and in consideration of whose services the Royal Geographical Society of London, an institution very chary of its favours, has granted both gentlemen the distinction of its recognition. And it is through this northern country that such eminent engineers as Sir Sandford Fleming, Mr. Marcus Smith and Mr. A. B. Doucet, R.M.C., recommend the construction of the new transcontinental railway.

Surely, then, so great a question for the future of Canada should not be looked at from the standpoint of sectionalism, or with an esprit de clocher. Montreal has nothing to fear from the selection of the St. Maurice route. On the contrary, let the new railway find its outlet to the St. Lawrence by the St. Maurice valley, and that outlet will be as close to Montreal as to Quebec, and will benefit both the great seaports of the province, and also the good old town of Three Rivers. There will be plenty of export traffic for all of them.

CHAMBERLAIN REPUDIATED

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach Claims Gerald Balfour's Speech Throws Ex-Colonial Minister's Fiscal Policy Overboard

—Limitations of a Preference—

Artificial Stimulation of Trade a Chinese Idea.

London, Feb. 9.—(C. A. P.)—Right Hon. Gerald Balfour, President of the Board of Trade, refuses to commit the Government beyond the lines laid down by Premier Balfour in his Sheffield speech. Replying to John Morley in the House of Commons yesterday, he declared the Government was against protection. "Preferential duties were not a part of our program, nor any particular way of carrying the proposal out. I should be gald to see such a state of public opinion as would admit of the adoption of a preferential arrangement with the colonies, but I decline to pin myself in any particular method of carrying it out." He did not think the member for West Pirmingham (Joseph Chamberlain) said a 10 per cent. duty was an essential part of his scheme. The policy of the Government did not admit of a tax on food, and this limitation made it impossible to retaliate upon Russia or the United States, but it could be done against France or Germany. Great Britain had a weapon which could be used against the Americans in the imposition of countervailing duties. There could be no retaliation without Parliamentary consent. He believed the Government's policy would contribute towards the establishment of a really free trade more than the present system.

Repudiation of Chamberlain.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach (Conservative Free Trader) insisted that the speech meant a complete repudiation of Mr. Chamberlain's policy. That gentleman desired to begin with preferential duties in favor of the colonies, and then go on to impose an average 10 per cent. duty on all manufactured goods, whether from protective or free trade countries, and thus make the duties permanent. A colonial preference put a grave limitation on our bargaining power. As an example, if the two shillings duty was imposed upon American corn we would be obliged to refuse an offer by the Americans to reduce the duties on their goods if the two shillings duty were removed, because we would be pledged to Canada. Yet the American trade might be infinitely more valuable than anything Canada could give, and bitter feelings would be aroused that would not tend to the unity of the Empire. An artificial stimulation of trade with the colonies was a Chinese idea. The interests of the United Kingdom were the greatest interests in the whole Empire. Canada's 23 1-3 per cent. had not benefited Britain. Since that preference had been established Canada's trade with the United States, France and Germany had increased faster than her trade with England had done.

Ordering on Impertinence.

London, Feb. 9.—(C. A. P.)—A prominent Welsh company, having received the forms of questions from the Tariff Commission, returned them unfilled, characterizing the Commission's actions in sending them unsolicited as bordering on gross impertinence.

PROPOSALS FROM GERMANY.

Fatherland Anxious For a Trade Agreement With Canada.

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—There are good reasons for the belief that the Government have received, through the British Colonial Office, an official despatch from Germany urging the opening of negotiations in the hope of arriving at a better understanding on the trade question. The matter, as will be remembered, was first broached by Herr Bopp, German Consul-General at Montreal, in an interview with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, when the Premier informed him that negotiations could not be conducted direct, but must come through the Imperial authorities. Germany acted upon the hint, and an official communication has now come through the proper diplomatic channel. The tenor of the despatch is for the present confidential, but the probability is that Germany has suggested the appointment of commissioners to consider the situation and suggest remedial measures.

No Change.

London, Feb. 9.—(C. A. P.)—Earl Percy (Unionist Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs), answering Alex. Black, M.P., said the position of the negotiations between Germany and Canada were unaltered.

It Is Not True.

Toronto Junction, Feb. 9.—A despatch from London, Ont., published last Saturday, stated that as a result of a collision in the C.P.R. yards, Engineer John Abernethy of this place had become temporarily insane. This despatch misrepresented Mr. Abernethy's condition. He suffered a severe mental shock, as would any engineer under similar circumstances, but he is rapidly recovering, and his physician says he will be all right in a few days.

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure

Costs Nothing if it Fails.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer. For years I searched everywhere to find a specific for rheumatism. For nearly 20 years I worked to this end. At last, in Germany, my search was rewarded. I found a costly chemical that did not disappoint me as other Rheumatic prescriptions had disappointed physicians everywhere.

I do not mean that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure can turn bony joints into flesh again. That is impossible. But it will drive from the blood the poison that causes pain and swelling, and then that is the end of Rheumatism. I know this so well that I will furnish for a full month my Rheumatic Cure on trial. I cannot cure all cases within a month. It would be unreasonable to expect that. But most cases will yield within thirty days. This trial treatment will convince you that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure is a power against rheumatism—potent force against disease that is irresistible.

My offer is made to convince you of my faith. My faith is but the outcome of experience—of actual knowledge. I know what it can do, and I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal for my book on Rheumatism. I will then arrange with a druggist in your vicinity, so that you can secure six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure to make the test. You may take it a full month on trial. If it succeeds the cost to you is $5.50. If it fails the loss is mine and mine alone. It will be left entirely to you. I mean that exactly. If you say the trial is not satisfactory I don't expect a penny from you.

Write me and I will furnish you the book. Try my remedy for a month. If it fails the loss is mine.

Address Dr. Shoop, box 947, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases not chronic are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

BONSPIEL AT CARBERRY.

Three Rinks Won Nearly All Prizes—A Huge Success.

Carberry, Feb. 9.—The bonspiel here has been a huge success from nearly every standpoint, the only failing being the small number of rinks from outside points. Hope, Carberry, L. R. McKenzie and Huffman, Winnipeg Thistles, and Thompson, Portage la Prairie, got the big share of the prizes.

Hope won the Thomas Lee and Bryan trophies; L. R. McKenzie took away the Merchants' Bank and second prize of the challenge; Huffman took the second prizes of the Merchants' and Thomas Lee, and Thompson secured the Challenge and the second prizes of the McDonagh and Shea. Hunt won the Veterans' with Thompson second, and Huffman took third.

OPEBATIONS A FAD.

Public Gradually Awakens to the Fact

The latest fad in operations has been the appendicitis fad; before that the fad for rectal operations, (piles, etc.,) held sway. Hundreds of patients were frightened and hurried into hospitals, operated upon and robbed of their last dollar, when the trouble was a simple case of hemorrhoids or piles only, easily cured at home with a simple remedy costing but fifty cents a box.

"I procured one fifty cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure of my druggist, with the intention of buying a large box later, but was happily surprised when I found that I was cured, and still have six 'Pyramids' left out of the first and only box. I have not had the first sign of piles since I used this one box, which has been about two months; previous to using Pyramid Pile Cure I had the worst kind of bleeding and protruding piles for over thirty years, and no one knows, except those who have had the piles, the pain and misery I suffered.

"I am a poor man, but have often said I would give a fortune, if I had it, to be cured of piles, and now I have been cured for fifty cents, I should be very ungrateful if I did not thank you and give you every privilege to use my name and this letter, when I know there are so many who suffer as I did." J. A. Weismiller, 1100 Bladensburg Road, Washington, D.C.

The Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., publish a little book on the causes and cure of piles, which they will be glad to mail free to any applicant, and we advise all sufferers from this painful disease to write to them for it.

Toronto Municipal Scandal.

Toronto, Feb. 9.—Yesterday, aside from a few minutes of concluding testimony from Harry Page, the day before the special Commissioner was consumed with the stories of the elder Forster and his two sons, corroborating Rev. Frank Forster's version of his complicity with Ald. Woods, and a few words from Sloan, the real estate man, who was placed on the padded list by Woods. Little of real interest developed. In the Police Court, ex-Ald. Burns was acquitted, "as there is not evidence to go on," said the Police Magistrate.

Train Derailed By Ice.

Newtonville, Feb. 9.—The train from Belleville, due here at 7.30, was derailed at Newtonville Station yesterday morning, caused by ice on the track. The whole train ran off. The auxiliary from Cobourg is working at it now.

Attempted Suicide Imprisoned.

Toronto, Feb. 9.—Edward T. Weller, who slashed his throat after family troubles, was given two months in jail by Judge Winchester. He is a South African veteran. His wife is an 18-year-old girl.

Manitoba Legislature Over.

Winnipeg, Feb. 9.—The Local Legislature was prorogued yesterday afternoon at half-past three.

These conditions are overcome by the use of Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill through removing the cause.

Those who have periodical spells of headache, associated with melancholy, nervous debility, weakness or trembling of the muscles, or insomnia, should follow up the use of Anti-Pill once or twice a week for a few weeks after the trouble has entirely vanished. 50 cents of druggists, or by addressing WILSON-FYLE Co., Niagara Falls, Ont. ANTI-PILL.

A BRIEF SESSION.

Receipts and Expenditures of the Niagara Falls Queen Victoria Park Commission—Premier's Budget Speech.

Toronto, Feb. 9.—The session of the House yesterday afternoon lasted for but ten minutes.

Hon. J. M. Gibson introduced a bill to amend the act respecting religious institutions. The present act provides for the conveyance of property to trustees appointed by the congregation. Under the Methodist Church system the trustees are appointed by the Quarterly Board, and not directly by the congregation. The amendment validates conveyance to trustees so appointed.

Hon. Mr. Davis informed Dr. Barr that about 30,000 applications had been made by volunteers under the land grants act, and that very many of them were not entitled under the act to grants. There had been 10,382 applications granted.

Hon. Mr. Davis informed Mr. J. S. Duff that Mr. Taylor, recently a clerk in the Crown Lands Department, had not been in the employ of the department since his suspension. His resignation had been received and accepted. Mr. Duff wished to know the date of the resignation, and Mr. Davis promised to give it later.

Sos Return Stands.

Mr. Whitney's motion for a return showing the names of all persons at Sault Ste. Marie, or elsewhere, who were paid their wages by the Government, was allowed to stand. Hon. Mr. Gibson stating that he was not yet prepared to supply the information. Mr. Whitney said he assumed, in the absence of specific knowledge on the subject, that the Government had not yet paid those men. The banks, under the authority of the Government, had paid them, and consequently the transaction did not appear in the financial statement this year. He would like to know how soon the return would be made. There were three points of information desired: the names, amounts and the nature of each claim.

Hon. Mr. Gibson replied that there was no objection to the return. It could, he thought, be made out and brought down at a very early date, if not in a day or two, at the end of the week perhaps.

Mr. Matheson asked that twenty copies of the public accounts be supplied to each of the members. The Premier promised to make inquiries and see if it could be done.

This afternoon the Premier will deliver his budget speech.

Queen Victoria Park.

The eighteenth annual report of the Niagara Falls Queen Victoria Park Commission, was presented to the Legislature yesterday afternoon, and contains an interesting statement as to the progress of the works of the three power development companies. The year's receipts totalled $99,793, the principal items being: Balance on hand January 1, $11,710; Electrical Development Company rental two years, $30,000; Canadian Niagara Power Company rental, $15,000; International Railway Company rental, $10,000; Zybach & Brundage, $10,166. The expenditures total $75,188, leaving a balance of $24,605. Mention is made of the fact that an order in Council had been passed granting Mr. J. W. Langmuir an honorarium of $5,000 out of the accumulated funds as a recognition of his splendid services as a member of the commission for seventeen years and Chairman for ten years. It is pointed out that Mr. Langmuir was largely responsible for the agreement with the three corporations for the development of electrical energy, from which the park realizes annually a rental of nearly $60,000, and which when operated to their full capacity will yield an annual rental of $200,000.

A FATAL EXPLOSION.

Man So Hurt That He Will Die in Government Railway Camp.

North Bay, Feb. 9.—A terrific and fatal explosion occured at Donovan & Grant's camp on the T. & N. O. Railway on Saturday, about twenty miles from the end of steel. The powder and dynamite storehouse blew up and one man was seriously injured. He may not recover. Two other men were badly hurt and one horse was killed. The train conveying the injured men arrived here yesterday afternoon, and the unfortunate victims are now being cared for in the Victorian Hospital.

Three Persons Injured.

Ingersoll, Feb. 9.—The engine of the C.P.R. passenger train due here at 8.58 yesterday morning, jumped the track near the station, injuring Engineer J. Gunning, Fireman James Watson and Express Messenger J. D. Geary, though none of them seriously. Ice on the track was the cause of the accident.

Lost a Leg.

Windsor, Feb. 9.—Lloyd Wilson, a twelve-year-old newsboy, was run over by an Ouelette avenue car here yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The lad's leg was almost cut off between the knee and ankle, and amputation was found necessary.

20 Passengers Killed.

Managa, Nicaragua, Feb. 9.—A passenger train on the Chinandaga Viela Railroad has been derailed and wrecked, over twenty first-class passengers being killed and many others injured.

50 Workmen Killed.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 9.—Fifty workmen were killed yesterday by the caving in of an embankment on the Warsaw-Vienna Railroad.

Coal For 99 Towns.

Toronto, Feb. 9.—General Manager McGuigan of the G. T. R. said yesterday that the Lackawanna people had 203 cars for shipment to 99 towns in Ontario and had asked for instructions. The G.T.R. has undertaken to handle 50 or 60 cars daily.

Cut His Throat.

Toronto, Feb. 9.—Stephen Hamus, who has been suffering from rheumatism for some time, became despondent Sunday night and attempted suicide at his home, 213 Euclid avenue. He was discovered in his room with his throat cut. Monday morning he was removed to the Western Hospital. Hamus is 55 years of age. As yet the doctors cannot say whether or not he will recover.

WOLF! WOLF! AND THERE IS NO WOLF.

People Fooled Once are Slow to Respond When Danger Comes.

We have all read in our school readers the story of the boy tending the sheep who thought to have fun with the servants and cried out wolf! wolf! The servants rushed to his assistance to find that it was a false alarm, and when the wolf really came they would not respond to the call of the boy and the flock was destroyed.

It is the fashion nowadays among certain proprietors of patent medicine that "will cure every disease on earth" to try to frighten every one into believing that he is afflicted with some dangerous malady, by reciting thousands of symptoms and indications of disease. People see so much of this that when they really become so afflicted they will pay no attention to remedies of merit that they really stand in great need of.

The proprietors of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets do not claim that their remedy will cure anything but catarrh and they give the American people credit for having sense enough to tell for themselves when they are suffering from that disease. If you have catarrh, you know it and want to be cured and that's all there is to it.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are without doubt the most effective cure for catarrh. You may look the country over and you will find no one who will dispute that statement. They have cured so many sufferers of this odious and dangerous disease and have done so much good throughout the land that their name has become a household word. They thoroughly renovate and cleanse the entire system of all catarrhal poisons and impurities and by thus striking at the root of the disease effect cures that are complete and permanent.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. You cannot afford to tamper with this treacherous disease when a sure cure is within such easy reach.

VERBATIM REPORTING.

It Involves Five Distinct Simultaneous Mental Operations.

Psychologists may find an interesting field for investigation in the intellectual processes that are involved in rapid shorthand writing. There are at least five distinct mental operations carried on continuously during verbatim reporting. First, there is the sensation of sound received by the ear; secondly, there is the perception by the brain of the word uttered, practically simultaneous with the sensation in the case of a distinct speaker, but often delayed a large fraction of a second when a preacher "drops his voice" or a witness in court has a foreign accent. In the third place, the stenographer must analyze the consonantal structure of all the less common words in the sentence, all except the stock words and phrases, which he writes by word signs by a practically automatic habit.

Fourth, these relatively uncommon words must be put on paper according to the principles of the system employed. This one operation involves many subordinate and infinitely swift efforts of recollection, association and decision.

Fifth, all these mental operations are carried on while the pen or pencil is from two or three words to an entire sentence behind the speaker—this, of course, in rapid speaking—thereby complicating the situation by compelling memory to keep pace with attention. In other words, while the scribe is writing the predicate of one sentence and analyzing an unfamiliar word in the subject of the next, he is at the same time giving his auditory attention to the predicate of the second sentence then being uttered by the speaker. This is impossible to an untrained mind. The average educated person cannot retain more than perhaps six or eight words of the exact phraseology of a speaker at one time. The competent stenographer can hold up ten, fifteen, twenty words or even more in his memory, while at the same time taxing his mind by the act of writing the words that preceded.—The World Today.

He Knew a Thing or Two.

Anaxagoras, the Athenian philosopher, who flourished in the fifth century before Christ, taught his scholars that wind was air set in motion by rarefaction; that the moon owed her light giving properties to the sun; that the rainbow was the resulting phenomenon of reflection; that comets were wandering stars, and that the fixed stars were at an immeasurable distance beyond the sun, besides giving them many other ideas thought to belong to more modern times.

CARRIED HOT COFFEE TO THE LINEMEN.

Kind Act of Local Clergyman Men Appreciated His Thoughtfulness.

One of the most genuine acts of Christian kindness seen in a long time was that displayed by a local clergyman yesterday. All who had occasion to be out yesterday know that there was very little pleasure attached to it, and the men who were repairing the damage done to the poles and wires on Water street by by the ice storm, found working very unpleasant.

That their feelings were appreciated by at least one gentleman is evidenced by the fact that the clergymen during the afternoon carried a large tin of hot coffee to the gang of men to each of whom a hot drink was given.

The kindness thus shown was highly appreciated by the men.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS HELD RALLY MEETING.

Interesting Address Given Last Night in St. Andrew's Church

Rev. Alex. Esler, of Cooke's Church, Toronto. Spoke on Christian Endeavour Work.

A Union meeting of the various Young People's Societies in town was held last night in St. Paul's church, when a rally service was held. The feature of the evening was an address delivered by Rev. Alex. Esler, of Cooke's church, Toronto, on Christian Endeavour work. Rev. Mr. Esler is very enthusiastic in Young People's Work, and his address was a most interesting one and attentively listened to by the audience, which was fairly large.

After the usual devotional exercises Rev. J. G. Potter introduced the speaker, who was glad to bring greetings from the Endeavourers of Ontario, and wish those in Peterborough God speed and God's blessing in their work. The keynote of the speaker's remarks lay in the need for more enthusiasm not only in church but in young people's societies. We represent, said the speaker, the best business, and the greatest firm in the universe. It was the oldest firm and one with a good reputation, it had started with but two customers until now its goods were in every land and its representatives in every continent. It was a staple firm and kept its good name of honesty even in the hardest times. Its goods were things essential to man and included food concerning which Christ the head of the firm, had said that if we would eat of it we should never hunger; the water of life was also among the goods of this firm as well as the raiment which would wear forever, the robes of righteousness which would purify and uplift our lives. The armour of God was always at hand to fit this firm for the fray. There were societies here organized and commissioned to scatter these goods and they should be very enthusiastic in their desire to give these goods to the people and recommend the Master. The speaker liked to see Christian workers full of zeal, heart and soul in their life. Some are more zealous in making themselves known than in speaking of the Master and His goods. This would not prosper any society which needed the spirit of God if it were to successfully carry on His work. When we give up our old ecclesiastical furniture and practically give up ourselves, said Mr. Esler, we will be known to men who will be compelled to listen and will be moved by the message.

The Christian Endeavor Society was doing as much as any other to bring the glad tidings to those without them. In former days many methods were tried to attract the young to the church—literary clubs, amusements and attempts to raise money all failed, because there was not behind them all the spirit of Christ. This was finally realized, and the Endeavour Societies are now based on the four following principles—confession of Christ which was furnished in the prayer meeting which should be held in connection with every Endeavour Society; service to Christ which was made possible chiefly through work by committees which should so plan the work as to keep all the members actively at work, and not leave the great bulk of the burden to a few leaders; loyalty to the Church and, lastly, interdenominational fellowship, which was very important in Endeavour work, and had done much towards lessening the feeling of destruction by dedenomination.

If we have gifts we should make the best use of them for the benefit of others, said the speaker, for if they were not used, their usefulness would soon fade away. More enthusiasm was wanted in all lines of Christian work, and in the Christian Endeavour and Epworth League work especially.

After the lecture an adjournment was made to the Sunday school room where refreshments were served. Short speeches were made by Rev. J. A. Wilson and Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, and a solo, "The Lord is King," was sung by Mr. R. N. Jolliffe. A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Stacey and seconded by Mr. Robertson, expressing appreciation of Rev. Mr. Esler's kindness in coming to Peterborough, and lecturing so ably to the young people. A vote of thanks, moved by Mr. Ferguson and seconded by Mr. Edmison, was also given to the others assisting on the programme.

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT IN NORTHERN WATERS.

To Be Transferred to the Dominion Government.

A Proposal to that Effect, to be Accepted by Ontario Government.

There is every prospect that the desired object of placing the streams and lakes of the watershed of the Ottawa under one jurisdiction, that of the Dominion Government, will before long be an accomplished fact.

The Commissioner of Public Works for the Province of Ontario has received from the Dominion Department of Railways and Canals, a letter embracing a proposition having in view the assumption by the Department of Railways and Canals of the several dams, owned by the Ontario Government, on the headwaters of the Trent Canal, at present controlled by the Ontario Department of Public Works.

The letter further states that it is desired to utilize these dams in connection with a scheme for "an extensive reservoir system to ensure sufficient water supply at all seasons for navigation purposes in the canal by storing and controlling the freshet waters, such a system being essential to the canal efficiency. To secure which, so considerable expenditure has been made by the Dominion."

The Department of Railways and Canals on the transfer to it, "free of cost of the dams with all acquired lands or rights in lands flooded by such dams, undertakes to maintain these dams in their present state of efficiency, as long as they are required for floating logs down the various creeks to the main lakes below, and guarantees to lumbermen all rights in respect to these waters they now possess, and further guarantees the losses of existing water powers the continuance of such rights as they now hold.

The letter concludes with a desire for an early decision so that an early transfer of the dams to the Dominion may be effected so that all necessary preparations may be made for the ensuing spring.

The Ontario Government will consent to the transfer of the dams to the Dominion, providing the above conditions, guaranteeing the rights of those interested in the waters, or works associated with them, are carried out.

With this view I prepared and submitted for approval the rough sketches of my design therefor, which, to some extent, met with favourable expressions from your committee. I now herewith forward you the preliminary sketch plans from which I can prepare the necessary specifications for the construction of the work. In working out these preliminary plans I have carefully borne in mind your requirements, also practical utility in construction, general arrangement of classrooms, lecture rooms, etc., and heating, lighting, ventilation and sanitation, and whilst not unmindful of economy, I have striven to attain to architectural effect in the massive appearance of the structure for which an imposing site should be obtained. I approximately estimate the cost of the building to be the sum of $38,000.

Yours Truly,
JOHN E. BELCHER.

Moved by Mr. Fair, seconded by Mr. Crane,—

And that the secretary be instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to the Town Council.

The General Statement was on motion submitted to the auditors, and is printed on second page of this issue.

GENERAL BUSINESS

Mr. Pringle stated that he believed the Ashburnham Kindergarten was not constituted quite the same as the Peterborough Kindergarten, in that no charge was imposed. Now that the union had been effected, and the Ashburnham school came under the direction of the Board, he moved that the charge be imposed in the fifth ward Kindergarten. The motion was seconded and carried.

Moved by Mr. Hill, seconded by Mr. Jamieson,—That Miss Dean be appointed as second assistant in the Central School Kindergarten Department, at the usual salary of $5 a month, dating from January 1st, 1904.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy said: "I hereby give notice that at the next regular meeting of the Board I will move that the salary schedule for the Public Schools be amended as follows:

"That the minimum salary for lady teachers be $350 per annum, and that the maximum be $450 for teachers holding first-class certificates, and $400 for those holding second-class certificates; teachers graded 'good' to receive an increase of $20 per year, those graded 'excellent' $33.33 per year.

"That assistant male teachers' minimum salary be $600, and maximum $750 for teachers holding first-class certificates, and $700 for those holding second-class certificates, those being graded 'good' to receive $30 per year increase, 'excellent' $50 per year, and that such amendment of the schedule go into effect September 1st next, and that any teachers engaged before that date receive the minimum salary in each case.

"The object of the above suggested change is to give our teachers remuneration in keeping with the advanced cost of living at present, and enable the Board when vacancies occur to secure the best available talent."

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Mr. Pringle read a lengthy report on the public ownership of school text books, whereby all such books and supplies be provided pupils on payment of an almost inconsiderate monthly fee.

Mr. Hill favoured the general trend of the report, stating that the plan had worked well where ever tried.

In reply to Mr. Crane, Mr. Pringle stated that at the end of a year the plan would more than pay its way, but that it was not the object of the committee to "make anything," but to supply the school books, etc., at cost prices.

Mr. Stevenson deemed the plan a step in the right direction and that by its adoption he believed the public would be saved fully $1000 per annum.

Mr. Hartley said that the scheme had proved a boon wherever tried. He had seen during the past few weeks its remarkable success in some of the largest cities of the United States. He dwelt at some length on main points of the report and thoroughly recommended its being put into effect.

Mr. Eastwood suggested that definite action be deferred until it was seen what action the Ontario Legislature meant to take in the matter.

It was moved by Mr. Pringle, seconded by Mr. Hill, that the report be received and acted upon as recommended therein.—Carried.

SCHOOL ACCOMMODATION

Moved by Mr. Eastwood, seconded by Mr. Kennedy,—It as resolved that in consideration of the necessity of providing more and improved Public School and Collegiate Institute accommodation; that the proper steps be taken to have a bylaw submitted to the ratepayers as soon as a meeting of the Committee of the Whole shall have been called by the chairman, and the necessary plans be approved of. In connection with the above resolution it is pointed out that at the present time we are paying out $1,500 as rental accommodation, which accommodation is entirely unsatisfactory, and out of keeping not only with the legitimate demands of our school population and also unsatisfactory to the Educational Department. In some details we are regularly being threatened by the Department to have our grants cut down.—Carried.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURES

After a short discourse, Mr. R. B. Rogers, seconded by Mr. Eastwood, brought in the following motion:—That in view of the great benefit to be derived by our teachers, pupils and the public in general from illustrated lectures; that this Board petition the Minister of Education of the Province of Ontario to have placed in the estimates an annual grant for the purpose of providing a series of lectures descriptive of our great industries and natural resources of Canada as well as other subjects as may be deemed desirable, and that such lectures be supplied under the certain regulations to any responsible person who will undertake to deliver the same free of cost outside the necessary transportation charges, and that Messrs. R. B. Rogers, Wm. Pringle and J. Crane, be a committee to interview the Minister of Education on the subject.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

The stormy Sunday morning of the 7th inst., did not prevent the pastor of the Methodist church from filling his appointment, while many who lived convenient to the church failed to put in an appearance, and missed hearing some practical lessons from the words.—"And Enoch Walked with God, and he was not, for God took him."

The pastor of the Presbyterian church spoke as directed by the Epworth League.

Tendency of the Times.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip,) and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by all druggists.

DOWNING STREET.

Sir Algernon West's Reminiscences of No. 10—Rumors of the Cabinet Room—Mr. Gladstone's Last Council.

In the January Cornhill, Sir Algernon West gives some interesting reminiscences of 10 Downing street. Sir Algernon has a special interest in its history for the house was offered to his great-great-grandfather, Sir Robert Walpole, by George II., and accepted by him as the official residence of all succeeding First Lords of the Treasury. Lady West, a grand-daughter of Lord Grey, was born there, and Sir Algernon and his wife occupied the house in 1869, during Mr Gladstone's Administration. The writer mention that in his recollection Cabinets used to be held in the old Foreign Office up to the close of the Crimean war. A friend who was then private secretary to Lord Palmure at the War Office told Sir Algernon how, when the news of the fall of Sebastopol arrived "Palmerston gave a view-holloa you might have heard across the park."

Sir Robert Peel, during his tenure of office, never moved from his home in Whitehall to take up his residence in Downing street, though he transacted official business there. This leads to the curious little note that:

It is not so very long ago—indeed, I am told as lately as 1893-4—that a charge used to appear in the annual estimates presented to Parliament for a small annuity for the sweeper who kept the crossing clean so that the Prime Minister should not dirty his boots on his passage from Whitehall to the Treasury."

Rumors of the Cabinet Room.

The humbler official life of 10 Downing street has its humors: "To all of us the Cabinet-room was a sort of political temple, but to a famous old office-keeper, Appleton who had lived to see so many Administrations, it was a veritable holy of holies."

"Come in here, sir, if you please," he one day said to a high official in the Treasury, now Lord Welby, "the table had to be enlarged and see what the Board of Works has done, they have put a leaf made of deal in the middle of the mahogany table is that respectful?" My economist friend suggested that the green cloth would cover it. All he could say was "Is that respectful?"

Sir Algernon makes the following reference to Mr Gladstone's last Cabinet Council. "When Mr. Gladstone returned in 1892 he found it difficult to hear at the long table in the accustomed room, and the certain's biscuits and carafe of water which are granted by a grateful country to its Ministers, were taken upstairs into what was called the deputation room, and I have in my possession a plan drawn by Mr. Gladstone himself, showing the position of the table and how his Cabinet was to be arranged around it. In 1894 he attended his Cabinet for the last time. He sat, as John Morley in his wonderful biography tells us, composed and as still as marble; the emotion of his colleagues did not pain him for an instant. He followed the words of acknowledgment and farewell in a little speech of four or five minutes, his voice unbroken and serene, the tone low, grave, and steady—and then he said 'God bless you all.'"

Bachelor Ministers.

Active preparations are in progress for the tenancy of 11 Downing street by Mr. Austen Chamberlain, the new Chancellor of the Exchequer. When the work has been completed the right hon. gentleman will go into residence, and will, it is stated, have his sister to keep house for him. The position of having a bachelor for Chancellor of the Exchequer has no recent precedent, while it is absolutely unique to find the First Lord and the Chancellor living in bachelorhood in the adjoining residences—10 and 11 Downing street—each with a sister presiding over the domestic part of the establishment.

W. E. Ellis' Muscular Rheumatism Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Had Tried Everything and Got So Bad He Couldn't Walk Alone or Feed Himself.

Colpitts, Ont., Feb. 8.—(Special)—Muscular Rheumatism, one of the most dreaded scourges this Canadian climate carries in its train, cannot stand before Dodd's Kidney Pills, so says W. E. Ellis of this place, and he speaks out of his own experience.

"Two years ago," Mr. Ellis states, "I got Muscular Rheumatism. I got so bad that I could not feed myself or walk alone. I tried medicine but it was all of no use, those terrible aches and pains were always with me.

"At last my wife would send for a doctor. When he came I said, 'Doctor, can you cure Muscular Rheumatism? And he said 'No.' Then,' I said, 'you are no use to me.'

"It was then I was induced to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and a grand thing it was for me that I did. I got relief almost from the first box, and six boxes drove all the Rheumatism out of me and left me in good health again.

"There is nothing to equal Dodd's Kidney Pills for Rheumatism."

Saving Himself Trouble.

She—I saw you, sir, with that horrid widow, and I shall send back your presents at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills

Cured Mr. George Graves, Pitts Ferry Ont., of a very bad case of kidney trouble.

He tells about the cure in the followin, words: "I cannot recommend Doan' Kidney Pills too highly. I never took any thing that did me so much good. I had a severe pain in the small of my back and could scarcely get up or down without help. I could hardly urinate, but when I did the pain was terrible. I was in the Hotel Dieu, Kingston, last winter and when I came out I was some better but not cured. It was then I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised. Since taking them I have been completely cured and have not had any trouble with my kidneys since."

WHY HE DID NOT GET ON.

He had low ideals.
He did not dare to take chances.
He had too many irons in the fire.
He was never a whole man at anything.
He thought a good business should run itself.
He did not appreciate the value of appearances.
He did not know how to duplicate himself in others.
He let gruff, indifferent clerks drive away his business.
He trusted incompetent friends with responsible positions.
He would not change fairly good methods for better ones.
He did things over and over again because he lacked system.
He thought he knew all there was to know about his business.
He tried to economize by cutting down his advertising appropriation.
He was a good, honest man, but he did not do business in a business way.—Success.

A Horse Which Thought.

Instances of great intelligence in horses are almost as numerous as the horses themselves, but there are few which make prettier stories than this, related in La Nature by a Parisian.

At Vincennes, in my childhood, he writes, my father had two spirited horses of fine blood. One day while one of them, Prunelle, was passing between two walls with my little sister on her back the child slipped and rolled between the horse's feet.

Prunelle stopped instantly and held one hind foot in air. She seemed to fear to lower that foot lest she should step on the child. There was no room for the horse to turn nor for a man to pass in.

In that uncomfortable position, with lifted foot, however, the horse stood patiently while an attendant crawled between her forefeet and rescued the child.

Field's Finishing Touch.

Eugene Field was once visiting the house of Richard Henry Stoddard in New York. During the evening a certain well known physician dropped in. He was a serious man and a bit pompous. The talk turned on diet. "Doctor," said Stoddard, "I've heard that you eat two eggs at breakfast every morning the year round." "No," said the doctor emphatically. "No. On the contrary." "On the contrary!" cried Stoddard. "What's the contrary of eating two eggs?" "Laying two eggs," came in deep, solemn tones from Field.

A Curiosity.

"The man I am looking for," said the mature looking spinster sentimentally, "must be utterly unselfish, brave as a lion, tender, truthful as the day, industrious, intelligent, thoughtful, of distinguished presence and one who never drinks, smokes, gambles or uses profane language. I shall not mind if he is poor—that will not matter."

"Not a bit," remarked the damsel's cynical old father grimly. "He'd have a fine chance of making money, my dear."

"How so, papa?"

"Why, they'd give a fortune for a man like that in a show."

Preacher and Exhorter.

There was an old darky preacher in Virginia who would never become ordained, but was content to remain just an exhorter. This seemed rather strange to some of his congregation, and one day they asked him about it.

"Well, it's dis way," said he. "When you's a preacher, you's gotter have a tex' an' stick right close to it, but if you's only a exhorter you kin branch."

STORY OF AN OYSTER

TOLD BY HIMSELF ABOUT HIMSELF AND HIS TRIBE.

The Trials and Tribulations of the Succulent Bivalve From the Time of Planting Until His Appearance on the Fishmonger's Counter.

There were about 900,000 of us when, as tiny flakes of spawn—or "spat," as the oyster spawn is called—we floated out into the water one day on "the flats."

At first we were white and apparently lifeless. Then we turned gray and finally black. At this stage we became visibly alive. For several days we floated, the sport of waves and tides. Some of my brothers were carried out to sea and so vanished; others were swallowed by fish. At last we all began instinctively to sink toward the bottom.

Then began again terrible destruction. Many fell on mud—the most fatal thing a young oyster can do. These perished at once. Others attached themselves to plants and weeds which grow at the bottom of the sea. They lived for a time—so long at least as the plant remained alive. Then, when the plant died, they perished as well.

Fortunately for myself, I drifted on to a bit of "cultch"—that is to say, one of the old shells which the dredgers and oyster men so carefully scatter all over the sea floor of an oyster bed. I settled with my deep shell uppermost and my flat or right shell nearer the ground. At the time I did not know why I did this. I have since realized that it was because in that position I should be more easily able to eject the sand and grit which a rough sea sometimes stirs up in shallow water. I attached myself firmly to my anchorage of "cultch" and felt myself at last fairly started in life.

Soon I noticed that every single morsel of shell or stone around me was tenanted by tiny oysters, all lying in the same position as myself and all firmly anchored.

There I lay, unmoving, for nearly a year. Food, in the shape of tiny animalculæ, which an oyster loves best, was plentiful. When the water was thick with it, we all opened our shells wide, and, making currents in the water by means of the tiny hairs which fringe our gills and which men call our beards, we washed the dainties into our mouths. Our choicest delicacies were the minute green algæ, which give to full grown oysters that greenish tinge that is the mark of the aristocratic native.

When I first anchored myself, I was but the twentieth of an inch in diameter—so small, indeed, that a microscope would have been necessary to examine me. At that stage my shell was perfectly transparent.

At the end of ten months I had increased in diameter to fully the size of a dime and become what is called "brood."

During all this time I had been learning many things. I found out that it was necessary to close my shell tight when dangers of various kinds threatened, when the tide was low or, in winter, when frost was severe. You may perhaps imagine that an oyster is a creature of such low organism that it cannot see or feel much of what is going on round about it. But you are wrong. The mantle fringe of an oyster is very sensitive. If you watched us from a boat in calm water, you would see that the mere shadow of the boat crossing an oyster bed will cause those of us upon whom it falls to close our shells immediately.

It was necessary to be most careful. Dangers were many and terrible. Sea urchins prowled among us and devoured many. But of all our foes the worst is the five fingered starfish. One of my sisters, anchored not a yard away, fell a victim to this terror of the oyster beds. It clutched her with its long fingers. She closed her shell.

But the creature was not to be shaken off. Hour after hour it clung there until on the second day after its first grip she, poor thing, opened her shell to get a mouthful of food. At once the starfish injected into her a fluid which stupefied her so that she could not close again. Then the monster turned itself inside out, shot itself into the open shell and devoured her.

Then, one day a year after I had floated as "spat," came a startling change in my existence. Something huge and heavy came out of the shadow of a boat above and approached, rasping and grating along the bottom. It was a great triangular dredge of wrought iron. At the bottom was a flat bar with a blunt edge, known to the dredgers as the "bit."

As the "bit" approached it scraped the bottom of the sea clean, and next instant I, too, found myself lifted and dropped into the net, together with hundreds like myself and a miscellaneous collection of small soles and other things.

One of the men sorted over the catch and, having selected all the oysters and spat, "shaded" the rest back into the sea through a porthole.

I, in company with enormous quantities of other brood, was put into a "wash"—a measure holding five and a quarter gallons—and relaid. Here life was less eventful and food most plentiful. To fatten well an oyster must have a certain amount of fresh water.

In this snug retreat I passed from brood to half ware and from half ware to ware, or full grown oyster. But I still went on growing and developing, until one day the dredge swept me up again, and I was raised once more into the upper air and rapidly brought in.

I was then dropped into a large bag and suspended in a tank of fresh sea water, which is constantly renewed. There I await my final fate, which will, I fear, be a fishmonger's counter.—New York News.

YOUR DAILY MEALS.

A Little Sermon on What to Eat and When to Eat It.

If you eat a hearty dinner at the close of each day's work, a dinner made up of food elements which have a chance to build up the body during the night's rest, then you should eat a light breakfast, so that your new energy may go into your morning's work instead of being all used up in digesting your morning meal.

But if you have not eaten the proper quantity and kind of food for dinner you must eat a hearty breakfast, or else feel faint from undernourishment.

You should not eat meat for breakfast, for meat should only be eaten at a time when complete rest can be taken. If you feel the need of meat eat eggs instead or nuts.

You should eat a well cooked cereal, but know this: The cereals which can be cooked in three minutes are hardly worth the eating, because they have so little nourishment in them. Oatmeal that has been cooked several hours is very good. Half cooked oatmeal is so poor a food that it is almost a poison. Cornmeal must also be well cooked, too, if it is to do its best work for the human body—and soul.

And if you will eat bread for breakfast eat the German zwieback, crisp rolls or brown toast. Hot bread and cakes clog your system and will make you cross and uncomfortable before noon.

Coffee could be a healthful drink if it were properly made and not boiled until it is bitter with tannin. Clear coffee, one cup of it, may have no ill effects on your nerves. Coffee, with cream, one cup or two cups, will make you bilious.

But, whatever else you eat or drink, eat fruit and a great deal of fruit, for breakfast. If you want a fruit tonic drink the juice of an orange and half a lemon. If you want fruit for a food eat apples or bananas. Or if these do not agree with you eat apple sauce, cooked prunes, cooked canned fruit.

The Human Dread of Heart Failure.

Symptoms of Which Cause Constant Alarm Soon Disappear With the Use of

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

The heart is looked upon as the very source and fountain of life, and the slightest defect in the workings of this organ is sufficient to keep one in constant dread of sudden and unexpected death.

Shortness of breath on slight exertion, irregular beating, palpitation and weak action of the heart are among the symptoms which cause uneasiness, and these indications of disease soon disappear when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used.

With a liberal supply of rich, red, life-sustaining blood the heart plods on with ceaseless energy, forcing the blood through the body and patiently renewing its own waste, but just as soon as the blood gets thin, weak or watery, the symptoms of heart weakness appear and hold the victim in constant terror.

Because of its extraordinary blood-building qualities, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food thoroughly removes these symptoms and not only ensures regular and healthful heart action, but at the same time restores strength and vigor to the whole system.

Mr. J. Law, 247 Hunter street, Peterborough, Ont., and who is employed with the Peter Hamilton Co., states:

"For a long time I was troubled with severe splitting headaches and suffered a great deal with pains in the region of my heart, caused no doubt by indigestion. I procured a box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and began this treatment. Since using this preparation for some time I can say that I feel quite different and my health is very much improved. My digestion is good, and the headaches and pains about the heart have not troubled me at all of late. I can sincerely recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a thorough cure for nervous dyspepsia and its accompanying symptoms."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

THE BEAUTIFUL MISS MERRIAM

By HARRIET LUMMIS

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

With Miss Merriam the incredible had happened. She was tired of hearing that she was beautiful. From her earliest recollections strangers had exclaimed over her pretty face, and her lovers one after another had hung the variations on the same theme. Miss Merriam listened politely and found herself extremely bored.

"To be loved for your face is like being loved for your fortune," Miss Merriam confided to her journal. "Beauty has wings just as truly as riches. If a man falls in love with your complexion what is he going to do when you come down with the smallpox? If I were a pretty fool I might be perfectly satisfied with things as they are, but I know I'm worth loving for myself—if only they had the sense to find it out."

Unfortunately for themselves Miss Merriam's adorers never suspected her peculiar views. If there had been one of their number shrewd enough to compliment her intellect instead of her dimples and to have talked about her sparkling wit rather than her sparkling eyes he would have found the short cut to her heart. As it was, they were unanimous in deciding that the aforementioned article had been omitted from her composition. And Miss Merriam expressed her displeasure in the following paragraph in her journal: "Beauty, beauty, beauty! How tiresome it all is! I wish I might never hear I was beautiful again."

Rash prayers sometimes bring unwelcome answers. Not very many days later the city was electrified by the news that Miss Merriam had been thrown from her automobile at a well known watering place and seriously injured. Pictures of the beauty appeared in all the leading newspapers of the country, with reference to her possible disfigurement. Miss Merriam's relatives, when appealed to on this important point, refused to say anything to relieve the suspense or to satisfy the popular curiosity. And the explanation of their reticence was apparent when Miss Merriam made her appearance in society a few weeks later. Across the faultless curve of the girl's cheek ran an unsightly scar, a scar so aggressively prominent that it held the attention of the observer and made him forgetful of all else. It seemed likely that Miss Merriam was to have her heart's desire and never again be forced to hear that she was beautiful.

Lloyd Hollister saw her for the first time at one of the opening functions of the season, a few days after his return from abroad. "Notice that girl over there," a friend said, pulling his sleeve. "Last spring she was the 'beautiful Miss Merriam,' and see her now. Hard luck, isn't it?"

Hollister looked as directed. He saw a small head regally carried, a mass of dazzling hair and eyes that shot violet lights from under their arched brows. Then Miss Merriam turned her head, and he saw the scar and nothing else.

"I'd be sorrier for her," the man at his elbow went on, "if she hadn't turned down half the fellows in her set. I guess she thought she was good for a duke with that face of hers. Introduce you, did you say? Why, certainly, my dear fellow."

It was the innate chivalry of Hollister's nature which had prompted him to ask the honor of Miss Merriam's acquaintance. He was as sorry for the girl as he was disgusted with the cold blooded comments of the man who had pointed her out to him. For the first few moments of their conversation he unscrupulously kept his eyes away from her. He could not bear to witness the beauty in eclipse, and he fancied that she who had been so used to reading admiration in the eyes of every man must wince at the pity which tact could not conceal.

Presently he found that admiration was getting the better of his sympathy. This quondam beauty was not crushed by her misfortune. She met this thunderbolt of fate's spite with a gallant courage which quickened Hollister's pulses. Her easy gayety, her apparent unconsciousness of the pathos of her situation, appealed to him as no woman's beauty had ever done. He made the discovery that Miss Merriam was brilliant if no longer beautiful, and that her cleverness, unlike that of many of her sex, owed nothing to ill nature.

In the months that followed he saw a great deal of Miss Merriam. It was clear that the girl's liking for social pleasure remained unaltered by the change in her circumstances. She went everywhere and to all appearances enjoyed herself in spite of the sudden falling off in the number of her admirers. There had been a time when the man who wished a word with the beautiful Miss Merriam was obliged to fight his way through a double ring of black coats, but Hollister had no difficulty in gaining her side whenever he went. Yet the deposed queen of hearts seemed so unconscious of anything about her which called for sympathy that Hollister suppressed his pity as if it had been a form of disloyalty, and after a time he no longer found this difficult. He admired Miss Merriam too much to be sorry for her. In every quality of mind and heart she met his ideal of what a woman should be. As for the scar, he looked at it now unshrinkingly. Whatever he did, he meant to act with his eyes open.

The night he asked her to marry him they sat in Miss Merriam's little library, where the flickering light of the grate fell full upon her face. No man worthy of the name is voluble when he lays his heart and life in the hollow of a woman's hand. Hollister stammered through his lovemaking like a boy. As he went on Miss Merriam turned away her face so that the profile was toward him. The light of the fire flashed on the scar, and it stood out in livid relief. As a rule, Hollister was not fanciful, but for an instant the gash seemed the mocking mouth of a demon stretched in a fiendish grin.

Hollister waited a long time for an answer to his question. Miss Merriam's face was averted, and he could see that she was stirred by some strong emotion. When he made a movement to take her hand she turned toward him suddenly, and he saw that her eyes were brimming with tears.

"You are a brave man, Mr. Hollister," she said in a voice not quite steady. "Have you thought of this?" Her fingers touched the scar with a strange, half caressing gesture. "Have you thought what it will mean to have every passerby look at your wife pityingly and whisper as you pass?"

"I love you," was Hollister's answer. "If there is a hard thing in your life it is my right to share it." Then his head whirled at the look of sudden adoration that leaped from her eyes.

"Oh, I wanted to find a man like you," Miss Merriam whispered. "I was sure there must be such a one in the world." And then she was in his arms, with the poor, scarred cheek pressed to him, sobbing out her heart in a burst of exultant triumph that enraptured him without his understanding it in the least.

When they said good night Miss Merriam clung to her lover as if reluctant to let him out of her sight. "I must see you in the morning, dearest," she said. "You must spare me a few moments." And Hollister, who was looking forward to the separation of a few hours as if it had been as many weeks, agreed with a sudden lightness of heart.

He wondered a little when he came next morning that she should keep him waiting. His heart leaped at every footstep in the hall for the first half hour, and when at last she stole into the room, closing the door behind her, she took him by surprise. Hollister sprang to his feet, then stood staring blankly.

An enchanting face smiled up at him, a face rosy with blushes. He saw the play of the dimples and the curve of the cheek as if he were looking on it for the first time. The scar was gone."

"My God!" said Hollister helplessly, and he dropped into a chair, his own face dead pale. Miss Merriam ran to him and dropped on her knees beside his chair, looking into his eyes with a fascinating mixture of timidity and confidence.

"Forgive me, dearest. Don't be angry with me for deceiving you. If you only knew how tired I grew of men who couldn't see anything in me to love but my pretty face! That little accident with my automobile was too good an opportunity to miss, and the scar was easily put on. An actress showed me how to do it, but I flatter myself that after a little I improved upon my teacher."

She smiled at Hollister shyly and did not seem to find his silence discouraging. "Please don't say you like me better the other way. I almost grew to hate my beauty when it blinded people to all the rest in me, but now I'm glad to have it to give to the man who loved me for myself."

Several complexion specialists claimed the credit for removing the scar that had ruined Miss Merriam's beauty and reaped golden harvests thereby. But the beautiful Miss Merriam never regained her title for the reason that her identity was soon merged in that of the beautiful Mrs. Hollister.

Baby Costs Too Much

When the price paid is the mother's health and happiness. The father doesn't realize as he romps with the child what years of wifely suffering must be set against the baby's laughter.

Chronic invalidism is a high price to pay for the painful joy of maternity, yet it is at such a cost that many a woman becomes a mother. Such a price is too much because it is more than nature asks.

By the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription maternity is made practically painless, and a quick convalescence is assured in almost every case.

$500 Reward for Women Who Cannot be Cured.

The proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"There are thousands of sick women dragging out a weary, miserable existence, who would be well and happy did they but have my experience with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. Annie Lenman, Lady Commander Star of Bethlehem, Lodge No. 27, of 106 Jackson Street, Atlanta, Ga. "Four years ago I was nearly dead with inflammation and ulceration. I endured daily untold agony, and life was a burden to me. I had used medicines internally and externally until I had made up my mind that there was no relief in sight for me. A friend of mine endorsed your 'Favorite Prescription,' and I determined then to give it a trial. It took patience and perseverance for I was in a bad condition, and had to use your medicine for nearly four months before I was cured, but what a change it brought; from despair to happiness, from misery to the delightful, exhilarating feeling that only health brings. I would not change back for a thousand dollars. Your 'Prescription' is a grand medicine. I wish every sick woman would only try it and be convinced."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" does so to gain the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines. His profit is your loss; therefore, accept no substitute.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate the bowels.

MAN'S LOVE OF THE DOG.

Of All Animals, Only the Dog Has Made Alliance With Us.

Man loves the dog, but how much more ought he to love it if he considered in the inflexible harmony of the laws of nature the sole exception, which is that love of a being that succeeds in piercing in order to draw closer to us the partitions everywhere else impermeable that separate the species! We are alone, absolutely alone, on this chance planet, and amid all the forms of life that surround us not one, excepting the dog, has made an alliance with us. A few creatures fear us, most are unaware of us, and not one loves us. In the world of plants we have dumb and motionless slaves, but they serve us in spite of themselves. They simply endure our laws and our yoke. They are impotent prisoners, victims incapable of escaping, but silently rebellious, and so soon as we lose sight of them they hasten to betray us and return to their former wild and mischievous liberty. The rose and the corn, had they wings, would fly at our approach like the birds.

Among the animals we number a few servants who have submitted only through indifference, cowardice or stupidity—the uncertain and craven horse, who responds only to pain and is attached to nothing; the passive and dejected ass, who stays with us only because he knows not what to do nor where to go, but who nevertheless under the cudgel and the pack saddle retains the idea that lurks behind his ears; the cow and the ox, happy so long as they are eating and docile because for centuries they have not had a thought of their own; the affrighted sheep, who knows no other master than terror; the hen, who is faithful to the poultry yard because she finds more maize and wheat there than in the neighboring forest. I do not speak of the cat, to whom we are nothing more than a too large and uneatable prey, the ferocious cat, whose sidelong contempt tolerates us only as incumbering parasites in our own homes. She, at least, curses us in her mysterious heart, but all the others live beside us as they might live beside a rock or a tree. They do not love us, do not know us, scarcely notice us. They are unaware of our life, our death, our departure, our return, our sadness, our joy, our smile. They do not even hear the sound of our voice as soon as it no longer threatens them, and when they look at us it is with the distrustful bewilderment of the horse, in whose eye still hovers the infatuation of the elk or gazel that sees us for the first time, or with the dull stupor of the ruminants, who look upon us as a momentary and useless accident of the pasture.—Maurice Maeterlinck in Century.

An Equine Joke.

At 2 o'clock one morning, when the fog was so thick that you could not see the name of the streets printed on the lamp posts, a telegram was received at a San Francisco newspaper office from an interior town that a prominent official had been killed while hunting. The news had to be broken to the family, and the man doing the late watch was told to jump into a carriage and get some "dope" on the deceased.

He grabbed the first four wheeler in sight and did not notice that the driver had been imbibing. He gave him the address and settled back to get a few winks of sleep, but was awakened by the carriage coming to a standstill. He got out and as he glanced around he was surprised to see headstones and monuments on every side. He looked up and found "cabby" fast asleep. In an instant he appreciated the situation. The driver had fallen asleep on the box, and the horses, believing they were going to a funeral, had leisurely trotted to the burying ground.—Exchange.

Followed His Leader.

Michael had been in the country only a short time and was not entirely familiar with the table d'hote dinner. In his first evening out he hied himself to a Sixth avenue restaurant and called for a table d'hote dinner. Opposite him sat a sour visaged and voracious person who had arrived only a few moments before. Michael, being in doubt as to how to order, decided to watch his neighbor and invariably said he would take the same in response to the waiter's query.

After finishing his dinner the heavy eating man ordered the waiter to send him in a bootblack.

"Bring me the same," exclaimed Michael.

"What!" said the waiter. "Won't one bootblack do two of you?"

"Well," cried Michael, pointing toward his neighbor, "if he eats his I'll eat mine too!"—New York Times.

I have taken your very valuable Tablets because I was run down in health and strength, and I assure you they did me any amount of good. I have not felt so well these many years as at the present time. I am 68 years of age and I feel more like 40 than I did at that age. I can assure you the Iron-ox Tablets have done all for me, and far more than I expected. I must thank you for the great amount of good I have received from taking the Iron-ox Tablets.

TRAIN RAN PAST DESPATCHER'S ORDERS

NO GAME PLAYED AT NORWOOD RINK.

Scheduled Game for Last Night did not Materialize.

Rink Manager Said Roof was not Safe A Contractor's Opinion.

About 300 keenly disappointed persons came home from Norwood last night, or rather, this morning. A hockey match between the T.A.S and Keene teams in the Trent Valley League to decide the championship of the district had been ordered to be played at Norwood last night by Secretary Clarry, and the T.A.S Club ran a special train carrying a large number of passengers.

Upon arrival at Norwood it was found that because two or three of the iron bolts supporting the roof of the rink had broken by the sudden change in the weather on Sunday night, the manager refused to allow a game to be played in it, fearing its collapse. The Keene team, most of whom had driven to Norwood, were made aware of the state of affairs before the arrival of the special train from Peterborough.

The management of the T. A. S team interviewed Mr. Cummings, the proprietor of the Rink, in an endeavour to allow the teams themselves to get into the rink, and play the game as ordered, but this was refused, and the consequence was that no game was played.

This was a very keen disappointment to the T.A.S team and its supporters, as the team was in good shape, and confident of victory. A large number of persons were in town for the game from Hastings, Keene, Havelock, Marmora, and other places, and had the rink been in condition to play the game, the crowd of spectators would have been the largest in the history of hockey in Norwood.

The special, which was advertised to leave Norwood on the return trip at 11.30, did not pull out from the station until about 2 o'clock.

A well-known local contractor, who accompanied the excursion, examined the rink and stated that, in his opinion there was absolutely no danger of the rink collapsing, as such a thing was almost impossible. He gave it as his opinion that the cause of the bolts breaking was not the weight of snow on the roof, as the circular shape makes it difficult to accumulate any quantity of snow on it.

It has not been decided yet where the match will be played, the matter will be considered by the executive at an early meeting, the date for which has not yet been announced.

The T.A.S. Club feels deeply disappointed over the outcome of the affair, and wish it distinctly stated that no message was received by the Club to the effect that the rink was unsafe, and that there would be no game, and they went with full expectations of playing the game.

TIE COMPLICATIONS WORRY THE SECRETARY.

In Trent Valley League Mr. Clarry's Statement.

Hunter street, Feb. 9th, (via Orillia,) — Secretary E. S. Clarry, of the Trent Valley League, when interviewed to-day, made the following statement:

"I will soon be fit for the Lunatic Asylum, if the present complications continue in the schedule of the Trent Valley League. At the present time in No. 1 District, Napanee and Picton are tied; in No. 2 a tie exists between Trenton and Cobourg, which is supposed to be played to-night; in No. 3, Campbellford and Norwood are a tie, with a protest in addition against Campbellford; in No. 4 a tie exists between Keene and T.A.S., which was to have been broken last night. If the winter keeps up hard into the middle of August I have reasonable hopes of the series being carried out."

The secretary has received many sympathetic suggestions from friends of the League as to a solution of the present tie-up. The most plausible is to bring all the remaining teams of the League to Peterborough, and to play them off in tournament fashion until the winner of the championship is thus finally decided. Of course this idea not be seriously considered by the executive.

Prior to going to press Mr. Clarry telephoned to the effect that he had been informed that the Trenton-Cobourg match to-night might not materialize.

PUCKERINGS.

Mr. F. R. J. McPherson's employees accept the challenge of O'Brien's "Clan-I-Gon" to a game of hockey.

Since the crushing defeat which the victorious Examiner team administered to the Review seven, the latter have been clamouring for a second game. The manager of the Examiner team has decided to accede to the request, on three conditions—(1) That by winning the first game the Exam. team are champions of the season 1903-04, and consequently, (2), the second game will be but an exhibition game, and shall not be considered as indicating the champion team; and (3) that the losers pay for an oyster supper to be participated in by both teams.

The all-absorbing topic on our streets is, "when is the T.A.S. of Peterborough, adn Lindsay to play that exhibition game?" It's up to Secretary Menzies to bring on a game as soon as possible.—Lindsay Post.

The Picton intermediate hockey team to be taken on an eastern tour by Con. Milan and Jno. C Hamer, of Kingston. Brockville, Perth, Smith's Falls, Cornwall and other places will be visited. A match will also be arranged to take place in Kingston, with Queen's probably.

The Question of Baldness:

This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald, or partially so. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of wigs and toupees. The visit of Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto, to Peterborough on Thursday, February 18th, when he will be at the Oriental Hotel, renders it possible for every one who wishes to consult him to do so at his private apartments retained at the Oriental Hotel for this purpose. Demonstrations given to show the perfect naturalfulness of his wigs and toupees. Do not miss this opportunity. Remember the day and date, Thursday, February 18th.

SCHOOL OVERWORK.

Goldwin Smith on Longevity—Plain Living, Bodily Exercise, No Overwork—Proper Stimulus in Public Schools.

Mr. Goldwin Smith, writing in The Ladies' Home Journal on "The Reason for My Eighty Years," ascribes his longevity and his ability at the age of eighty still to do work in part to his not having been overworked at school, and adds:

"I probably, however, owe something to plain living and bodily exercise, as well as to immunity from overwork. At the school at which I first was, though it deemed itself first-class, the diet was such as I suppose an American boy would scorn. Our breakfast was bread and butter and a cup of tea. Our dinner was one helping of meat with vegetables, and one helping of pudding. Our supper was the same as our breakfast. The food was good of its kind. During the four years and more which I spent at that school I was never in bed for sickness, nor do I remember that any one of my schoolmates was. At college I did not overwork myself. I never worked at night. But I took regular exercise, almost always on horseback. When an examination approached I rather reduced than increased my amount of reading, thinking that freshness and nerve would be worth more to me in the trial than the little additional amount of knowledge. I may add that, though I have never lived by rule, my general habits have been such as to preserve what my early advantages had given me. I have always taken plenty of exercise; indulged a little, in my own country, in field sports; and traversed Switzerland and the Tyrol with my knapsack. It has been my habit to work early in the morning, not late at night."

"I see mention," continues Mr Smith, "made of some parents who, being warned that their children were in danger of being made sick by overwork at school, declined to interfere, saying that sickness might be cured, but want of education could not. What is education? Is it not preparation for life? How can a child be well prepared for life when the physical energy necessary to sustain mental effort is impaired? Besides, however highly we may value education, character, after all, is the main source both of usefulness and happiness, and character can hardly fail to share the weakness of an overwrought and enfeebled frame."

Mr. Smith then dilates on the misgivings of our public school system. "In the first place," he says, "it is mechanical. It must deal with all children alike, regardless of differences of constitution, bodily or mental, and of special destination in life. There is a hackneyed story of a minister of education in France, that happy land of administrative uniformity, pointing to a bell in his office and saying that when he rang that bell the same lesson commenced in all the public schools of France. The story may be assumed to be apocryphal, but its moral deserves consideration.

"In the second place, the system is unparental. Dr. Rice, in his work on 'Public School System of United States,' dwells repeatedly and emphatically on this fact. He says that in some cases the indifference of parents is such that they will not take the trouble to ascertain whether the school-rooms to which they send their children are in a proper sanitary condition. Ordinary parents, thinking that the State has taken the training of the child out of their hands, are apt to discharge themselves of the responsibility for the formation of the character, and even to take part against a teacher who attempts the application of discipline. An American, and one of the upper class, has been heard to say that his children were guests in his home.

"In the third place, the public school is necessarily devoid not only of religion, some form of which is still for the mass of children the ordinary channel of moral principles, but it is also without moral training of any kind beyond obedience to the order and regulation of the schools. This defect becomes more serious when so many of the teachers are women, by whom boys after a certain age can hardly be well controlled. The consequence seems to appear in the manner of boys. We are continually reading of cases of juvenile crime, sometimes of a first-class kind, and crime novels, though they may be responsible for a part of this, can hardly be responsible for the whole. The original public school in Scotland or New England was not unparental; it certainly was not unreligious; and we may be pretty sure that its discipline was strong.

"Desire of rising in life," he says in conclusion, "which, if it is not the actual teaching, forms the pervading stimulus of the system, is in itself desirable and laudable. It has vastly contributed to the wealth, progress and greatness of the industrial and commercial republic. But we cannot all climb over each other's heads. The lot of the mass of us must be cast in the station in which we were born, and to imbue children in general with the opposite notion would be to sow the seeds of general discontent.

"There is a rather critical question, which I should like to see treated, with regard to the relation of the public school system to manual labor of the unskilled kind and to domestic service. Is a pupil of the public school often found engaged in either? Is it not generally necessary to look to importation from abroad for both? I do not venture to say anything positive on this subject, having no statistical information before me.

"There is in Canada—I do not know whether there is in the United States—a growing tendency on the part of those who can afford it to resume parental privilege and duty by resorting to voluntary schools."

Status of Toronto University.

What is the status of the University of Toronto? During the summer just past the president and Prof. McLennan preached the doctrine of its excellence throughout the west. Every issue of the university publications since the term began has breathed of triumph in its progress. At every banquet given under college auspices during the last month, the speeches have been parts of one panegyric of the growing prestige of our alma mater. The shouting has not had time to die before the Canadian Club are assured by Mr. White that the university is not keeping pace with similar institutions of the first rank. This statement is used as a warrant in asking for more liberal aid from the State. Buildings, equipment and the rest must be provided, and they are expensive. If they are not forthcoming down goes the Provincial university into the third class. This is all very disquieting to the under-graduate mind. The two points of view are hard to reconcile. The only refuge is in the reasoning that, while the new buildings are needed, it is the excellence of the university that has created the necessity. Had the School of Science of the medical faculty not outgrown their old quarters it is not likely that the new buildings would have been erected. Were not the biological and physical departments working under the greatest difficulties in providing accommodation for the increased numbers of students and facilities for the more extended research work, the proposed new laboratories would not be invested with so much importance. The central heating plant is hardly of vital moment in preserving the educational standing of the university. If the public can be assured that the best possible teaching is resulting from the equipment now at hand, it should not be a difficult matter to assure them that better work might be done under more favorable circumstances—Toronto Globe.

JAPS BOMBARD PORT ARTHUR

Viceroy Alexieff Reports Defeat in General and Naval Engagements to the Czar—Thousands of Japanese Troops Landing at Various Points in Corea---First Staggering Blow to Russia on February 8 and 9.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—An official despatch received here, says that Japanese torpedo boats have attacked the Russian squadron in the outer roads at Port Arthur, and that three Russian boats were damaged.

Admiral Alexieff's official report of the attack by the Japanese is as follows: "I most respectfully inform your Majesty that at or about midnight on Feb. 8-9, Japanese torpedo boats made a sudden attack by means of mines upon the Russian squadron in the outer roads of the fortress of Port Arthur, in which the battleships Retvizan and Czarevitch and the cruiser Pallada were damaged. An inspection is being made to ascertain the character of the damage.

"(Signed.) Alexieff."

When Fleet Meets Fleet.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10, 1 a.m.—The following official bulletin has just been issued in the form of a telegram from Viceroy Alexieff's chief of staff, dated Feb. 9:

"By order of the Viceroy I beg to report that this day at about 11 o'clock in the morning a Japanese squadron, consisting of about 15 battleships and cruisers, approached Port Arthur and opened fire. The enemy was received with a cannonade from the shore batteries and the guns of our squadron, which also participated in the engagement.

"At about mid-day the Japanese squadron ceased its fire and left, proceeding south.

"Our losses in the fleet were two officers wounded, nine men killed and 41 men wounded. The battleship Poltava and the cruiser Novik each had a hole knocked in her side below the water line. The forts were slightly damaged.

("Sgd.) Major-General Flug."

Russian Fleet Drawn Out.

Paris, Feb. 10.—The following official despatch, dated Feb. 9, has been received here from Port Arthur:

"A Japanese fleet, composed of 15 armored ships, has bombarded Port Arthur since yesterday morning. The forts returned the fire. The entire Russian fleet has gone out and a combat is in progress. Martial law has been declared here."

La Revue Russe says it learns from St. Petersburg that this bombardment began during last night.

Alexieff's Second Bulletin.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10, 6.20 a.m.—A second telegram has been received from Viceroy Alexieff. It is dated Feb. 9 and says:

"A Japanese squadron of fifteen battleships and cruisers to-day began to bombard Port Arthur. The fortress replied and the squadron weighed anchor in order to participate in the battle."

The Russian Losses.

A third telegram from the Viceroy says that after a bombardment lasting one hour the Japanese squadron ceased its fire and steamed southward. "Our losses," the Viceroy continues, "are two naval officers and 51 men wounded and nine men killed and on the coast one, man killed and three wounded.

"During the engagement the battleship Poltava and the cruisers Diana, Askold and Novik were each damaged on the waterline. The damage to the fortress was not important."

8,000 Japanese Land.

London, Feb. 10.—In a despatch from Tien Tsin, dated Feb. 9, a correspondent of The Daily Mail says it is reported there that the Russian cruisers Variag and Korietz at Chemulpo hauled down their flags without firing a shot, and that 8,000 Japanese immediately landed and the march to Seoul commenced.

Japanese troops also landed at all the chief points of southern and western Corea. One division of the Japanese Guards holds Fusan and Chemulpo. Altogether three divisions of the Japanese Guards, each of 12,000 men, have been mobilized.

The Russians Advance.

It appears, the correspondent continues, that the Russian warships at Vladivostock are ice-bound. Another correspondent of The Daily Mail telegraphs from Port Arthur, under date of Feb. 9, that the Russian advance has commenced. Gen. Krastalinsky will leave Liao Yang tomorrow for the Yalu River at the head of the third division of artillery, consisting of 24 guns and three regiments of infantry. The third, fourth and fifth infantry brigades are entrenched along the railroad at a distance of 40 miles from Hai Cheng, and three batteries of the fifth brigade are at Kin Chou.

AN EYE WITNESS' STORY.

Tale of Japan's Torpedo Sortie at the Harbor at Port Arthur.

Che Foo, Feb. 10.—The British steamer Columbia has arrived from Port Arthur with news of the attack by the Japanese fleet upon the Russian fleet in the roads outside of the harbor of Port Arthur. The Columbia was in the roads at the time, and felt the first shock of a torpedo explosion at eleven o'clock Monday night. The attack continued all night and at daylight yesterday morning two Russian battleships and one first-class Russian cruiser were seen to have been disabled and beached at the entrance of the harbor. The cruiser was badly listed.

Russia Begins Fire.

Yesterday morning the Russian forts opened fire on the Japanese fleet, which was about three miles distant. The Japanese vessels returned the fire, hitting several of the Russian ships but doing little damage. The Russian cruisers then went out and Japanese vessels disappeared. They were seen later going in the direction of Dalny, apparently undamaged. Although the officers of the Columbia say there were 17 in the attacking party, only 16 were seen later in the day by the steamer Foo Chow, which passed through the Japanese fleet yesterday. The fleet consisted of six battleships, four first-class cruisers and six other vessels. They were 18 miles from Port Arthur yesterday morning and were proceeding in a south-easterly direction.

Story of Eye Witness.

A member of the crew of the Columbia tells this story of the naval battle at Port Arthur:

"The Columbia was lying in the roadstead, surrounded by 14 Russian battleships and cruisers. At 11:30 o'clock Monday night a severe shock was felt on board the Columbia. The Russians immediately commenced to operate their searchlight and opened fire towards the sea. The firing lasted only a short time. At 1 o'clock more shocks were felt and the Russian again commenced firing.

"The Japanese did not return the fire. At 2 o'clock two Russian battleships went in and were beached across the entrance of the harbor. They were soon followed by a Russian cruiser, which was alone and beached. None of the vessels were damaged above the waterline. More shocks from torpedoes were felt during the early morning and then all was quiet.

Started in Pursuit.

"At 10 o'clock Tuesday morning three Japanese cruisers passed Port Arthur in sight of the Russian fleet. The whole Russian fleet immediately weighed anchor and went after them, but returned in half an hour. The Russians left on cruiser outside to watch for the Japanese ships. The cruiser was fired upon by the Japanese and the other Russian vessels took up their anchors and cruised around the roadstead. The Japanese fleet came up within three miles and battle commenced. The Japanese fired on the ships and forts, which replied. The Russian ships were struck by shells, but were only slightly damaged. The Russian fire fell short. The Columbia steamed away while the battle was in progress, but later saw the Japan fleet leave. One cruiser with the torpedo boat is reported north of Che Foo."

Harbor Blocked By Ships.

The two battleships disabled are the Poltava and the Czarevitch. The disabled armored cruiser Boyarin and the grounded battleships block the entrance to the harbor, preventing gunboats from getting out and battleships and cruisers from going in and getting coal.

The Japanese fleet was under command of Vice-Admiral Togo, and consisted of four fast cruisers, the Chitose, Kasagi, Tagafago and Yoshino, which circled outside, drawing the fire of the Russians. They then joined the main fleet and all went in to attack the armored cruisers.

Disabled Cruiser Outside.

When seen by the steamer Foo Chow Tuesday morning, the fast cruisers were circling in a radius of six miles. No torpedo boats were seen, and it is probable that they left the vicinity after the torpedo attack on Monday night. The Russian fleet outside of the harbor consisted of the battleships Petropaulovsk, flagship; Peresviet, sub-flagship; Pobleda, Poltava, Czarewitch, Retzvian and Sebastopol, and the cruisers Novik, Boyarin, Bayan, Diana, Palada, Askold and Aurora. The disabled battleships are inside Forts Huan Ching Shan and Chi Kwan Shan. The cruiser Boyarin is outside, but within range of the forts.

Had Narrow Escape.

The Columbia reports she had a narrow escape from injury during the naval battle. While going out of the roads at Port Arthur the Russian cruiser Novik got between the Columbia and the Japanese fleet. Shells which passed over the Novik struck the Columbia. Her flag was cut into shreds and one shell fell on her deck. The faces of those who were on deck were blackened with powder smoke.

Russians Bad Shots.

An hour later the discharge of torpedos was repeated, after which the torpedo boats withdrew some distance. At 10 o'clock Tuesday morning the Japanese fast cruisers circled within view of the whole Russian fleet, but they were not engaged. The Russians returned toward the harbor after half an hour. The Japanese came within three miles. A battle then began between the Russian forts and fourteen ships and the sixteen Japanese vessels. A few of the Japanese shells were effective, but as far as seen the Russians fell short.

The Japanese fleet was steaming toward Dalny when seen last.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1904.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER'S SPEECH AT MONTREAL.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's admirable speech at the Monument National in Montreal on Saturday evening in support of the candidature of Messrs. Gervais and Rivet for the St. James and the Delagarde divisions of that city, was a complete answer to the arguments of the Conservative leaders and their organs in support of their demands for increased protection in the interest of the manufacturing and working classes, and an effective reply to the attacks that have been made on the Government with respect to the National Transcontinental Railway policy, says the Ottawa Free Press.

From one end of the country to the other the cry has gone up from Conservative platforms that unless there is an early revision of the tariff and greater protection given to native industries, the Dominion will be confronted with widespread disaster. The speakers who talk in this strain are fond of pointing to the United States, its progress and prosperity, as an illustration of what protection has done.

Sir Wilfrid declared, with a confidence and patriotism that awoke the enthusiasm of his audience and that will appeal to the intelligence of the vast majority of the people of Canada that we have here a country richer in natural resources, with a more promising future before it than the United States, and that at the present time the commerce of Canada is greater per capita than that of the United States.

Was it not reasonable to conclude from this that the fiscal policy of Canada is superior to that of the United States — that it is a policy that has made the Dominion prosperous and a power among the nations? Sir Wilfrid Laurier's declaration as to the future was definite and conclusive. It is impossible to change the tariff without doing injury both to the manufacturers and workingmen.

In regard to the Transcontinental Railway project, it has been asserted by the opponents of the Government that Parliament went into it blindfolded; that it is unnecessary; that it would involve an expenditure that would prove an unsupportable burden upon the people, and that the problem of communication between the west and east would have been more satisfactorily solved by making a patchwork scheme by combining and extending systems that are already in existence.

The Prime Minister, by his exposition of the project showed how shallow these arguments were; how the railway would help to build up a new province of Quebec, a new Ontario, and would be a connecting link that would bring the wheat fields of the west in touch with the manufacturers of the east; how Canada was hungry for better and improved transportation facilities, and how the Grand Trunk Pacific would meet the whole of the conditions that the Dominion requires in a new national railway from the Maritime Provinces to the Pacific.

The magnificent reception tendered the Premier and the members of the Government who accompanied him, and the excellent impression made by his speech, are looked upon as favourable auguries of the success of Government candidates at coming bye-elections.

PAST YEAR ONE OF MARKED PROGRESS

Industrial Conditions in Canada During 1903.

The Immigration and Colonization Movement Review by the Labour Gazette.

The Labour Gazette for January contains a comprehensive review of the industrial labour conditions prevailing in Canada during 1903. An instalment of the article follows:

The general activity and prosperity which prevailed in almost every branch of trade and industry in Canada during 1903 is the feature which calls for immediate mention in any review of the labour and industrial situation during the year. With the exception of only a few localities, from those from which regular reports were received by the Department of Labour throughout the year, and of a few branches of industry, notably the fishing industry, the amount of employment available undoubtedly exceeded that of 1902, which in its turn constituted a record year in the history of Canada for the general prosperity of industry.

Though at the close of 1903 returns in the agriculture industry showed a falling off in certain of the leading products, no serious interruption to general activity was contemplated in consequence.

A feature of the year just past was the continuance of its activity over the several months. An exceptionally busy holiday season in 1902 was followed by an unusually early opening of the spring season which affected directly or indirectly almost every branch of employment. These conditions were continued throughout the summer months, and did not fall off until the closing two months of the year, that any material slackening in the total amount of employment, and this largely attributable to seasonal causes, was observed.

WAGE INCREASES, DECREASES IN HOURS OF LABOUR, TRADE DISPUTES.

An important industrial feature was the marked tendency towards an increase in the rates of wages or a reduction in the hours of labour, or both, in many of the most important branches of industry, and in practically all of the provinces of the Dominion, though the movement was especially marked in Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba.

The general prosperity of the country was checked in many localities by trade disputes, which in numbers and magnitude exceeded those which occurred during the two previous years. The shipping trade at Montreal was seriously affected by a strike of longshoremen from the opening of navigation until May 11, but the effects of the dispute were felt by exporters in many localities throughout Ontario and Quebec.

Building operations were greatly impeded in the spring months in Toronto, Montreal and Calgary, and to a lesser degree at Vancouver, B.C., and St. Catharines, Ont. In July and August, there was a large strike of carpenters at Halifax, and in the autumn there were further strikes in the building trades both at Montreal and Quebec.

At least equally disastrous were the numerous disputes among coal miners in British Columbia, which beginning with a strike at Fernie on February 11, extended to Ladysmith a month later, and to Cumberland on May 4. The strike at Fernie came to an end on March 31, but the other two lasted until July, and great loss was occasioned to the industries dependent upon the mines at these places for fuel.

The city of Quebec also suffered heavily for a time on account of trade disputes. A small strike of shoeworkers developed into a lock-out affecting 5,000 employees from November 14 to December 17, and the prolongation of the dispute caused losses to many other industries of that place.

SHORTAGE IN COAL SUPPLY

As a feature which more or less affected industrial conditions, particularly during the early part of the year mention should be made of the effect of the strike of miners in the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania during 1902. Though the strike was begun in May and concluded in October, 1902, and was confined entirely to the United States, it was not until the month of March, 1903, that the supply of anthracite for domestic and commercial purposes reached its normal proportions. Though manufacturing and transport were adversely affected, the impetus imparted by the scarcity of fuel to coal mining in Nova Scotia and to the development of the lignite deposits scattered over Manitoba and the North-west Territories, may be regarded as having operated to the advantage of the coal-mining industry in this country. The most important effect of the strike was upon the general social life of the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, resulting from the high price at which all sorts of fuel were held. The stimulus given to municipal and corporate action in meeting the needs of local communities, and the action brought at Brantford against the Ontario Coal Association for alleged conspiracy to lessen competition in the purchase and sale of coal, were important incidents arising out of the situation.

THE IMMIGRATION AND COLONIZATION MOVEMENT.

The proportions reached by the immigration and colonization movement during the year was a very important feature affecting the whole industrial situation. Though the year 1902 exceeded all previous records in the number of immigrants reported as having arrived in Canada from Europe and the United States, reports for 1903 show in advance of fully thirty per cent upon the returns of that year. Accompanying this influx of immigrants, the opening up to settlement of new lands has been on a scale unprecedented in the history of the Dominion. The expansion of Western Canada is to be noted, therefore, as one of the most significant features of the year.

Similar developments on an unusually large scale were carried on under the auspices of the Provincial Governments, notably in Ontario, where the opening up of the Lake Temiskaming district was followed by a heavy influx of settlers. April, May and June were the most active months in the matter of arrivals of immigrants from foreign ports. For the fiscal year ended June 30, the total of 124,658 arrivals were reported, of whom 47,980 were from the United States and 44,787 from the British Isles. Financial returns for the calendar year were not procurable on December 31, but were roughly estimated at 131,000. As in 1902, a large number of settlers, a most desirable class of immigrants from the western states of the American Union entered via Winnipeg. An incident of the immigration movement of 1903 which received wide attention was the arrival of an all-British colony numbering over 1,900. This was the largest single party of emigrants that ever left Britain for this country. It located in the neighbourhood of Saskatoon, N.W.T., and organized a new municipality. The influx of immigrants, though consisting very largely of agricultural labour, included also a number of skilled artisans. Among the secondary influence of these arrivals may be mentioned the increased business to transportation companies, &c., which the landing of so large a mass of people involved.

The passing of an act by the Dominion parliament raising the head tax on Chinese immigrants from $100 to $500 had the immediate effect of increasing the numbers of Chinese arriving in Canada during the closing months of the year, the movement being in anticipation of the coming into effect of the Act on January 1, 1904.

MAKE PEACE WITH YOUR STOMACH.

You are Certain to Lose if you Attempt the Use of Force and Violence.

You cannot force your stomach to do work that it is unable and unwilling to do. It has been tried time and again with always the same result. The stomach is a good and faithful servant; but when pushed beyond the limit it rebels. Some stomachs will stand much more abuse than others; but every stomach has its limit, and when that limit is reached it is a very dangerous and unwise proceeding to force it into doing further work. The sensible and reasonable course is to employ a substitute to carry on the work of digestion and give the stomach an opportunity to recuperate and regain its lost strength.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only perfect substitute to take up and carry on the work of tired, worn out stomachs. They are natural and easy in their work and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They contain all of the essential elements that make up the gastric juices and other digestive fluids, and will digest any food that a strong healthy stomach will and do it in the same time and in the same way. They work independently of surrounding conditions and the fact that the stomach is weak or diseased does not influence them at all in their useful and effective work. They will digest food just as well in a glass jar or bottle as they will in a stomach. You can see that for yourself by putting one of them into a jar with a square meal, and some water to enable it to work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets by thus relieving the stomach of its work, enable that organ to rest and recuperate and regain its health and strength. The process is perfectly natural and plain. Nature will heal the stomach just as she heals a wound or a broken limb, if she is not interefered with and is permitted to do her work in her own way. All interference is prevented by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box and if you are afflicted with dyspepsia one box will make you feel fifty times better. You will forget you have a stomach and rejoice in the forgetfulness. No druggist would be so short-sighted as to try and get along without Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for they are so popular and so well known for the good they have done and the happiness they have caused that any druggist caught without them would lose the confidence of his customers and be regarded as below the standard. His business would suffer as a result and his patrons would go to other stores and buy their other drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

FEAR TRENT CANAL ROUTE.

Only Canadian System Americans View Seriously.

Comparative Discourse Upon it by Mr J. A. Culverwell.

(Mail and Empire)

"The Trent Valley Canal and the Development of Canadian Waterways," was the subject of a lecture before the Canadian Institute on Saturday evening by Mr. J. Alex. Culverwell.

The discourse was illustrated by numerous lantern views of the new Erie, the Welland-St Lawrence route, the Trent Valley, and the German Canal system, and an interesting description was given of all these systems.

Mr. Culverwell argued that in the Trent Valley system we were following out the method adopted by the German barge canal, completed recently, to connect their coal and steel districts with the North Sea, viz., length and breadth of lock rather than depth, seeking bulk of boat in that direction. The draught in each canal system would be the same—eight feet.

New York State also was building a barge route of 1,000-ton boat capacity, only a little larger than the Trent, which will be an 800-ton barge canal, and this enlarged Erie Canal, costing one hundred million dollars, would—the State Commission reported—reduce the grain freight rate from Buffalo to New York by two-thirds, which would certainly demoralize the Canadian grain-carrying trade—so the report would prove—as also completely underbid the New York railroad rate possibilities.

The Dominion Marine Association were pressing the Canadian Government to enlarge the Welland Canal from a 2,000 ton lock capacity, so as to enable them to pass a 5,000 ton vessel through to Kingston, and then transhipp to 2,000 ton barges for Montreal, and this too after just completing an expenditure of $40,000,000 for the present enlargement of the Welland-St. Lawrence canals. Mr. Culverwell pointed out that ship dimensions in fact had outgrown the Welland-St. Lawrence Canals system years before the enlargement was completed. He advocated the expenditure of the five million dollars necessary to complete the Trent Valley route, which now had 160 miles of navigable route bottled up and thus open up "nature's short route grain-carrying waterway," as he termed it, pointing out that American marine journals recently openly stated that the Trent Valley route is the only Canadian route they feared.

The speaker also showed that it was a day shorter than the Welland route, and besides would give communication between Peterborough, Lindsay and Central Ontario points, with Toronto, Hamilton and western Ontario, and be the means of increasing the rapid development of the central portion of the province.

Professor Coleman, the president of the Institute, was in the chair, and there was a large attendance of the members, as well as some gentlemen interested in transportation matters.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Moved by Mr. Scott, seconded by Mr. Graham, that Thomas LaPlante be appointed clerk pro tem., in the absence of the clerk through illness.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Bell, seconded by Mr. Harvey, that it is the firm belief of this council that we urge upon the Government the necessity of encouraging the importation of farm labourers to Ontario, believing that it is one step towards educating very suitable settlers for the Great North-west, thereby developing our farm lands, the same to be the only way to have other lines or industries developed, agriculture being what Canada is most suitable for and in the vancement of it all other oranches must follow.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Graham, seconded by Mr. Scott, that a list of the pound keepers and fence viewers be printed in the Examiner and Review.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Graham, seconded by Mr. Harvey, that Mr. Scott and Mr. Bell be a committee to view the bridge on the 8th concession line at Mr. Fowler's gate, and if necessary to secure timber and have the same rebuilt this season.—Carried.

ONTARIO'S INCOME ALWAYS ASSURED

Premier Ross' Masterly Review of Province's Finances.

NEED NOT FEAR A DEFICIT.

Assets Converted Into Useful Forms That Provide a Constant Income—A Notable Example Instanced—What Has Been Done For the Farmer By the Government—Surplus $2,941,398 on Jan 1.

Toronto, Feb. 10.—Premier Ross, in a speech that lasted for two hours in the Legislature yesterday afternoon, gave a very complete and interesting survey of the financial condition of the Province. His subjects were well arranged, and his figures were marshalled in forceful style. He showed that the long-predicted deficit in the Ontario treasury is still afar off, and gave striking evidence of Provincial prosperity. He dealt at length with the Temiskaming Railway construction and its financing, and proved that it had been built with exceptional economy and judicious management. The extension of this line and other works projected were referred to in order to show that the Ministry was not sitting in idleness. He devoted some attention to the trust funds dispute with the Dominion Government, and declared that the rights of the Province would be enforced. Col. Matheson, who followed, contended that instead of the surplus there was an actual deficit on the year's transactions of $621,000. Mr J. R. Pense moved the adjournment.

The Premier's Speech.

The Premier at the outset stated that he would endeavor to give a complete survey of the expenditure and revenue of last year, the proposed expenditure for this year, and then discuss various aspects of the financial question. They began the year 1903 with a bank balance, after having paid off the maturing obligation of the Province, of $1,115,510, and they had closed the year with a cash balance of $1,991,679, having improved the bank balance in the meantime by $579,168. In January, 1903, the surplus of assets over liabilities was $1,939,262, and at the end of the year that surplus showed an increase of $609,901. Now that surplus was $3,551,300, the cash balance in the bank on February 9th being $2,941,398.

Increased Expenditure.

"The expenditure for the year just closed was considerably larger than the expenditure for any previous year in the history of the Province. I do not know whether this may not be the subject of criticism. However, the fact remains that the increased demand upon the treasury for the development of the country and in connection with all the interests which the Government are bound to protect, will suggest that possibly our expenditure will be much more easily increased than it will be reduced, or even curtailed. The average expenditure for the last six years was $1,131,000, while the actual penditure for last year was $1,382. Two points had to be considered, however, in giving this summary of the actual expenditure. First that in two of the six years I have mentioned, instead of paying our railway certificates when they became due, we issued annuities and so carried them to the credit account of the Province instead of charging them up against actual expenditure. For the last four years we have paid certificate and annuity, and every other obligation as they became due, so that when the year was closed on December 31st last there was no matured or maturing obligation of the Province that had not been discharged." The Premier showed that the sugar-beet bounty had taken, in round figures, $75,000, the iron bounty, the appropriation for which would probably be exhausted this year, $25,000; railways, $230,000; good roads, $23,000; University and Mining School, $8,100, all of these being statutory liabilities, while the common school fund accounted for $10,000, a total of $137,000. So that the normal and ordinary expenditure was about $437,000.

The increase in the cost of civil Government of $11,000 was more apparent than real.

Cost of Education.

Education also showed a very large increase, namely, $140,111. A larger grant had been necessary for high schools owing to the establishment of new schools. A large vote was now taken for technical education, a new department organized in the interests of the artisan and those who were dependent particularly upon skill in manual labor. There had been also large increases for the University and School of Science; in fact the increase in education covered the whole range of popular education, from the kindergarten to the university, including public schools and normal schools, of which they had one more now at London than they had a few years ago. There had been a moderate increase in the maintenance of public institutions of $57,638 in a total of $922,037.

Spent on the Farmer.

In agriculture there had been an increase of $144,506, due in part to the transfer of certain items from the miscellaneous account. The total expenditure was $378,846. More than half the increase was the result of the contribution of $74,997 to the beet-sugar industry. Then the Eastern Dairy School got an increased grant of $6,371, the experimental farm and feeding an increase of $7,452, the experimental dairy $9,672, while the new buildings at the Agricultural College involved an expenditure of $42,352. "These are large items," said the Premier, "and indicate a very large increase, but it is in a direction which, I am confident, the House will approve and support. Agriculture, lying as it does at the foundation of our industries, requires constant attention. It is so varying in its forms, it is not so one-sided as it used to be, and we have so many phases in agricultural education now to consider that we may naturally expect—I think very properly so—so far as our resources will admit, to increase the expenditure in this direction if we are to maintain our position as the first Province in the Dominion."

The Crown Lands Department drew considerably on the revenues, the increase being $31,713. The necessity for that increase was the opening up of new townships along the Temiskaming Railway and beyond New Liskeard. About twenty-five townships were surveyed last year, covering 532,714 acres. The demand made for locations by the veterans and the pressure of the settlers in the northern district had necessitated that large expenditure. The department was asking for about as large a sum for the current year.

Largest Revenue in History.

Turning to the revenue for 1903, the Premier said it had been very generous, thanks to the excellent timber sale a few months ago. It had totalled $5,466,683, the largest revenue in the history of the Province—(applause)—but not larger than the wants of the public service required. A few details of that revenue would suffice. The interest account amounted to $195,357—on trust funds, assets held by the Dominion Government, $151,864, and on balances in the bank of special accounts, $41,493. "This source of income, I have no doubt," said the Premier, "is duly appreciated, showing that the position of the Province is one of perfect solvency—(applause)—that our assets are productive, that they are living assets, yielding us almost $200,000 of an income per annum." He then gave details in other departments which were equally gratifying.

No Fear of Deficit.

Referring to the estimated revenue of $5,381,372, about the same as last year, the Premier said that they were in the happy position of knowing that no sum voted by the House would exceed the certain revenue. "There is no fear of a deficit in our income. Our revenue is secure. No accident that can possibly happen to the revenues of this Province would create a deficit during the current year."

Cost of Temiskaming Railway.

The Premier then referred briefly to some of the projects which they had on hand for the current year. The largest work on hand was the construction of the Temiskaming Railway. After showing what progress had been made on that road, he stated that the Commissioners had informed him that the probabilities were that by October 1 trains would be running regularly from North Bay to New Liskeard. Trains were now running three times a week from North Bay to the 57th mile, and from that point to the end there was a stage line. The road had been constructed at a remarkably low figure. The cost of construction was estimated at $25,000 per mile, while the equipment would be in the neighborhood of $5,000 per mile. The Canada Atlantic, 137 miles, cost $17,000 per mile, and it was a much easier road, and built when supplies were cheaper. Canada Southern 373 miles, $85,510 per mile; Canadian Northern, 1,218 miles, $37,660; Canadian Pacific, 3,838 miles, $52,100; Grand Trunk, 3,157 miles, $105,800; Intercolonial, 1,333 miles, $51,000; Quebec & Lake St John, 211 miles, $58,100 per mile.

After referring to some minor projects, the Premier instanced in glowing language the signs of prosperity in Ontario, and closed with an eloquent peroration, resuming his seat amid applause.

Col. Matheson's View.

Col Matheson, who followed the Premier, said that the House and the people were anxious to know how the Province paid its way. The receipts for 1903 were given as $5,166,653, and the expenditures at $4,888,982. In addition to this the Province had incurred a liability for wages at the "Soo" to the extent of about $250,000. The expenditure, therefore, was about $5,100,000. The receipts of $5,466,653 included receipts from the bonds and timber sale of $1,335,000, and reduction of drainage debentures by $21,000. These two sums deducted from the receipts gave $1,109,000, so that we actually incurred liabilities of $1,000,000 more than the ordinary receipts. Receipts from Crown lands should be considered as capital receipts, because they must constantly be diminished. In ten or fifteen years that source would be reduced to perhaps $200,000. The Soo payment and the expenditure for the Normal School and the School of Science might be considered exceptional.

PAY A PENNY TO HELP A SICK FRIEND

And I Will Risk $5.50.

I ask only a postal card in the name of someone who needs help. Tell me the book to send. 'Tis a trifle to do for a sick friend—don't neglect it. I will gladly do all the rest.

I will send him my book. I will arrange with a druggist near by that he may take six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. He may take it a month at my risk. If it succeeds it costs $5.50. If it fails, I will pay the druggist myself. And the sick one's mere word shall decide it. I do that so that those who need help will accept it.

I have what those sick ones must have to get well, and I want them to have it. I make my offer so fair that no sick one can afford to neglect it.

I do just as I say and trust the cured ones to be fair with me. I have furnished my Restorative to hundreds of thousands on these terms, and 39 out of each 40 have paid gladly, because they were cured. I want not a penny otherwise.

My Restorative is my discovery, the result of my lifetime's work. I have personally tested it in thousands of cases as difficult as physicians ever meet. In my long experience I have so perfected it that it does not fail, save when a cause—like cancer—makes a cure impossible.

My success comes from strengthening the inside nerves. Common treatments merely doctor the organs, and best results are but temporary. My treatment restores the nerve power which alone makes those organs act. It is like giving a weak engine more steam. Any weak vital organ does its duty when given the power to act, and there is no other way to make weak organs well.

No other remedy strengthens weak, inside nerves, and for this reason there is no other treatment for chronic diseases which any man will offer on a plan like mine.

Please tell me who needs a remedy like that.

THE BALTIMORE PHOENIX.

People Will Rely Entirely Upon Themselves For Their Resurrection.

Baltimore, Feb. 10.—Baltimore has already recovered from the first stunning effect of its fiery trial and is rising like a Phoenix from its ashes. The citizens have pulled themselves together and the talk is no longer of the past, but of the future. They have resolved, too, to dispense with outside assistance and to rely on their own energies for their resurrection. Temporary offices have been opened everywhere and labor is in demand for the clearing away of the ruins.

The buoyant feeling was greatly increased by the discovery that the vaults, strong rooms and safes had in almost every case withstood the flames and that the anticipated tremendous loss in securities would not materialize.

Lord Roberts Accepts.

London, Feb 10.—Lord Roberts has accepted the appointment to the new office of Inspector-General.

People have learned to have such confidence in Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for every form of piles that they do not hesitate to endorse it at every opportunity. As a result Dr. Chase's Ointment is probably recommended by more persons than any preparation on the market to-day. There is no guess work about its effects—relief is prompt and cure certain.

SOCIETY WOMEN

As Well as the Housewife and Professional Women Endorse Pe-ru-na as a Specific for Winter Diseases.

MISS BLANCHE MYERS.

A SOCIETY LADY'S LETTER.

Miss Blanche Myers, 3120 Penn street, Kansas City, Mo., a prominent young society woman of that place, has the following to say of Peruna:

"During each of the past four seasons I have caught a severe cold, when suddenly chilled after an evening party, and catarrh for several weeks would be the result. One bottle of Peruna cured me, and I shall not dread colds any more as I did."—BLANCHE MYERS.

HOME TREATMENT FREE.

Catarrh Cures by Thousands Under Dr. Hartman's Free Treatment.

Catarrh of the nose and head produces discharge from the nose, sneezing, and pain in the eyes and forehead, weak, and sometimes watery eyes, and occasional loss of memory.

Unless something is done to prevent the catarrh will follow the mucous membrane into the lungs where it will be followed by cough, night sweats, rapid loss of flesh, and the other dread symptoms of consumption.

To all such people Dr. Hartman's treatment comes as a great boon. It is only necessary to send name and address to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O., and complete directions for the first month's treatment will be sent free.

Not only is it more successful in curing catarrh than the treatment of catarrh specialists, but it is in the reach of every person in this land.

A medicine which is the principal part of Dr. Hartman's treatment, known as Peruna, can be bought at any drug store, and is a remedy without equal for catarrh in all forms, coughs, colds, bronchitis, consumption, and all climatic diseases of winter. Each bottle is accompanied with complete directions for use.

Address The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, for a copy of their latest catarrh book, instructively illustrated, and contains 64 pages of the latest information on catarrhal diseases. Sent free to any address.

A Housewife Who Suffered 25 Years.

Mrs. Alla Schwandt, Sanborn, Minn., writes:

"I have been troubled with catarrh for twenty-five years. Could not sleep day or night. After having used Peruna I can sleep and nothing bothers me now."—Mrs. Alla Schwandt.

Mrs. Jennie Cable, Spokane, Wash., writes:

"After suffering for twenty-one years with neuralgia, caused by catarrh of head, I tried all doctors and all kinds of medicine, receiving no benefit. I became discouraged and worn out at last. My mother wrote me to take Dr. Hartman's medicine, so I did, but my case was a chronic one, and I was also in the change of life. Through the use of Peruna and Manalin I am now entirely well.

"When I began taking your medicine I only weighed 61 pounds; now I weigh 110. I have not taken a drop of medicine for seven months, and would advise all sufferers to consult Dr. Hartman. The neuralgia affected my head and eyes, and for the last year seemed to be in my breast and between my shoulder blades."—Mrs. Jennie Cable.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Assessment Commissioner Fleming Denies Page's Incriminating Evidence.

Toronto, Feb. 10.—The Assessment investigation was very hot yesterday. The forenoon was consumed with evidence submitted to Judge Winchester concerning the other branch of the investigation. In the afternoon Assessment Commissioner Fleming was on the stand for three hours. He denied Page's incriminating evidence in toto, and also swore there was no truth in the veiled accusation which charged him with paying Ald. Woods' election expenses with a promise of hush money at the alderman did not squeal on the witness during the investigation.

MANY ATTENDED THE GUILD SOCIAL

Given in St. John's Sunday School Room Last Night.

The social given in St. John's Sunday school last night under the auspices of the Young Men's Guild of that church, was largely attended, and an enjoyable time was spent.

The chair was occupied by the president of the Guild, Mr. W. H. Cluxton. The affair was opened with an interesting programme of vocal and instrumental selections which were evidently appreciated by all present. The remainder of the evening was pleasantly occupied by playing games, and towards the end the young men served cakes and coffee.

A PLEASING EVENT AT ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

Last Night—An Excellent Programme of Music Provided.

The oyster supper and concert given at All Saint's last night, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of that church, was an unqualified success in point of merit and attendance and all who were present left heartily pleased with the affair. The programme opened with a piano duet by Miss Ida Mulholland and Miss Bullen, the organist of the choir, the former taking the leading part. For an encore they played "The Gypsy's Dance." The playing was rendered with a brilliancy that bespeaks a bright future for the young artistes. Mr. Joe Legg, one of Peterborough's favorites, also received an encore for his vocal solo. The principal feature of the evening, however, was the vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. Firth, of Toronto, in their rendition of "Life's Dream is Over;" his rich tenor voice blending harmoniously with her sweet contralto, she also sang for an encore a plantation lullaby entitled "Kentucky Babe," in a characteristic and charming manner. Mr. Firth's selections were "By Your Side," and "Message of the Violet." Their songs were greeted with applause and encores. The church's orchestra did much towards the enjoyment of the evening. Mention should also be made of the accompanists, Miss Bullen and Miss Bell, who performed their parts excellently. Mr. Maughan, one of the church Wardens, presided as chairman in an able manner.

The oyster supper which next followed brought the pleasant event to a close.

WERE ENTERTAINED BY THE PASTOR.

Officials of Mark Street Church Spend Pleasant Evening.

The Mark street church, under the pastorate of Rev. J. G. Lewis, has entered upon a new era of prosperity and progress, and one of the influences conducive to this most satisfactory result is the fact that the utmost harmony prevails between the pastor and his people.

An evidence of this was seen last night, when a large number of the officials of the church, accompanied by their wives, gathered at the hospitable home of the pastor and his wife in spite of the severe cold, and enjoyed a most pleasant evening together. During the evening a number of vocal and instrumental selections were rendered by the Misses Chasty. A very genial and friendly spirit pervaded the company and all present expressed high appreciation of the unfailing kindness of the pastor and Mrs. Lewis, who had made the evening such an enjoyable one to them.

Elected Officers.

The annual meeting of the local branch of the Lord's Day Alliance was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. parlours, and Mr. J. D. Collins elected President, and Mr. Robt. Harrison, Secretary-Treasurer.

For the Benefit of the Fishermen.

A unique musical evening will be given under the auspices of the Deep Sea Mission at the St. John's School House, on Monday evening next, when Mr. Brown, Mr. Smith and Sally will demonstrate to the audience, the trials and tribulations of music and art living in the same lodgings. There will be a choice musical programme given also and a very enjoyable evening is promised. Admission, 25 cents. Tickets may be had from members of the society or at Madill's drug store.

JAPAN CAPTURES RUSSIAN TRANSPORTS

2,000 Russian Troops in Hands of the Japanese.

Czar Throws Blame for War on Japan --- Japanese Fleet Bombarded Port Arthur.

Up to the present time in the conflict raging between Russia and Japan the latter appears to have had a decided advantage, and if the reports which are being cabled are credible, Japan has completely outmanoeuvred the Russians in the naval engagements. Special despatches from London and St. Petersburg to the Examiner to-day have the following:—

London, Feb. 10.—A special despatch from Tokio dated to-day says it is reported there that three transports of the Russian volunteer fleet, conveying about 2,000 troops have been captured by the Japanese off the Korea coast.

London, Feb. 10.—A despatch to the Central News from Port Arthur says the Japanese fleet returned there on Tuesday afternoon and again bombarded the Russian fleet and forts, but soon withdrew. The losses to the Russians, the despatch says were small. During the firing a Japanese cruiser grounded.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—The Czar has issued his official declaration of war on Japan. The document throws all the blame for the commencement of hostilities on Japan.

Messrs. McMillan and Maguire, stock brokers have received the following despatches:—

London, Feb. 10.—Baron Hayashi the Japanese Minister here has received official confirmation from Tokio of the destruction at Chemulpo of the Russian first-class cruiser Yaring and the third-class cruiser Koretz. The crews of both the Russian vessels sought refuge on a French warship at Chemulpo.

There were no casualities among the Japanese and their vessels sustained no damage.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—Some of the newspapers here print extras claiming a Russian victory at Port Arthur. Three Japanese warships and four Torpedo boats are reported to have been seriously crippled. One report says the Japanese Battleship Skikishima was sunk. There is no official confirmation of the report.

Vladivostock, Feb. 10.—Private telegrams received here report the complete route of the Japanese by the Russians on the Yalu River. These advices also claim that Chemulpo, Korea, has been occupied by Russian soldiers and marines.

A MILD PANIC IN OPERA HOUSE.

Lindsay Audience Frightened by Cry of Fire.

Production of Pinafore Interrupted by False Alarm A Presentation to Mr. Telgmann.

"Pinafore" was given in Lindsay on Monday night conducted by Mr. Telgmann, and the Lindsay Post in commenting upon it tells of a rather exciting incident which occurred:—

"An unpleasant incident, which might have been fraught with dire consequences, occurred at the conclusion of the first part. Just as the curtain was about to be lowered the electric lights went out all over the house, and not understanding the cause some of the younger children became nervous and excitable. At this juncture a villain of a boy in the gallery yelled "Fire," and but for the presence of mind displayed by Mr. Telgmann a panic might have resulted. He at once reassured the children on the stage and started again the chorus with which the first act had closed, and in the darkness it was sung as seldom before. In the course of a few minutes a lamp was secured somewhere, the electric light repairer arrived, and ten minutes later the trouble was remedied and the lights switched on again. The incident should be accepted by the Academy management as a warning not to rely solely on the electric system, which has gone wrong time and again. Bracket lamps or lanterns should be provided for such an emergency.

"Something of a more pleasant character transpired later in the evening, when Mr. Telgmann was presented with an address and ebony shaving set in a handsome case — a pleasing proof of the esteem entertained for him by his young pupils."

A meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the Charlotte street Methodist church was held last night, when a unanimous invitation was extended to the pastor, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, to remain a third year as pastor of the church.

A number of the members of the Board expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the progress which the church had made during the past year. It had been the most successful in the history of the church, both spiritually and financially. The membership has increased very satisfactorily and all departments are in a good healthy condition.

Mr. Jolliffe will probably accept the invitation.

SPORTING ELEMENT AMONG PACKERS.

Employees of the Geo. Matthews Co. Enjoy a Boxing Contest.

What proved an agreeable affair after the noon meal took place at the George Matthews Co. packing house on Friday. A boxing club having been formed, several of the members indulged in exhibition spars, and the making of some very good local talent was unearthed. Among the pairs were Young Denne of the 5th ward and Billy Beeswax of the south end; Billy was by far the better man. Another pair was Joe Ranger and a young Englishman, Harry Hanwell. The Englishman surprised the local talent by his evident knowledge of the laws of self-defence. The tit-bit of the affair however was the bout between Pat Lavoy and Drysdale, this causing roars of laughter. The way the club was started there is every prospect for an enjoyable season.—Com.

PUCKERINGS.

Now that hockey has taken such a hold upon the sport-loving public of Peterborough, it is but natural to see the Cereal Company's employees getting into line with what they confidently hope will be a winning team.

On Monday night under the able direction of Mr. J. E. Sullivan, the team had a good work-out on the ice in front of the mills and is now willing to consider challenges from teams representing the C. G. E. and other industrial establishments. They have an eye on the championship of the Industrial League.

The team would probably line up as follows:

Mr. Peter Gardiner, trainer, is getting his team into good condition.

The "Times" feels a little sore because it has not been considered in the championship series of games played between the Review and Examiner. The Examiner manager explains that the championship he claims for his team is not the press championship of town, but merely between the two teams which played. But he will be most happy to place a team on the ice to meet the Times for the press championship of the city, and will play the game at any time convenient to both teams, and any reasonable proposition will be considered favourably.

The Times this morning said: "The manager of the Examiner hockey team accedes to the request of the Review team for a second game, only on certain conditions, the first being that the victorious seven in the championship of the se... The boys of the Times have apparently not been consulted in the matter, but they would like to arrange for a match with either of the above press teams for the near future."

ROYAL TEMPLARS IN A SOCIAL EVENING.

An Open Meeting was Held Last Night in Their Hall.

Fraternal Visit by Members of Good Templar Order A Pleasing Programme Presented.

A most enjoyable evening was spent last night in the council room of the Royal Templars of Temperance, when an open meeting was held at which there was a good attendance, and an excellent programme was rendered, contributed to by members of the local Council and others.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the fact that a number of the members of the newly organized Good Templar Lodge paid a fraternal visit to the sister Council, and assisted in the programme.

Mr. J. Carey, the Select Councillor, acted as chairman of the meeting, and in his opening address spoke of the progress made by the Order and particularly by the local Council during the past year. On behalf of the Royal Templars he welcomed the institution of the Good Templar Lodge, and expressed the hope that both organizations would work in harmony for the advancement of the cause for which they were working.

A very enjoyable programme followed the chairman's address, the first number on which was a vocal solo by Mr. Bert Peters, to which he responded with a recall selection. Miss Maude Titterson, a charming little maiden of tender years, contributed a most pleasing recitation, with which the audience showed its hearty approval. Later in the evening she gave two vocal solos which also were most enthusiastically received. She was accompanied on the organ by her sister, Miss Jennie. Miss Gray next rendered a vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Balfour, and Miss Laura Sager gave a humourous recitation, in which she was encored.

Mr. Dunslow made a "hit" in his character sketch of the troubles of a householder with a mouse. The audience was apparently highly delighted with Mr. Dunslow's contribution to the programme. In response to a demand for an encore he gave a flute solo. Master Leslie Guerin sang a solo, as did Miss McDevereux, while Mr. H. Lee entertained the audience with a number of selections on a phonograph.

Mr. Stubbs, one of the visiting members of the Good Templars gave a short, but stirring temperance address in the course of which he said that he considered the Temperance Societies the greatest educators of the young people in existence and the work done by them of great value to the youth of the land.

At the close of the programme refreshments were served to those present and a pleasant social hour was spent together.

PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY.

A New Business Concern Consisting of Local Firms.

"The Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company," is the name of a business firm, consisting of the following well-known companies: The McClellan Coal Company, The Stevenson Coal Company, The William Buller Cartage Company, and it is proposed to carry on a coal, wood, sewer pipe, cement and cartage business. Moreover, this new company intends to erect a suitable building for the storage of household furniture and goods. The success of the company is ensured, in that Mr. Stevenson has been in the coal business for 20 years, and Mr. McClellan for 9 years, while Mr. Buller has conducted a cartage business for the past 18 years.

At present there is no place where household goods generally can be safely and conveniently stored, and in this regard alone the company should be eminently successful.

A careful and conservative estimate has shown the gross earnings in a year would be $16,250. The estimated expense, handling coal, the wages, horse feed, office and incidental expenses, depreciation, wear and tear, totals up to $11,250, leaving net earnings of $5,006, or 25 per cent, on an investment of $20,000, which would be a sufficient sum to operate the business on the basis referred to.

In addition to the certainty of a dividend, stockholders are allowed a discount of 25 cents a ton off the market price of hard coal. The shares are $25, and after considering the above facts and thus more fully set forth in the prospectus, the proposition is one which in this rapidly growing town should be very favourably received.

The company controls the desirable site and sheds of the Stevenson Coal Company, situated on the Grand Trunk track, as well as the property adjoining. The company will also have offices on Charlotte street, at the rear of Mr. George Carton's office. The attention of Examiner readers is drawn to the company's prospectus, which appears in another column of this issue.

A PRETTY WEDDING IN LAKEHURST.

Miss Jennie Shaw Married to Mr A.W Elliott.

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, January 20th, at the R. Shaw, Lakehurst, when his eldest daughter, Miss Jennie, was united in marriage to Mr. A. W. Elliott, the youngest son of Mrs. John Elliott, of Lakehurst.

The bride who was becomingly dressed in white and carried a bouquet of white carnations and smilax, was assisted by her sister, Miss Madge, who wore a dress of blue with trimmings of cream lace, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations, while the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Harry Elliott.

The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock in the afternoon by the Rev. Dr. Metzler, pastor of the Lakehurst Methodist church, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the young couple.

After a dainty repast Mr. and Mrs. Elliott drove to their future residence in Lakehurst followed by the best wishes of their many friends.

A PRESENTATION TO REV. FATHER GALVIN.

Pleasing Event at St. Martin's Church, Ennismore.

A Popular Priest Made Recipient of Purse of Gold The Address.

On Sunday, February 7th, Rev. Father Galvin of the Cathedral staff, celebrated mass at St. Martin's church, Ennismore, at the conclusion of which some of the leading men of the parish came forward to the altar railing when Mr. John F. Collins, the Township Clerk, read the following address, while Mr. Ed. Corkery, Township Reeve, presented Father Galvin with a purse, well-filled with gold. Father Galvin is a native of Ennismore, and one of whom the people are justly proud.

The address and presentation are only a faint reflection of the very warm feelings which exist in the hearts of the Ennismore people for Father Galvin. The following is the address:—

To Rev. P. J. Galvin:

Reverend and Dear Father,—We, the members of your natal Parish of St. Martin's, Ennismore, feel that we would be remiss in the discharge of our duties were we to allow this, the occasion of your ordination, to pass by without testifying in some small measure, our deep appreciation of your many sterling qualities, both as boy and man, and our gratitude to God at your elevation to the holy priesthood.

We are always well pleased when one of our own members is deemed worthy of promotion from the ordinary to the higher ranks of life, for, in that promotion we recognize the just reward of honest labour, steadfast perseverence and more than ordinary ability. But in your case, dear Father, we can frankly assure you it is no mere pleasure but the joy and delight of our hearts. In your elevation to the priesthood you have reached that goal so long and ardently desired, and to which your daily life, for many years gave evident proof of God's vocation. We to-day are proud of the honours that have been conferred upon you for they reflect credit, not alone upon yourself and family, but on the community at-large. We have followed eagerly your career through Ottawa University and the Grand Seminary at Montreal, and the success you achieved in both these institutions is, to our minds, a sufficient guarantee of the good work you will accomplish in the holy ministry.

As a token then of our regards and as a slight proof of our appreciation of your genuine piety and nobleness of heart we ask you to accept the accompanying gift, asking in return that you will not be unmindful of your many Ennismore friends of the holy sacrifice of the altar.

In conclusion we pray that God may bless and protect you; that your labours may be productive of abundant fruit, and that your reward may be a happy eternity. Signed on behalf of the congregation,

William Crough, Martin Doran, Samuel Killen, Edward Corkery, William Sullivan, Daniel Kennedy, Robert O'Donoghue, John Scollard, Jas. Guiry, Patrick Crough, William J. Cavanagh, Eugene Murphy.

The reverend father was taken entirely by surprise, and some moments elapsed before he could give expression to his deep feelings of gratitude. He thanked the people for their very beautiful address, which he assured them was highly appreciated, coming from persons he had known so long and favourably, and who had every opportunity of knowing him. He thanked them also for their handsome present, which he accepted as the visible expression of warm generous Irish hearts. He always knew the people of Ennismore were generous and now he had tangible proof of that generosity. He would not readily forget their kindness nor be unmindful of them in his sacred offices.

His brief and appropriate reply was followed by a very eloquent and impressive sermon on the Gospel of the Sunday. Father Galvin brings with him to the sacred ministry, besides a well-balanced and well equipped mind the one great requisite for good work—a strong zealous desire to win souls to God.

That expresses the situation. We stand pat on it. We're forced against the cold fact that in a very short time we must clear out and give way to the new people.

PROSPECTUS

The Peterborough Fuel & Cartage Co. LIMITED.

Authorized Capital, $40,000, in 1,600 shares of $25.00 each.

DIRECTORS:

PRESIDENT: J. H. McCLELLAN, Coal Dealer.
MANAGING DIRECTOR: WM. BULLER, Carter,
SECRETARY-TREASURER: A. J. McCLELLAN.
F. D. KERR, Barrister. A. PARKER, Dxe Works.

SOLICITORS
DENNISTOUN, PECK, KERR & STEVENSON.

The Peterborough Fuel & Cartage Co. (Limited) have acquired the plant and goodwill of the following companies: The McClellan Coal Co., the Stevenson Coal Co., the Wm. Buller Cartage Co., and propose to carry on a Coal, Wood, Sewer Pipe, Cement and Cartage Business. It is also proposed to erect a suitable building for the Storage of Household Goods and Furniture. This has been a long-felt want in Peterborough and its success is certain. At present there is no place where suitable and convenient storage can be obtained.

PROPERTIES

The Company control the most desirable site and sheds of the Stevenson Coal Co., situated on the Grand Trunk track, and property adjoining, leased at nominal rent from the Grand Trunk. This property makes a most desirable place for the business at nominal expense.

ADVANTAGES

The cartage and coal business would work very advantageously together as the slack months in the coal business are the busy ones in the carting and vice versa.

ESTIMATE OF BUSINESS

In presenting an estimate of the business that could be done the directors have been very conservative in their figures.

3,000 tons hard coal could be handled at a gross profit of $1.25 per ton	$3,750 00
(This has been the average profit for a number of years.)
2,000 tons soft coal, gross profit, 75c a ton	1,500 00
10 carters' wagons, handling freight, household furniture and coal; average gross earnings $3.50 a day for 300 days	10,500 00
Revenue, storage business, 1st year	500 00
	$16,250 00

THE ESTIMATED EXPENSE OF DOING THIS BUSINESS

Cost handling coal, 5,000 tons at 30c a ton	$1,500 00
Wages, cartage business	4,000 00
Horse feed	1,500 00
Incidental expenses, shoeing, repairs, etc	500 00
Office expenses, salaries etc	2,500 00
Depreciation, wear and tear	1,250 00
	$11,125 00

Leaving net earnings of $5,000.00, or 25% on an investment of $20,000, which would be a sufficient sum to operate the business on the above basis.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

Besides being assured of a good dividend the stockholders are allowed a discount of 25 cents a ton off market price, time of ordering their supply of hard coal.

The shares have been placed at $25.00 and in submitting the above proposition it is confidently expected that this company with its large list of shareholders working for its interests, cheap rents and the advantage of starting off with a large business, should be a splendid opportunity for investment.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

A deposit of 25 per cent. is payable on acceptance of application and the balance in monthly instalments of 25 per cent. each. Subscribers may make payment in advance of due dates and will be entitled to dividend from the date of such payments. If no allotment is made deposit will be returned without deduction, and if a partial allotment is made the surplus deposit will be applied towards the amount payable on allotment. All cheques must be made payable to Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson, Acting Treasurers.

LOCAL FIRM'S STAMP OF ORIGINALITY.

The Peter Hamilton Mfg Co's new Catalogue and Calendar.

Machines for 1904 Will Surpass all Previous Creations The No. 8 Binder a Splendid Machine.

With characteristic enterprise, The Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company, Limited, has just issued one of the most handsome and most artistic yearly catalogues, ever put out by any implement manufacturer.

In it the machines manufactured by the local firm, which has a national reputation for good goods, are well illustrated and described.

By consulting this catalogue it is learned that good as the Peter Hamilton machines have been in the past, and there are none better, the Hamilton machines of 1904 will possess qualities not incorporated in those of previous years.

The "Leader" seeder will in reality "lead" them all. The energies of the designing and construction department have been concentrated on one seeder but the result is that in it has been incorporated more good points, perhaps, than any other seeder on the market.

A spring tooth cultivator is a necessity to every farmer these days, and Hamilton's Elastic Cultivator apparently meets the demand for a first-class machine, in which has been combined all the good points desirable in an implement of that kind.

The No. 3 Steel Binder is the result of five years' experience, and in it the company feels confident that it has perfected a machine which for simplicity of design and efficiency in operation is unsurpassed. Special pains were taken to render the machine as perfect as it was possible to make it.

In the earlier stages the sample machines were left with the farmers to cut their entire harvest, and the company learned from them all the defects they could find, and noted all improvements and changes that they could suggest or desire, and this information, aided by the firm's own knowledge should certainly give the best results.

In short they now have a binder designed by the farmers for the farmers themselves, and built by a firm with as much knowledge of what a binder is required to do as any other firm in the country.

The other machines manufactured by the company include mowers, hay rakes, spring tooth and diamond harrows, scufflers, turnip sowers, straw cutters, root pulpers, gang and general purpose ploughs, are all described and illustrated, and each represents the best workmanship possible.

The firm has also issued one of the most beautiful calendars that has come into the office this year. It is a harvest scene, and is one which will go straight to the hearts of all who see it.

All the advertising gotten out by this firm has the stamp of originality combined with artistic merit.

All farmers should procure a copy of the 1904 catalogue.

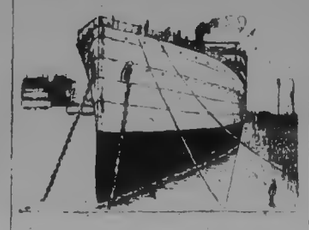
MADE IN IRELAND AND THE BIGGEST IN THE WORLD.

The New Ocean Monster, Recently Launched at Belfast, Is 726 Feet Long, With Nearly 24,000 Tons Gross Tonnage and 28,000 Tons Capacity—In Many Respects Also the Fastest Vessel Afloat.

Quietly, with as little preparation as though it were an everyday event, a great steamship slid into the water from the docks of Belfast, Ireland, shipyard a short while ago.

It was a launching stripped of speeches, music and a picturesque christening ceremony, yet it was one of the most impressive occasions of the kind ever witnessed, for the steamer Baltic, of the White Star Line, the world's biggest ship, had just dipped her prow for the first time into the waters of Father Neptune. Thus was an occurrence unique in the history of shipbuilding dealt with as though it were a matter of routine, while those who were permitted to witness the launch from the yard, and expected a dramatic and exciting scene, were very much disappointed.

Instead of the usual launching scene—the hundreds of busy workers swarming round the huge vessel, an endless din of hammers, a babel of orders, and interminable moments of waiting until the final signal was given—they saw a few men grouped round the keel, one with an axe, the others with their hands in their pockets, and high overhead a cluster of black figures peering down curiously. There was no shouting, no confusion, a wave of the hand, a muttered word was sufficient, the men knew what they had to do, and did it quietly and effectively. All eyes were directed to the Baltic, where she lay strong and solid on the launchways, shining with fresh paint, and with the festoons of check-chains round her bow. Mere figures could not convey the idea of size and strength that lay in her towering sides that shut out the sunlight, the decks that stretched so far that from the bows the squad of men on the poop showed like pigmies, only then one could understand something of the daring that planned, and the genius that carried to a successful conclusion, the construction of such a vessel.



WORLD'S BIGGEST SHIP, THE "BALTIC."

Harland & Wolff, the builders of this mighty sea monarch, had permitted a large number of spectators to enter the yard for the launching, and from an early hour the Queen's road was black with people hastening to obtain a good position. The visitors included the prominent public men of the city of Belfast, as well as people from every part of Ulster.

The workers, who had been appointed to the yard, swarmed in every possible place, crawling along girders like flies, and balancing themselves on a single plank fifty feet in the air with the agility of monkeys. On the river the tugs were in position, with a score of skiffs at their heels ready to pick up the timbers of the "cradle" that the vessel carries with her when she leaves the launchways, and in the yard the work went on as quietly and speedily as ever. Finally, at 11 o'clock, there was a dead silence, as Miss Neilson, a fair daughter of England, started the lever which set the boat in motion. She seemed scarcely to have touched it, when the Baltic began to glide down the ways, the tiny red flag fluttering jauntily as she touched the water.

There was a crash and a roar as the dogshores gave way, but the noise was lost in the din of cheering that rang out from the thousands of spectators on both sides of the river. Slowly the huge stern slid out beyond the veil of scaffolding, with a curl of white water below, and the propellers revolving madly.

The next moment could be seen plainly the tall sides with their lengths of check-chain, knots of men running on the deck, and a solitary black figure waving its arms like a semaphore. "Now for the anchors," said somebody, and as he spoke there was a motion in the bows, a momentary pause, then a loud splash and a flash of silver, and the boat quivered and stood still, while every siren in the river hooted frantically in salute, and the crowds cheered and cheered again.

As a launch, it was one of the most successful that a shipbuilder could show, the Baltic being pulled up in less than fifty seconds from the time the lever was started. She was afterwards taken in charge by tugs and moored alongside the Alexandria wharf, where the work of putting in her engines will be carried out, when she will be ready for sea.

The Baltic is not only the largest but in many respects the finest vessel afloat, her great size making it possible to add improvements even beyond the other vessels of this type, in which the shipbuilder's art has already obtained such a high standard of excellence. Her dimensions are as follows: Length, 725 feet 9 inches, breadth, 75 feet, depth, 49 feet. Her gross tonnage will be nearly 24,000, her capacity for cargo about 28,000 tons, and the displacement of her load draft about 40,000 tons.

The new vessel is fitted with accommodation in the same lines as that on the Celtic and Cedric, two former possessors of hers, but even more commodious than in those vessels. The general arrangements of the ship are similar to the other vessels of this type, a continuous shade deck running fore and aft, with three tiers of deck houses, and two promenade decks above them.

On the upper promenade deck are the first-class smokeroom and library, and the two houses below contain the deck staterooms. The first-class dining saloon is on the upper deck, and all the first-class accommodation amidships, immediately abaft the first-class is the second-class accommodation, and there is also a comfortable smokeroom and library for this class of passengers.

The third-class passengers are provided for abaft the second-class, and to a limited extent at the fore end of the vessel.

A great feature in this accommodation is the large number of staterooms—two, three and four berth—and the commodious and comfortable dining rooms, fitted with tables and revolving chairs. There is accommodation in all for nearly 3,000 passengers, besides quarters for a crew of about 350.

As in the other large steamers of this type, one of the most notable features in the Baltic is the grand dining saloon—a very handsome apartment. Situated on the upper deck, it extends the full width of the ship, 75 feet; it is exceptionally lofty and airy, and contains seating accommodation for 370 people. With the domed skylight, and artistic and effective decoration, this will be one of the most magnificent and comfortable dining saloons on the Atlantic. The first-class smokeroom and library are also magnificent apartments, and the second-class public rooms are alike elegant and comfortable.

The Baltic will be fitted with engines of Harland & Wolff's quadruple expansion type, about 13,000 i.h.p., and the speed will be about 16½ to 17 knots.

The Baltic is the fourth largest vessel in the world built by Messrs. Harland & Wolff during the last few years. The others were the Oceanic in 1899, the Celtic in 1901, and the Cedric in 1902. The Oceanic has a gross tonnage of 17,274, while her length is 705 feet, her depth 19 feet, and her breadth 68 feet. Compared with these dimensions the Baltic has a gross tonnage of 23,000, her length is 725.9, her depth 49 feet, and her breadth 75.6. The Celtic and Cedric, launched respectively in 1901 and 1902, had gross tonnages of 20,904 and 20,980, the length, depth and breadth of each being 700 feet, 49 feet and 75 feet. The Hamburg-American Liner Deutschland, which held for a length of time supremacy as the largest vessel, has a displacement of only 23,200, and her dimensions are: Length, 684 feet, breadth, 67 feet; depth, 40 feet, and gross tonnage 16,200.

DISTRESS AFTER EATING

Can Only be Cured by Removing the Cause of the Trouble.

There is only one way to cure indigestion. The medicine must act upon the digestive organs—not upon their contents. Medicine should not make the stomach do the work nature intended it should do. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do this as no other medicine can. They tone up the stomach, restore the weakened digestive organs and promote natural digestion. There is no doubt about this—it has been proved in thousands of cases that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure indigestion when all other medicines fail. Mr. Elezar Robidoux, St. Jerome, Que., offers his testimony to substantiate this. He says: "For some years I was a great sufferer from indigestion. My appetite became irregular, and everything I ate felt like a weight on my stomach. I suffered much from pains in the stomach and was frequently seized with dizziness and severe headaches. Nothing I tried did me a particle of good until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and these, after taking them for about two months, completely cured me. It is nearly two years since I discontinued the use of the pills, and I have not since had the slightest return of the trouble."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure not only indigestion, but every trouble due to poor blood and shattered nerves. They will not fail if the treatment is given a fair trial. Don't take any pink coloured substitute—don't take anything but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. You will find the full name printed on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers, or sent by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Inebriety.

Inebriety is called a disease, but is a disease of the will. As with the hysteric, the inebriate said, "I cannot;" it looked like "I will not;" it is "I cannot will." Its successful treatment involves the problem of how to rehabilitate a human will.

Left the Worry to the Doctor.

"How about that little bill?" asked the doctor.

"Why, doctor," was the reply, "only a little while before you sent it in you told me not to let anything worry me, and I haven't."

A GRASSHOPPER RACE.

Mackay Won It Because the Professor Got the Wrong Bottle.

John W. Mackay was an early riser, a hard worker and, although exceedingly hospitable, was himself abstemious and could seldom be induced to play cards for money, and then for only nominal stakes. The only game that seemed to attract him was the "grasshopper races" with which the mining superintendents on the Comstock beguiled a portion of the noon hour while waiting for luncheon at the Savage company hoisting house. Boys caught grasshoppers and sold them to the players at 25 to 50 cents each. Each player paid a fixed stake, ranging from $1 to $20, into the pool, and the man whose hopper made the longest jump captured the pool. On the day before Christmas it was agreed to celebrate that holiday with a pool the stakes in which were to be $100 for each player. The terms were "play or pay," and at the instance of a German professor who was a superintendent of a leading mine each man was allowed to use any means that he might devise to stimulate his grasshopper. The professor was so full of his scheme to scientifically capture the $1,000 pool for there were ten entries—that he communicated it to a young assayer who was not a grasshopper plunger. The professor had experimented and ascertained that a grasshopper that was touched by a feather dipped in a weak solution of aqua ammonia would jump for his life. The young man also experimented, and as a result he filled a bottle of the same size and appearance with cyanide of potassium and managed to substitute it for the other in the professor's laboratory. The next day, when the professor after much boasting about his scientific attainments dipped a feather in the substituted bottle and touched his insect with it, the grasshopper rolled over as dead as a salt mackerel, amid the roars of the crowd. Mackay's hopper won the big pool, and two widows, whose husbands had been killed in the Yellow Jacket mine, received a gift of $500 each from an unknown source.

Eating Worms.

All nations save the worshipers of Buddha eat the flesh of animals. Even the lowest and most disgusting to eye and palate find a home where they are welcomed. Worms and insects must furnish food and grace the tables not only of the poor, but of the rich. Think of the gourmet who praises the luscious woodsnipe, and still more the black mass from the inside that he carefully places on his toast and eats with a feeling akin to veneration! He is eating the worms that live in the snipe's intestines. Of equal value is the famous palm worm of the West Indies, which forms one of the best dishes of luxurious dinners. Its near relation, the grugru worm of Java, is said to be richer still and more delicate. Nor do costly silkworms escape the fate of all that is eatable. Freed from their cocoons and daintily dressed they are highly prized and largely swallowed by the people of Madagascar.

The Cob Pipe.

Corncob pipes are as old as the settlement of this country, and the probabilities are that the pilgrim fathers found the Indians sucking hollowed out cobs through reed root stems. There is a historical warrant for saying that Andrew Jackson smoked cob pipes and was fond of them. Tradition has it that after that famous dinner of sweet potatoes General Francis Marion proffered the British officer who was his guest a corncob pipe and a moleskin pouch of sun cured leaf tobacco.

STATUES IN ITALY.

When a Monument Is Not a Monument in Rome or Florence.

Rome is in the absurd condition of possessing a monument which the municipal authorities declared nonexistent. Long, long ago a monument was raised to the philosopher Spedalieri, but never unveiled, as there was a difference of opinion about the advisability of having the monument at all. So through sun and rain, wind and hail, the poor statue stood, swathed in its dingy drapery, an eyesore and object of derision to all.

Finally, in the dead of night, to put an end to the scandal and disputes, the police stripped off the old and rotten cloth, and in the morning the Eternal City found herself enriched by the ownership of a new work of art. The citizens laughed and crowded to see what had become a curiosity, but the city fathers were furious, said the police had overstepped their powers and absolutely refused to acknowledge the existence of the monument.

Florence has had a similar experience. A tablet to Gustavo Modena, in his day a celebrated actor and still more celebrated patriot, had been attached to the house in which he lived. But the authorities refused to allow it to be unveiled for fear of provoking an anti-Austrian demonstration, just as in these days when public feeling is in a state of effervescence. Day after day passed until the students made a sudden dash, and, stripping off the cloth, added another interest to the City of Lilies. The municipality here also was highly offended and informed the citizens that the tablet does not exist.

All this irresistibly raises the question, "When is a monument not a monument?" When it is in Italy!—Pall Mall Gazette.

Would Have Walked Too.

They tell this story in the commissioner's office at Ellis island:

Two Irish immigrants just arrived stood one morning on the government landing watching a dredger at work a few yards away. Presently a diver, full rigged, crawled painfully from the channel slime up a ladder to the deck of the dredge. One of the Irishmen, very much surprised, turned to his companion and said:

"Look at that man! Look at him! Begorra, if I'd known the way over I'd walked too!"

A Nice Light Business.

"Oh, yes, I've opened an office," said the young lawyer. "You may remember that you saw me buying an alarm clock the other day."

"Yes," replied his friend. "You have to get up early these mornings, eh?"

"Oh, no. I use it to wake me up when it's time to go home."

The Photographer's Good Work.

"Maud's latest photograph is just lovely."

"Is it?"

"Yes. I had to ask who it was."

Kindness is a language that even the dumb brute can understand; like silence it is golden and touches the heart of every animate thing in creation.—Maxwell's Talisman.

Kidneys and Liver Affected by Colds.

Backache and Pains in the Legs the Common Symptoms—Cure Comes With the use of

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Exposure to damp, cold weather is a frequent cause of kidney disease. Sitting in a draught so as to chill the feet and legs is frequently enough to bring on congestion of the liver.

Colds settle on the liver and kidneys as well as the lungs. The results are diseases of the most dreadfully painful and fatal sort.

As yet there has never been discovered a preparation equal to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a prompt and thorough cure for derangements of those great filtering organs.

Pains in the back, headache, urinary disorders, biliousness, liver complaint, dyspepsia, and constipation soon disappear when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills ar used.

Mr. C. Noyes, for many years, section foreman, and now flagman for the G. T. R. at Peterborough, Ont., states:—"For twenty-one years I was section foreman on G.T.R., and was exposed to all sorts of weather. As a result my kidneys became affected and there was scarcely a day that I was not troubled more or less. At times I would have sharp shooting pains through my back and would get so used up that I felt like giving up work. During this time I was also a great sufferer from constipation. As I heard so much about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for kidney disease and constipation I began using them, and can say that I was entirely cured of my old troubles in a short time. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and never lose an opportunity of recommending them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 5

In the House of the Loving Heart

By Keith Gordon

Copyright, 1903, by F. C. McClure

"The idea of any wise person caring for money, especially in New York," she gibed as they sank down upon one of the benches at the entrance to the park. The carriages were hurrying feverishly after one another as if happiness lay at the other end or else rolling sadly back again as if to indicate that it was not there after all.

Hazard turned an astonished face toward her.

"You're guying," he observed disapprovingly. "New York's the place where one needs it most. Every one knows that."

"Every one," she echoed with scorn. "And why? Simply because 'every one' is suffering from the greed of possession. They want to possess, not to enjoy. They buy buy buy! Then they put what they have bought into a safe deposit vault and hurry off to Europe, where they begin all over again. There's one of them now." And she nodded gayly in response to a bow from a lady in a passing victoria.

"Who is it?" asked Hazard laconically.

"Mrs. Lofty," laughed the girl, following the disappearing carriage with derisive eyes. "Poor thing!"

"Then you'd rather be Elise Sherwin, student of art, and sit here on a bench with a poor young lawyer than be Mrs. Lofty, would you?" he asked, watching a lock of hair which the spring wind blew softly across her cheek.

"I certainly would," she replied with promptness. "She never has any time for enjoyment or cultivation or reading or anything that counts," she ended vaguely. "You see, she has responsibilities. There are the servants. Of course I don't need to tell you about the awfulness of the servants. Then there is her house, one of those fearful places that just grip you by the throat when you enter and throttle you."

She paused for breath, with a reminiscent expression. Then she continued:

"You feel as if some one has just died—or perhaps 'demised' would be more in accord with the furnishing."

"But one doesn't need to do such things with money," her companion interrupted with argumentative intention.

"No, I don't suppose one does. And yet they generally do. You see, noblesse oblige seems to demand that when you have a million or upward you copy one of the royal palaces of Europe and live your poor little republican life in it, though I'm sure I don't know why," she finished thoughtfully.

"Still, money is a good thing, and you can't say that it isn't. A fellow must have decent clothes, and it strikes me that that simple little tailor made gown that you are wearing cost"—he screwed his face up in the effort at appraisement—"about $100."

"Only $75," she corrected and returned to her subject somewhat hurriedly.

"There's another thing. When you're rich you just have to have a complexion—and no mere man can know what a fearful responsibility that is. It's worse than servants! You have to employ beauty doctors and have little pots of greasy stuff about. You should see Mrs. Lofty's supply. It is immense."

Hazard smiled in an absent way and then began with the air of a man who is weighing his words, "If you really [illegible] a castle in Spain to anything" [illegible] cut him short.

"Have I ever told you about mine?"

He shook his head.

She pointed in the direction of the great, dark hotel which frowned down upon them.

"It ees vanish, n'est pas?" she mimicked. "Behold in its place my House of the Loving Heart! I think the name especially telling since it is situated, as you see, on what we might call the Street of Love of Money.

"I hope you see the house plainly. The style is a sort of modified Italian, with a projecting vornice and an inner court."

Hazard nodded.

"Don't you think the boxes of hyacinths in the windows and the big, low entrance give it a friendly look? That is what I aim at particularly," she explained with well feigned anxiety, "a friendly looking house!"

"Great!" was Hazard's feeling comment. "But who in thunder is that man standing at the window?" and he strained his eyes toward the great hotel. Then he turned to her with an expression of pleased and innocent surprise. "By Jove, it's me!"

"It looked so homely and inviting, I suppose, that I couldn't resist it," he explained as he noticed the warm flush rising in her cheeks.

In a moment she had recovered herself.

"Since you are in I hope you like the divans and the low table and the books and pictures. Please notice, too, that things are within reach. It doesn't look, does it, as if I were trying to live up to my fortune or suggest that I have stopped to think what Mrs. Lofty would have done under similar circumstances?"

"Not a bit," he assured her heartily, while the peculiar compression of the lips of an old gentleman sitting next them indicated suppressed amusement.

"Well, come on, then! Now, this room, which has everything beautiful and useful and comfortable that I could find to put into it, is for my heartsick and discouraged friends. Some of them I shall not have met before. But in some way, I don't know how, they will find their way to this little door (it opens quietly on Fifty-eighth street, you see), and I shall cheer them up."

"Leave care behind, all those who enter here," he murmured, as if he were reading an inscription.

The girl laughed in a pleased way.

"Excellent! A public sympathizer is really what we need. I believe as many people fail from lack of sympathy and encouragement as from lack of ability."

She had grown suddenly earnest, and her eyes filled with tears. Hazard leaned toward her in real distress.

"So silly of me," she began, with a little shake in her voice. "But there have been some rough places—places where Mrs. Lofty, for instance, has looked on from her luxurious life and said: 'I hope you'll get on all right. Goodby, dear!' and left me with loneliness and discouragement eating my heart, and I have felt that in my House of the Loving Heart I should like to have it different."

The old man in the next seat shifted himself around so as to get a better view of the girl's face, but neither of the young people noticed him, and she began her description once more.

"These bedrooms are the best in the house. I intend them for my poor friends. Still, I have indulged in small economies. Now, for instance, in these rooms"—and with a wave of the hand she ushered him into another imaginary suit—"the appointments, though very comfortable, are less luxurious. In these I shall install my rich friends when they visit me."

An unmistakable chuckle escaped from the old gentleman, and Hazard and Miss Sherwin turned in his direction in surprise. But he was bowing to the occupant of a belated carriage, all unconscious apparently of their existence.

"I shall entertain a good deal for my poor friends—give them a chance to meet interesting people and get out of the ruts of their workaday lives," Miss Sherwin resumed. "But the rich ones"—her eyes were dancing mischievously—"I shall ask only on ordinary occasions when I am having simple, wholesome dinners that won't make them discontented with their lot."

They looked at each other and broke into long and merry laughter. Hazard's worldliness had vanished like a cloud.

"It's a great idea, sweetheart," he said softly, "and I'd like to work to make it come true. Would you let me do you think"—

But the blushes were so violent this time that he got no further, and besides the old gentleman was standing before them.

"I am Jasper Clark," he said simply, and at that name they both stared at him in amazement. "I know you'll forgive an old man for listening." Then with a bow he continued whimsically: "I should very much like the pleasure of your company at dinner"—and he made a gesture toward the Millionaires' club over the way. "You see, the time may come when I shall want to enter that quiet little door on Fifty-eighth street." And he glanced with kindly eyes at the future mistress of the House of the Loving Heart.

"Serendipity."

This word is a coinage of Horace Walpole's. Writing about a discovery he had made in connection with his picture of Bianca Capello, he says:

"This discovery I made by a talisman, which Mr. Chute calls the Sortes Walpolianæ, by which I find everything I want, a pointe nommee, wherever I dip for it. This discovery indeed is almost of that kind which I call serendipity, a very expressive word, which, as I have nothing better to tell you, I shall endeavor to explain to you. You will understand it better by the derivation than by the definition. I once read a silly fairy tale called 'The Three Princes of Serendip.' As their highnesses traveled they were always making discoveries, by accidents and sagacity, of things which they were not in quest of. For instance, one of them discovered that a mule blind of the right eye had traveled the same road lately because the grass was eaten only on the left side, where it was worse than on the right. Now do you understand serendipity? One of the most remarkable instances of this accidental sagacity (for you must observe that no discovery of the thing you are looking for comes under this description) was of my Lord Shaftesbury, who, happening to dine at Lord Chancellor Clarendon's, found out the marriage of the Duke of York and Mrs. Hyde by the respect with which her mother treated her at table."—Notes and Queries.

On a Large Scale.

"Yes, sir," resumed the Dakota farmer as the crowd of agriculturists seated themselves round a little table—"yes, sir. We do things on rather a sizable scale. I've seen a man on one of our big farms start out in the spring and plow a straight furrow until autumn. Then he turned round and harvested back. We have some big farms up there, gentlemen. A friend of mine owned one which he had to give a mortgage on, and I pledge you my word the mortgage was due at one end before they could get it recorded at the other. You see, it was laid out in counties. And the worst of it is it breaks up families so. Two years ago I saw a whole family prostrated with grief—women yelling, children howling and dogs barking. One of my men had his camp truck packed on seven four-mule teams, and he was going round bidding everybody goodby."

"Where was he going?"

"He was going half way across the farm to feed the pigs," replied the Dakota man.

"Did he ever get back to his family?"

"It isn't time for him yet. Up there we send young married couples out to milk the cows, and their children bring home the milk."—Exchange.

He Liked Young People.

In his last work, "Facts and Comments," Herbert Spencer gives a curious bit of self revelation. He confesses that, though he particularly liked the society of young people, it bored him to an unendurable extent if they worried him with unintelligent chatter, and that to avoid this it was his custom to ask them some question which could not be answered without a good deal of thought. He was accustomed to base his judgment of their intellects upon the answers returned, and we can well imagine that those who were suddenly confronted with some such problem as "Why is the sea salt?" must have regarded a drive with the great philosopher as something of an ordeal. —London Globe.

Not to Be Budged.

"Move on, now," said the policeman.

"No, siree!" replied Mr. Haicede doggedly.

"I guess ye will. Ye've been hangin' round here half an hour."

"Yes, an', b'gosh, here's whar I stick! The gent that tuck my watch to have my name engraved on to it told me to stay right here till he got back."

Picks Its Company.

"Old Hunks boasts that he never has a cold."

"It's nothing to boast of. He's so mean that even a cold won't have anything to do with him."—Exchange.

Tears In Bad Taste.

The Joy of Living

Life to the normal, healthy, Canadian boy or girl should be a continual joy. If it is not, then there is something wrong. There is lack of proper development, consequently, the blood is thin, the nerves unstrung, the muscles soft and flabby, vitality low and the capacity for enjoying life at a very low ebb. Moreover, there is constant danger of attack from Consumption, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, LaGrippe and all kinds of Lung Trouble. If your boy or girl is in this condition, do not trade the matter lightly, lose no time in putting matters right. In FERROL you will find the remedy required: Cod Liver Oil to build up the tissue, Iron to purify and enrich the blood, and Phosphorus to tone the nerve and brain. Ferrol will quickly and infallibly restore a normal, healthy and vigorous condition.

BAD BLOOD

Reveals itself in many ways. Sometimes the impurities in the blood mark and mar the skin with blotches, pimples, boils or other eruptions. Sometimes the result of bad blood is rheumatism or a debilitated condition which is popularly described as "feeling played out, hardly able to drag myself around."

The impurities and poisons which corrupt the blood, clog the liver and cloud the skin are removed by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It does more than eliminate the poisons; it increases the activity of the blood-making glands so that there is an increased supply of pure, body-building blood. It brightens the eyes, cleanses the skin, and gives new, physical energy.

Accept no substitute for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"I thank God for the good your medicines have done me," writes Mr James M Sizemore, of Mitchell, Lawrence Co., Ind., Box 501. "I was not well for two years. My throat was always sore, head ached, and back ached nearly all the time. My weight was 155 pounds. I was taken sick with typhoid fever, and when the fever left me I had such a pain in my left side I could not breathe without pain. I thought I must die. My wife went to the drug store and procured a bottle of Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and a vial of his 'Pleasant Pellets.' I discontinued the use of my doctor's medicine and began with the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets.' I at once began to feel better. The pain soon left my side and I could breathe with ease. In a week or so I felt so good I could not stay in the room. I began to walk about the streets. I felt better each morning. After a month's use of the medicine I was well. That was over a year ago. Now I weigh 184 pounds and feel better than ever in my life."

COLLISION ON C. P. R.

Fatal Meeting of Two Soo Trains Near Arnprior Tuesday.

12 DEAD; 25 OR 30 INJURED.

One of the Most Appalling Railway Mishaps Ever Recorded in the Ottawa Valley—Accident Was Caused By the West-Bound Train Hands Disobeying Orders—Names of Dead and Injured.

Ottawa, Feb. 10.—With a death list that will probably reach 14, and 25 or 30 more or less seriously injured, the collision between the east and west-bound Soo trains near Arnprior yesterday morning furnishes one of the most appalling railway mishaps ever recorded in the Ottawa Valley.

The dead—Joseph Jackson, engineer, Ottawa, W. McMullen, news agent, Montreal, Robert Thompson, express messenger, Montreal, John Toole, baggageman, Ottawa, died at Union Station, Joseph Chalut, 95 Wall street, Hull, Que.; Dolphie Seguin, 191 Brewery street, Hull, Que.; J. Carrier, shantyman, address unknown, M. Leboeuf, Gaspe, died in Catholic Hospital; Ernest a Dubois, Hochelaga, fireman, died on train coming to Ottawa; Nelson Robertson, express messenger, Montreal; two unidentified.

The injured—Harvey Brosseau, St. Casimir, Que., leg broken and badly shaken up; Eustache Brosseau, Gaspe, ankle crushed; Ovide Brosseau, St. Casimir, badly crushed, may die; W. Pouilliot, St. Francois Xavier, Que., leg broken; James McCall, Ottawa, skull fractured, recovery doubtful; J. J. Higgins, Cantley Que., badly shaken up; E. Seguin, Hull, hand and foot crushed; J. Dudley, engineer, Ottawa, arm broken; G. Caron, Gaspe, had scalp wound; Ed. Beach, Ottawa, slightly injured; A. P. Black, Ottawa, slightly injured; Peter Rocheleau, Gatineau Point, knee sprained; W. Raile, Ottawa, chest crushed; Peter Throttier, Hull, leg bruised; Alphonse Demarche, feet frozen by exposure, Etienne Cardinal Ottawa, leg broken; Antoine Gendron, St. Regis, rib broken.

There are patients in St. Luke's Hospital. One was taken to the Catholic General, and others only slightly injured went to their homes.

The accident was caused by the west-bound train hands disobeying orders. The train left Ottawa at 3 a.m. an hour late, and on reaching Carleton Junction orders were issued to take the siding at Sand Point, three miles west of Arnprior, to let the east-bound train cross. Engineer Dudley and Conductor Nidd, both of Ottawa, experienced men, with fine railroad reputations, were in charge of the train Dudley, who is in St. Luke's Hospital, refuses to talk, while Conductor Nidd, who was uninjured, says he did not forget the order, but did not know the train had passed Sand Point. It was dark, the snow was drifting and the weather was 18 below zero, the windows all being frosted. The train was going at a fast clip and ran into the east-bound one with an awful impact.

Shot For a Deer.

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 10.—An Italian logger named Pazendi was shot and instantly killed on Bowen Island by Albert Revere, who was out deer hunting. Something was seen to move in the bushes, Revere fired and Pazendi's death was instantaneous.

Boy Killed By Bob Sleigh.

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 10.—Fourteen-year-old William Douglas, while out playing with a small hand sleigh, collided with a large bob sleigh. He was thrown into the street, his head striking the hard ground with considerable force. He was taken home and just as he got there said he was all right. A moment later he became unconscious and died.

Mr. Aaron Brown, of town, an employee of the C.P.R., while cleaning out the ash pit on the said Company's property, last week, had a very serious accident happen to him by the hoist bucket falling and striking him on the side. A number of other towns had the same misfortune of not having a prophet on hand to foretell events as the telegraph and telephone lines were down and communication impossible.

During the heavy wind Sunday night a number of trains on the C.P.R. were delayed on account of the ice on the telegraph wires causing a number of them to break or get crossed.

On account of the bad storm Sunday it was impossible to clean off the rink here before the snow and sleet froze up, and although it was flooded over the ice is in very poor condition.

On account of it being leap year a young gentleman of town received a very sensational proposal of marriage. Possibly we may get him to publish it, and give the girls a knowledge of how to do the thing nicely.

OMEMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The blockaded and icy condition of the roads between here and Peterborough prevented the Christian Endeavour Society from driving to that town to attend the rally at St. Andrew's church.

Our churches were very thinly attended on Sunday. Rev. Mr. Whitelaw drove over the roads to fill his appointments at Mount Pleasant and Fowlers' Corners.

The majority of our citizens are recovering from a severe attack of la grippe.

Mr. John Mitchell, proprietor of the livery, is getting over an attack of la grippe.

A Peterborough contractor was here looking after the erection of our new school house, which is to be an up-to-date building, constructed of brick cement.

The postponed Reform Convention to be held at Lindsay next Tuesday, promises to be largely attended. There are many leading Conservatives here who express themselves well satisfied with the Reform party and even offer to support a man of that party.

Rev. Mr. Teeney is undecided about accepting the call to Peterborough.

Good prices are being paid for all kinds of wood and timber at our saw mill here.

Our village hand fire engine is now being put in good shape for fire extinguishing purposes.

$15.00 SAVED
ON A
$15.00 PURCHASE

LONDON FUR SALES for January report among a long list of Raw Fur values, an advance of 50 in Wombat Skins over last year. This means Wombat Coats will cost $30.00 to $35.00 next season, that sold for $20.00 to $25.00 this year. Did you notice that we offered Wombat Coats, $20.00 and $25.00 Qualities for Choice at $15.00 during our Sale?

See the saving made by the people who bought them. $15 saved on a $15 purchase. Who said our Fur Sale is not a Bargain Bonanza?

This advance is phenomenal, but you will find that all Fur goods will rule higher next season. Persian Lamb, Japanese Fox, Russian Lamb, Thibet Lamb, Grey Lamb, Astrachan and Bocharen Lamb and Fine Sables and Squirrels will be advanced still higher now on account of the war between Russia and Japan. Therefore we emphasize just now the advisability of purchasing Furs before present stocks are entirely sold out as the money saving will be found exceptional. Before these reports reached us we had published our Special Partnership Sale Prices—on many lines of Furs actually less than cost of manufacture. We had also entered into an agreement to reduce stock about $25,000.00 before partnership could be formed. Therefore, we still continue our Big Sale on the same lines as advertised, not wishing to break faith with the people and being also forced to meet our partnership agreement. We will get Furs of all kinds at from 25% to 50 off our Selling Prices for this Season. This means a still bigger saving in next season's values.

Ladies' Jackets, Men's Coats, Fur-lined Coats for Men and Women, Cloaks, Gauntlets, Muffs, Collarettes, Scarfs, Boas, Caps, Robes, etc., all included in this Special Sale at Special Prices. Persian Lamb and Seal Jackets in stock and made to order at very Special Partnership Sale Prices. Call and look through for your own personal satisfaction. It's the best way.

AMERICAN RAILROADS.

The many serious railway accidents, involving deplorable loss of life, that have occurred during recent months in the United States, have given rise to a general demand in the press for the adoption by all railways of a more thorough and efficient block system. There is also a demand for more substantial construction of ordinary passenger coaches and mail cars. It is pointed out that the Pullman and palace cars seldom suffer damage to any extent in railway wrecks, because of their superior strength and weight, and it is held that the companies should be as careful of the lives of ordinary travellers as they are of those who can pay extra for palace car accommodation. Considering the vastness and intricacy of the railway system and the popular demand for rapidity in transportation, the completeness with which it is managed is a miracle of organization and a proof of high efficiency in the service. But the American railway system must lie under the condemnation of being culpably more perilous than those of European countries until all possible means have been adopted to prevent accident. While the public is itself so reckless no one company seems likely to handicap itself with special expense or special precautions until all are required to do so. Here is matter for state and national legislation, if not for international agreement. —Brantford Expositor.

The Question of Baldness.

This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald, or partially so. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of wigs and toupees. The visit of Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto, to Peterborough on Thursday, February 18th, when he will be at the Oriental Hotel, renders it possible for every one who wishes to consult him to do so at his private apartments retained at the Oriental Hotel for this purpose. Demonstrations given to show the perfect naturalfulness of his wigs and toupees. Do not miss this opportunity. Remember the day and date, Thursday, February 18th.

Now on Sale.

JAPANESE NOW COMMAND THE SEA.

Japan's Naval Victory at Chemulpo is Confirmed.

NOW CONTROLS COREAN CHANNEL.

The Japanese Occupy Mesampho --- No Confirmation of St. Petersburg Stories Claiming Russian Victories---Alexieff Silent Upon Russian Victory Tidings---Capture of Russian Ships and 2,000 Troops.

London, Feb. 11.—A summary of the losses sustained by Russia in the first 24 hours of the war with Japan shows that eleven Russian warships were placed out of action in one way or another and that the Japanese did not lose a ship. The losses were as follows:

Battleship Retvizan, torpedoed and beached at Port Arthur.

Battleship Tsarevitch, torpedoed and beached at Port Arthur.

Battleship Poltava, hole below water line at Port Arthur.

Armored cruiser Boyarin, disabled by Japanese fire at Port Arthur.

Cruiser Pallada, torpedoed at Port Arthur and beached.

Cruiser Novik, hole below water line at Port Arthur.

Cruiser Askold, hole below water line at Port Arthur.

Cruiser Diana, hole below water line at Port Arthur.

First-class armored cruiser Variag, destroyed at Chemulpo, Corea.

Torpedo gun vessel Korietz, destroyed at Chemulpo, Corea.

Gunboat Mandju, said to have been seized by the Japanese at Nagasaki, Japan.

Another report, however, says the Mandju is at Shanghai.

Five Russian Boats Captured.

London, Feb. 11.—Despatches to The Daily Mail from Tokio and Nagasaki, dated Feb. 10, report the arrival at Sasebo, Japan, of two large Russian steamers. One is the Volunteer Fleet Association transport Ekaterinoslav, which recently landed troops and arms at Port Arthur, and the other is the steamer Argun, belonging to the Chinese Eastern Railway Company. Both were captured by the Japanese cruisers Sai Yen and Hei Yen in the neighborhood of Fusan, Corea. The Ekaterinoslav is of 10,000 tons displacement and had been fitted up as an auxiliary cruiser. She had 30 rifles on board and was on her way from Vladivostock. The Argun was going to Vladivostock from Nagasaki. The Russian whalers Glorige, Nicolai, Alexander and Michel, captured by the Japanese, have also arrived at Sasebo.

Japan Seizes Masampho.

Tokio, Feb. 11.—Japan seized Masampho Sunday, and despatched a heavy force there. Japan will fortify the port and establish a naval base there. Masampho is an exceedingly important point, as it controls the Corean Channel, and is an excellent base for future operations.

Thirty Russians Killed.

London, Feb. 11.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail says an important bridge on the Manchurian Railroad has been blown up and 30 men have been killed.

Captured at Least Five.

Tokio, Feb. 11.—The Japanese have captured at least five Russian commercial steamers, including the Ekaterinoslav, Mukden, Russia, Argun and Alexander. They were captured by the Japanese in Corean and adjacent waters at various times since Saturday by small cruisers. Some of the steamers are rich prizes. The small steamer Koick is detained at Yokohama, its status not being clear.

Gale Raging at Port Arthur.

London, Feb. 11.—In a despatch from Che Foo, dated Feb. 10, a correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "A northeast gale, which is raging here, bodes no good to the crippled Russian ships. Complete demoralization reigns at Port Arthur. Advices received here from Kwan Ting, Manchuria, say that 10,000 armed Chinese unofficially recognized as Government troops, are operating in the district, and are expected to attack the railroad guards when they hear of the Russian disaster."

CHEMULPO VICTORY CONFIRMED.

The Koriets Fired First on Japanese Torpedo Boats.

London, Feb. 11.—Baron Hayashi's official advices, referring to the battle of Chemulpo, is as follows:

"On Monday a Japanese squadron escorting transports met on the way to Chemulpo, Corea, the Russian gunboat Korietz, as the latter was coming out of port. The Korietz took an offensive attitude towards the Japanese vessel and fired on the Japanese torpedo boats. The latter discharged two torpedoes ineffectively and then the Korietz returned to her anchorage in the port. Early in the morning of Tuesday, Admiral Urik, commanding the Japanese squadron, formally called on the Russian warships to leave Chemulpo before noon. The Admiral added that if his demand was not complied with he would be compelled to attack them in the harbor. The two Russian warships left the port at about 11.30 a. m., and a battle ensued outside the Polynesian Islands. After about an hour's engagement the Russian warships sought refuge among the islands. Towards the evening the Russian cruiser Variag sank, and at 4 a.m. to-day, Feb. 10, the Korietz was reported to have also sunk, having been blown up. The officers and men of the two sunken vessels sought refuge on the French cruiser Pascal. There were no casualities on the Japanese side."

JAPANESE CAPTURE RUSSIAN STEAMERS

And Now Commands the Seas As Far As Russia is Concerned.

KING EDWARD'S NEUTRALITY.

Report Says Japanese Attempted to Land Troops at Port Arthur But Failed---Warships Damaged by Japanese Torpedos Sank.

(Special to THE EXAMINER).

The latest special despatches from London to the Examiner give the information that Japan is practically in control of the sea, and has captured or destroyed a number of the Russian fleet. The following specials tell the story:—

LANDING PREVENTED.

London, Feb. 11. — A special despatch from Port Arthur, says the Japanese fleet attempted on Wednesday to land men in several bays in the neighbourhood of Port Arthur, under the protection of the guns of the cruisers. It is asserted however that all the attempts were unsuccessful.

RAILWAY DESTROYED.

London, Feb. 11. A special despatch from Tien Tsin confirms the report that the Manchurian Railway has been blocked by the blowing of a bridge on the line and that thirty Russians were killed in the explosion. It is reported, the despatch adds, that the Russian steamers, Nonni and Mukden, belonging to the Chinese Eastern Railway Company, have been captured by the Japanese.

JAPS CAPTURE "MONGOLIA."

London, Feb. 11. — Lloyd's agent at Shanghai, cabling under date of yesterday, says it is reported and generally believed that a Japanese warship has destroyed the Russian mail steam, Mongolia, bound from Shanghai to Dalny. The cablegram adds that the three Russian warships damaged by the torpedoes at Port Arthur sank.

BRITAIN IS NEUTRAL.

London, Feb. 11. — King Edward, at a council held at Buckingham Palace this afternoon, signed a proclamation declaring Great Britain's neutrality during the war between Russia and Japan.

A VERY PLEASANT FEBRUARY WEDDING.

Miss Rosella M. Graystock, Becomes Bride of Mr. Robert Wilson.

An exceedingly pleasant wedding ceremony took place last night at the residence of Mr. Mark Graystock, of Otonabee, when his daughter, Rosella M., became the bride of Mr. Robert A. Wilson, son of Mr. John Wilson, also of Otonabee. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. L. Holah, acting Rector of St. Luke's church, at 6 o'clock in the handsomely decorated drawing room in the presence of about 50 guests. A beautiful arch had been erected from which the wedding bell was suspended and under it the pleasing ceremony took place. The bride was very becomingly attired in a white crepe de chene gown, with the conventional veil, and carried a handsome bridal bouquet. She was attended by her youngest sister, Elizabeth, who was similarly attired. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. J. A. Wilson. After the ceremony the bridal party and guests sat down to a dainty dejeuner, the tables being very prettily decorated with cut flowers.

The bride was the recipient of a large number of very handsome presents including many pieces of silverware and other valuable articles.

The young couple will reside in the groom's new residence, Otonabee, and start out in their new relationship with the very best wishes of a host of friends.

Guild Lecture.

The Girls' Guild of St. Luke's church, at their meeting on Monday night, held at the residence of Mr. R. B. Rogers, decided to take under their auspices an illustrated lecture given by Rev. Mr. Holah. Mr. Holah's lecture will be on his visit to England last year, where he was lecturing in London and the vicinity in connection with that venerable society, the S. P. G. The date has been approximately set for March 17th.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1904.

THE PROVINCIAL FINANCES.

The Premier of the Province, who is also the Provincial Treasurer, made yesterday afternoon to the Legislative Assembly his annual financial statement, says the Globe. The task of the Treasurer of Ontario is a comparatively easy one, for a large proportion of the revenue comes into his hands without his being under the disagreeable necessity of inventing "ways and means." This is true of the subsidies paid by the Dominion of Canada under the British North America act, of the interest paid by the Dominion on funds held in trust for the Province, of interest on investments, and of the receipts from the sale of Crown lands and Crown timber—an aggregate of over three millions and three-quarters in 1903, out of a total of less than five and a half millions.

The certainty with which so large a proportion of the revenue is obtained makes it all the more incumbent on the Ministry of the day to be extremely careful as to the various uses to which the funds are devoted.

The expenditure increases yearly, as a matter of course, and must continue to do so as long as the Province is making progress in population, settlement, and other modes of development. The Premier devoted a part of his time to explaining the increases of actual expenditure for 1903 and the estimated expenditure for 1904. The former will have to run the gauntlet of the Public Accounts Committee and the latter of the Committee of the House in Supply. These inquests are the chief reliance of the public against either foolish or corrupt appropriations of public funds.

Upon the basis fixed by the Royal Commission of financial experts three years ago the Premier summed up the assets of the Province at $8,383,306 and the liabilities at $5,834,141, leaving a capital surplus of $2,549,164. The assets include "direct investments," interest-bearing trust funds held by the Dominion Government, and bank balances. The liabilities include "balance of account current with the Dominion from confederation," the present value of railway certificates and annuities, and collections on account of the common school fund.

In the course of a highly optimistic speech, the Premier described the progress and prosperity of the province, claiming a reasonable share of credit for a Government which had done much for the development of agriculture and education, and for the promotion of settlement by the construction of colonization roads and the Government railway from North Bay to Lake Temiskaming. He did not agree that the time had "come for a change."

The reply to the Premier came as usual from Mr. Matheson, and as usual it was not optimistic. He found deficits where the Premier found surpluses, and built up his case in the old-time way. The dispute between the two financiers was for the most part mere logomachy, the result of using the same words in different senses. Mr. Matheson persists in ignoring the fact that the absolutely necessary Provincial expenditure would amount to a small part of the whole annual outlay, including the cost of civil government, legislation and the administration of justice. The Province does more than that, however, in preference to hording the surplus revenue. It returns it to the people in a great variety of ways, such as aids to railways and highways, the construction of railways and highways, the construction of public buildings and public works, the maintenance and education of defective classes, the placing of settlers on the Crown lands, and the promotion of education, both directly and indirectly. The important question is not whether there is a surplus or not, but whether the expenditures are in the public interest.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It might, under the circumstances, be permitted to suggest that the Japs are Russian matters.

The hypocritical attempt of Russia to throw the blame of the war on Japan will deceive nobody, nor make Russia any friends. Their course is a good deal like Mr. Whitney, who shouts out his charges of corruption against Liberals, but never condemns it in his own party. In this, like Russia, he succeeds in deceiving nobody, and only succeeds in letting the country know how far the hypocrisy of self-righteousness will carry a man.

CHARACTERISTIC OF THE PLUCKY JAPANESE.

Examples of Their Dash and Dare Deviltry.

Small as Japan is compared with Russia, it is by no means certain that she will fall easy prey to the Muscovite Bear. Russia fights on but one side of the Empire. She has strong forces there, and a great railway to transport more. But railways may be cut. She has but part of her fleet available. Japan's power is concentrated. Should she continue winning early battles at sea, and succeed in interrupting railway communication seriously she may make it very interesting for Russia.

And the Japs know how to fight to the death. "V.C." in the Victoria Times, says there is a story of a Japanese boy riding out of a fight with three arrows sticking in his breast. He begged his father to pull them out that he might die without pain. Grim was his father's reply. "It is unworthy of you my son, to ask me this. If you are not wounded to death fight on until you are. Then seek no relief except in suicide." This besides showing the Japanese idea of what is cowardly, illustrates a curious point. The Japanese regard suicide on defeat as honourable and even as a duty, though we think it honourable to live on and face the consequences.

Among the other cool deeds of the "laughter-loving little brown men" are these. "At the siege of Pekin a bomb had been sent to blow up one of the gates. The fuse went out, so that it did not explode. Without a moment's hesitation, a Japanese officer dashed up to the gate, lit the fuse with his own hands and nobly perished in the explosion that demolished the gate. His fellow-soldiers were not greatly excited over bravery. They would indeed have surprised if he had done otherwise than he did. Some years ago a fire broke out in the powder magazine of a Japanese warship. The explosive was heaped in a huge pile, in all already the fire had caught the loose powder scattered before it, and was rushing and flaming its way to the central heap. The destruction of the ship seemed inevitable. Suddenly a young sub-lieutenant leaped down into the powder magazine, and sweeping aside the blazing powder with his bare hands stopped the fire and saved his ship, and the lives of those on board.

Such men make no mean antagonists. It is a pity to see them and their country menaced by the power and ambition of a nation like Russia. It is a greater pity that international jealousies prevent Europe and America from interposing to curb the spoiler and prevent a bloody war.

KEENE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The social held by the Epworth League of Christian Endeavour at the residence of Mr. John MacFarlane, passed off very pleasantly and an enjoyable evening was spent.

At a regular meeting of the Local Improvement Society held in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening, it was resolved that the citizens bear a portion of the expense incurred by the much needed improvements to the Town Hall.

The annual supper given by the local Court of Foresters was held on Friday night, when they and their many friends thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Two rinks of the Curling Club drove to Norwood on Monday and had only commenced to curl when the rods of the rink came tumbling down. Since then some of them think themselves eligible for any 100 yard dash.

Mrs. (Dr.) McWilliams spent a few days last week with her parents in Toronto.

Mrs. (Dr.) Harrison visited Mrs. T. Campbell in Peterborough last week.

Miss Mabel Humphries, Asphodel, spent Sunday with her aunt, Miss E. Drummond.

A very pretty wedding took place here on Thursday morning at ten o'clock, when Miss Annie O'Keefe, second daughter of Mr. John O'Keefe, was married to Mr. James Walsh, son of Mr. John Walsh, of Douro. Mr. and Mrs. Walsh will make their new home in Douro, and we join with their many friends in wishing them a life of unalloyed happiness.

WOLF! WOLF! AND THERE IS NO WOLF.

People Fooled Once are Slow to Respond When Danger Comes.

We have all read in our school readers the story of the boy tending the sheep who thought to have fun with the servants and cried out wolf! wolf! The servants rushed to his assistance to find that it was a false alarm, and when the wolf really came they would not respond to the call of the boy and the flock was destroyed.

It is the fashion nowadays among certain proprietors of patent medicine that "will cure every disease on earth" to try to frighten every one into believing that he is afflicted with some dangerous malady, by reciting thousands of symptoms and indications of disease. People see so much of this that when they really become so afflicted they will pay no attention to remedies of merit that they really stand in great need of.

The proprietors of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets do not claim that their remedy will cure anything but catarrh and they give the American people credit for having sense enough to tell for themselves when they are suffering from that disease. If you have catarrh, you know it and want to be cured and that's all there is to it.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are without doubt the most effective cure for catarrh. You may look the country over and you will find no one who will dispute that statement. They have cured so many sufferers of this odious and dangerous disease and have done so much good throughout the land that their name has become a household word. They thoroughly renovate and cleanse the entire system of all catarrhal poisons and impurities and by thus striking at the root of the disease effect cures that are complete and permanent.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. You cannot affard to tamper with this treacherous disease when a sure cure is within such easy reach.

O. A. C. NOTES.

The Ontario Agriculture College is now under quarantine, two mild cases of small-pox having been reported on the 28th ult. Both of the students have been removed to the Isolation Hospital, and all precautions are being taken to prevent the disease from spreading. Classes are now suspended, waiting the raising of the quarantine.

On retiring as president of the College to accept a seat on the new Railway Commission, J. Mills, M.A., LL.D., was presented by the officers and employees with an address, expressing the esteem in which he was held and the good work he had inaugurated and successfully carried forward since his appointment as president. He was also made the recipient of a beautiful set of library furniture, the chairs being upholstered in real morocco leather.

Mr. J. C. Creelman, who is succeeding Dr. Mills, has arrived and will remain during the quarantine.

OBITUARY.

The Lamented Death of Mrs. Stephen Murphy, of Indian Road.

There was a sense of personal bereavement among Havelock people generally when the news spread on Saturday morning last that Mrs. Jas. Laing had passed away.

A resident of Havelock, (with short intervals of absence) from her school days up, Mrs Laing had won universal esteem and the love of all who knew her intimately, by her sterling qualities of head and heart.

Her last illness was a short one. A little daughter had come two weeks ago to brighten the home, and all seemed well for a time, but complications set in and the end followed swiftly.

Mrs Laing was born 28 years ago in Montreal, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs F. Rothwell, and other relatives, are now again residing. Coming to Havelock as an only child, with her parents she attended the Public [illegible] and in those days of girlhood it were laid the foundations of many lasting friendships. Her marriage to Mr. Laing (they grew up together) later took place on Feb. 10th, 1896, and there are two children—six-year-old Margery and the infant of a few days. To these and the other bereaved relations the heart-felt sympathy of the community goes out.

Nowhere will the departed be more genuinely missed or more lovingly remembered than in the Church of St. John the Evangelist, for in every department of the Church's work her interest has been great and lasting. Her membership in the choir dated back to her fourteenth year. No worker in the Woman's Auxiliary was more faithful, and for years continuously she had held the position of Treasurer. In the Sunday School she was teacher of the Bible class and Treasurer of the funds, and had even filled the position of Superintendent during a long period, bringing to the difficult work a courage and devotion little short of the heroic. It is no wonder, then, that her loss is sorely felt, and that, when the special prayers were offered on Sunday morning, there was hardly a tearless eye in the congregation.

The interment, on Monday, to the Maple Grove Cemetery, was very largely attended. In the morning a private service for the family was held at the house. The public service at 1.30 p.m., was fittingly held in the church; and the bell was tolled while the cortege proceeded thither. Arrived at the church the procession was met at the door by the Rev. W. R. Tandy, M.A., who preceded it up the aisle, repeating the opening sentences of the beautiful Church of England services. The church was crowded with sorrowing friends, and the chancel had been draped in black and violet. Among the floral tributes on the casket were wreaths from St. John's Sunday School and from Messrs. Craig & Parrett; and an exquisite design, The Gates Ajar, sent by the church people, was placed, during the service, in the vacant seat in the choir.

The incumbent, in a brief address, said in part:—

"Few and solemn should our words be in the presence of death. It is not my custom, as you know, to add a single word to the inspired funeral sermon I have just read—the sermon preached by St. Paul. But I speak to-day because my heart is full; it is not easy to speak; it would be harder to keep silence.

"We, of the Church, are bound together very closely by the touching associations of our Common Prayer and by the sacred tie of our frequent Communion. We feel ourselves to be the brothers and sisters of a single family. And when one of our number is called from earth we sorrow not as men without hope, but because the earthly relationships that were so dear are severed for a time.

"Of the sanctities of the home life that our sister made beautiful and good, I dare speak no single word. Nor can I trust myself to do more than allude to the interests which centred for her about this holy place. I can up reverently the strength and truth of character that was hers when I say that she was in the fullest sense of the words, a daughter of the Church.

"I think of her faithfulness to the weekly afternoon's work of the Woman's Auxiliary. I remember her dedication of her voice to the praises of God in the choir. I recall her years of patient service as Superintendent of the Sunday school when things were different from what they are to-day and not a man could be found to take the place. I think of her perfect and unswerving loyalty to myself as her pastor. And I thank God from my heart that I did not wait until to-day to say it, but that more than once I have said all this, and more, in her presence, while she yet lived amongst us to hear it. Hers was a life of loving service for Christ, and I say of her as He said of a woman who loved and served Him when He was on earth, "She hath done what she could." She has gone hence "with the testimony of a good conscience; in the communion of the Catholic church; in the confidence of a certain faith; in the comfort of a reasonable, religious and holy hope; in favour with our God, and in charity with the world."

Continuing, emphasis was laid upon the reality and permanence of "the things which are unseen," in contrast with the transitiveness of things earthly, and the address concluded thus:—

"The Blessed Christ does not blame our human sorrow, for He Himself wept at the grave of His friend Lazarus, but let us not be overwhelmed by our grief. We believe in the Communion of Saints. We shall remember our Sister when we kneel at that altar where she loved to kneel. We shall realize our union there in God. And when His good time comes when we go where she humbly trust she is gone—to the Home-land of our souls—to meet again the dear ones who have gone before, and to live with them in the presence of our Lord forever."

Not Afraid to Endorse It.

People have learned to have such confidence in Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for every form of piles that they do not hesitate to endorse it at every opportunity. As a result Dr. Chase's Ointment is probably recommended by more persons than any preparation on the market to-day. There is no guess work about its effects—relief is prompt and cure certain.

"THE INSOLENT FOE"

Peace-Loving Czar Refers Thus to Victorious Japanese.

NICHOLAS DECLARES WAR

Formal "Supreme Manifesto" Issued at St. Petersburg—Russian Newspapers and Public Show Intense Anger, and Say Japanese Action in Opening Hostilities Was Treacherous —Anti-British Feeling.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 11.—The official Messenger yesterday morning contains the following "Supreme Manifesto":

"By the grace of God, we, Nicholas II., Emperor and Autocrat of All the Russias, etc., make known to all loyal subjects:

"In our solicitude for the maintenance of peace, which is dear to our heart, we made every exertion to consolidate tranquility in the far east. In these peaceful aims we signified assent to the proposals of the Japanese Government to revise agreements regarding Corean affairs existing between the two Governments. However, the negotiations begun upon this subject were not brought to a conclusion, and Japan, without awaiting receipts of the last responsive proposals of our Government, declared the negotiations broken off and diplomatic relations with Russia dissolved.

"Without advising us of the fact that the breach of such relation would in itself mean an opening of warlike operation, the Japanese Government gave orders to its torpedo boats to suddenly attack our squadron standing in the outer harbor of the fortress of Port Arthur. Upon receiving reports from the Viceroy in the far east about this, we immediately commanded him to answer the Japanese challenge with armed force.

"Making known this our decision, we, with unshaken faith in the help of the Almighty and with a firm expectation of and reliance upon the unanimous willingness of all our loyal subjects to stand with us in defence of the fatherland, we ask God's blessing upon our stalwart land and naval forces.

"Given at St. Petersburg, January 27, 1904, A.D. (New calendar Feb. 9), and in the tenth year of our reign. Written in full by the hand of his Imperial Majesty.

"Nicholas"

Japan to Declare War.

Tokio, Feb. 11.—A formal declaration of war was expected last night. The proclamation has been prepared and approved by the Japanese Cabinet. Foreign Minister Komura has gone to the palace to secure the Emperor's approval.

British Proclamation Coming.

London, Feb. 11.—It was announced in the House of Commons that a proclamation of British neutrality will be drawn up at a special Cabinet meeting to-day.

Japan's Diplomatic Position.

Paris, Feb. 11.—Dr. Motono, the Japanese Minister here, gave out a lengthy official communication yesterday reciting the history of the negotiations with Russia and maintaining Japan's adherence throughout of the integrity of China and Corea.

U.S. Will Be Neutral.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Russia yesterday invited of the United States a declaration of her neutrality in the Far Eastern war, and Secretary Hay last night sent the draft of the neutrality declaration to the President for his signature. It will be issued to-day.

Having received enough favorable replies to insure the concurrent action of European powers in his endeavor to localize within as small an area as possible the hostilities in the Far East, and to insure over as much of China as possible her neutrality. Secretary Hay last night addressed notes to Russia and Japan inviting their co-operation in this principle. It was shown in advance that both the combatant powers desire the localization of the war.

Kurino Gets Out.

London, Feb. 11.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from St. Petersburg says that M. Kurino, the retiring Japanese Minister to Russia, and his staff, have left there for Berlin. There was a large crowd of people at the station platform when the party boarded the train. Police and gendarmes kept a space clear for the travelers, and there was no hostile demonstration.

DEFEAT STINGS RUSSIA.

Japan's Success Called a "Slap in the Back" By People.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 11.—The intense indignation with which the news of the "stab in the back" inflicted by Japan was received here seems to be general throughout Russia. The whole Empire is fired by the war fever.

The newspapers in general chorus denounce the action of Japan as being treachery, declaring that it is "truly Asiatic," but insisting that the issue of the conflict will not be decided by the naval engagements, as the Japanese will have to meet Russia on land, when the score will be wiped out.

The anti-British feeling here is bitter, it being asserted that the Japanese attack on Port Arthur was launched from Wei-Hai-Wei (until recently British naval base).

When the Czar Spoke.

There was a great scene at the Naval Academy yesterday afternoon, when the Czar personality advanced the cadet class to the rank of officers, his Majesty who wore an admiral's uniform, in addressing the cadets said:

"You are aware, gentlemen, that two days ago war was declared upon us. The insolent foe came by night and attacked our stronghold and fleet. Russia now needs her navy as well as her army. I have come to-day to promote you to the rank of midshipmen. I am confident that, like your revered predecessors, Admirals Chicagof, Lazuref, Nakhimof, Karilof and Istomin, you will work for the welfare and glory of our beloved fatherland, and devote all your energies to the fleet over which flies the flag of St. Andrew."

After His Majesty's departure, the newly promoted officers hired sleds and drove up and down the quay fronting the winter palace, shouting wild hurrahs. Generals, carried away by their emotion, saluted the youngsters.

Re-Arming Russian Artillery.

The Government is sending out 300 extra locomotives for use on the Manchurian Railway. A final consignment of material to complete the rearmament of the Russian artillery in the Far East was despatched from Moscow Sunday. It consisted of 72 quick-firing mountain guns and 17 carloads of ammunition.

The 575th Victim.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—The 10-year-old daughter of William Clingen died yesterday of injuries received in the Iroquois Theatre fire, making the 575th victim of that catastrophe, according to the coroner's record.

WILL YOU HELP A SICK FRIEND

Get My Book for Him Now.

Which Shall I Send?

Book 1 on Dyspepsia
Book 2 on the Heart
Book 3 on the Kidneys
Book 4 for Women
Book 5 for Men (sealed)
Book 6 on Rheumatism

Send me no money.

Only tell me which book to send

You certainly know of someone who is sick—some sufferer who will be grateful for the help my book offers.

And that book tells of a way to help. Tells of a way so certain that I, as a physician, offer that help on trial. The book tells how for 30 years in hospitals and at bedsides I searched for a way to cure deep-seated and difficult diseases It tells how I perfected my prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. How by scientific experiment I traced out the causes that bring on chronic diseases

I found invariably that where there was a weakness the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found, I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of, but the vital organs' nerves, the inside, the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation.

Then my real success began.

Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves. That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. After that I did not fail to cure one case in each hundred. In the extremely difficult cases my failures in five years were one in each forty treated. I found cancer incurable. Cancer is for surgery, not medicine.

Then how to get this prescription to sick ones everywhere was my thought. I must announce it in the public press. But, thought I, will they realize the truth of my discovery—the real power of Dr. Shoop's Restorative? Then a way came to me—like an inspiration. "I will offer it to the sick on trial. Then they will know I am sincere."

I wrote a reliable druggist in each city and town in America. They agreed to co-operate with me. Now by any sick one

DR. SHOOP'S RESTORATIVE

Can be taken on trial. For a full month I will let you use it entirely at my risk.

Send no money. Just write me for the book you need. When I send it I will tell you of a druggist near by who will permit the month's trial.

Use the restorative a month. Then decide. If you say to the druggist "It did not help me" that will relieve you of any expense whatever. He will bill the cost to me.

This is my way of clearing your mind of all doubts as to what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do.

No matter how prejudiced, you cannot dispute this absolute security I offer. You cannot resist an offer like this if you are at all sick.

If you have a weakness write me.

If you can't do things like you used to do them, tell me about it.

Write in confidence. As a physician I will tell you a way to help. Get my book now—to-day.

THE OLD SYSTEM.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt Informs Mr. Hoyle That There Will Be No Retrograde Movement in Education in Ontario.

Toronto, Feb. 11.—The decrease in the number of applicants for admission to the normal schools of the Province, and incidentally the scarcity of teachers, formed the subject of an interesting debate in the Legislature yesterday afternoon Mr. W. H. Hoyle contended that the new regulations of the department introducing the twelve-months course instead of the six-months were responsible for the few students in the normal schools, and charged the Government with trying to cover up the fact that the change had been a mistake by permitting the entrance of students who had not previously taught in the public school. He also argued that there was not the dearth of teachers that the department claimed. Hon. Mr. Harcourt showed that the decrease in applications had been due to entirely different causes, and announced definitely that the Government did not intend to take the retrograde step of returning to the six-months term. Their aim had been, and would continue to be, a more thorough professional training for teachers. The removal last September of restrictions governing the entrance of students had been purely temporary, due to unusual conditions. Mr. Whitney concluded the dicussion with a general and sweeping condemnation of the educational system of the Province.

Replies to Members.

In reply to Mr. Murphy, the Provincial Secretary said the Government had not decided to grant aid to assist in the maintenance of the Isolation Hospital

Mr. Smyth (Algoma), enquired how many petitions had been presented to the Government for aid to build and repair colonization roads and bridges in Algoma for the past five years. Hon. Mr. Latchford promised to bring down the desired information. Hon. Mr. Davis also gave the list of permits in the Townships of Chesley and Chesley additional during 1901, 1902 and 1903.

The Premier replied to Mr. Sutherland: The Government had applied to the Dominion for the usual railway subsidy for the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, without receiving any definite answer. It is the intention of the Government to renew the application.

There "seems to have been" no communication, written or verbal, the Premier told Mr. Whitney, between the returning officer for North Renfrew and the Government, with reference to the return made by him to the writ of election after the death of the late John W. Munro.

Mr. Stratton informed Mr. Clark of Centre Bruce that the Government did not permit any of its employes to engage in private business, when it interfered with the proper discharge of his public duties. Dr. Chamberlain, Inspector of Prisons, was not interested financially in a private hospital in Hamilton.

A number of bills were read a first time.

Tendency of the mes.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip,) and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by all druggists.

Dr. Bouchard, the eminent French physician, has furnished facts which show that if food is retained in the stomach more than five hours it becomes fermentative and putrefactive,—not digestive,—and that this is the starting-point of disease.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Gertrude M. McMillan and Mr. Ernest Belleghem.

A very pretty house wedding took place on Wednesday at the residence of Mrs. E. M. McMillan. Water street, when her only daughter, Miss Gertrude May, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Ernest Belleghem in the presence of a circle of friends of the contracting parties. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. P. Wilson, of the George street Methodist church. The bride was becomingly attired in a pretty suit of blue silk and cloth. She wore the regulation bridal veil and carried a beautiful shower bouquet of white carnations and smilax. The bride was assisted by Miss Ida Smith, who looked attractive in a suit similar to that of the bride, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and smilax. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Albert McMillan. The groom was supported by Mr. Alfred McMillan, a brother of the bride. After the ceremony and congratulations a recherche wedding dinding dinner was served in the dining room, the table being prettily decorated with cut flowers for the occasion. The many beautiful and costly presents which they received showed the high esteem in which they are held by their many friends in town, one of the presents to the bride being a beautiful organ given by her mother.

Expensive Heat.

One of the inconveniences of the present winter was evidenced to-day, when Messrs. R. Hicks & Co., sent one ton of coal to a neighbouring town, by express, the charges on which exclusive of the price of the coal, were $8.00. The purchaser is hoping that the weather will soon "let up."

A VERY ENJOYABLE SNOW-SHOE TRAMP.

Given Under the Auspices of the C.D.A —Refreshments at the Golf Club House.

A very enjoyable snow shoe tramp was given last night under the auspices of the C.D.A., one of the most popular bachelor clubs of the town, and about thirty young people were in attendance. The route was from the post office corner to the lift lock, thence up the east bank of the canal to the Golf Club pavilion. Here refreshments were served and a delightful hour or more was spent. During this period an impromptu programme was run off, and it is believed some new talent was discovered. The homeward tramp was begun shortly before mid-night.

THE LATEST CABLES.

In order that the cream of the war news may be received in Peterborough contemporaneously with Toronto, Montreal and the larger Canadian cities, the Examiner has made arrangements with the Associated Press and the G. N. W., and C. P. R. Press, whereby the very latest intelligence will be printed in the Examiner at the same time as in the city evening journals. The above sources of information are guaranteed reliable and from time to time news of important engagements will be bulletined outside the Examiner Office.

Interesting Personal Items Gathered by Reporters.

Globe: Mrs. Stratton held a reception yesterday afternoon in the Speaker's Chambers, Parliament Buildings. The Hon. J. R. Stratton also welcomed the many callers. Mrs. Stratton wore a beautiful gown of silver grey satin brocade with deep yoke of exquisite lace, and garniture of black velvet on the corsage. A cluster of pink roses and some splendid diamond ornaments were the finishing touches to a lovely toilette. Mrs. Claud Fox assisted in looking after the throng of guests, wearing a rose crepe de chine with ivory lace, and a black picture hat, and in the tea room Miss Ross, Miss A. Miles, Miss Rowland Hills, Miss Annie Michie, Miss Lister, and Miss Carveth were most kind in providing everyone with dainties, cold and hot. The rooms were fragrant with the scent of flowers, masses of sweet-scented blooms being arranged everywhere, and the tea table was a scheme of colour in daffodil yellow, the golden blooms lovely with delicate ferns and daffodil silk in soft puffs in the centre. Amongst those who came in during the afternoon were the Hon. the Premier, Hon. Mr. Harcourt, Hon Mr Latchford, Hon. Mr. Davis, Mr. Whitney, the Hon. the Speaker, and Mrs. Charlton, Mrs. Loudon, Mrs. O'Reilly, Mrs A. Baker, Mrs. B. Jameson, Miss Temple Dixon, Mrs. C. H. Ritchie, Mrs. H. C. These have generally been held in the drill shed, Peterborough, and the remainder in the officers' tent at Picton, when the regiment was on its annual trip.

Major Stevenson presented the report of the Rifle Committee which gave some very interestnig figures relating to the Saturday afternoon rifle practices which have been largely attended.

Captain Walker presented the Band Committee report which showed that military musical organization to be strong in numbers and efficient in quality. The report also expressed great satisfaction in Mr. Gliddon's services as band master.

Rev. J. C. Davidson as chaplain, reported that in his opinion the moral tone of the regiment, as a unit, had greatly improved in recent years. He congratulated the Commanding Officer and his staff on the fact that profanity in the ranks was seldom heard and in conclusion dwelt at some length on the sobriety and general good conduct of the regiment at Picton.

The Standing Committees for the present year were arranged as follows:—

Regimental Committee—Major Dennistoun, Major Stevenson and Major Hayes.

Mess Committee —Surgeon-Major Halliday, Major Hayes and Major Eastwood.

Band Committee—Captain Walker, Captain Cluxton and Captain Bennett.

The officers were unanimous in the opinion that the best site for the new armouries would be in the Central Park, and referred to Regimental Committee to the question of selecting a suitable site and power to meet the committees appointed by the Town and County Councils.

This concluded the business of the evening and the meeting adjourned

AN EXPLANATION.

The Examiner to-day has to do something which it has never had to do before — explain the reason for the non-delivery of a part of last night's edition.

The unprecedentedly severe weather conditions have affected the flow of the river by freezing, and the formation of anchor ice to such an extent, that during a part of yesterday afternoon the flow of water was very materially lessened, the result being that power users, for the most part, were obliged to suspend operations. This was the case with the Examiner, and only about one-third of the edition was run off until late in the evening, consequently but few of the subscribers received their paper.

The Examiner feels that this explanation is all that is necessary, and that the disappointed subscribers, recognizing the difficulty of the situation, will be willing to use the same degree of leniency upon the Examiner which it exercised upon the power-producers, who did all that was possible to supply the necessary power, even going to some inconvenience themselves.

The weather conditions this winter are responsible for circumstances never before experienced, and which, perhaps, will never be experienced again, and all must suffer to a certain extent.

A DIRECTORY OF T.C. S. STUDENTS.

Rev. Dr. Rigby Compiling a List of Former Students.

Rev. Dr. Rigby, the headmaster of Trinity College School, Port Hope, writes as follows: "Will you kindly allow me to use your valuable columns to ask for assistance in a matter, which I know, will interest a good many of your readers. I am trying to make a complete directory of the fifteen hundred boys who have been at Trinity College School during the last thirty or forty years. I should be glad if any old boys would be kind enough to send me their present addresses and state the years they were at school and the forms in which they were when they left. Any information which they can give as to the present addresses of any other Old Boys will be most thankfully received."

AN ARGUMENT FOR UNDERGROUND CONDUITS

Effects of Sunday's Ice Storm Should Teach a Lesson.

Narrow Escape of Dwellings From Injury or Destruction Only Safe Place Underground.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Having had occasion to pass up Water street yesterday as far as Smith street I could not fail to see the havoc (?) wrought on the telephone poles by the storm of Sunday evening. It is indeed fortunate that the wind blew from the west instead of from the east. The poles broken down are along the west side of the street close against the sidewalk, and the broken tops had been hurled in some cases thirty or forty feet to the side. Had this wind blown from the opposite direction it is astounding to think of the number of private dwellings that would have been damaged and the probable loss of life and limb. A piece of telegraph pole with six or eight cross arms and eighty or a hundred wires all heavily laden with ice would wreck the roof of any ordinary dwelling. It occurred to me, sir, that in order to obtain equal safety for residences on both sides of the street the only proper place to plant these high poles is in the middle of the road. Arguing further I concluded that the only safe way after all, if such poles are to be used, is to plant them lengthwise about six inches under the surface of the ground, this being the only position in which they are neither dangerous nor unsightly.

This incident should point out very strongly the necessity for having all wires in underground conduits, as is now being required in the cities, and to it I would respectfully call the attention of the Town Fathers.

The danger from ice storms is possibly not so great as that to which our firemen are exposed by the complicated network of all sorts of wires on all our principal streets. At present all our main thoroughfares, not only on the west side of the river but in the baby ward as well, are positively a disgrace as far as appearance is concerned, reminding one very forcibly of a dying cedar swamp where the ghostly remains of former monarchs stand sentinel over an otherwise attractive landscape.

And yet daily the matter becomes worse

SAFETY AND APPEARANCE.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON'S VERY ENJOYABLE CLOSE.

Never Learn Club Held a Very Enjoyable Dance Last Night.

The Never Learn Club closed a season of successful informal dances last night, by a very enjoyable assembly held in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, which was a fitting climax to the most successful season in the history of the club, which has become very popular among the young people by reason of the weekly dances given, in which all formality is dispensed with and a good time enjoyed.

That of last night was participated in by the largest crowd of the season and the pleasure experienced was in proportion to the attendance.

The hall was very prettily decorated for the occasion, and an especially enjoyable feature was the music which was provided by the Miaorjana Orchestra from Toronto.

The ladies served dainty refreshments of ice cream and cake during the evening, and the whole affair was one of the most pleasing.

"Pickwick, Illustrated."

About a year ago, Mr. E. S. Williamson of Toronto, gave an "Evening with Dickens" to a large and delighted audience at the opera house in this town. He will return to Peterborough on Tuesday next, the 16th of February, with his new entertainment, "Pickwick, Illustrated," — in which the humorous adventures of the Pickwickians are related, and fully illustrated by more than 100 stereopticon pictures. Mr. Williamson is a specialist in all matters concerning Dickens and his works. He should be greeted by a crowded house on the 16th. Tickets, 25 and 35 cents. Bradburn's Opera House. Plan at Mr. Jas. Lynch's drug store.

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT

T. A. S.—KEENE TO PLAY ON MONDAY.

Charlotte Street Rink has Been Engaged for the Game.

The T.A.S.—Keene tangle has been satisfactorily adjusted, and the game which it was impossible to play at Norwood on Monday, will take place on Monday night, Feb. 15th, in the Charlotte street rink. This arrangement will be just to both teams, and the prospects are that the game will be one of the most exciting seen in Peterborough this season. The Norwood rink is still in an unsafe condition, the roof having sagged considerably, and instead of making the teams go to Port Hope or Lindsay to play off on neutral ice, the executive has decided to give Peterborough people a chance to see the game by having it played on the Charlotte stret rink. The intense excitement which prevailed in Norwood on Monday night, is an evidence of the interest taken in the outcome of the game by supporters of both teams, and there will be one of the biggest crowds of the season to witness the game. Both teams are confident of victory, and the team that wins will have to do some hard work. The secretary of the League will appoint a good efficient referee, and the chances are that one of the best games in the League will be seen on Monday night.

NAPANEE-PICTON TO BREAK THE TIE.

Will Play Off on Saturday Night Next at Belleville.

The championship of No. 1 district of the Trent Valley League will be decided at Belleville on Saturday night between Napanee and Picton. Great rivalry exists between these two teams and the excitement in League circles is growing intense. Mr. "Chaucer" Elliott, of Kingston, will referee the game and the winner of this match will enter the semi-finals with Cobourg on the following Tuesday night.

LOCAL BONSPIEL MAKES INTEREST.

Date Fixed for Tuesday 23 inst. Last Night's Game.

The Peterborough Bonspiel which is to be held on Tuesday, Feb. 23rd, will, from all appearances, be a great success and in local curling circles great interest is being displayed in it. Invitations have been sent to the curling clubs of Keene, Norwood, Belleville, Kingston, Lindsay, Port Hope, Orillia, Omemee and other places in this district. It is probable that two rinks from Toronto will also be in attendance. The first prizes will be two pairs of curling stones and four gold lockets, while the consolation prizes will be two pairs of curling stones and four gold pins.

At the curling rink last night three games were played and resulted as follows:—

Skip Bogue defeated Skip Tooley by 15 to 11.

Skip Brown beat Skip Frost by 20 to 14.

Skip Miller, (Lindsay,) lost to Skip Knapman by 7 to 9.

Beginning Of the End

That expresses the situation. We stand pat on it. We're forced against the cold fact that in a very short time we must clear out and give way to the new people.

But we've got heaps of stock left. We can't take it with us. We can't leave it. Result—we must sell it. Our extremity means your opportunity. We've agreed to let our successors in by a certain date, and faith they'll make us keep to our promises.

There's piles of Clothing, Hats and Caps, Furnishings and Boots and Shoes to be cleared. If you will look you will see that prices are shaved to the core. It's a money inducement we offer you—big goods for little money. Every slice we cut off prices means your saving.

Let us put it as strong as we can. It's the bare fact that we must unload. Needs must when we're driven to it.

Attend the big sale now going on. You're welcome as the flowers in May.

TRENT VALLEY GAME AT PORT HOPE.

Cobourg won the Game and the District by 3–2.

The Port Hope Guide, commenting on the Trenton-Cobourg game, played in Port Hope on Tuesday night, says:—

"If last night's exhibition of hockey is a sample of Trent Valley League games, excuse us. It was trip, slash and cross-check, anything to get the puck, and it kept Referee George Brown busy throughout the entire match putting offenders on the fence. Both teams indulged in this work and what might have been a good game was turned into shinney.

"The train from the east was an hour and a half late and the game did not commence until 9.30.

"About five o'clock Trenton received a telegram from Secretary Clarry that their centre man was not eligible, and would be unable to take part in the game against Cobourg. He was the best player of the Trenton Seven, and the news came as rather a sad blow to them. Bulger was laid off the Cobourg team and six men a side played.

"At the sound of the whistle both teams jumped into the game with all their might and after some hard work Trenton scored the first. Five minutes later they repeated the trick but just before half time Cobourg made the score 2—1.

"The second half was Donnybrook style in earnest and created plenty of amusement for the spectators. In this period Cobourg claimed to have scored two goals which were not allowed, and we are certain as to one of them. Two Trenton goal keepers were removed, and soon Cobourg tied the score. With about ten minutes left to play Cobourg scored another, and a number of spectators state Trenton shot one through the net that was not allowed.

"After some disputing between the Cobourg and Trenton time-keepers the referee gave his decision as 3—2 in favour of Cobourg."

ANSWER TO CHARGES OF REVIEW TEAM.

The Examiner Septette Will not Flunk but will Defend its Reputation.

It is with an acute sense of regret that the Examiner feels compelled to voice the sentiments of the public with respect to the action of the Review hockey team. The lame and utterly unfounded excuses advanced in last night's issue of that paper have placed them in even a more ridiculous light than ever, and the Examiner is forced reluctantly to show up the inconsistency of the sporting writer of that journal. After the game played last week, in which the Examiner demonstrated its undeniable superiority, the acting manager of the Review team suggested to the Examiner that a second game should be played, merely as a friendly game, because it was taken as a fact which needed no further proof, that the Review seven had been hopelessly outclassed in the former game, and all thoughts of a second championship game were discarded. To the suggestion of the Examiner that it should merely be an exhibition game, he willingly agreed, but evidently some of the sports, so called, of the Review team have been intimidating him, as last night that arrangement was ignored, and the Examiner accused of "flunking." In order to convince the Review and the public that the Examiner team is ready to sustain its reputation, the offer is now made to play a second championship game this season, at any time the Review may arrange for convenient to both teams the series to be counted as home and home games, and the number of goals scored in the two games to be counted, the team credited with the largest number of goals to be considered champions of Press League, and the losing team provide an oyster supper.

Now let the "sports" on the Review answer this defi in a sportsmanlike manner, and cease resorting to such cheap talk as has been indulged in recently, and which has made the Review sports cheap in the estimation of the public.

Finance Minister Says There Will Be No Tariff Revision.

'97 TARIFF HAS WORKED WELL

While Individual Industries Will Receive Consideration, the Government Must Consider the Interests of All—If G.T.R. Will Not Carry Out G.T. Pacific It Will Be Built Without Their Co-operation.

Montreal, Feb. 11—From what Hon. W. S. Fielding said at a mass meeting of Liberals at Westmount last night, there will be no general revision of the tariff at the next session of Parliament. The Minister of Finance observed that even were it thought advisable by the Government there would not be, between now and the meeting of Parliament, sufficient time to make any extensive alterations, but he did not say that there would be no changes.

The tariff of 1897 had proved to be a good tariff in its day and generation, it had worked well, and if on examination it should be found that some industries were suffering or in need of urgent attention they would receive such consideration as the Government was at all times willing to give. But one thing was emphasized, the Government would continue its policy of not tinkering with the tariff. Mr. Fielding thought that it would be a mistake for the Canadian manufacturers to insist on a tariff that would antagonize the best interests of the Dominion at large. It should be the business of every public man to guard against arraying one interest against another.

We have a revenue tariff, said the Finance Minister, that carries with it a considerable measure of protection. We want you to have enough protection to do business, but we insist that you should not have any more than is necessary. We go to the farmer and say to him that he should take a broad view of this tariff, and submit to moderate protection, so that the manufacturers may exist. And we say to the manufacturers that they must look to the condition of the farmers. The eastern Provinces are losing representation and the west is increasing. It will not be long before the centre of power will shift to the west. It is to our interest to try to make fair terms between the east and west. A moderate tariff is not only better for the consumer, but it is also better for the manufacturer than a higher tariff. I am prepared to establish that statement with evidence.

Referring to the Grand Trunk Pacific Mr. Fielding said that he hoped that a satisfactory agreement would be reached with the Grand Trunk interests, and he let it be understood that even should the G.T.R. not wish to carry out their part of the undertaking, the railway would be built without their co-operation.

The meeting was held in Victoria Hall in the interest of Mr. L. A. Rivet, Liberal nominee in Bonaventure. Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, spoke briefly. It had been expected that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would be present, but a message was received, saying that his absence would be unavoidable.

You Take no Chances.

Exciting Hotel Fire.

Kingston, Feb. 11.—The Kennedy House was damaged by fire during the early hours yesterday morning. When the fire was discovered at 12.40 a.m. No. 1 Station, just across the road, was alarmed, and the brigade turned out immediately. There were about 15 persons in the house at the time, and all got out uninjured. Two men in the third floor were found by firemen in an unconscious state, and three men in the sitting room were overcome by gas and smoke. Fireman Hall, who was the first to enter, seized chair by chair, and hauled them out into the street.

Split Hairs With Serious Result.

Winnipeg, Feb 11.—John Clay, colored barber, stabbed Charles Heath, with shears, from a dispute arising over the latter's alleged poor work in cutting a customer's locks.

Fire at Cornwall.

Cornwall, Feb 11—The residence of Robert Craig was burned down yesterday. The damage is $2,000.

The Glow of Health.

When the blood is rich and pure there is a healthful glow to the complexion which speaks of the vigour and vitality of the system. There is no more certain way for pale, weak people to attain the glow of health than by the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great food cure which forms new, rich, red blood and creates new nerve force.

Disgusted.

Amos Cummings of New York used to tell this story of his first assignment as a newspaper reporter: He was sent out to write up an accident where an Irish hodcarrier was injured in a fall from a building. He arrived just as two officers were assisting the injured man into the ambulance.

"What's his name?" asked Cummings of one of the officers, at the same moment pulling out his pad and pencil.

The Irishman heard him and, mistaking him for the timekeeper on the job, exclaimed, with a look of disgust covering his face:

"Isn't it trouble enough to fall three stories without being docked for the few moments I lose going to the hospital?"

BOTH CURED OF KIDNEY TROUBLE
BY

Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Benjamin Brooks, a well-known farmer of West Cape, P.E.I., tells of how his son was cured of Kidney Disease, and how he was cured of Backache.

The First Sign of Kidney Trouble.

He says: "Our little boy was troubled with kidney disease. We had tried many kinds of kidney pills but they only helped for a time. We got Doan's Kidney Pills and one box effected a perfect cure. About six weeks after this I caught a very bad cold that settled in my kidneys. My back was so sore I could hardly walk. I went to the drug store and got a box, took them according to directions and the result was that my back was completely cured. I believe they are the best kidney pill on the market to-day."

There is not a kidney trouble from Backache to Bright's Disease that Doan's Kidney Pills will not relieve or cure. The price is 50 cts. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25 and may be procured at all dealers or from Kidneys and Liver Affected by Colds.

Backache and Pains in the Legs the Common Symptoms—Cure Comes With the use of

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Exposure to damp, cold weather is a frequent cause of kidney disease. Sitting in a draught so as to chill the feet and legs is frequently enough to bring on congestion of the liver.

Colds settle on the liver and kidneys as well as the lungs. The results are diseases of the most dreadfully painful and fatal sort.

As yet there has never been discovered a preparation equal to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a prompt and thorough cure for derangements of those great filtering organs.

Pains in the back, headache, urinary disorders, biliousness, liver complaint, dyspepsia, and constipation soon disappear when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are used.

Mr. C. Noyes, for many years, section foreman, and now flagman for the G. T. R. at Peterborough, Ont., states:—"For twenty-one years I was section foreman on G.T.R., and was exposed to all sorts of weather. As a result my kidneys became affected and there was scarcely a day that I was not troubled more or less. At times I would have sharp shooting pains through my back and would get so used up that I felt like giving up work. During this time I was also a great sufferer from constipation. As I heard so much about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for kidney disease and constipation I began using them, and can say that I was entirely cured of my old troubles in a short time. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and never lose an opportunity of recommending them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 5

Shorthand and Mental Discipline.

The mental discipline which may be derived from the practice of stenography is permanent. Speed may be lost, word signs may slip away, but the power of concentrating the attention persists. Nor is the increased power of analysis confined to the analysis of spoken words. It is brought into play in all kinds of mental work. Possibly the truth may be that only persons with minds naturally analytic can become expert stenographers and that the faculty is a cause rather than an effect of such proficiency. However that may be, the man who has a mind of that sort can select a topic at random, analyze it rapidly into its natural subdivisions and make a speech or write an essay on it while the other men would be groping around for an introduction. The value of this sort of discipline to a lawyer or preacher or writer is obvious. Mathematics is the only study that can be compared to a scientific system of shorthand for the development of analytical powers.—The World Today.

How to Make a Campfire.

An absurd and reprehensibly destructive practice is the building of fires beneath a tree "in order to get the draft." The fools that do this kill great trees for nothing but a campfire. There is no sense in that wretched practice. A fire for camp cooking should be built in the open, and nothing is easier. A bare rock is the best place, and if you are to cook by it put up a barrier of loose stones just extensive enough to make a fire as large as a kitchen stove would hold, put a flat stone over these walls, and you will have all you want. You can fry bacon and your corn cakes and boil your coffee on that stone. This is as good for winter as for summer. And if you want a hot old campfire clear a place of all combustibles and begin small, gradually adding a stick or two, and the heat beneath will soon grow so strong that you can keep it up for as many hours as you please. But be sure that you let it get down to the ashes before you leave. Nobody knows what may happen after you leave a blazing fire.

WHILE THE TRAIN WAITED

By A. S. Richardson

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

The waiter coughed obsequiously, and Margaret Ashton turned toward him impatiently.

"Just some fruit and coffee for dessert."

The waiter picked up the plate holding an untasted entree.

"Why are we stopping here so long?

"Freight train off de track ahead, ma'am, but de wreckin' crew's headin ma'am."

Miss Ashton picked up the menu, read it absentmindedly and laid it down again. Then her glance traveled back to the panorama spread beyond the dining car's window. It was the residence district of a pretty village, with yellow and white and gray and white cottages placed at a discreet distance apart, with well kept lawns and budding gardens in between.

Close to the crossing where the train had come to a sudden standstill was the church, painted in pearly white, with dark green shutters and imitation colored glass windows. Even at this distance Margaret recognized the material in those windows. They had received samples when she was in the altar guild at St. Paul's.

The waiter arrived with her dessert, and she selected some white grapes with elaborate care. When she looked up again, a boy came scampering down the drive which divided two of the cottage homes. He swung a baseball bat in signal to another youngster emerging from another yard. Both homes had barns and chicken yards in the rear, and the boys wore sweaters.

"They have had their tea and have done their chores," thought Miss Ashton, stirring her coffee slowly, "and by and by some one will call them both in and pull down the shades."

A woman ran across the back yard of the house nearest the tracks, carrying something under her apron. She disappeared in the kitchen doorway of the next house, then reappeared empty handed and ran back to her own home.

"She had borrowed something, no doubt," said Miss Ashton to herself. "Perhaps she had a little tea this afternoon. We always borrowed things from the Marsdens when we had teas."

She pushed aside her coffee cup, laid a bill on the silver tray which the waiter offered and left the car. Her chair was in the drawing room car forward. She found herself looking straight into the side yard of a trim little cottage. A young woman sat on the step of the porch, a "fascinator" thrown over her shoulders. At the foot of the step stood another woman holding a restless baby in her arms. The two women were so earnestly engaged in conversation that they did not notice how the baby was stripping young buds off the porch vine.

"Gossiping," murmured Miss Ashton.

She knew the narrow life only too well. She had run away from it years before. She wanted to go where your next door neighbor did not count the skirts and shirt waists on your line, where no one insisted that because a young man had shown you a few ordinary courtesies you were bound to be engaged to him.

She swung her chair impatiently, and her glance fell once more on the church. The sun was setting, and two people were walking up the narrow flagged path. The man pulled out a key, threw open the church door, and they both passed in. He did not look like a minister. He was something of an athlete and had an alert air. A moment later he was opening the window. The girl was not in sight, but Margaret was certain that she was putting flowers in the vase at the pulpit.

"He's a leader in the church, no doubt. A man must always be at the head of something," she thought. "And Miss Demure will be sitting down in the amen corner soon watching him with adoring eyes because the whole congregation looks up to him."

What a narrow set these people in small towns were! Here was a train stalled in their midst bearing men of millions, women who had traveled at home and abroad, interests that might affect the world of trade, and they did not stop so much as to inquire into the trouble. They were so small, so narrow, so self absorbed!

At last the train moved with great, heaving strain on wheels and springs. Margaret gave one more glance at the church. The lights were ablaze, and the young man was standing in front of the congregation, a book in his hand. The girl was at the organ.

Margaret leaned back and closed her eyes. She saw another church, another man—and herself. Then she turned her thoughts resolutely into other channels. She glanced down at her bag. She knew the papers in that bag meant insurance policies for thousands, all written by herself. She had stepped in where other agents feared to tread and had secured business. She was going back to New York and the approval of her superiors. She would be glad to shut herself in her private office and take up her accumulated correspondence. She must have a new cabinet ordered for that empty corner of her office. The papers to be filed in her department were increasing.

* * * * * * *

She gave her number to the cabman and was whisked off into the glare of Broadway's lights. By and by they turned into a quiet side street. She mounted the steps leading to a dim brownstone apartment house, shook out her keys and hurried to her room.

There were no matches, and she rang the bell impatiently. The maid apologized and brought in clean towels.

"We weren't expecting you till tomorrow, Miss Ashton," she remarked, with a furtive flirt of her towel across the dusty table.

Margaret lighted every gas jet in the room and in the dressing room adjoining, to say nothing of the gas log in the grate, but still the room seemed dank and dull. She wished that it were morning and she might bury herself in office work.

The maid returned with a package which had arrived in Margaret's absence, and the latter inquired:

"Is Miss Harding in this evening? If she is, I wish you would ask her to come in and have a cup of tea with me."

Miss Harding had the room at the end of the hall.

The maid paused in the doorway and looked in in startled fashion.

"Why, didn't you know? Miss Harding died while you were gone."

"Died!"

"Yes; pneumonia; awful sudden too. None of her folks was here. They live way up state somewhere, and the undertaker shipped the body."

Margaret sat staring at the even flame of the gas log. "None of her folks was here; they shipped"—

The life had died out of the great city and the clock struck 2 when Margaret Ashton laid down her pen. She bent low to kiss the letter as she sealed it, and again there came to her the vision of the man and the girl walking up the narrow, flagged pathway to the church.

* * * * * * *

Ten days later a man who wore gold glasses and looked at her above them called her into his private office. She had only been in that office twice before, and they had been red letter events in her business career.

"Miss Ashton, we have been going over the results of that last trip you made. They are remarkable for a woman. And we have decided to make you superintendent of the Troy offices."

He paused for an expression of surprise or appreciation. Miss Ashton was studying the carpet. The great man coughed.

"Your salary, of course"—

"Thank you," she said, still without looking up, "but I have accepted—another position."

The great man fairly jumped.

"But, my dear young woman, you should consider"—

"I have considered, and this is for life."

This time she looked up, straight into the eyes of the great man. Something he read there made him rise and extend his hand cordially.

"My dear Miss Ashton, I trust you will be very happy. And I congratulate the young man with all my heart."

GOLD NUGGETS.

The Process In Nature by Which They Are Formed.

That gold is formed from solution is generally recognized. The miner receives the theory because it explains the making of gold to him, but he often wonders how it is done, so here is what has been seen: Daintree once prepared a solution of gold and left in it a small piece of metallic gold. Accidentally a small piece of wood fell into the solution. The solution decomposed, the gold assumed a metallic state and collected and held to the small piece of undissolved gold, which increased in size. Another investigator heard of this and made a dilute gold solution, in which he immersed a piece of iron pyrites and left it there a month. He added also organic matter, and at the month's end the pyrites were covered with a film of metallic gold. Pyrites and galena were next tried, and each was covered with gold. Gold, copper pyrites, arsenical pyrites, galena and wolfram were also tried, with similar results. Metallic precipitates were tried, and while they threw down the gold as a metallic powder they did not cause it to cohere nor to plate any of the substances tried. Organic matter thus seemed the necessary chemical agent. Through the wood used in these experiments gold was disseminated in fine particles. Imagine these experiments conducted by nature through ages and the result could be a nugget. —Mines and Minerals.

He Spoke Japanese.

They told this on a Pittsburger who is dead now and therefore shall be nameless, but the story is still told about Washington when a crowd of newspaper men foregather and talk over old times and happenings. It was during the Harrison administration, and the Pittsburger was hot on the trail of a consulship. Several were suggested and rejected by the applicant, who didn't want a government sit at Dahomey or some other out of the world place, but a first class charge.

Finally he picked on Yokohama as the place where he would like to represent Uncle Sam and secured an audience with President Harrison.

"But do you understand the importance of this position?" asked the president. "Can you speak Japanese?"

Oh, yes, the applicant understood the importance of the position; also he could speak the language.

"Well," said the president, "let me hear you speak it."

"All right! Ask me something in Japanese."

There was a laugh all round, but the Pittsburg man did not get the position.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Pina Gauze.

Pina gauze, made by the women of the Philippines from pineapple spikes alone, is as delicate as chiffon and far more durable. They use only the best leaves, and these, tied into bundles, are placed under heavy stones in the bed of a running stream. After two or three days of this treatment they are exposed for a time to the action of the sun and air. Each piece is closely inspected to make sure that the process of decomposition was thorough, and if it was not the leaves are subjected a second time to the operation. The fibrous threads are at last wholly separate from the cellulose and lignose particles and cleaned from the sap and gummy substance. The whole is then beaten with a wooden mallet grooved on the face like a fluting machine. The threads are kept moist while this beating is in progress, and the separate threads are thus blended into one mass. In color the fibers vary from cream and light gray to pure white. After the "pine-apple cloth" is finished figures are stamped on it with blocks and afterward worked or embroidered by hand. —Chicago News.

NEW SYSTEM FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Individual Instruction or Two Teacher System Discussed.

MR. HARTLEY'S INTERVIEW.

Originator of the New Plan Tells Local Chairman of its Advantages Ex pense Decreased and Efficiency Increased.

A new method of instruction is being inaugurated in Public Schools in the United States and one which apparently has much to commend itself. It is what is known as the two-teacher system, and by it the originator claims that dull pupils are assisted and often make the brightest men and women The plan is to have two teachers in each room, one for the duller pupils, and the class teacher, who takes care of those who learn rapidly The former gives individual instruction to those who are unable to learn as rapidly as others, and the results of this individual work are said to be most gratifying both to the pupils and the teachers.

It is stated that instead of being more expensive, this system costs less than the one-teacher system, because of the fact that twice as many pupils can be taught in a room as formerly, and one large room costs less that two smaller rooms, and thus, too, the pupils get through faster, and the high schools are being crowded with graduates from the public schools Mr J J Hartley, chairman of the Board of Education, is favourably impressed with the new system.

In the discussion raised at the last meeting of the Board of Education by Mr. J. J. Hartley on the subject of "Individual Instruction," considerable interest was shown by the members of the Board and the subject proved most interesting. During Mr. Hartley's recent visit to the United States, he had an interesting conversation with Mr. John Kennedy, Superintendent of Schools of Batavia, N.Y., who has originated a new system of teaching, that of the individual instruction or two-teacher system. Mr. Kennedy in speaking of his system says:

Pupils, teachers and parents have been benefitted by it. The attendance at our schools has increased, the high school has been fairly swamped with pupils, and there is satisfaction over the results on all sides.

In introducing a school teacher into the school who spends her entire time in looking after the slow and duller pupils and giving them individual aid, we have struck at the root of the present school tragedy. The teacher is saved from nervous prostration, which the trials under the old system must bring her to sooner or later, the child is saved from the nagging and scolding of the irritated teacher, from the nervous fevers brought on by study at night and vain efforts to keep up with the more able pupils, the parent is saved from the illness and nervousness that is brought on by the worry of mother and father in their efforts to aid the child who brings home his lessons and seeks, in a disheartened and discouraged mood, their help.

The genus "cracher" has disappeared under our system. Instead we have happy, well-mannered ladies, who enjoy their work and imbue their pupils with love for their work. The teacher has time to go out in society and to enjoy other good things of ordinary mortals. Consequently there has been a marvellous change in her. She brings into the school new mannerisms which are beneficial, she dresses better and more artistically, and she pervades the whole room with a happy spirit and the best of life.

Under the old system the teacher in her efforts to force through whole classes must exert a pressure upon the children which soon wears down her nerves and develops into a nagging and violence which is injurious to the child and against which medical men are raising an outcry for reform to-day. Parents are constantly told that they must take their children from school either to save the child or themselves from the terrible effects of overwrought nerves.

I do not mean to say that the danger should be averted by removing the child from the public school Not There is no better place on earth to train a child than the public schools. There they get the stimulation of the education of companionship which makes the man of action, the man of the people.

SLOW PUPILS AIDED AND ENCOURAGED.

But we must seek this remedy in some other manner. It lies in the two-teacher plan. Under our system we do not find one-half of the class moodily sitting in the room, half breaking their hearts in an effort to keep up with the prodigies while the latter are dawdling about in idleness. The second teacher who is there to look after the individuals, aids the slower pupil, fires him with a spirit of enterprise and he moves onward with triumphant step

It is not the child who is a prodigy in the schools who becomes the leader of men in after life. It is the slow pupil who plods along and gradually works out salvation.

With a second teacher to help these slower ones they are not sent home crushed with misery and broken-hearted. Instead the child leaves the school room without a book under his arm. He is through for the day when school is over and has time to enjoy the pleasures which should belong to the life of every child.

As the child does not have to take home any studies the parents are saved from the work caused in their efforts to aid their children, and the evenings at home are happier. On every side we hear reports from the parents of the happy change in their children

The children take more interest in their school work and our high school is filled to overflowing with pupils. There are many there who, if it had not been for the two-teacher system, would never have crossed the threshold of the high school.

The day of organizing little troops of pupils under special taskmasters and of working them like machines must soon pass. The larger rooms with the two teachers will be the system of the future

SAVES MONEY AS WELL.

The Batavia system is a money saving system also. One large room with two teachers can be run for about $300 less than two smaller rooms. The increased attendance in the schools caused by the new system also causes decreased cost in the per capita expense in the education of pupils.

The individual teacher finds that her own work or his is not allowed to touch any of the class work done by teacher No 1. She has her own desk and from there looks after the slower pupils of class, giving them individual aid

She sees to it that the pupil attends to and does his work and does it faithfully She lightens and makes pleasant his work by helping him over the hard places which the class teacher has not time to stop and help him over

The system only provides for three examinations a year. Some schools have ten a day This means a great deal to the child.

A sharp watch is also kept on the superintendent. He must permit the teachers to have liberty of action in their work, and it is greatly improved in consequence, for liberty and responsibility go together The two teachers co-ordinate in rank. There is no difference in the rank of the two.

Throughout I have asked you to give attention to the case of the slow child. There is also the case of the quick child. Once retarded he is perverted. It is an awful thing to lose interest. It will never be fully regained, and with it is lost ideals and ambition It is an awful thing to be shut up in a school that does not go; therefore the quick child will be and is benefitted by the new system, as is the slow child.

The slow child has not until recently received any attention. If he could not keep up with the prodigies he has been allowed to lag behind or drop out He has been considered the sluggard and unworthy of attention This is not right The slow boy or girl must be looked after, and the only way to do it is to adopt a system which benefits both the slow and quick pupil.

PROSPECTUS

The Peterborough Fuel & Cartage Co. LIMITED.

Authorized Capital, $40,000, in 1,600 shares of $25.00 each.

DIRECTORS:

PRESIDENT J. H. McCLELLAN, Coal Dealer.

MANAGING DIRECTOR WM. BULLER, Carter,

SECRETARY-TREASURER A. J. McCLELLAN.

F. D. KERR, Barrister. A. PARKER, Dxe Works.

SOLICITORS

DENNISTOUN, PECK, KERR & STEVENSON.

The Peterborough Fuel & Cartage Co. (Limited) have acquired the plant and goodwill of the following companies: The McClellan Coal Co., the Stevenson Coal Co., the Wm. Buller Cartage Co., and propose to carry on a Coal, Wood, Sewer Pipe, Cement and Cartage Business. It is also proposed to erect a suitable building for the Storage of Household Goods and Furniture. This has been a long-felt want in Peterborough and its success is certain. At present there is no place where suitable and convenient storage can be obtained.

PROPERTIES

The Company control the most desirable site and sheds of the Stevenson Coal Co., situated on the Grand Trunk track, and property adjoining, leased at nominal rent from the Grand Trunk. This property makes a most desirable place for the business at nominal expense.

ADVANTAGES

The cartage and coal business would work very advantageously together as the slack months in the coal business are the busy ones in the carting and vice versa.

ESTIMATE OF BUSINESS

In presenting an estimate of the business that could be done the directors have been very conservative in their figures.

3,000 tons hard coal could be handled at a gross profit of $1.25 per ton (This has been the average profit for a number of years.)	$3,750 00
2,000 tons soft coal, gross profit, 75c a ton	1,500 00
10 carters' wagons, handling freight, household furniture and coal; average gross earnings $3.50 a day for 300 days	10,500 00
Revenue, storage business, 1st year	500 00
	$16,250 00

THE ESTIMATED EXPENSE OF DOING THIS BUSINESS

Cost handling coal, 5,000 tons at 30c a ton	$1,500 00
Wages, cartage business	4,000 00
Horse feed	1,500 00
Incidental expenses, shoeing, repairs, etc	500 00
Office expenses, salaries etc	2,500 00
Depreciation, wear and tear	1,250 0
	$11,125 00

Leaving net earnings of $5,000.00, or 25% on an investment of $20,000, which would be a sufficient sum to operate the business on the above basis.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

Besides being assured of a good vidend the stockholders are allowed a discount of 25 cents a ton off market price, time of ordering their supply of hard coal.

The shares have been placed at $25.00 and in submitting the above proposition it is confidently expected that this company with its large list of shareholders working for its interests, cheap rents and the advantage of starting off with a large business, should be a splendid opportunity for investment.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

A deposit of 25 per cent. is payable on acceptance of application and the balance in monthly instalments of 25 per cent. each. Subscribers may make payment in advance of due dates and will be entitled to dividend from the date of such payments. If no allotment is made deposit will be returned without deduction, and if a partial allotment is made the surplus deposit will be applied towards the amount payable on allotment. All cheques must be made payable to Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson, Acting Treasurers.

Fire! Smoke! Water! Ice!

Every day people who have bought groceries at Holmes' fire sale, come back for more. This shows the values we are giving. Don't be deterred by the crowding—there's plenty of snaps for all. Although the goods went through the fire—just near enough to call them "damaged"—most of them are as good as ever. Boxes of soaps, prunes, and matches, etc., bags of rice, cans of vegetables, fruits and fish, hogsheads of vinegar, molasses and syrup, chests of tea, barrels of herrings, sugar and salt, quarters of cured pork, packages of teas, cereals, etc., all at prices scorched out of recognition. Sale goes merrily on in the "Metropole" store, a few doors west of old stand.

THE GOLDEN LION, —GEORGE STREET

A Year of Success

T-H-A-N-K-S—with a big Capital T—is the way we spell our thanks to you for the generous patronage you have given the Golden Lion during our business year, which has just closed. This is our business New Year. Stock-taking is over, and what a pleasure, after so much hard work and care, to look at the result. We have passed through the most successful year in the Golden Lion's career—the increase in sales being again a notable gain over last year and all previous years.

Gratitude to our patrons who have helped us to accomplish what we have is uppermost. But the growth is the natural result of the business methods of the store—a strict adherance to a straightforward policy as well as to the high character of our merchandise.

This Being Leap Year

our aim is to make our business continue to grow "with leaps and bounds." We are preparing for a busy New Year. There is always room for improvement.

As this is the time of year when business men generally take stock and balance things for 1904, it is time, too, when plans are changed and help organized. We have added new blood to the store staff and strengthened our selling ability commensurate with our growth in trade. The new salesmen which have been engaged are all capable and experienced for the different departments. We like to tell you these things because we want you to know how we are safeguarding your interests as well as our own.

The aftermath of Stocktaking shows up many "Consolation Prizes" for those who failed to get the bargains before. This is Gleaning Day.

OUR REMNANT SALES

are a proof of how we treat our patrons. There is no humbugging. Our ads are genuine; our goods give satisfaction and our prices are lower than elsewhere. We offer this week reductions in all winter goods.

Another Big Victory For Little Fellows Off Port Arthur.

SINK THREE AND CAPTURE SEVEN

Correspondents Send Hot News From Various Quarters—Heroic Death of Captain of Russian Varing --- Japanese Torpedo Boats Sunk---Alleges Heavy Japanese Causalities--- New Japanese Cruisers.

London, Feb. 12.—In a despatch from Nagasaki, dated Feb. 10, a correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says:

"There has been a renewed attack on Port Arthur. The Japanese captured seven Russian ships and chased others.

"There has been disturbances at Port Arthur in which a number of Japanese civilians were killed, or imprisoned.

"The bombardment of Port Arthur continues. Three Russian cruisers have been sunk. The Russian bank building has been destroyed."

Report Current at Tokio.

London, Feb. 12.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Tokio, dated 7.10 a.m. Wednesday, says an unofficial report is current there that the Russian fleet was destroyed, four battleships and three cruisers being sunk, and that two Japanese warships were damaged, in an engagement Wednesday off Port Arthur, the Japanese getting between the Russians and the entrance of the harbor before the fight commenced.

Tokio's Celebration.

The despatch adds: "Tokio witnessed a smaller Mafeking celebration last night. Thousands of students paraded the streets, accompanied by many bands of music and carrying torches, flags, colored lanterns and transparencies emblazoned with war pictures. National airs were sung and cheers were continually given. The various processions surrounded the palace wall and visited the Government offices. The Russian legation looks a square where the thousands of people had assembled to witness the celebration of the Japanese victory, but the windows of the legation were darkened. The crowds were orderly and sober. British residents of Tokio were cheered wherever they appeared."

Went Up With His Ship.

London, Feb. 12.—The Reuter Telegram Company's correspondent at Tokio, in a despatch timed 9.15 p. m. Wednesday, says:

"Details of the Chemulpo engagement received here say the captain of the Varing remained on board his ship and blew her up after the crew escaped. Part of the crew swam to a French ship and others got ashore.

"One report says that the French warship notified the Russians of the Japanese approach. The Korietz engaged the Japanese cruisers first, while the Varing protected the transports. The Korietz was soon destroyed."

Japanese Casualties Large.

London, Feb. 12.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company cables that the naval headquarters staff there announces that in the fight at Port Arthur six Japanese ships were slightly damaged and fifty Japanese were killed and 150 wounded.

Mail Steamer Destroyed.

London, Feb. 12.—Lloyd's agent at Shanghai cabling under date of Wednesday, says it is reported and generally believed that a Japanese warship has destroyed the Russian mail steamer Mongolia, bound from Shanghai to Dalny. The cablegram adds that the three Russian warships damaged by torpedoes at Port Arthur sank.

3,000 Japs in Seoul.

Paris, Feb. 12.—The Foreign Office received a despatch yesterday morning, dated Wednesday, reporting that 5,000 Japanese troops are encamped near Seoul, some of whom have entered the town. It is added that quiet prevails there.

Sunk Three Jap Torpedo Boats.

London, Feb. 12.—According to the correspondent of the Paris edition of The New York Herald, at Che Foo, the Japanese torpedo boats succeeded in entering the outer harbor by a ruse; they used the Russian flashlight signals. This correspondent adds, three Japanese torpedo boats were sunk with great loss of life.

Baltic Squadron Sails.

London, Feb. 12.—In a despatch from Copenhagen, a correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "The Russian Baltic squadron of fifteen warships passed through Danish waters yesterday en route for the Far East around Cape Skagen; but, as a fierce storm was raging in the North Sea, the Russian admiral ordered the squadron through the Kaiser Wilhelm Canal."

Greater Number Disabled.

Berlin, Feb. 12.—A despatch to The Vossiche Zeitung from Yokohama says the greater number of the Russian warships at Port Arthur have already been disabled, and that several Japanese warships have been sent home for repairs.

More Japanese Cruisers.

Rome, Feb. 12.—A cypher cablegram received here contains the information that the Japanese cruisers Nishun and Kasuga are expected to reach the scene of the war on Sunday and that they will disembark their Anglo-Italian crews and substitute Japanese.

One Awaited By Two.

Shanghai, Feb. 12.—The Russian gunboat Mandjar is still here. It is understood that two Japanese warships are awaiting her at the mouth of the Yang Tse Kiang.

RAILWAY BLOWN UP.

Russians Cut Off From Supplies—Wreckers Were Probably Boxers.

London, Feb. 12.—A special despatch from Tien Tsin confirms the report that the Manchurian railroad has been blocked by the blowing up of some of the line, and that thirty Russians were killed in the explosion.

Did Boxers Do It?

Vienna, Feb. 12.—Disquieting reports have been received here from Pekin regarding the attitude of China in the Russo-Japanese conflict.

The Neue Weiner Tageblatt says it is believed in well informed circles that the reported destruction of a railroad bridge in Manchuria is possibly the work of an advance party of "Boxers" who, it is understood, China is organizing for the invasion of Manchuria.

It is understood that also the representatives of several of the powers at Pekin have informed their Governments of China's intention to send 200,000 "Boxers" to Manchuria.

Alexieff the Whole Thing.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 12.—Admiral Alexieff has been appointed to the supreme command of the Russian land and sea forces in the Far East.

Ban on Telegrams.

The Admiralty has issued specific orders that no telegrams from the Far East, either for private persons, newspapers or news agencies will be transmitted. The Admiralty will give out official reports.

Admiral Skrydloff, commander of the Russian Black Sea fleet, has left quietly for the Far East to take command of the Russian fleet there.

The Red Cross Society sent the steamship Mongolia, loaded with hospital stores, to the Far East on Sunday.

Japs Coaxing Chinese.

Tien Tsin, Feb. 12.—The Russian garrison was withdrawn yesterday to Shung-Hai-Kwan. The Japanese are flooding Pekin gratis with newspapers containing reports of the Japanese successes against Russia. The Russians have laid submarine mines at Dalny.

UNTRUE RUSSIAN CHARGES.

Wei-Hai-Wei Was Not Used By the Japanese Fleet.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 12.—Reporting the charge that the Japanese attack on Port Arthur was made from Wei-Hai-Wei (on the north coast of the San Tung peninsula) The Novoe Vremya yesterday bitterly assailed Great Britain. "In allowing Japan to use the harbor as a basis of operations," says The Novoe Vremya, "Great Britain violated the fundamental principles of neutrality. Wei-Hai-Wei must be regarded henceforth as part of Japanese territory, and Great Britain has forfeited the right to participate in any deliberations over the eventful fate of the harbor."

Absolutely Untrue

London, Feb. 12.—It was said at the Foreign Office here last evening that the assertion of The Novoe Vremya of St. Petersburg that the Japanese fleet, in its attack on Port Arthur, used Wei-Hai-Wei as a base for its attack on Port Arthur is absolutely untrue.

May Mas the Stage.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The move made by Secretary Hay in connection with the proposed neutralization of China has aroused the greatest interest in diplomatic circles here. The Secretary is negotiating directly with the European Foreign Offices through the resident American Ambassadors and Ministers. It was stated yesterday some, but not all, of the countries, addressed here, replied, and that these replies were generally favorable. Such information as the American State Department has is to the effect that Japan would welcome an international agreement neutralizing China.

Russia's Internal Troubles.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 12.—Serious disturbances are reported to have broken out at Reval, the fortified seaport on the Gulf of Finland. Four companies of soldiers are said to have been despatched to suppress the rioting. The disturbances are believed to be connected with labor troubles.

Charged With Bigamy.

Toronto, Feb. 12.—Robert W. Miller was charged in the Police Court yesterday with bigamy. He is alleged to have married Victoria P. Martin, a Sundridge girl, two years ago, and last February he married Alice Williams of South River, Ont. He is 34 years of age and has been a section boss on the railway. The case arises out of a charge of non-support preferred by his last wife and a serious charge is also laid by his little daughter.

REPORT SAYS PORT ARTHUR HAS FALLEN.

Military Men in London Do Not Credit It, However.

Japanese Attacking the City With Vigour, and Have Taken a Number of Ships.

(Special to THE EXAMINER).

London, February 12. — A report reached London this morning that the Japanese have taken Port Arthur. The despatch has not been confirmed.

The report states that the Japanese vessels renewed the attack with vigor, and kept up the fire with persistency and deadly aim. A number of Russian battleships and cruisers are reported to have been put out of commission, and others to have put to flight with the Japanes pursuing them. Military men here do not credit the report.

RUSSIAN BATTLESHIPS FLOATED.

Chefoo, Feb. 11. — The Japanese fleet has not been seen since noon on Tuesday. The injured battleships, Tzarvitch and Retvisan have been floated, but the cruiser Pallada is still on the beach. It has been ascertained that the Japanese shells did not injure the forts at Port Arthur in Tuesday's engagement. Shots directed towards the disabled battleships went over them and entered the town.

TWO HUNDRED RUSSIANS KILLED.

Tokio, Feb. 12. — Further details of the naval engagement at Chemulpo on Monday sho wthat about 200 men of the Russian crews were killed or drowned. The American gunboat Vicksburg, the British cruiser Talbot, the French cruiser Pascal and the Italian cruiser Elba witnessed the engagement and saluted the victorious flag

Two severe cases of Ovarian Trouble and two terrible operations avoided. Mrs. Emmons and Mrs. Coleman each tell how they were saved by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am so pleased with the results obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it a duty and a privilege to write you about it.

"I suffered for more than five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge, a great weakness, and at times a faintness would come over me which no amount of medicine, diet, or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound found the weak spot, however, within a few weeks—and saved me from an operation—all my troubles had disappeared, and I found myself once more healthy and well. Words fail to describe the real, true, grateful feeling that is in my heart, and I want to tell every sick and suffering sister. Don't dally with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and take my word for it, you will be a different woman in a short time."—MRS. LAURA EMMONS, Walkerville, Ont.

Another Case of Ovarian Trouble Cured Without an Operation.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For several years I was troubled with ovarian trouble and a painful and inflamed condition, which kept me in bed part of the time. I did so dread a surgical operation.

"I tried different remedies hoping to get better, but nothing seemed to bring relief until a friend who had been cured of ovarian trouble, through the use of your compound, induced me to try it. I took it faithfully for three months, and at the end of that time was glad to find that I was a well woman. Health is nature's best gift to woman, and if you lose it and can have it restored through Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel that all suffering women should know of this."—MRS. LAURA BELLE COLEMAN, Commercial Hotel, Nashville, Tenn.

It is well to remember such letters as above when some druggist tries to get you to buy something which he says is "just as good" That is impossible, as no other medicine has such a record of cures as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; accept no other and you will be glad.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.

GOVERNMENT RAILWAY EXTENSION.

The earnestness of the battle cry of Premier Ross is shown by the fact that on Saturday last the Government bill was brought down, providing for the extension of the new railway from its present terminus at New Liskeard to the Abitibi River, or to some point on the Grand Trunk Pacific The commission supervising the construction of the line are given permission to issue debentures to the amount of $30,000 per mile, instead of $25,000, as at present. Another important provision enables the commission to expropriate lands which have been disposed of by the crown, along the railway for stations and town sites. The bill also stipulates that permission may be given to the Ontario Government to lend the commission $2,000,000 on their bonds. The length of the proposed extension is between 80 and 90 miles, according to the location of the terminus. It is claimed that there are no serious engineering difficulties along the route. For the greater part of the route the land is level, and until the height of land is reached there are very few rocky places. It is estimated by government engineers that the extension can be built somewhat cheaper than the first section of the line from North Bay to New Liskeard.

No time is being lost in pushing the original line to completion. Already 57 miles are laid with rails, and over that distance trains are regularly running from North Bay, and the probabilities are that by October 1st next train service between North Bay and New Liskeard will be in operation.

The extension provided in the above bill will carry the railway within 150 or 200 miles off North Bay, thus opening up a wide area of Ontario's virgin territory to settlement and development, and by connection with the Grand Trunk Pacific bringing older Ontario in more direct touch with the rapidly expanding North-west.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The action of the Toronto Ministerial Association, in deciding that no more information in regard to the proceedings of their meetings would be given to the newspapers, is remarkable in view of the intense character of the relations of ministers to the public. If the newspapers should decide to regard special sermons especially in the form of pulpit pyrotechnics, as private and confidential, the Ministerial Association would soon be brought to see themselves as others see them.

Progress is matter of fact and when necessity demands plants its foot squarely on progress. Niagara Falls and its environs, has been an unparalleled centre of scenic beauty and aesthetic worship for a century, but now the utilitarian element is asserting itself. The waters that have tumbled over the rocks for centuries are being turned into new ways that lead to use for man's material purposes, and are being harnessed for his purposes. These great works necessarily interfere with scenic beauty, but the Falls were made for man and man rules. Not only are the Falls and vicinity invaded but the beautiful shore line on the Canadian side is soon to be cumbered with the appliances and resound to the din of a great shipbuilding industry which is warranted by "the remarkable growth of the carrying trade of the great lakes in recent years."

FEAR REGARDING SPRING MILLINERY.

Freight Blockades may Delay its Arrival

Think the Local Merchants Railways Spent Thousands Fighting the Storms.

It is estimated that both the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific Railways, have spent thousands of dollars fighting the snow and ice blockades of the past two months in Ontario alone. So great indeed was the snowfall that both railways found their ordinary formidable equipment of snowploughs of but little avail and veteran railwaymen in this district state that never in all their experience have they had to fight against such overwhelming odds. Much as the passenger service has suffered, the freight service was even more crippled. But local merchants who have been patiently expecting freight have not to blame the Canadian roads alone for the non-delivery of their merchandise. Last week it was reported in the Globe that no less than 2,000 cars of freight were between Boston and the Suspension Bridge, and New York and the Suspension Bridge, and in view of the blockade at the frontier it is hardly likely that a great many of these cars will get through for some time.

There is no little anxiety expressed by the managers of the local dry-goods and millinery stores regarding the early receipt of their spring goods for the millinery openings, although they do not require this stock for a little time yet.

Regarding the present passenger service, it must be confessed that both roads have shown a tendency to more promptness this week, and there is now no kick on the part of the travelling public if a train is but an hour late. Most of the lines are open now, and as the backbone of the severe weather is at last broken, from now on a better passenger and freight service may be expected.

"I have been thirty-two years on an engine," said a G.T.R. engineer at Belleville the other day, "and I cannot remember a winter as severe as this. If the trains are late nobody is to blame but the weather man. "Why man," concluded the engineer, "you have no idea of what it means to keep steam up in the boiler these days. The cold is intense, and the snow cuts into every opening in the cab. The fireman works till he almost drops, and sometimes I grab the shovel and help him throw in the coal. All the while the snow is gathering on the rails, and the work grows harder. Steadily the needle on the steam guage falters backwards in spite of your gamest efforts, and the first thing you know you run into a snow drift. The snow sometimes covers the boilers, fills the ashpit and in other ways kills the steam pressure you have up, and the next thing you know you find the engine 'dead,'—not a pound of steam.

Then you get out and dig the snow away, or telegraph if you are near a station for help, all the while trying to coax into life the fire under the boiler."—Intelligencer.

THE SITUATION ON THE C.P.R.

Some ideas of the expense to which both railroads have been put to maintain traffic over their lines was given Saturday morning by a statement made by Mr. Timmerman, superintendent of the Ontario division of the Canadian Pacific.

"To clear lines," he said, "we have one rotary plough, a cutter, six point ploughs, and six wing ploughs. With some of the ploughs we have fifty shovelers, which we board, besides paying $1.50 to $1.75 per day, and in some instances $2 per day. Were we to rent you a plow without the gang of shovelers we would lose money on the deal if we charged you less than $100 per day.

"Besides this, our trains are sometimes stalled. That means a dead loss for every hour they stand idle. We could not rent you a passenger train for less than $100 a day, computing a day's work at 100 miles. These figures will give you an idea of how much it costs to leave a train standing for a day, and to dig it out. Then too, we have paid the board bills of whole train loads of passengers while the trains stood idle. Besides this, you must consider the fares we have lost by trains not running and through people refraining from travel."

The Foresters of Belleville have, for some time, been desirous of forming but one fraternal body of their Order in the city. The Committees of Courts Edward and Moira having agreed upon a basis of union, the two courts were amalgamated in due form at the regular session of Court Moira on Friday evening, the 29th ult. The name and number of the older court will be retained, the union of the two bodies being known as Court Moira, No. 33, I.O.F. The Court officers for the year 1904 are:—

C.R.—Bro. Rev. A. L. Geen
V.C.R.—Bro. Dr. Marshall
Rec. Sec.—Bro. T. C. Forrester.
Fin. Sec. and Treas.—Bro. J. W. London.
Orator—Bro. J. Frith Jeffers.
Sr. W.—Bro. T. Bland.
Jr. W.—Bro. A. Carlisle.
Sr. B.—Bro. R. Mathison.
Jr. B.—Bro. J. Goodsell.
Physicians—Bros. Dr. Farley, Dr. MacColl, Dr. Mather.
C.C. Deputy—Bro. Col. Lazier.
Trustees—Bros. A. McGinnis, R. Mathison.
Finance Committee—Bros. W. J. Campbell, E. F. Milburn.

Pursuant to a resolution passed at this meeting, Court Moira will meet every Friday evening during the month of February, at the rooms, Alberta Hall, for the two purposes, first, of affording every member of the united Court an opportunity of becoming thoroughly acquainted with the benefits and privileges of the Order, and secondly, to promote the work of the Executive of the Joint Attention Committee.

Every member is urged to be present at these February meetings. Brethren of other Courts will be welcomed.

A vote of $10 was passed by the Court in favour of the Belleville Hospital.

Beginning Of the End

That expresses the situation. We stand pat on it. We're forced against the cold fact that in a very short time we must clear out and give way to the new people.

But we've got heaps of stock left. We can't take it with us. We can't leave it. Result—we must sell it. Our extremity means your opportunity. We've agreed to let our successors in by a certain date, and faith they'll make us keep to our promises.

There's piles of Clothing, Hats and Caps, Furnishings and Boots and Shoes to be cleared. If you will look you will see that prices are shaved to the core. It's a money inducement we offer you—big goods for little money. Every slice we cut off prices means your saving.

Let us put it as strong as we can. It's the bare fact that we must unload. Needs must when we're driven to it.

Attend the big sale now going on. You're welcome as the flowers in May.

SOME HAPPENINGS IN THE NORTHERN TOWN

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest at Lakefield.

On the evening of Thursday last a number of young folks of the village assembled themselves at "The Evergreens," the home of Miss Gertrude Wallace, where a most enjoyable social evening was spent.

The young bachelors' dance, which which was held in the town hall on Friday evening last was a most successful social event. The number from other towns was not as large as it would have been had it been fine weather, but the large attendance of Lakefield folks made up for that. Everyone expressed themselves as highly delighted with the evening's entertainment.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wes. Sherin was the scene of a very pleasant social evening on Tuesday evening, when about forty guests spent the evening in playing progressive crokenole.

The many friends of Miss Sylva Strickland will be sorry to learn that she is confined to her room with illness.

The open air curling rink is out of business for a time, but if the weather is favourable the ice will be in shape in about a week.

The prizes for the different events at the carnival to be held on Tuesday evening next are on exhibition in Mr. J. Jinkinson's jewellery store.

A most beautiful piece of pyrography is on exhibition in the window of Tanner's drug store. It is the work of Mr. John Ridpath, of Toronto, who is so well and favourably known in the village.

Telephone repair men have been busy in this vicinity for the past three days undoing the havoc wrought by the storm on Sunday evening.

Miss Gertrude Blewett, of North Smith, who has been a guest of Miss Wallace, at "The Evergreens," for the past week has returned to her home.

Mrs. R. P. Davidson left Thursday for a visit with friends in Toronto.

PILLS AND PILES.

A prolific cause of piles is the use of cathartics and pills of a drastic, violent nature.

Followed by a reaction on account of the resinous, drying properties they contain.

There are other causes, but no matter what the cause or what the kind of piles, Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid can be relied upon to cure—to stay cured.

It's an internal remedy that removes the causes of itching, blind, bleeding or suppurating Piles.

A guarantee goes with each package containing a month's treatment.

It can be obtained for one dollar at James Lynch's, druggist, No. 166 Hunter street, Peterborough.

Substitution.

When a doctor calls for certain ingredients in a prescription and the druggist substitutes some other drugs than those called for, then that pharmacist should be liable to incarceration in prison. He is juggling with the lives of the sick and afflicted. He is almost as culpable who substitutes some mixture of his own make—of the "just as good" kind—for some reputable, well known medicine that has stood the test of many years.

Fresh Roses.

Roses, carnations and all other cut bloom, fresh, at lowest prices in town, at the Aylmer street Greenhouses. Reduced prices still continue on all regular stock plants. Jos. Cobb.

Those Troublesome Chilblains

MADILL'S

Scores of citizens of Peterborough and elsewhere have testified to the speedy relief which this cheap and simple cure affords. BY HEAVEN'S GRACE

Emperor of Japan Formally Declares War Against Russia.

TEXT OF IMPERIAL RESCRIPT

Czar's Government Rejected Overtures Regarding Corea and Manchuria—Aims of the Empire With Reference to Enduring Peace in Far East Stated—Proclamations of Neutrality—Canada's Declaration.

Tokio, Feb. 12.—The existence of a state of war with Russia was formally announced by an Imperial proclamation. The following is the text of the Imperial rescript declaring war against Russia, which was issued in Japan Wednesday:

"We, by the grace of Heaven, Emperor of Japan, seated on the throne occupied by the same dynasty since time Immemorial, hereby making proclamation to all our loyal and brave subjects, as first:

"We hereby declare war against Russia, and we command our army and navy to carry on hostilities against her, in obedience to their duty, with all their strength, and we also command all our competent authorities to make every effort, in pursuance of their duties, to attain the national aim with all the means within the limits of the law of nations.

For An Enduring Peace.

"We have always deemed it essential in international relations, and have made it our constant aim, to promote the pacific progress of our Empire in civilization, to strengthen our friendly ties with other states and to establish a state of things which would maintain enduring peace in the Far East, and assure the future security of our dominion without injury to the rights or interests of other powers. Our competent authorities have also performed their duties in obedience to our will, so that our relations with all the powers had been steadily growing in cordiality. It was thus entirely against our expectation that we have unhappily come to open hostilities against Russia. The integrity of Corea is a matter of the gravest concern to this Empire, not only because of our traditional relations with that country, but, because the separate existence of Corea is essential to the safety of our realm.

Russia Disregarded Treaty.

"Nevertheless, Russia, in disregard to her solemn treaty pledges to China and her repeated assurances to other powers, is still in occupation of Manchuria, has consolidated and strengthened her hold in those provinces, and is bent upon their final annexation. And, since the absorption of Manchuria by Russia would render it impossible to maintain the integrity of China, and would, in addition, compel the abandonment of all hope of peace in the Far East, we were determined in those circumstances to settle the question by negotiations and to secure thereby permanent peace. With that object in view our competent authorities, by our orders, made proposals to Russia and frequent conferences were held during the last six months.

Russia's Delays Wanton.

"Russia, however, never met such proposals in a spirit of conciliation, but by wanton delays, put off a settlement of the serious questions, and by ostensibly advocating peace on one hand, while on the other extending her naval and military preparations sought to accomplish her own selfish designs.

"We cannot in the least admit Russia had from the first any serious and genuine desire for peace. She rejected the proposals of our Government. The guarantees for the future which we failed to secure by peaceful negotiations can now only be obtained by an appeal to arms.

"It is our earnest wish that by the loyalty and valor of our faithful subjects, peace soon may be permanently restored and the glory of our Empire preserved."

NEUTRALITY PROCLAIMED.

Great Britain Covers All the British Dominions With It.

London, Feb. 12.—King Edward, at a council held at Buckingham Palace yesterday afternoon, signed a proclamation declaring Great Britain's neutrality during the war between Russia and Japan.

The British proclamation of neutrality is a lengthy document on the usual lines, and covers all the British dominions.

CANADA'S PROCLAMATION.

Governor-General's Message to the People of the Dominion.

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—His Excellency the Governor-General has received a telegram from the Right Hon. the Secretary of State for the Colonies, drawing attention to His Majesty's proclamation of neutrality on the occasion of the war between Japan and Russia. The text of the proclamation has not yet come to hand. In the meantime His Excellency the Governor-General hereby charges and commands all subjects of His Majesty within the Dominion of Canada to observe strict neutrality in and during the aforesaid war, and to abstain from violating or contravening either the laws or the statutes of the realm in that behalf, or the law of nations in relation thereto. Attention is also directed to the requirements of the foreign enlistment act and the rules based thereon. All British subjects are warned against any transgression of the same.

The following rules are hereby declared to be in force forthwith:

Rule A.—No ships of war of either belligerent may use British waters as places of resort for warlike purposes or equipment, or may leave British waters until twenty-four hours after a ship of either belligerent, whether a ship of war or a merchant ship,

Rule B.—Every such ship of war shall be required to put to sea within twenty-four hours after entrance, unless in the event of stress of weather or necessity for repairs or provisions, in which case it must leave as soon as possible, and certainly within twenty-four hours of completion of repairs. Rule B. is subject to Rule A, and the time may be extended accordingly. No supplies to be allowed beyond provisions and subsistence for crew necessary for immediate use, nor coal beyond what can take the ship to the nearest port of its own country. No ship can coal in any British port twice within three months. No prizes can be brought into British waters.

The United States Neutral.

Washington, Feb. 12.—President Roosevelt yesterday issued a proclamation declaring the neutrality of the United States in the Russo-Japanese war.

Italy's Neutrality.

Rome, Feb. 12.—The Official Gazette to-day publishes the Italian statement of neutrality regarding the Russo-Japanese war.

BUDGET DEBATE PROGRESS.

Mr. [illegible] Makes Satisfactory Explanation of Trust Funds Interests.

Toronto, Feb. 12.—The debate on the budget in the Legislature yesterday covered a wide range, embracing a number of subjects that were very thoroughly thrashed out in the three weeks' discussion on the address. Corruption rather than finance was the main topic of the Opposition speakers, Messrs. Kidd and Barr. Mr. E. J. B. Pense gave a very satisfactory explanation of the discrepancy in the printed statement, giving the receipts and expenditures, showing that owing to a change in the bookkeeping of the Dominion Government the interest on the trust funds for the latter half of last year had not been paid until January of this year, and therefore would not appear in the Provincial accounts until 1904. Mr. Hislop made an interesting comparison of the expenditures of Ontario, indicating that they had not increased to such an extent as the expenses of other Provinces. He also compared the dairying and beef cattle industries in reply to recent criticisms. The adjournment was moved at 10 o'clock by Mr. Hendrie of Hamilton, who will resume the debate on Tuesday next.

ROBBED EN ROUTE.

Mail Bag From Ottawa Opened Near Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Feb. 12.—Another big mail robbery has just occurred, and the authorities are at their wit's ends to locate the culprits. On the mail car that reached this city on Sunday evening was a bag sent from Ottawa, containing hundreds of checks and valuables. The checks were for the civil servants, principally in the Territories. Evidences were discovered that prove that the bag was tampered with east of Winnipeg. The authorities decline to give any information as to the extent of the loss or who is suspected.

O'Neil Sent For Trial.

Toronto, Feb. 12.—Michael J. O'Neil was committed for trial yesterday on the charge of accepting a bribe to "fix" the coroner's jury. T. C. Robinette appeared for him and urged that as the affair grew out of a remark by O'Neil to Walker, which arrayed the force and wiles of the Attorney-General's Department against his client, to get a case, Detective Rogers deserved indictment, too. The sleuth said his instructions were that O'Neil was looking for a bribe and for him to catch him.

The scratch of a pin may cause the loss of a limb or even death when blood poisoning results from the injury. All danger of this may be avoided, however, by promptly applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It [illegible] for sale by all druggists.

KNOW HOW TO GET WELL.

Send no Money. Simply ask for my Book

Learn of my discovery—how to treat, not the organs themselves, but the nerves—the inside nerves—that operate them. Learn of my offer—a month's treatment at my risk.

Not free treatment, mind you, with nothing ever to pay. Such an offer would belittle the physician who made it.

But I believe in a sick ones honesty—his gratitude. That if he is helped he will pay the cost of my treatment—and gladly. When I fail I ask not a penny. But failure is seldom. Over 680,000 sick ones have accepted this offer.

"Send me your name. I will arrange with a druggist near you to let you have six bottles.

DR. SHOOP'S RESTORATIVE

Take it a month at my risk. If it succeeds health costs but $3.50. If it fails the druggist will bill the cost to me.

39 out of 40 in the past have paid for the medicine. Would they pay if it had failed? Forget for a moment that this is a printed announcement. Consider me as a physician in your own town and that I am saying to you—"Be glad—be well; be rid of the dark days; I can help and so sure am I that I ask no fee—nothing—until you are benefitted." Would you—would anyone—refuse?

True, I cannot well come to you. But you can come to me—by letter. Can tell me all about your case. I waste no time in driving nor with office hours. Every moment is effective. I treat, probably, a thousand cases where most physicians treat a hundred. And from this abundance of experience I have learned. For experience—more than all else—teaches a physician how to cure.

Will you write me to-day? It's natural to delay. To put off from day to day. To wait perhaps when you should act. But why? Isn't my offer broad enough? Can you—can anyone—desire a fairer offer? You risk absolutely nothing. I risk all. Yet I am ready and willing to help you. Why wait? Why wrong yourself by doubting—by delay—by prejudice, perhaps?

Take up a pen—a pencil even—and write me a postal to-day. Know now how to get well.

OBITUARY.

The Lamented Death of Mrs. Stephen Murphy, of Indian Road.

On Thursday, February 4th, occurred the death of Mrs. Murphy, wife of Stephen Murphy, blacksmith, of Indian River, in the 28th year of her age. The deceased was a resident of Indian River for about five years. She was sick for about a year, so that her death was not unexpected.

The funeral took place to the Douro cemetery on the following Saturday afternoon at half past two o'clock, and the large cortege of friends that followed the remains to the grave showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. The deceased was the only daughter of Mr. John O'Brien of Douro.

The pall bearers were Messrs. W. Frank, Sam, Fred, Michael and Alex. O'Brien, all relatives of the deceased. The sorrowing husband and friends have the sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

During the progress of the evening musical selections were given by Miss Effie Best and Miss Winnie Anderson, which were much enjoyed. The reports presented were as below.

RECORDING SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The following is the report of the Recording Secretary:—

During the year 1903 the Board of Management have held eleven regular, and five special meetings, with an average attendance of nine. Reports from the various departments have been presented at each meeting and a very regularly manifesting interest and activity. We have to report during the year a change of Secretary, Miss Dickson, who at the beginning of the year had charge of our work, being compelled to resign on account of ill health, which was to be regretted by the Board at the time. We have since learned and are pleased to know her health has improved sufficiently to accept the appointment by the Presbyterian Church of Canada as missionary for South China. We wish her God's richest blessing.

At the time of Miss Dickson's resignation we were most fortunate and, believe, led, in securing Miss Lough our present secretary, who has proved herself efficient, since her coming amongst us we can bear testimony to the thoroughness and faithfulness of her work. We believe God's blessing is following her efforts. We can say during the year there has been a steady advancement. We have reasons to believe the work is deepening in the hearts of the people. We must acknowledge the hand of the Lord leading and guiding not only spiritually but financially, one who has already been interested and whose interest is still evidenced by further desire to aid us in helping to obtain more commodious apartments for our work, thus giving us greater opportunities for wining and building up young women in Christ Jesus. I now speak of Hon. Senator Cox. In the event of our raising sufficient funds for a new building, Mr. Cox is willing to give us one quarter of the amount raised. Mrs. Cox has also made a most generous offer to furnish our new gymnasium. We as a board, desire to thank Mr. and Mrs. Cox for the interest shown in our work.

In rendering our report this year we regret exceedingly the death of Mrs. Bock, one of our oldest and most beloved members.

The thanks of this Board are also due Miss Fisher, who has very kindly given her services gratuitously as assistant-secretary, to those who have contributed to our reading tables, to the press, to those who have helped in any way.

In conclusion we would say that with sincere gratitude we look over the way we have come, and we left hearts in prayer and courage to press forward.

Respectfully submitted,
LIBBIE B KENNEDY.

The report of the Religious Department was as follows:

RELIGIOUS DEPARTMENT

This department is the centre around which all the rest of the work turns as the aim of the work is "to bring young women to Christ." No report can give a true estimate of the work done. In connection with this department there is a devotional committee which meets once a month to arrange for the Gospel meetings and consult with the secretary as to the best way to arouse an interest in the highest things among women. Two Bible classes are held on Tuesday evening, the elementary conducted by Mrs. Williamson, the senior by the secretary, Miss Lough. There has been an attendance of 259, an average of 10. A deep interest in Bible study has been manifested in these classes. A Gospel meeting is held on Sunday afternoons at 4.15 o'clock. The attendance has been steadily increasing, 784 having been present, an average of 27. These meetings have been interesting and helpful. In the Junior Department, the club meets once a week. At every alternate meeting there is a Bible study conducted by Miss Lough. One member of the Association has taken up work in Blackfoot Hospital. So we are sending out workers to other places as well as doing work in our own town. These things are the cause of [illegible]

PONTYPOOL ODDFELLOWS VISIT PETEBOROUGH

And Enjoy a Pleasant Evening With Local Brethren.

Last night was an unusually pleasant one in Oddfellow circles in Peterborough. About thirty members of the I.O.O.F. Lodge at Pontypool came to town and paid a visit to their brethren in Peterborough Lodge. They also brought with them seven candidates on whom were conferred the three degrees. The visiting lodge is one of the most progressive and enterprising in this jurisdiction and the members quite frequently come to Peterborough with candidates for the degrees. The event last night was a particularly enjoyable one and the members of both lodges spent a very pleasant evening together.

The degrees were conferred by the degree team of Peterborough Lodge who performed their duties with dignity and impressiveness.

A number of addresses were given by the visiting brethren as well as those of the entertaining lodge, and at the close dainty refreshments were served in the dining hall.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN AMERICAN CEREAL WORKS.

Blaze There This Morning Does $100,000 Damage.

ORIGINATED ON SIXTH FLOOR

After Four Hours Hard Fighting it was Controlled---Works to be Closed for Some Months---Valuable Machinery was Destroyed.

One of the most disasterous fires that has visited Peterborough in a number of years was that which occurred this morning shortly after 7 o'clock, in the seventh story of the American Cereal Company's immense mill, and which, before it was controlled did damage to the extent of $100,000, approximately. Although the exact loss is not known yet, because while the fire was confined to the upper stories, the machinery on every story of the main mill was injured or destroyed, and as the majority of the machines were of special design, many of them exceedingly delicate, the full extent of the loss cannot be ascertained.

The loss, however, is fully covered by insurance, and the loss to the Company will be caused principally by the delay in filling orders which the shut-down necessitated by the fire will cause. The Company has been rushed with orders, and the suspension of operations for a period of six months will mean a very serious loss to it. The employees of the Company, numbering nearly 500 will be thrown out of work, but it is expected that a number of these will be employed in the work of restoring the plant.

The treatment by the Company of the men who were engaged in fighting the fire, both their own employees and the members of the fire brigade was most thoughtful. Hundreds of dollars were spent by the Company this morning during the progress of the fire in providing rubber clothing and other comforts for the men working to save the building.

The magnificent mill of the American Cereal Company, where about five hundred persons were employed, was the scene of a disastrous fire this morning, the origin of which is uncertain, but which means the company sustains a loss of about $100,000. The two top storeys were badly gutted, and it is believed that it will be some months before the mill can re-commence work.

To be precise, the fire started at exactly ten minutes past seven o'clock, just as the night operators were being relieved by the day employees. The fire began in the top flat, and many suppositions are put forth relating to its origin, many of which however are not feasible. Perhaps the most probable is the idea that an explosion occurred in the dust accumulators, from which it rapidly spread.

Another accepted theory, which, however, is more improbable, is that one of the cylinders of a machine termed the aspirator, turning at 2000 revolutions a minute, got out of gear and rubbing against a twin cylinder created such a heat that the hulls of the oats, which this machine removes from the oats proper, became ignited and thus caused the fire. What is almost incredible is the great speed at which the fire immediately spread. The day operators had barely changed into their overalls when they were made aware of the fire by the stifling smoke, which after the ignition immediately pervaded the entire floor. Mr. Waggmiller, foreman of that department, sizing up the situation at the first glance, immediately ran to the sprinklers and turned them on. This had taken some minutes, and he was almost choked by the dense smoke. Rushing to the end of the room he broke a window pane in order that he might fill his lungs with fresh air. The cool atmosphere at once revived him, and recovering his presence of mind, the foreman rushed to the stairway. The room was now filled with smoke and in his escape he stumbled over the heavy stands of ponderous machines before he succeeded in getting to the stairway. He then ran to the pump house and told the engineer to turn on the water. This was at once done, and almost immediately after being told the engineer had the sprinklers working well.

CHOIR LEADER'S ESCAPE.

Mr. G. W. Mulligan, leader of the George street choir, who was in the building when the fire began, had a very narrow escape with his life. On becoming aware of the fact that the mill was on fire Mr. Mulligan rushed for his tool box, at the same time snatching his out of doors clothes from the changing room, together with the few who were also working on that floor. Mr. Mulligan, ran to the stairway. The fireproof door had been closed and it was with considerable difficulty that it was opened. Others got away by the fire escape and one man cut his hand badly in an attempt to get fresh air by breaking a window.

The news of the fire spread with lightning rapidity throughout the building and it was not many minutes after the cry of fire had been given before the five hundred employees were in the open air. The alarm was immediately sent in and before long the brigade and the two hose waggons were on the scene.

DENSE SMOKE VISIBLE

By 7.30 o'clock the first visible signs of the fire had appeared. The smoke began to slowly creep out of the windows and gradually curl upwards, collecting above and hanging over the doomed building in the shape of a dark and threatening storm cloud. As the time wore on, and the fire raged more and more fiercely within the building, the smoke became more voluminous and black and as it struggled through the already charred and broken windows showed that the fire was ever getting a firmer grip on the structure.

Chief Rutherford sent one of the teams for the fire engine, which arrived on the spot in about ten minutes with Mr. Jim English in charge. The engine was connected with the hydrant and a line of hose taken to the top of the six story elevator, close by the main building, from which spot it was thought the flames could be admirably reached. After some time a stream of water from the engine was obtained, and with the admirable sprinkling system with which the mill was equipped, the building was eventually saved from total destruction.

The fire departments at Lindsay, Port Hope and Lakefield were telephoned, without success, however, there which would have been of any use under the circumstances, this side of Toronto. While efforts were being made to get an engine, a locomotive was chartered at the Grand Trunk station and stood in the yards under full steam ready to run off on the instant for any available fire engine.

Meanwhile the fire had continued to get a better grip. From the ground below only dense smoke could be seen but from the roof of the elevator writhing tongues of flame licking the walls inside the top room were becoming ever more apparent. Towards the middle of the forenoon a portion of the roof gave way with a crash, and an angry tongue of flame followed by a thick cloud of smoke, darted upwards, and before long the entire top floor was a sheet of flame. From time to time the roof dropped in with a thunderous noise, the splinters adding fuel to the flames. About half past ten o'clock the top floor began to give way in places, the ponderous machines falling to the flat beneath. Once the floor gave way the flames began an invasion of the second storey from the top. But the sprinklers had work well, and below that flat all was soaked in water, preventing the fire from spreading. About ten o'clock a valve blew off the force pump and the fire engine with a good land of steam on got to work, and the firemen succeeded in confining the fire within the limits of the two top storeys and by persistent energy the whole conflagration was got under control and its ravages fairly well checked by one o'clock and although still smouldering at the time of going to press, all danger had been overcome.

In a rough estimate it can be said that the fire has caused a loss of $100,000 to the Company, which, however is fully covered by insurance in American companies.

SUPERINTENDENT SILENT.

During the fire the Examiner asked Mr. A. P. Macdonald, the Superintendent of the mill, for a statement, but he declined to speak, not wishing to give any information until the could see the true state of damage.

During the early stages of the fire the Company expended about $400 in buying top boots and waterproofs for their employees to help fight the fire in.

This is the second disastrous fire of this year and far exceeds the one in the Hawthorne Block which occurred about one month ago. Although from the exterior the Cereal Mill seems but little charred; the inside is vastly different presenting a shocking scene, a burned and splintered debris. By the fire five hundred employees will be temporarily thrown out of employment and it is also rumoured in unofficial circles that it will be fully six months before the mill can recommence work

OF GREAT VALUE TO PETERBOROUGH.

Works of the American Cereal Company in Their Relation to the Town's Progress.

The importance of the works of the American Cereal Company, in relation to the progress of the town, cannot easily be over-estimated. We have for long been trying to make Peterborough both a manufacturing and a market centre, and we have, to a large degree, accomplished both. The establishment of such industries as the Cereal Works, has given the town a prestige as a manufacturing centre which will doubtless be operative, by the law of industrial attraction, in bringing other industries here, especially in conjunction with the inducements represented by our traffic facilities, our facilities for developing power, and the generous attitude of the town towards new industrial enterprises.

Then the operation of the Cereal Works has had a large influence in adding to the importance of Peterborough as a market centre for the district for the coarser grains of the farmers. A run through the Cereal Works, would give one an idea doubtless far within the reality, of their capabilities, which even the massive and imposing exterior fails to give, and when it is added that the works have converted into breakfast foods 20,000 bushels of grain per day, which the farmers of this district have an opportunity of supplying, we see how the presence of the Cereal Works tends to improve Peterborough as a market centre.

Reverting to the buildings, it may be of interest to those who, unlike many in town, watched the progress of construction, and marvelled at the extreme solidity which characterizes the structural work proper of the buildings, to suggest some idea of it. The cyclopean foundation walls of Longford stone, laid in cement, rest on concrete footings, seven or eight feet in width and in some places over thirty feet below the surface, are surmounted with walls of solid brick, two feet in thickness for the first story, with a graduated reduction of thickness up to the seventh floor level. The same massive structural nature pervades the whole interior. Steel beams, supported by ranks of sturdy columns of Georgia pine stand, suggestive of a detruncated grove of Douglas firs, sustaining the concrete floors, so solid that they were as unshaken by the operation of the machinery as the Rock of Gibraltar would be by the whirr of a sewing machine.

The buildings were built with the intention that they would be practically fireproof, and have always been regarded as such, and doubtless under ordinary circumstances would have proven so, but the fireproofing precautions taken in their construction doubtless made the progress of the fire much less rapid.

The loss to Peterborough by the suspension of operations, even for a short time, of such an industry as that of the Cereal Works, will be very great, inasmuch as about 500 employees, many of them the heads of families, will be thrown out of work, although doubtless many of them will be engaged in the work of rehabilitation, which there is no doubt the company will at once institute.

The growing success of the business of the American Cereal Company, since its establishment here nearly two years ago, has been the source of the greatest gratification to the people of Peterborough, who have been proud to think that this town has been chosen by the capitalists represented by Mr. Stuart, as the scene at which their Canadian works were established, and the success of "Quaker Oats" has meant in a great measure the success of Peterborough. No small degree of the gratification felt by the citizens of this place, too, has been caused by the attitude of the company itself towards the town, and more particularly towards their employees, and it was felt that few, if any, employers of labour had dealt with them as well as the American Cereal Company.

It will thus be seen that the people of Peterborough have a particular feeling of regret in the loss which the company has sustained by today's fire, and the hundreds who gathered at the scene of the conflagration this morning were not there merely out of curiosity, but there was a genuine feeling of sorrow prevading the throngs who were forced to witness the company's property being destroyed without being able to assist in any way in its protection.

INTERESTING PAPER ON POPE LEO XIII.

Read by Miss Coleman at Ladies' Literary Association Meeting of T. A. S. Last Night.

A literary evening of a very interesting nature, was held last evening by the Ladies' Literary Association of St. Peter's T.A.S. The chief feature of the evening was the reading of an excellent and specially interesting paper on "Pope Leo XIII," by Miss Coleman. The young lady dealt with her subject in a decidedly able manner, portraying accurately and systematically, the life of one of the grandest men the world has ever seen. The life of the Pontiff was taken up from early youth, his studies at the different schools, and colleges, and finally his elevation to the chair of St. Peter. The many noble and beautiful traits in the late Pontiff's character, his impressive personality and dignity, were points beautifully brought out in the essay of the evening. The influence wielded by him in the restoration of peace between the various countries, his friendly relations with the different reigning power, and his universal popularity, were all features of interest in the paper. The essay of last evening was a beautiful description of a beautiful life and Miss Coleman was well congratulated by all who had the pleasure of hearing her excellent paper.

Miss Kate McGrath presided at the meeting and the musical portion of the programme was supplied by Misses M. Doherty and M Clancy.

On Thursday, Feb. 25th, the Association will meet, when a paper will be read by Miss Susie Kelly.

All the members of the Ladies Committee are requested to meet on Wednesday evening next to discuss important business.

KEENE IS CONFIDENT OF VICTORY MONDAY.

Will put up a Game Fight Against the T. A. S.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Keene, Feb. 12th.—The greatest interest in the approaching game between the T.A.S. and Keene teams on Monday next at Peterborough is being manifested here, and the indications are that there will be a large contingent to accompany the team on the date of the game. The local supporters of the team feel confident that their favourites will win out, although they recognize that the T.A.S. team will give them a good fight. The boys are practising every night, and if they lose it will be because the T.A.S. is a better team.

The fact that the game on Monday was not played has had the effect of intensifying the interest, and the indications are that there will be a larger crowd accompany the team to Peterborough than there was to Norwood.

A TIE GAME IN THE STOVE LEAGUE.

Best's "Happy Thoughts" Play Higgins "Favorites"

The championship of the "Stove" League is still undecided. Last night Best's "Happy Thoughts" and Higgins' "Favourites," battled hard and long for supremacy, but at the end of the contest the best they could do was a tie, two all, although it looked for a time as if the "Favourites" were going to win out. The "Happy Thoughts" however, pulled themselves from defeat by some strenuous work.

The game was far from being a poor exhibition of the game and at times was quite fast and furious. In one respect it was quite different from games recently played between green teams, notably that of the Review-Examiner teams, in which the former team gave such a questionable exhibition of clean hockey.

During the whole progress of last night's game only one man was ruled off, and his offence was not a very serious one.

The first goal went to the "Happy Thoughts" scored by Miller, after some pretty combination play. This put new life into the "Favourites" who took a brace and put in two in succession, Stewart and Thornton locating the nets, for the "Favourites," after some lightning rushes for the forwards. This lead of one goal against the "Happy Thoughts" seemed to inspire them with new life, and just before full time Ernie Best scored on one of the fastest pieces of individual play seen in the game. This tied the score, and neither team scored later, the score at the close being 2—2.

Ernie Best's team was strong in defence, while the "Favourites" strong point was in their forward line on which are some good skaters and stick handlers. Their defence, however, was hardly up to the standard of efficiency of the Best team. Both teams put up a good game, however, and both deserved to win—according to the opinions of the fair supporters of the respective teams who lined the sides of the ice to cheer on their players.

The teams were:—

NOTES.

A picked team from the Stove League wants to play a picked team from the Press League, according to one of the players. It would be a "hot" day for the stove men if the press-men get after them.

Manager Higgins of the "Favourites" wore an anxious countenance when the score was 1—0 against them, but "presently the Chief's eye flashed, his plans soared up again like fire," when his men rushed in the two goals in succession.

TROUBLES OF A TRAVELLER

To the Editor of the Examiner:

The unusually heavy snow falls this season have been a serious inconvenience to the travelling public as everyone knows, and many can testify from personal experience. Last week it was the writer's painful privilege to be a passenger on a very much belated train in western Ontario. The dinner hour which should have found us at home in Toronto, discovered us creeping along somewhere west of Berlin, trying to appease our clamouring stomachs with the promise of a good thing to come. On coming to Berlin we were glad indeed to have at last a grand revictualling port. Looking out of the train our spirits sank to zero, for the prospect did not seem very promising for a meal close at hand. We were settling ourselves as contentedly as possible, when the conductor came along, and with kindly intent told us we would have "ten minutes here; long enough," he said, "to go over the way to that hotel and get a lunch; you will not have time for dinner, but they will at least provide you with sandwiches and a cup of tea." The hotel was quite near enough for us to see the sign, but the brakeman volunteered to escort us, and away we all went, smiling in pleasant anticipation. He guided us into the bar-room, where the landlord was dealing out his "good cheer," but my companion and self, being staunch temperance men, did not care to indulge, and searched around for a more substantial fare.

We found the door marked "dining room," but could gain no admission and were leaving the hotel in despair, when the friendly brakeman again appeared, and said, "Why are you going?" "Oh, yes, this is the place, they are bound to provide some lunch. Come with me and I will see the landlord."

We followed him into the bar-room again, where we found several of our fellow-travellers still waiting. Our guide approached the master of the house with, "Landlord, these gentlemen have had no dinner. Can you give them some?" "No, it is after dinner hours." "But they are very hungry. Will you not give them some sandwiches or a cold lunch of some kind?" "No, we never do that sort of business," said the obliging public-house keeper as he very hastily handed out his liquid wares, so necessary for the health and comfort of his fellow-men.

Well, said our champion in desperation "surely it is your business to provide food for the travelling public. Sell us a loaf of bread or two at least, and we will take it over to the train and eat it." "No, I won't sell you a d—— bit," was the ungracious reply. The indignant brakeman turned and said, "Men, if he will not sell bread, do not buy his whiskey," a sentiment which we felt to be just. This is the kind of man whose "business must be licensed in order to provide the travelling public with proper accommodation." It seems to me, his interest in the people he is supposed to serve is not a very desirable one.

FAKE RUSSIAN VICTORIES.

Stories From St. Petersburg Have Not Yet Been Confirmed.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 11.—Some of the newspapers here print extras, claiming a Russian victory at Port Arthur. Three Japanese warships and four torpedo boats are reported to have been seriously crippled. One report says the Japanese battleship Skikishima was sunk. The people are demonstrating, but there is no official confirmation of the report and the announcement is discredited.

Vladivostock, Feb. 11.—Private telegrams received here report the complete rout of the Japanese by the Russians on the Yalu River. These advices also claim that Chemulpo, Corea, has been occupied by Russian soldiers and marines.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 11.—A despatch to The Central News from Port Arthur says the Japanese fleet returned there Tuesday afternoon and again bombarded the Russian fleet and forts, but that it soon withdrew. The losses to the Russians, the despatch says, were small. During the firing a Japanese cruiser grounded.

Russians Massacre Chinese.

London, Feb. 11.—Special despatches from Tokio announce the arrival of the Japanese. The Tien-Tsin correspondent of The Standard sends in a report that the Russians have massacred 100 Chinese at Liao Yang, in consequence of which the officials at Shan Hai Kwan are greatly alarmed and are appealing to Pekin for protection.

Other despatches from Tien-Tsin say that 400 French troops have been ordered from there to Seoul, for the protection of the French legation at the Corean capital, the Emperor having taken refuge there.

Russian Injured By Russian.

The Che Foo correspondent of The Daily Express asserts that the Russian cruiser Diana was injured by a shot from the Russian shore battery at Port Arthur, and that the cruiser Novik and the battleship Poltava have also been beached at Port Arthur.

Special despatches from Port Arthur report that fugitives from Vladivostock accuse the Russians of openly looting Japanese houses there without interference by the police.

The Mikado is personally superintending affairs, and the cabinet holds daily sessions. The Government has issued orders for the protection of all Russian subjects residing in Japan.

Alexieff Gets Busy.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 11.—Viceroy Alexieff began yesterday the mobilization of the army reserves in Eastern Asia.

The publication of extra editions of the newspapers containing accounts of the reported injuries to Japanese ships during the Port Arthur engagements, and the sinking of the Japanese battleship Shikshima, led to a demand upon the editors for the source of their information. They replied: "It came from the British Embassy."

These reports were received everywhere with manifestations of joy, but nothing confirming them has come from Alexieff.

Canadian Built Japan's Navy.

London, Feb. 11.—Cassier's Magazine says the foundations of the Japanese fleet were laid by the Canadian Vice-Admiral Sir Archibald Lucius Douglas, K.C.B., during his mission to Japan. The admiral was born in Quebec on Feb. 8, 1842, and was the son of the late Dr. George Mellis Douglas, inspection physician of that port. He entered the Royal Navy as a cadet on the nomination of Governor-General Sir E. W. Head in April, 1856.

Died From Burns.

Toronto, Feb. 12.—John Quirk, a G.T.R. conductor, died yesterday from burns received early Tuesday morning. He has been in ill health for two months. At about 3 o'clock Tuesday morning he arose and in some manner his night clothes were ignited from a gas jet. He tried to beat out the flames, but before he was rescued his face, neck and body were badly burned, and death ensued. Deceased was 27 years of age, and a native of Toronto.

Salvage Reducing Total Loss.

Baltimore, Feb. 12.—A composite estimate of the total loss from the fire by 25 experts, representatives of leading insurance companies outside of Baltimore, places the figure at $85,000,000, and some think the total loss will be reduced to $70,000,000, as much salvage is being dug out of the ruins, which was thought to have been destroyed. The loss to the insurance companies is estimated at 75 per cent. of the total.

To Keep Queen's in the Church.

Kingston, Feb. 12.—The commission of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada regarding the retention of Queen's University by the church, concluded its labors yesterday afternoon, by adopting a report recommending that the General Assembly provide an adequate endowment for Queen's University, so as to retain the college for the church.

Central Prison For Grossley.

Hamilton, Feb. 12.—Alfred Grossley was sent to the Central Prison by Judge Monck yesterday morning for nine months. He had been the local agent of the People's Loan and Deposit Co., Toronto, and forged a cheque for $300. He admitted his guilt.

MAKE PEACE WITH YOUR STOMACH.

You are Certain to Lose if you Attempt the Use of Force and Violence.

You cannot force your stomach to do work that it is unable and unwilling to do. It has been tried time and again with always the same result. The stomach is a good and faithful servant; but when pushed beyond the limit it rebels. Some stomachs will stand much more abuse than others; but every stomach has its limit, and when that limit is reached it is a very dangerous and unwise proceeding to force it into doing further work. The sensible and reasonable course is to employ a substitute to carry on the work of digestion and give the stomach an opportunity to recuperate and regain its lost strength.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only perfect substitute to take up and carry on the work of tired, worn out stomachs. They are natural and easy in their work and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They contain all of the essential elements that make up the gastric juices and other digestive fluids, and will digest any food that a strong healthy stomach will and do it in the same time and in the same way. They work independently of surrounding conditions and the fact that the stomach is weak or diseased does not influence them at all in their useful and effective work. They will digest food just as well in a glass jar or bottle as they will in a stomach. You can see that for yourself by putting one of them into a jar with a square meal, and some water to enable it to work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets by thus relieving the stomach of its work, enable that organ to rest and recuperate and regain its health and strength. The process is perfectly natural and plain. Nature will heal the stomach just as she heals a wound or a broken limb, if she is not interfered with and is permitted to do her work in her own way. All interference is prevented by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box and if you are afflicted with dyspepsia one box will make you feel fifty times better. You will forget you have a stomach and rejoice in the forgetfulness. No druggist would be so short-sighted as to try and get along without Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for they are so popular and so well known for the good they have done and the happiness they have caused that any druggist caught without them would lose the confidence of his customers and be regarded as below the standard. His business would suffer as a result and his patrons would go to other stores and buy their other drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Mrs. C. Bondreau, Campbellton, N.B., was completely cured by

She tells of her experience in the following letter: "I was troubled with a pain in my heart and weakness for six years. Most of the time I could not lie on my left side. I consulted a doctor but got no relief and was completely discouraged. I did not think I would live long and expected my friends would find me dead. A friend brought me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I took them to please her, not thinking they would do me any good. I had not used half the box when I commenced to feel myself getting better and by the time I had taken two boxes I was completely cured and can recommend them to all sufferers from heart trouble."

Municipality Wins Case.

Kingston, Feb. 11.—A cable from City Solicitor McIntyre in England, announces that Kingston has won its case before the Privy Council re the appeal of the Light, Heat and Power Company. The city now gets the company's plant at the original award, $170,373.

Ear Nursed to Crisp.

Listowel, Feb. 11.—B. Rothwell, ex-principal of the Listowel public schools, met with a particularly painful mishap. He banked the furnace fire for the night and went upstairs, but turned to go downstairs again, lost his footing, and fell headlong down the steps. The lamp he was carrying was smashed, and the oil, which covered his face and head, took fire. Mr. Rothwell sustained several very severe burns, his left ear being almost reduced to a crisp.

Collision At Paris.

Paris, Feb. 11.—While a G. T. R. engine was taking water here at noon yesterday it was run into by a freight train. Both engines were badly damaged by the collision. The Hamilton auxiliary train, while engaged in lifting the light engine, capsized. James Guest was severely injured, being badly scalded about the face, head and chest. The accident is said to be due to the disregarding of the semaphore signal.

GOVERNMENT'S VIEW

Speech by Colonial Secretary on Colonial Preference.

GORST AGAINST PREFERENCE

Another Sharp Debate in the British House of Commons Chaplin Stands By the Government Mr. Bryce's Questions Vote on Mr. John Morley's Amendment Will Be Taken on Monday.

London, Feb 12—(C. A. P.)—Free Food Unionists held a private meeting in the committee room of the House of Commons yesterday under the presidency of the Duke of Devonshire. The attendance was forty, including several peers. An agreement was arrived at to await further speeches from the Treasury bench before coming to any resolution.

Gorst Against It.

The Government's position was further complicated yesterday by the speech of Alfred Lyttleton in the House of Commons. Sir John Gorst ended his speech by declaring that he would oppose any attempt to establish a colonial preference or a general protective system.

Mr. Chaplin said the Government's policy of retaliation offered no prospect of the recovery of lost foreign markets nor of any new markets. Where could we look but to the colonies, who already gave us a preference over foreign countries? He had not heard a single reasonable objection against going to the colonies for new markets, which policy could be carried out by imposing a trifling corn duty. Retaliation was better than nothing, and he supported the Government.

Mr. Bryce's Questions.

Prof. James Bryce asked Mr. Lyttleton whether the Government would fight protection candidates and cease to give aid to the protectionist party. Would they declare themselves opposed to the principle of a colonial preference which meant protection and taxes on food? Was the preference to be extended to colonial manufactured goods?

He declared that there was nothing the colonies cared for more than their fiscal freedom, and in every bargain made between them and the Motherland the question would be whether the bargain was not too good for us and too bad for them. The system of a commercial treaty on the plan of the Birmingham platform would retard federation.

Colonial Secretary's Reply.

Mr. Lyttleton replied that the colonial preference was not a part at present of the Government program, but he begged the House not to commit itself against the colonial preference or shut the door against Mr. Chamberlain's splendid colonial ideal. (Cries of hear, hear.) "The future of colonial preference and details require further cautious discretion before being embarked," he said. "My predecessor endeavored to knit closer bonds between us and the colonies, and since I have been in the present office I have done everything to foster that sentiment and obtain greater co-operation in Imperial defence, mutual knowledge and Imperial counsel; and since we have got so much closer in our connection with the colonies by these means, will you not regret if you say that in the great sphere of commerce alone a closer link and material tie shall be wholly excluded?"

Repudiates Opposition Tactics.

Canada was prepared to give more than a 33⅓ per cent preference. South Africa had carried out proposals for a customs union with New Zealand, and passed a statute giving Great Britain a considerable preference, and the Australian Commonwealth favored Mr. Chamberlain's policy. He repudiated the attempts made to define the issue before the country as exclusively between protection and free trade. If the low duty of 5 per cent. imposed for revenue purposes were used to further the colonial preference, could that make it a protective duty?

In reply to Sir John Gorst, he declared the Government would support Unionist members who supported honestly the Ministerial fiscal program if they were advocates of the colonial preference.

The vote on Mr. Morley's amendment will be taken on Monday.

Seventy-five people out of every hundred need Scott's Emulsion just at this season; the other twenty-five would be benefited by it—there's scarcely anyone whose general condition would not be improved by Scott's Emulsion at this time of the year. It puts on solid, healthy flesh and builds up the whole body.

That is what Scott's Emulsion is guaranteed to do. As Scott's Emulsion has been the standard for thirty years this guarantee means something.

By reason of the great scarcity of cod liver oil just now substitutes of all kinds are being offered to the public.

Insist upon Scott's Emulsion and you will get the pure oil and the best emulsion made.

Scott's Emulsion never changes in quality, purity or effect.

When a woman gives up it is because she has gone to the utmost limit of strength and endurance. It is a marvel how women will stagger on under the daily household burdens when the whole body is racked with pain.

For the nervous, run-down condition which so many women experience, as a result of overstrain in household cares, there is no medicine can equal Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the weak stomach by curing diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It purifies the blood of poisons which cause rheumatism and other painful diseases. It nourishes the nerves, and builds up the body with sound, healthy flesh.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Accept no substitute for the "Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for weakness, nervousness and debility.

"I want the whole world to know what Dr. Pierce's medicines have done for me," writes Mrs. Helen Hardgrove, of Bangs, Knox Co., O. "I had many of the ills of woman's life. My lungs and throat troubled me besides, and I had rheumatism. About a year ago I had to give up work I was so bad. I had heard so much about your medicine I thought I would try it. I took four bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets,' and by the time I had taken half of the first bottle I began to gain, and kept on getting better. And now I have no more of my old ailments and am entirely cured of rheumatism. I feel like a new woman."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

NORWOOD RINK MAY BE CLOSED.

The Roof in an Unsafe Condition and Probabilities are That it Will not be Repaired.

The Norwood Register commenting on the cause for the cancelling of the T.A.S.-Keene game on Monday gives the information that in all probability the rink will be discarded.

Two or three more of the iron rods have broken, the bents are settling and there is every indication that the building will collapse unless the management succeed—as they hope to—in supporting the roof with timbers. Mr. Cumming sent men and teams to the woods yesterday to secure timbers for the purpose so as to save the lumber, if possible.

It is very unlikely that the building will again be repaired. Through a series of misfortunes similar to this the rink has never been a profitable institution for some years and the chances are not in favour of its continuance

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

During the year 1903 classes have been held in English Literature, (Wordsworth) English composition, instrumental music, vocal music (choral class) French, home nursing, reading and spelling, book-keeping and arithmetic, shirt waist making and physical culture. At the educational rally which took place on September 28th there was an attendance of 250 and classes were at once organized which opened October 1st and continued throughout the year with the exception of a slight intermission at Christmas. The class enrollment has been as follows: Wordsworth class, Sheriff Hall, 7; night school, reading circle Miss Finlay, 6; bookkeeping and arithmetic, Miss Jolliffe, 6; home nursing, Miss Moodie, 4; choral class, average attendance, 4; French, Madame Alloe, 11; shirt waist class, Miss Waters, 8; physical culture, Miss Moodie, ladies, 8; young women's class, 22; junior members' class, 16, making a total enrollment in educational work of 92. It is a regret that we have to discontinue the bulk of the physical work on account of the absence of Miss Moodie, but cooking classes to be held in the month of February have been substituted for it and we hope that these classes will be patronized. Miss M. Fisher has kindly consented to continue physical work with the junior members. The adult class will be discontinued till March but will then be continued by the former teacher, Miss Waters. The Educational work has proved most encouraging. The total enrollment shows a decided increase. Hearty thanks are due the teachers whose faithful and untiring efforts have rendered this, one of the most difficult phases of Association work, comparatively simple.

All of which is respectfully submitted

L. GARVIN,
Convenor Educational Committee.
GENERAL SECRETARY.

The report of the general secretary, Miss Lough, follows:

The aim of the Young Women's Christian Association is the physical, mental, intellectual and spiritual development of young women and it is with this end in view that the work of the Young Women's Christian Association of Peterborough has been planned. As we look back we see marked progress in the work during the first three years and great reason for thanksgiving to Him by whom the work has been prospered. But as we look ahead we see possibilities ahead which make us realize that we are just entering on a work the boundaries of which could not be defined if we worked steadfastly in the belief that it is "not by might, nor by power, but by My Spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts," that we can accomplish our object.

The reports of the various departments give an idea of what has been done during the past year in so far as statistics are able to represent the work of each department. It has been the aim of each department to further its particular branch of work in the best possible way. For what has been accomplished we will give all the praise to Him who has guarded us at all times and has cleared away seemingly insurmountable difficulties with regard to mountable difficulties. With regard to the Junior Department, the work has been carried along the same during the former part of the year, but on account of the inability of the superintendent to act during the full term some changes were made in this branch of the work. It at present is composed of one club of girls from 12 to 16 years of age, who are recognized as junior members of the Association and whose work consists in one-half hour's physical instruction each Friday afternoon followed by Bible study and talks on different subjects, such as Greek art and amateur photography, etc., on alternating weeks. This club is composed of about 16 girls who will a few years be young women of the Association. During the year the Association has been particularly favoured with visits from Miss Reynolds, the World's Secretary, whose enthusiasm and interest in the work gave much encouragement, and also from Miss Macdonald, Dominion city secretary who was present at our anniversary services and whose assistance proved invaluable in the planning of the work. The triennial convention which was held in Toronto this fall has proved a great source of help and blessing to those who were able to attend and it was both noticeable and encouraging that almost all of us came back with a clear conception of what was meant by Y. W. C. A. work and with a broader and deeper interest in the whole movement. This association was privileged to have the banner delegation since 14 ladies from Peterborough attended some, if not all the meetings.

During September, October, November and December there have been in all 5,172 visitors to the rooms, including class attendance, making a daily average of 45.

The thanks of the Association are due to those who kindly contributed reading matter during the year. The following is a list of the reading materail we have read: Ladies' Home Journal; Woman's Home Companion; McClure's; Delineator, Christian Guardian, Christian Herald, Record of Christian Work, Christian Work and Evangelist, Presbyterian, Sabbath Reading, Home Words, Baptist Young People's Union, Dominion Tic, Montreal Weekly Witness, Daily Examiner. The Great Family Journal has also been contributed to the boarding house.

As the prospect for better equipment for work lies before us may we not forget that with increased opportunity comes increased responsibility and may we all have that broadness of vision which will make plain to us "the fields white unto the harvest" and which will enable us to do not "our own work in our own strength, but God's work in God's strength."

All of which is respectfully submitted

MARY C. LOUGH,
General Secretary.

The balance of the reports were unavoidably crowded out of to-day's issue but will be published to-morrow.

$15.00 SAVED ON A $15.00 PURCHASE

LONDON FUR SALES for January report among a long list of Raw Fur values, an advance of 50% in Wombat Skins over last year. This means Wombat Coats will cost $30.00 to $35.00 next season, that sold for $20.00 to $25.00 this year. Did you notice that we offered Wombat Coats, $20.00 and $25.00 Qualities for Choice at $15.00 during our Sale?

See the saving made by the people who bought them. $15 saved on a $15 purchase. Who said our Fur Sale is not a Bargain Bonanza?

This advance is phenomenal, but you will find that all Fur goods will rule higher next season. Persian Lamb, Japanese Fox, Russian Lamb, Thibet Lamb, Grey Lamb, Astrachan and Bocharen Lamb and Fine Sables and Squirrels will be advanced still higher now on account of the war between Russia and Japan. Therefore we emphasize just now the advisability of purchasing Furs before present stocks are entirely sold out as the money saving will be found exceptional. Before these reports reached us we had published our Special Partnership Sale Prices—on many lines of Furs actually less than cost of manufacture. We had also entered into an agreement to reduce stock about $25,000.00 before partnership could be formed. Therefore, we still continue our Big Sale on the same lines as advertised, not wishing to break faith with the people and being also forced to meet our partnership agreement. We will get Furs of all kinds at from 25% to 50% off our Selling Prices for this Season. This means a still bigger saving in next season's values.

HOPE FARMERS GET SWINDLED.

A Versatile Stranger Works a Game on Trusting Farmers.

The Port Hope Times tells of a man who is working a swindle on a number of farmers in that vicinity. The man is about thirty five years of age, apparently well acquainted with stockmen and the thoroughbred animals they raise, and he is working a game by which a few farmers have been swindled out of their money. This man goes to a farmer and says he represents John Gardhouse, the well known cattle breeder of Highfield. After agreeing to purchase a number of animals he feels for his pocket-book to make a payment down, and then finds he has lost it. Ten dollars is borrowed from the farmer to get home and he never returns again. This man has worked his game and speaks fluently about the families he claims to be connected with. He has very dark hair and moustache, a high forehead and grey eyes. He wears dark clothes, grey over-coat, three-quarters length, a soft felt hat and felt overshoes, without buckles.

RUSSIANS FIRED ON BRITISH SHIP.

Three Members of the Fu Ping's Crew Were Wounded.

THE RUSSIANS BOMBARD HAKODATE

Russia's Vladivostock Squadron Descends on Japanese Coast---Chase Two Merchant Ships of Japan and Sink one---The Other got Away From the Five Cruisers Admiral Wirenius Located.

Che Foo, Feb. 13.—The British steamer Fu Ping, when leaving Port Arthur, was fired upon by Russians. Three members of the crew were wounded. The Russians afterwards apologized for firing on the vessel. The Fu Ping upon its arrival at Wei-Hai-Wei filed a protest with the British commissioner. The American consul has reported to the United States Minister Conger that the Russian authorities have refused to allow the American steamer Pleimdes to leave Port Arthur. The Pleimdes sailed from Seattle on Feb. 2 with a cargo of flour.

Russians Bombard Hakodate.

London, Feb. 13.—It is reported that five Russian cruisers from Vladivostock bombarded Hakodate, Japan, on Tuesday, the Tien Tsin correspondent of The Standard cables. Hakodate is on the Island of CAPT. BEHR,

Who Blew Up the Variag.

Hokkaido, the most northern of the three Japanese islands. The harbor there is excellent and the town, containing about 50,000 inhabitants, is well and regularly built. There is a Japanese naval school there.

The Russian armored cruisers Rurik, Rossia and Gromoboi, the protected cruiser [illegible] and the transport Lena left Vladivostock several days ago, and their present movements is in doubt.

Russians Capture Merchantman.

London, Feb. 13.—At last the Russian navy has done something comparable only to the exploit of the United States fleet at Manila—"the greatest sea fight since Trafalgar." On Feb. 11 two Japanese merchant steamers, the Nakanvura Maru and Zensho Maru, were peacefully pursuing their course bound from Sakato to Otaru (on the Island of Hokkaido). Off the coast of Herunshi (Okushiri) they were surrounded and shelled by four Russian warships, presumably the Vladivostock squadron, which a few days ago was reported to be frozen up in that harbor. Victory ultimately declared for the Russian squadron—the Nakanvura Maru being sunk. The Zensho Maru escaped with honor and arrived safely at Fukuyama, on the Island of Hokkaido.

Evidently Japan is not yet mistress of the Eastern Seas, and more will be heard of the daring Vladivostock squadron.

One Steamer Sunk.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The Japanese Legation last evening read the following cablegram, under date of Tokio, Feb. 11: "Two small Japanese ships, Seensho-Maru and Nakon Ouran Maru, while on their way to Otaru, a port on the western coast of Yezo Island, from Sakato, a port on the northern coast of the main Island of Japan, were fired on Feb. 11 by four Russian men-of-war off the coast of Aomori Prefecture, and the latter was sunk, while the former had a narrow escape.

"The Russian men-of-war are still off the coast of Yezo Island. They are supposed to be the first class cruisers which have been shut up at Vladivostock, and tried some time ago to join the main squadron at Port Arthur."

Admiral Wirenius Found.

London, Feb. 13.—The Russian squadron, under Admiral Wirenius, which vanished into thin air after passing the Suez Canal, about the middle of January, has turned up at Jibutil, the port of French Somaliland. Evidently the gallant admiral is in no hurry to get to the Far East. His squadron has coaled at Jibutil, but will remain there until Feb. 18, for the Russian warships due to Jibutil from Suez. If he then pursues his cruise in the same leisurely fashion, he may be expected at Port Arthur somewhere about midsummer.

Russia Mobilizes.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 13.—An Imperial ukase dated Feb. 10 was issued yesterday. It commands that all the troops in the military establishments in Siberian military districts be placed in readiness, for war, that all the divisions in the Far Eastern vice-royalty be brought to war strength, and that the army and navy reserves in the Siberian districts be called for active service. The authorities are empowered to requisition the necessary horses.

It is thought here that the action of the Japanese in flooding Pekin with posters relating to her victories is part of a well laid campaign projected from the beginning to break down Russian prestige in China, and for the purpose of ultimately effecting the union of the races which would make the "yellow peril" a reality.

Russian Students Called.

Berlin Feb 13.—The Russian students attached to the technical institute of Carlsruhe, who are subject to military duty, have received orders to return home and join the colors.

TRY TO DRAW GOVERNMENT.

A Clear Declaration on Its Fiscal Policy Wanted By Unionist Free Traders—Devonshire's Letter.

London, Feb. 13.—(C.A.P.)—The Duke of Devonshire, addressing the secretary of the Liberal-Unionist Association, says that grave misunderstanding exists between himself and Mr. Chamberlain respecting the suggestions made by the Duke regarding the conditions for the continuation of the association.

To remove any misunderstanding on Mr. Chamberlain's return the Unionist free traders made a determined attempt yesterday in the House of Commons to obtain a clear declaration of the fiscal policy of the Government. Sir Edgar Vincent, Hon. F. W. Lambton and E. W. Beckitt, M.P.'s, all delivered strong free trade speeches. Sir Edward Vincent wanted to know whether the policy of retaliation the Government proposed was a clear definite issue in itself or merely one instalment of a large and more extensive policy to come.

The assuring speech of Right Hon Gerald Balfour had been largely impaired by other speeches from the treasury bench. The fact of the government losing 25 bye-elections out of [illegible] showed that the people would not [illegible] the taxation of food. England owed [illegible] to unrestricted free trade [illegible] Conservative party prepared to go into the wilderness for 20 years in hope that the electorate would in the end be induced to accept protectionist principles? Hon. F. W. Lambton declared he would vote for John Morley's amendment, because in his opinion the Premier's policy of retaliation was a mere preliminary to the destruction of free trade.

Ernest Beckett, speaking on behalf of bankers, said that not a single banker had been captured by Mr. Chamberlain for his sitting committee of political blacksmiths who were engaged in forging fetters for British industry. Retaliation was on the lips of the Government, but protection was in their hearts. He would not vote for the Government.

Henry E. Duke, M. P., said the rank and file of the Conservative party went breast high for Mr. Chamberlain, in whose policy lay more than the interests of party—indeed the necessities for the future of the Empire. It was a national misfortune that Mr. Ritchie, when Chancellor of the Exchequer, refused to use the corn duty in order to give Canada the small preference she had long been asking for. The constant cry of the colonies had been to try preferential trade. Canada had given us a preference, although it had cost her considerable. It has been a relief to hear Mr. Lyttelton's speech that the Government had not repented.

Right Hon. A. Akers-Douglas, Home Secretary, will on Monday read a statement of the policy of the Premier. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman will then speak in opposition.

Found Dynamite Hidden.

Liverpool, Feb. 13.—The customs officials yesterday morning found 18 pounds of dynamite and 3,000 detonators in the possession of an Austrian emigrant on board the White Star Line steamer Majestic.

The Austrian's trunk had a false bottom, in which the dynamite was concealed. The man, who gave the name of Ivan Sjnbranoje, was arrested and remanded until Feb. 20.

JAPANESE MERCHANT VESSEL DESTROYED

Russian Squadron has Turned its Attention to the Japs' Merchant Service.

A Hot Engagement is Reported North of Tien Tsin—The Latest News From the Far East.

The report that a Japanese merchant vessel has been sunk by the Russian squadron is credited in some quarters, and represents practically the only Russian victory on sea.

The Vladivostok Russian squadron has set out with the evident intention of destroying a portion of the Japanese commercial fleet, which purpose seems to have been partially achieved in the attack on the Japanese merchantman. Despatches to New York state that Hakodate, the chief city of Yazo, has been bombarded by the Russian fleet, and this seems quite probable in view of the fact that the squadron yesterday was believed to be in that neighbourhood.

While the centre of interest is transferred for the moment to Northern Japan the occupation Corea goes steadily forward, and the blockade of Port Arthur is not relaxed. Alexieff is patching his damaged ships and writing bulletins, and Japan is saying nothing—is probably too busy to talk.

FIRING NORTH OF TSIN TSIN.

Tien Tsin, February 13th. — It is reported from Ching Wang Tao, about 150 miles north of Tien Tsin, that heavy firing has been heard at sea, and it is inferred that another engagement has taken place.

[illegible]KORA MARU SUNK.

Yokohama, Feb. 13.—It is reported here that the Russian warships Cromobia, Rossia, [illegible] and Bogatyr sunk the Japanese merchant steamer Akoro Maru, off Hakodate on Feb. 11.

JAPANESE NOT IN PORT ARTHUR.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 13.—The report that [illegible] troops had landed at Port Arthur with the loss of two regiments is [illegible] authoritatively. Nothing is known here officially regarding the movements of the Vladivostock squadron, but the reports that it had sunk Japanese transports off Wonsan and destroyed Fakodate are generally discredited, it being pointed out that it is impossible for the squadron to have been in the two places almost simultaneously.

REVENUE AND EXPENDITURES.

The Treasurer of Ontario, Hon. G. W. Ross, on Tuesday, presented his annual financial statement. This is of course a matter of importance to the people, that is the expenditures. This province is so happily situated, its sources of revenue are such, that the people have little interest in the way our revenue is made up, for the people do not contribute one cent to it by the popular, or still unpopular means of direct taxation. But if the people have no direct or personal interest in the matter of provincial revenue, except of course in relation to expenditure, they have, however, a very direct interest in its expenditure, for a very large proportion of it is distributed directly or indirectly to the people. Take the average expenditure for the past six years — $4,130,000, in round numbers — of this amount, there is returned to the people over $3,500,000 for various services which go to directly relieving the public from an equivalent amount of taxation; that is, they received the benefits which come to them through the Provincial Expenditure upon Education, Agriculture, Administration of Justice, maintenance of Public Institutions, Hospitals, Charities and Colonization Roads. Here we have the fiscal anomaly of the people receiving from the Government coffers three and a half millions yearly, or nearly $1.50 per head, without contributing to the treasury one cent by way of direct taxation, and this has been going on, pro rata, for the 32 years the Liberal Government has administered our affairs. And, indeed, while the expenditure has been increasing, the revenue has also increased, and Hon Mr. Ross assured the House on Tuesday that the revenue resources of the province were such that our revenue was always assured; so that so long as our sources of revenue are protected and wisely administered, there will always be means forthcoming for the public services which so directly relieve the people of this province from local taxation

Mr. Borden, the Dominion leader of the Opposition, is destined to be great; he is using our own Mr. Whitney as a model. Speaking in East Bruce on Monday, Mr. Borden contributed a chapter on corruption, that sounded quite Whitneyesque. He referred to the excess of expenditure under the Liberal rule of six years over the last six years of Conservative rule, and asserted that there was nothing to show for it, unless it was scattered over the country to buy votes. And this is to be regarded as statesmanship.

SOCIAL AND BUSINESS DEPARTMENTS REPORT.

Y. W. C. A. Annual Reports Show Splendid Work for 1903.

The following reports presented at the annual meeting of the Y.W.C.A. were held over from yesterday's issue:—

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

The Social Committee reported as follows:

Realizing that we all need a certain amount of social intercourse, the Social Department has held monthly committee meetings and has planned to make the social life of the Association as attractive as possible. At the time of Miss Reynolds visit a reception was held in her honour. However during the summer months the activity of this department ceased. In the fall the first social event of the Association took the form of a reception to the new secretary. About a week later at the annual educational rally a social evening was held which was attended by a large number of young women. Miss Macdonald, Dominion city secretary was the speaker of the evening and a musical programme was given and refreshments served. The Social Committee also planned a members' tea which was held on the evening of Jan 26trrh and which wasfollowed by a socait evening. They have arranged to hold 'strangers' teas from time to time as the need presents itself. On Friday afternoon, Jan 22nd the junior club was entertained at a surprise party which proved quite enjoyable to the members present.

PAST YEAR ONE OF MARKED SUCCESS.

The Immigration and Colonization Movement — Review by the Labour Gazette.

The Labour Gazette, continuing its review of the general situation in Canada of Industrial Conditions, says:

The general condition of employment in the several trades and industries of the Dominion may be briefly summarized as follows:—

Agriculture — The year opened well with good markets prevailing for the exceptionally heavy crops of 1902, the hauling and shipping of which provided employment on a considerable scale during January and February. A good winter season was reported in stock raising branches. The cutting and marketing of firewood during the winter was exceptionally heavy and remunerative, as a result of the scarcity of anthracite, following the strike of the miners in Pennsylvania. With the opening at an unusually early date of the spring season, there commenced an extreme scarcity of farm labour, which continued throughout the year and resulted in the level of wages for this class being raised to a higher point than perhaps was ever reached before in Canada. This scarcity was particularly felt in the province of Ontario where a number of deputations interviewed the Provincial Government on the subject, and were promised the early commencement of active emigration propaganda in Great Britain, with a view to the relief of the situation. A period of dry weather following the disappearance of the snow enabled seeding to be proceeded with under generally favourable conditions, although in a few localities the fall wheat suffered in consequence. Later, however, the continued dryness developed into something approaching a general drought in Central and Eastern Canada, which lasted until the latter part of June, when a series of general and copious rains prevented the damage that it was feared might be sustained. In July and August the weather continued broken, though little serious loss during harvesting resulted. The exceptional crop of apples and other fruits, especially in Ontario and Nova Scotia, is worthy of special reference, as is also the heavy export trade in Canadian cheese and dairy products, as indicating an increased scale of activity in these branches. In Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, a larger acreage was sown in field crops than in 1902, though with a smaller aggregate return. The year, however, following the exceptional harvests of 1902 and 1901 may be stated to have rendered the outlook for the speedy and permanent development of Western Canada beyond question. A further indication of this may be found in the extension of the railway lines. The demand for labour for harvesting the crops in the west was well met, and weather conditions, in spite of a storm on Sept. 12th, which did considerable damage locally, were on the whole favourable. Threshing was continued under favourable circumstances, farmers preferring to utilize the good weather in ploughing operations, rather than in the marketing of their grain—a further indication of the prosperity of the agricultural classes. The year closed with some complaints as to lack of transportation facilities, especially after the close of navigation on the great lakes. Good reports were received from the dairying and ranching branches. In British Columbia satisfactory yields of both fruit and field crops were reported. A feature of the year throughout Canada that might also be mentioned was the activity of various agricultural societies.

Fishing.—Stormy weather interfered considerably with the Atlantic fisheries during the opening months of the year. The result of the lobster season, however, was satisfactory, and the oyster fisheries of Prince Edward Island had good returns. The herring catch was likewise fair. A very pronounced falling off in cod and haddock, however, would have made the record for the year much below the average had not heavy catches of mackerel in the early autumn retrieved the situation. On the great lakes a fair season was reported. The concessions granted to the Manitou Fishing Company by the Ontario Government, involving the establishment of hatcheries, the deposit of fry, restrictions regarding catch and size of fish to be taken, and a graded scale of rentals, may be referred to in this connection. In British Columbia the heavy snow fall of the winter by increasing the volume of water in the streams gave prospect of a good season. This expectation, however, was disappointed, the return in the salmon canning industry for the year totalling only 200,000 cases, as against 327,000 last year, and 990,000 in 1901. Prices, however, were satisfactory, and benefit is expected to result from the disposal of all held-over packs. The wages of fishermen suffered in consequence of the failure. The finding of the Royal Commission appointed in 1901, to inquire into conditions in the salmon fishing industries of British Columbia, permitted the use as an experiment of purse seines during the season. With regard to traps nets, however, the Commission held that the difficulties of operating on the shore of Vancouver Island, and the large number of men relying on gill-netting, together with other considerations, were sufficient to render advisable the continuance of the present prohibition. The abolition of boat pullers' permits was recommended, and the erection of hatcheries at specified points approved. Good catches of halibut were made in the Pacific early in the year, and the run of hump-backs in the Fraser was fair.

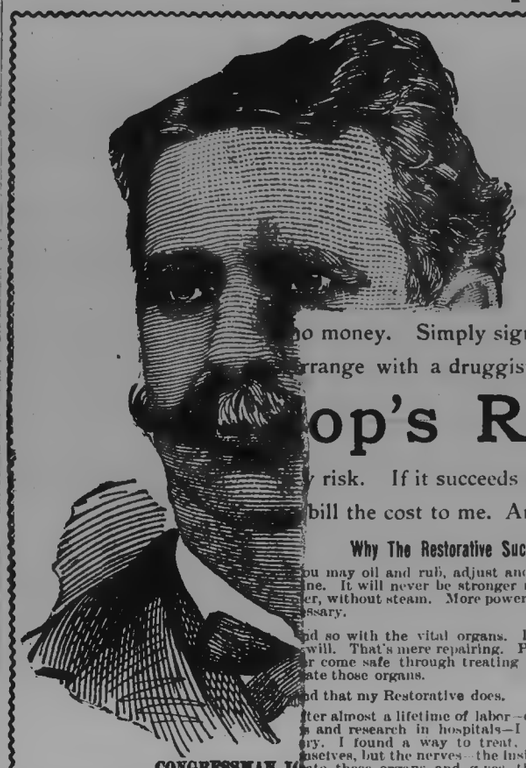
Lumbering.—The opening months of the year were characterized by pronounced activity in the woods in in the central and eastern provinces, the high price and ready market for lumber proving an efficient stimulus. Large cuts were in consequence made in spite of a general stringency in the labour supply; the unusual depth of snow in some localities also impeded operations. The exceptionally early opening of the spring season and rapid disappearance of the snow, accordingly, was the cause of considerable inconvenience, both diminishing the total cut by shortening the season, and leaving a considerable quantity of logs and square timber in the woods as a result of the rapid falling of water in streams. The prolonged dry weather which followed in May and June also increased the difficulty experienced from this source, as well as constituting an added danger from forest fires. Skilled men for the drives were scarce, and the mills in many localities had, in consequence, to wait for the rains which followed later in the season before being able to obtain a sufficient number of logs to engage them to their full capacity. Once begun, however, the work of sawing was continued under high pressure, the mills for the most part working long hours until October, with prices for the product uniformly on a high level. On the whole, however, the total cut in eastern Canada will show a diminution from that of last year. A feature of the year was the early date at which preparations were begun for work in the woods during the coming winter, the lack of labour in spite of the high wages prevailing still continuing. In British Columbia conditions during the first half of the season were excellent, an exceptionally profitable market for the finished product being found in the North-west Territories as a result of the increased settlement and consequent developments in progress there. Later in the season, however, a marked diminution of the market was encountered, owing chiefly, it was stated, to the completion of the American industry, and resulted in a general shut-down of of the mills for a period in August, and a diminution of employment in the logging camps. Mention may be made of the combine of lumber alleged to have been in operation throughout western Canada, for the undue advancement of prices, and which led to a civic enquiry being held at Winnipeg, Man., and a lengthy discussion in the House of Commons, also the appointment of a commissioner to inquire into the same. The action of the Ontario Government during October in inaugurating a policy for the preservation and continuance of forest reserves was an important measure of the year.

Mining. — Prominent features of —the year were the activity in the Nova Scotia collieries, the labour troubles in the coal mines of British Columbia; the valuable strikes of oil in Ontario and New Brunswick, and the revival in general tone of metalliferous mining in British Columbia. The strike of the anthracite miners in Pennsylvania was a factor during the opening months of the year in the marked activity which prevailed in the Nova Scotia coal fields, and in the development on a largely and in the development on a largely increased scale of the lignite deposits of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. In Nova Scotia however the activity was prolonged until the close of the year, and after the immediate effects of the shortage of Pennsylvania coal had ceased to be felt. The result was to materially increase the output of the different collieries, and to insure active conditions of employment in all branches. A disastrous fire which broke out on March 19th in Dominion No. 1 pit, at Glace Bay, proved almost the only serious setback the industry received in Nova Scotia, with the exception during December, of a strike of 1600 miners at Springhill, which lasted six days. In the British Columbia coal mines, however, developments were otherwise. A strike of the Coal Creek, Michel and Morrisey employees of the Crow's Nest Pass Co. to the number of 1,500, was declared on. February 11, and continued over the following month into April. The immediate effects of this interruption were perhaps less serious than the indirect losses sustained by other industries, inasmuch as from 50 to 75 per cent of the metalliferous mines of the province dependent upon the Fernie coal fields for their supply of coke for smelting purposes were seriously embarrassed for some time. Had not a settlement come when it did a very serious crisis might have come upon the entire industries of the province. On Vancouver Island a strike of short duration occurred at the Nanaimo collieries, and a strike involving over 1,000 men at Ladysmith and Cumberland fields extended for a period of over three months. With the cessation of these and other labour difficulties, owing largely to the investigation undertaken by the Royal Commission appointed to examine into the entire question of labour disturbances in British Columbia, the industry entered upon a period of activity in the summer and autumn months. In the metalliferous mines of the province the granting of a bounty on silver-lead ores by the Dominion government during the session of parliament caused a marked improvement in conditions, with the result that the closing months of the year witnessed a revival of a hopeful attitude in British Columbia mining. In Ontario and Quebec a fair year was reported from the metalliferous mines, the revival in mica mining in the latter province being a prominent feature.

An important event of the year was the organization in February of the British Columbia Mining Association, at a convention held in Victoria, representing the various interests dependent upon the industry in that province

"FOR ALL CATARRHAL COMPLAINTS"

Pe-ru-na is Most Excellent," Writes Congressman John L. Sheppard.



CONGRESSMAN JO

Congressman John L. Sheppard, Me

Gentlemen:—"I have used Pe-ru-na and find it the most excellent remedy for all catarrhal complaints." John L. Sheppard.

THERE are two things that the whole medical profession agree about concerning catarrh. The first is that catarrh is the most prevalent and omnipresent disease to which the people in the United States are subject. All classes of people have it. Those who stay indoors much and those who go outdoors much. Working classes have it and sedentary classes have it.

The doctor finds catarrh to be his constant and ever-present foe. It complicates nearly every disease he is called upon to treat.

The second thing about catarrh on which all doctors agree, is that it is difficult to cure it. Local remedies may give relief but they fail to cure permanently. Sprays or snuffs amount to afterwards manufactured expressly for him in large quantities. This remedy, Peruna, is now to be found in every drug store and nearly every home in the land. It is the only reliable internal remedy ever devised to cure any case of catarrh, however long the case may have been standing.

Hon. Rudolph M. Patterson, a well-known lawyer, of Chicago, Ill., writes "I have been a sufferer from nasal catarrh for the past five years and at the earnest solicitation of a friend I tried Peruna and am glad to say it has afforded a complete cure. It is with pleasure I

DIRECTORS:

PRESIDENT J. H. McCLELLAN, Coal Dealer.

MANAGING DIRECTOR WM. BULLER, Carter, F. D. KERR, Barrister.

SECRETARY-TREASURER A. J. McCLELLAN. A. PARKER, Dye Works.

SOLICITORS DENNISTOUN, PECK, KERR & STEVENSON.

The Peterborough Fuel & Cartage Co. (Limited) have acquired the plant and goodwill of the following companies: The McClellan Coal Co., the Stevenson Coal Co., the Wm. Buller Cartage Co., and propose to carry on a Coal, Wood, Sewer Pipe, Cement and Cartage Business. It is also proposed to erect a suitable building for the Storage of Household Goods and Furniture. This has been a long-felt want in Peterborough and its success is certain. At present there is no place where suitable and convenient storage can be obtained.

PROPERTIES

The Company control the most desirable site and sheds of the Stevenson Coal Co., situated on the Grand Trunk track, and property adjoining, leased at nominal rent from the Grand Trunk. This property makes a most desirable place for the business at nominal expense.

ADVANTAGES

The cartage and coal business would work very advantageously together as the slack months in the coal business are the busy ones in the carting and vice versa.

ESTIMATE OF BUSINESS

In presenting an estimate of the business that could be done the directors have been very conservative in their figures.

3,000 tons hard coal could be handled at a gross profit of $1.25 per ton	$3,750 00
(This has been the average profit for a number of years.)
2,000 tons soft coal, gross profit, 75c a ton	1,500 00
10 carters' wagons, handling freight, household furniture and coal; average gross earnings $3.50 a day for 300 days	10,500 00
Revenue, storage business, 1st year	500 00
	$16,250 00

THE ESTIMATED EXPENSE OF DOING THIS BUSINESS

Cost handling coal, 5,000 tons at 30c a ton	$1,500 00
Wages, cartage business	4,800 00
Horse feed	1,500 00
Incidental expenses, shoeing, repairs, etc	500 00
Office expenses, salaries etc	2,500 00
Depreciation, wear and tear	1,250 0
	$11,125 00

Leaving net earnings of $5,000.00, or 25% on an investment of $20,000, which would be a sufficient sum to operate the business on the above basis.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

Besides being assured of a good vidend the stockholders are allowed a discount of 25 cents a ton off market price, time of ordering their supply of hard coal.

The shares have been placed at $25.00 and in submitting the above proposition it is confidently expected that this company with its large list of shareholders working for its interests, cheap rents and the advantage of starting off with a large business, should be a splendid opportunity for investment.

TERMS OF SUBSORIPTION

A deposit of 25 per cent. is payable on acceptance of application and the balance in monthly instalments of 25 per cent. each. Subscribers may make payment in advance of due dates and will be entitled to dividend from the date of such payments. If no allotment is made deposit will be returned without deduction, and if a partial allotment is made the surplus deposit will be applied towards the amount payable on allotment. All cheques must be made payable to Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson, Acting Treasurers.

TOGO, ADMIRAL OF JAPAN, REPORTS.

Modestly Recounts the Japanese Victory at Port Arthur.

Tokio, Thursday, Feb. 13.—Vice-Admiral Togo's official report of the work of the Japanese fleet at Port Arthur is thus translated:

"After the combined fleet left Sasebo on Feb. 6 everything went as planned. At midnight, Feb. 8, our advance squadron attacked the enemy at Port Arthur. At the time the enemy's advance squadron was for the most part outside of Port Arthur. Of the advance squadron at least the battleship Poltava, the protected cruiser Askold and two others appeared to have been struck by our torpedoes.

"On Feb 9 at noon our fleet advanced in the offing of Port Arthur Bay and attacked the rest of the enemy's ships about 10 minutes. The result of the attack is not yet known but it is believed considerable damage was inflicted on the enemy, and I believe they were greatly demoralized. They stopped fighting about 1 o'clock, and appeared to retreat into the harbor. In this action the damage to our fleet was very slight, and our fighting strength is not in the least decreased. The number of killed and wounded was 58. Of these four were killed and 54 wounded.

"A report of the engagement of the squadron at Chemulpo has probably been sent you already by Minister Urias. Our advance squadron bore the brunt of the enemy's fire, and after the attack, for the most part, rejoined the fleet. The Imperial Princess on board the ships are unharmed.

"The conduct of all our officers during the action was cool, not unlike that during the ordinary manoeuvres. Since the battle their spirits have been high, but their conduct was very calm during the battle. This morning, owing to a heavy south wind, there has been no communication between the ships and no detailed reports had been received from each vessel, so I report only the above facts.

Will Raise $5,000,000.

New York, Feb. 13.—Consul-General Uchida presided yesterday at a mass meeting in Carnegie Hall attended by about 300 Japanese and many American sympathizers, for the purpose of furthering a plan to raise a fund to aid Japan. Mr. Uchida announced that it was intended to raise $5,000,000. In view of the President's proclamation of neutrality he explained that it would only be permissable for the American citizens to contribute for the support of the Japanese Red Cross Society.

Ordered From Port Said.

Port Said, Feb. 13.—The Austrian collier Java, charted by Russia to proceed to Port Arthur with coal, has been ordered by the Egyptian Ministry of Foreign Affairs to leave here immediately.

KEEP OUT OF BUSINESS.

The Ontario Government's Instructions to Provincial Officials.

Toronto, Feb. 13.—The Legislature sat half an hour yesterday. Only one bill was introduced. It is an amendment to the Election Act by Mr. MacDiarmid of West Elgin. Its main provisions are: To disqualify persons from appointment as election officials who have ever been reported or found guilty of corrupt or illegal acts at elections; to extend the provisions of the Personation Act so as to give jurisdiction to county and district judges to issue warrants or summonses and to try persons arrested or prosecuted under that act; to extend the act to all municipalities and unorganized territory in the province; to give jurisdiction to county and district judges in prosecutions for corrupt practices under the election laws, the defendant to have the right to elect to be committed for trial before a High Court judge without a jury.

Mr. Eilber moved for a return of correspondence in connection with the appointment of William Coats as registrar of Huron, which had been kept vacant for four and a half years. He will get all but the private correspondence.

To Mr. Preston, the Attorney-General said that there had been complaints that the registrar of Brant was engaged in private business. The registrar said he was not now interested in the Brant Milling Co. The Government is against officials having remunerative salaries engaging in business in competition with others who have not public salaries.

In reply to Mr. Matheson, Attorney-General Gibson said it was not the Government's duty to interfere in the matter of the discontinuance of the Kingston street car service until people from Kingston suggested action.

Mr. Powell and Dr. Nesbitt were told by Hon. Mr. Latchford that it was expected that the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway would be completed by Dec. 31, 1904. The average cost per mile could not be stated until the second lift of gravel had been put on. The rails were laid up to the 57th mile and 80 miles had been graded.

The Minister of Education informed Mr. Hoyle that the patriotic programs issued by the Imperial Order of Daughters of the Empire had been approved by the department, and sent out as requested to several county inspectors, for use in the schools under their supervision.

The total amount paid in railway subsidies since Jan. 1, 1903, was $114,607.32, the Premier informed Dr. Nesbitt.

In reply to Mr. Smytho (Algoma) the Premier said the Government had the registration of voters' lists in the unorganized districts under consideration.

Hon. Mr. Davis informed Dr. Pyne that 2,016 volunteers had received land grants, and that 3,000 applications had been received.

Tendency of the Times

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip) and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by all druggists.

What She Meant.

"Didn't I hear your wife refer to you as the human mince pie?" said the curious person.

"Yes," answered Mr. Sirius Barker.

"Is that a compliment"

"Not exactly. She means that I never agree with anybody."

Cut This Out and Know How to Get Well

That is all. Send no money. Simply sign above. Tell me the book you need. I will arrange with a druggist near you for six bottles of

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

Take it a month at my risk. If it succeeds the cost to you is $5.50. If it fails the druggist will bill the cost to me. And I leave the decision to you.

Don't Wait Until You Are Worse

Taken in time, the suffering of this little one would have been prevented. Her mother writes me:

"Two years ago my little girl was sick continuously for six months. We tried many doctors, and they failed, yet it took only two bottles of your remedy to cure her, and she has remained cured. You can tell others of this cure if you so desire."

Mrs. C. H. Avery, Rockdale, N. Y.

"Tis a pity she did not first write me, before the case was dangerous.

The wife of Omer Andrus of Bayou Chicot, La. had been sick for 20 years. For 8 years could do practically no work. He writes:

"When she first started taking the Restorative she barely weighed 90 pounds; now she weighs 135, and is able easily to do all her housework."

Twenty "dark" years might have been "bright" ones. J. G. Billingsley of Thomasville, Ga., for three years has been crippled with disease. Now he is well. He writes:

"I spent $250.00 for other medicines, and the $3.00 I have spent with you have done me more good that all the rest."

Both money and suffering might have been saved. And these are only three from over 65,000 similar cases. These letters—dozens of them—come every day to me.

How much serious illness the Restorative has prevented, I have no means of knowing, for the slightly ill and the indisposed simply get a bottle or two of their druggist, are cured, and I never hear from them.

But of 600,000 sick ones seriously sick, mind you—who asked for my guarantee, 30 out of each 40 have paid. Paid because they got well.

If I can succeed in cases like these—fail but one time in 40, in diseases deep-seated and chronic isn't it certain I can always cure the slightly ill?

Why The Restorative Succeeds

You may oil and rub, adjust and repair a weak engine. It will never be stronger nor do its work better, without steam. More power—more steam is necessary.

And so with the vital organs. Doctor them as you will. That's mere repairing. Permanent cures never come safe through treating the nerves that operate those organs.

And that my Restorative does.

After almost a lifetime of labor—of study at bedsides and research in hospitals—I made this discovery. I found a way to treat, not the organs themselves, but the nerves the inside nerves—that operate these organs and gives them power and strength and health. That discovery has shown me the way to cure.

It makes my offer possible.

I know the remedy. I never forget the study, all the research, the trials and tests that perfected it. I have watched the nation year after year in cases difficult, discouraging. Time after time I have seen it bring back health to those poor ones whom hope had almost deserted. I know what it will do.

My only problem is to convince you.

And so I make my offer. And the bare fact that I make such an offer ought of itself to convince you that I know how to cure. Please read it again. It means exactly what I say. No catch—no misleading phrases in it. Simply this: you take the medicine and I will take the risk.

And you—not I—decide if you are to pay.

All You Need to Do

Simply sign the above—that is all. Ask for the book you need. The offer I make is broad—is liberal. The way is easy—is simple. The Restorative is certain.

But do not misunderstand me.

This is not free treatment, with nothing ever to pay. Such an offer would be misleading—would belittle the physician who made it. But I believe in a sick one's honesty—his gratitude. That when he is cured, he will pay the cost of the treatment—and gladly.

I make this offer so that those who might doubt, may learn at my risk.

Tell of it, please, to a friend who is sick. Or send me his name. That's but a trifle to ask—a minute's time—a postal. He is your friend. You can help him. My way may be his only way to get well.

I, a stranger, offer to do all this. Won't you, his friend, his neighbor, simply write?

He will learn from my book a way to get well. Perhaps, as I say, the only way for him. His case may be serious—hopeless almost. Other physicians—other specialists, may have failed. The matter is urgent, then.

Write me a postal or sign above to-day.

Wm. Barrett, Known as Toronto's "Potato King," Also Passes Away.

Toronto, Feb. 13.—Two prominent lodge men have passed away. Samuel Richardson died yesterday morning. He was 62 years of age and was born in Ireland. About 35 years ago he came to this country with the 13th Hussars, bought himself out and went into the hotel business. He was a prominent Mason, a widely-known Orangeman and a Veteran of '66.

William Barrett, known throughout the city as the "Potato King," and who carried on business as a commission merchant on Colborne-street, will be buried this afternoon. He was born in Cavan County, Ireland, in 1836, and came to Canada in 1859; was for ten years a resident of Montreal, and then came to Toronto. Dodd's Kidney Pills Curing the Kidney Ailments of the West.

Giroux, Man., has Its Proofs That They Never Fail—Philias Normandeau Tells What They Did for Him.

Giroux, Man., Feb. 12.—(Special.)—Almost daily cases are being reported in Manitoba that show the old reliable Dodd's Kidney Pills to be still going ahead in their good work of relieving and curing the Kidney Ailments of the Dominion, and this little town is not without proofs of its own of the splendid results they bring. One of these is Philias Normandeau. His story is like all the rest. He had Kidney Disease. He took Dodd's Kidney Pills and is cured.

"I suffered for three years from Kidney Disease," Mr. Normandeau says, "but Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. I only had to take five boxes when I was able to attend to my work, and all my old pains and weakness were gone. I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all who suffer from Kidney Disease."

Kidney Disease shows itself in many ways. Backache or Urinary Complaint are its earlier stages; Dropsy and Bright's Disease are its latter and most dangerous ones. Dodd's Kidney Pills have been tried in thousands of cases of Kidney Disease of all stages and have never yet failed to effect a cure.

I had a disagreeable feeling of overfulness after eating. Food would not digest, and caused great distress. Was nervous. I was treated for dyspepsia and constipation with little or no relief. AMPLE PRESSURE ON WATER MAINS.

Statements Made by Town Waterworks Department.

The Town Waterworks Department wishes the Examiner to correct a statement made in the Toronto Star of last night, with reference to the Cereal Company's fire, which occurred yesterday. The sprinklers in the mill were working from the commencement of the fire, and the work of the 240 sprinkler heads in each story had a decided effect in stopping the progress of the fire. There was ample pressure on the town water mains, there being 100 pounds to the square inch at the pump house, and seventy pounds in the town; when the sprinklers in the mill were shut off the pressure on the hose immediately rose to over 100 pounds.

A LIVELIER MARKET TO-DAY THAN USUAL.

Prices Remained High but Larger Quantities of Products for Sale.

That the country roads must be in far better condition than heretofore this year was evidenced this morning in the visibly better market. Of late, as a rule, but little has been offered for sale and that at exorbitant prices. To-day, however, although the prices still remain high and in no lines show a tendency to lower, the supply was far greater than usual. There was a noticable increase in the quantity of fowl offered. Of these chickens were selling at 80 and 90 cents a pair; turkeys at $1.50 to $2.00, and geese $1.30 to $1.50. Eggs were fairly plentiful, but were high, generally 30 cents per dozen being paid, although one lot went at 28 cents a dozen. Butter was down in price, bringing 21 to 23 cents per pound.

The country trade of the stores, also, was at its natural level, and and the fur-coated farmer was more in evidence on the street.

GUILD DISCUSSED JAPAN-RUSSIAN WAR.

Interesting Meeting of Charlotte Street Young Men's Guild.

A very interesting meeting of Charlotte street Young Men's Guild was held last night in the school room, when a profitable evening was spent in discussing the Eastern War. A debate was held on the subject :—

"Resolved, that Japan is justified in going to war with Russia."

Dr. Jeffs represented Japan, while Mr. Galbraith represented Russia. Messrs. Fife and Harmer acted as judges.

Dr. Jeffs in leading his side told how Russia got control of Port Arthur and promising to keep it an open Port. Instead of doing so, she is trying to annex more, and to get control of Manchuria, Corea, etc.

Mr. Galbraith, in representing Russia, said that Japan had no right whatever to go to war with Russia without first declaring war, as it was against the international rules of warfare. War is unjustifiable anyway, as it is against the Christian law.

Mr. Cunningham for Japan, said that Japan was quite justified in going to war, explaining how Russia had been so deceitful and avaricious, and how she is a stumbling block to commerce in the far East.

Mr. Irwan also spoke for Russia.

Mr. Webb, for Japan, said that Japan was quite justified in going to war. He also said it was not against the international law to go to war without first declaring war. As in the case of the United States and Spain.

Mr. Armstrong also spoke briefly, taking the negative. Mr. Galbraith and Dr. Jeffs summed up the points advanced, and reviewed the arguments presented by their respective sides.

The decision of the judges was in favour of the affirmative.

The evening proved very profitable and the members present expressed themselves as being pleased with the programme given.

A Balance of $93.37 to the Society's Credit After All Expenditure Are Met.

The semi-annual meeting of the C. G. E. Mutual Benefit Society, was held last night in the T.A.S. Hall, at which there were a number of the members of the Society present and the reports of the standing of the finances for the last half year were presented. Those showed that the affairs of the Society were in a very satisfactory condition and that there was a credit balance on the last half year's operations of $93.37. The report is very gratifying as showing that after all expenditures arising had been met the society was in such a good condition.

PASSING AWAY OF AN OLD RESIDENT.

Mr. Robert Howden who Died Last Night, a Resident of Peterborough for Twenty Years.

One of the old residents of Peterborough passed away last night in the person of Mr. Robert Howden, who died at the ripe age of 85 years. For 20 years the late Mr. Howden has been living in Peterborough, and was one of the best known men in town. Previous to that time he lived in Cavan, of which township he had been a resident for 60 years coming there from Ireland, his birth place, when about 5 years of age, and being there continuously until his removal to Peterborough. The deceased had been ailing for about a year, during which time he gradually became weaker until the end which occurred last night before midnight.

The surviving members of the family are the widow, and three daughters, Mrs. Henry Staples, of Cavan, and Misses Ella and Emma, both of whom are professional nurses, and are now at home attending to their patients. One son and one daughter, the late Mrs. Robt. Fair, predeceased their father.

The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to Little Lake Cemetery, where interment will be made.

BIBLE SAW OVER A CENTURY AND A HALF.

An Old Book, the Property of Mr. Robert Forbes.

Mr. George Forbes has shown the Examiner perhaps the oldest Bible now intact in Ontario. It is a Bible now brown with age and constant handling, and was printed in "Edinburgh, by Robert Fairbairn and Company, His Majesty's printers, M.D. CCXXXI." On the flysheet is inscribed "Janet Gibson, Her Bible, at West Gordon, February 22nd, 1744." It will thus be seen that the book is more than 150 years old. Although it shows the results of frequent handling, the print is still legible, although the paper has become darkened by over a century and a half's use.

Mr. Forbes, who is the present owner, will present it to the Peterborough Historical Society.

METROPOLE BUILDING SOLD TO MR. A. COX.

Mr. N. T. Le Plante Has Disposed of His Property on Hunter Street.

The whole of the burnt portion on Hunter street now belongs to Mr. Aaron Cox, Mr. M. T. Laplante having sold to him the block in which the Metropole is situated. This will give Mr. Cox the whole block, which when fitted up will make a handsome business block.

LAKEFIELD CLOSED TO OUTSIDE WORLD.

Trains were Stalled and no Communication with Peterborough was Possible.

Lakefield, Feb. 12. — (Special.)— During part of this week the village was almost completely isolated from the outside world, the G.T.R. being unable to send any trains on this line owing to the large amount of ice on the track. On Wednesday afternoon two engines opened up the the track between here and Peterborough, and on Thursday morning, the first mail by train arrived. Our citizens are greatly indebted to Mr. John Madill, who was so good as to carry our mails to and from Peterborough, when he was going and coming with passengers. The roads were in bad shape but Jack was able to get through all right. The telephone and G.N.W. telegraph lines were down and no communication could be made with the outside world in this respect. The G.T.R. telegraph line was in working order, and the obliging agent, Mr. Brooks, very kindly sent and received messages. The post office telephone was continually ringing, and the employees were kept busy answering questions as to the mails, trains, etc. Lakefield is to be congratulated on having such an efficient and painstaking staff in the post office, and as for patience, well, we do not think Job would be in it for a minute.

PLEASING EVENT AT LONG'S PALM PARLORS.

Sergt. Legg was Banquetted by Officers of 57th Regiment.

A very enjoyable evening was spent on Thursday night in Long's Palm Parlours, when the officers and non-commissioned officers of the 57th Regiment gave a delightful banquet in honour of Serg. Legg, of "C" School, Toronto, who has been for the last eight weeks, acting as instructor of the officers class of the 57th Regiment.

The affair was an informal one and a very pleasing quiet time was spent.

After the supper had been disposed of a toast list was run off, in which Serg. Legg, Mr. Langford, Mr. W. R. G Higgins, Mr. J. W. Kelly, Col. Serg. Henderson, and Serg. Poole, gave short addresses; all the speakers referred in eulogistic terms to the work of Serg. Legg while he had been here and wished him success in the future. He left here this morning for Hamilton, where he will conduct a similar class.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

The Deciding Game on Monday---T. C. S. Boys Play Peterborough Team---A Wrestling Bout.

FAST GAME FOR MONDAY NIGHT.

Keene and T.A.S. will meet to decide the Championship of the District.

On Monday night, a memory of olden times will be experienced when a hockey game will be played in the Charlotte street rink, between the T.A.S. and Keene teams. This will be the first game in the old rink this season, and the prospects are that it will be crowded to see these two teams come together again in a game to decide the championship of this district, and perhaps of the League, as it is believed that the team which wins on Monday night will be pretty near the top when the championship honours are being handed out.

Each team now has one win from the other credited to it, and the game which is to decide the better team will be fraught with some interesting incidents. The T.A.S. has played good hockey and there are a great many here, even those outside the team's immediate supporters, who look upon them as the better team and expect to see them win out. On the other hand, Keene has proved pretty strong on their own ice, and may possibly surprise the spectators by showing better form on the larger ice than has been expected. At any rate, the game will be a fast one, and with George Brown, of Port Hope, as referee, will be clean, and a good exhibition of the game is looked for.

WRESTLING BOUT FOR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Kennedy and Wiley Will Meet Here to Decide Championship of America.

Lovers of the scientific game of wrestling in Peterborough, and Ontario generally, will be pleased to learn that through the efforts of the Peterborough Athletic Club, the two best wrestlers in the world have been matched to wrestle for the 135 pound championship of America in the local opera house on February 23. The men are Max Wiley of Rochester, N.Y., who has never had a decision against him, except when he lost on an alleged foul to George Kennedy of Montreal. Wiley was the undisputed amateur champion of the world up to 1901, when he entered the professional ranks, and since then has had a clean record in the 23 contests. George Kennedy, who is to be Wiley's opponent, was instructor at the Montreal Y.M.C.A. for several years, and held the title of Canadian amateur champion until he entered the professional class in the spring of 1902, when he met and defeated J. Heaslip of Buffalo. Since then he has not lost a match, his hardest match being with Wiley, when each secured one fall, and after 32 minutes work for the third fall the referee gave him the decision as Wiley had fouled him. Since then it has been impossible to get the two men together, but now they have both signed an agreement and placed a forfeit of $50 as a guarantee of their appearance, so the people of Ontario will see the two fastest and most scientific wrestlers of the world when they meet on the 23rd of February.

LOCALS BEAT THE PORT HOPE BOYS

In a Game of Hockey in the Brock Street Rink Score 2 1.

A team composed of some of the junior boys of Trinity College School, Port Hope, visited Peterborough this morning to try conclusions with the Nationals, a junior local team and suffered defeat by the narrow margin of 2—1 goals. The youngsters put up a pretty fast game of hockey and the home team had hard work to win. The play was even, the teams being well balanced, and at half time the score stood at 1—1. The teams lined up as follows:—

Port Hope—Goal, Waters; point, Watts, cover point, Digby; forwards Wheeler, Maguire, Pinkham, Campbell.

Nationals.—Goal, L. Giroux; point, Coughlin; cover point, Conroy; forwards, O. Giroux, Nicholl, Heffernan, Fitzgerald.

Goal umpires—W. Nice, Port Hope, and W. Cahill, Peterborough.

Referee—F. S. Matheson, Port Hope.

MORE TROUBLE IN THE TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE

Sudden Death of a Player Who was to Have Taken Part in To-night's Match

The tie between Picton and Napanee for the championship of No. 1 district in the Trent Valley League was to have been played at Belleville to-night, but owing to a sudden bereavement in Napanee in the loss by death of one of their best players, Emory by name, the match is postponed until next week.

CURLING.

The first draw for the Kendry Cup will take place on Tuesday night, Feb. 16th, at 8 o'clock sharp. The rinks for that night will be:—

Edwards vs. Giroux.
Neill vs. Greer.
Morrow vs. Kerr.
Hay vs. T. Rutherford.
Whiten vs. Crane.
Ray vs. Blade.

On Wednesday night the rinks will be:—

Brown vs. Knapman.
Wardell vs. Davidson.
Frast vs. C. Rutherford.
Ferguson vs. Connal.
Clegg vs. Jeffries.
Thompson vs. the winner of the Edwards-Giroux game.

Skips are asked to have their rinks on the ice at 8 o'clock sharp.

TURF.

In some unexplainable way, the time of the race on Wednesday at Ottawa, which Looking Glass won in straight heats, was reported in all the Toronto papers as 2.21, 2.29 1-2 and 2.31, whereas it was very much faster. The correct time was 2.21, 2.19 1-2 and 2.19, which constitutes a world's record for three heats on ice.

Dr. Forrest, on his return from Ottawa, said with regard to the talk of another match with Gypsy Girl, "I was not issuing challenges, but when I read in the next morning's papers that Mr. Kennedy was as confident as ever that Gypsy Girl could defeat Looking Glass again I stated that the opportunity could be had at any time. If Gypsy Girl's people were declaring their opinion I would give them a chance to back it up."

LOOKING GLASS THE WINNER

Ottawa, Feb. 10th.—The Ottawa Ice Racing Association meet, controlled by Jas. McCollough, collapsed to-day, owing to a lack of patronage. There was a better crowd to-day, but the receipts do not warrant further expense. To-day's only event was a 2.12 trot and pace, $300,—

Looking Glass, Dr. Forest, Uxbridge	1	1	1
Celia M. Moody, Adams, N. Y.	2	2	2
Gypsy Girl, Kennedy, Toronto	3	3	3
Carrina, Hutchings & Fritz, Carthage, N. Y.	4	4	4

Time—2.21, 2.29 1-2, 2.31.

Charles Kennedy is as firmly convinced as ever that Gypsy Girl in her proper form can defeat Looking Glass as decisively as on the occasion of their match race.

PUCKERINGS.

Brockville team, the winners of No. 1 Group, Intermediate O.H.A. has defaulted the game to Belleville which was billed to be played last night, and Belleville is thus winner of Groups Nos. 1 and 2.

• • • •

The Lindsay Intermediate O.H.A. team, has been negotiating with the T.A.S. for a game in Lindsay during next week, but it is not likely the local team will be able to accommodate them, as they have championship games yet on hand, and should they win on Monday night, will have to meet Bobcaygeon and the winners of the southern districts.

The Times has now contracted the "championship fever," and is organizing a hockey team preparatory to challenging the winners of the Review-Examiner series. The Times says:

"The Times' employees are making arrangements to organize, and they expect to sound the bugle ere long. Perhaps it can be arranged to play the winners in case of the two evening dailies coming together once more."

The O. H. The Toronto Telegram is making prophecies concerning the Intermediate O. H. A. championship for 1904 and says: The Intermediate race is drawing to a close, and from the way the clubs are running there does not appear to be much danger of the silverware summering in Toronto. And if there's a lot of good hockey going now, just wait a bit. When Stratford and Belleville come together the fur will commence to fly in earnest. And when the dust settles you fellow with the kodak will be able to catch a fair snap-shot of the Intermediate O. H. A. champions.

The Western Colts hereby challenge the Hunter Street Lilies to a game of hockey to be played on the latter's ice.

The fastest (?) game of hockey ever seen was played in the Brock street rink Thursday when the Quakers beat the Harness Makers by a score of 4 to 3. The Quakers lined up as follows: Goal, Reid; point, Calander; cover point, Simpson, left wing, Bartley; right wing, Fitzgerald; centre, Byers; rover, Long. Bartley and Cancoles were made to look on for a long while. Wm. Cavanagh is a fine referee.—"Quaker."

RUGBY.

The annual dinner of the Peterborough Rugby Club will be held at McCallum's on Thursday evening next. The members of the team and the officers of the club are asked to bear the date in mind.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Jimmy Gardner, who is said to be the best pitcher in the Eastern League, will be on the rubber for Toronto again this season. He practically won them the championship in 1902 by his pitching, and last year managed the team, in which capacity however he was not particularly success.

THE ANSWERS OF THE POWERS

U. S. Secretary Hay Surprised at Reply of Great Britain.

A QUERY ABOUT MANCHURIA

Fears Expressed That the Far East War Will Involve Other European Nations Besides Russia—Col. Lawley's Mission to Canada Causes the Query "Will Britain Be Drawn Into It?"

Washington, Feb. 13.—To Russia and Japan the Washington Government suggests the propriety of limiting hostilities within as small an area as possible and of respecting the neutrality and administrative entity of China, that China may be free from disturbances and foreign interests there from menace."

Great Britain was heard from, expressing adherence to the principle laid down in the note, but withholding formal acceptance pending an answer to an enquiry whether the "administrative entity" of China involved Manchuria.

Japan was heard from quickly with the answer that she would act readily on the suggestion of the United States if a similar promise could be obtained from Russia.

Italy, Austro-Hungary and the Netherlands expressed sympathy with the plea, and promised an answer after consulting with other powers. There is reason to believe that Spain and Belgium will accept the invitation. Russia thus far has been silent, and the attitude of France is one of hesitation.

This was the situation last night. Meantime it is learned that Germany is addressing the combatants with a note in substance the same as that of Secretary Hay.

Secretary Hay Explained.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 13.—Russia is evidently not prepared at this time to give an answer to the United States to Secretary Hay's note on the subject of neutrality of China. As previously stated in these despatches hostilities have begun, the military authorities must be consulted, and the Czar doubtless will refer the matter to Viceroy Alexieff if he has not already done so. Russia has already learned of the position taken by several powers regarding Secretary Hay's note.

Germany and Great Britain, it is understood, both express sympathy with its purpose but with an important reservation concerning Manchuria, which is now the theatre of war. Germany's views in this respect were anticipated, but Great Britain's failure to give Secretary Hay unqualified support has caused surprise here.

Col. Lawley's Mission to Canada

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—Is Great Britain making preparations for eventualities in the Far East? This construction is placed upon the visit to Canada of Col. Lawley, who is on a mission for the War Office. The Colonel's mission had to do with the purchase of horses. He does not say so himself. On the contrary, he asserts that he is merely here to study the situation in Canada with respect to remounts for the Imperial army.

When it was suggested that the War Office was preparing for possible trouble in the near future the Colonel hastened to assure the reporter that there was nothing in that. Nevertheless the opinion prevails that the War Office does not intend to be caught napping as in the case of the South African war. Col. Lawley, who is staying with the Governor-General, had a two-hours' interview with the Minister of Agriculture yesterday morning. Afterwards Dr. Rutherford, chief veterinary inspector, was called in. The Hon. Mr. Fisher was asked subsequently whether there was anything for publication, but said the interview had reference to a War Office matter which he did not feel disposed to make public. Col. Lawley states that he will make a tour of Canada.

Fear Black Sea Complications.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 13.—The report that Russia is negotiating for permission to bring her Black Sea fleet through the Dardanelles cannot be confirmed here. In diplomatic circles, while it is not believed, the Porte would offer objections to this, the impression is that such an attempt would precipitate grave complications with the powers signatory to the Dardanelles convention.

What Can We Do?

Rome, Feb. 13.—The Government has received a message from the commander of the Italian cruiser Elba, which is at Chemulpo, Corea, saying that several Russian sailors from the warship sunk there by the Japanese in the recent engagement took refuge aboard the Elba, where they were kindly received. The commander says further that he cannot deliver these men to the Japanese because they would be made prisoners, and that he cannot return them to Russia, as this action might be interpreted as a breach of neutrality.

Hill's Beef to Be Seized.

New York, Feb. 13.—Several hundred tons of beef on the American steamship Corea, owned by James J. Hill's, and which sailed from Honolulu on February 8th, for the Russian port of Vladivostock, will be seized by the Japanese as contraband of war. This is a matter vitally affecting this country.

Sweden Fears Complications.

Berlin, Feb. 13.—Count Tombe, the Swedish Minister here, has had several conferences with Baron von Richtrefen. It is understood the Swedes fear Anglo-Russian complications and foresee the possibility of England seizing the Baltic Island of Gosland, as a coaling base, which the Swedes would surrender after a show of resistance. Then Russia would declare Sweden had violated neutrality. King Oscar may postpone his projected trip to Abbazia, and the mobilization of the Swedish army is not impossible.

RIGHTS IN HUDSON BAY.

Explorer J. W. Tyrell Gives His View—The Flag Has Been Hoisted Frequently in Name of "King and Country."

In a recent letter to The Toronto Globe, Mr. J. W. Tyrell, the explorer, writes from Hamilton as follows. In the columns of the press of late we read many articles of more or less interest relating to our "great inland sea," and, I suppose, it is only natural that anything appearing under the name of "Hudson Bay" should be of exceptional interest to me, as many of its harbors and hundreds of miles of its coast lines have been charted from my surveys—made from time to time for our Canadian Government—but from a national standpoint the question of Canadian rights and jurisdiction in that region should be one of deep and living interest to every British subject, particularly on this side of the Atlantic.

We, as true Canadians, should and doubtless will, to the utmost of our ability, maintain our rights, whatever they may be, in our "great inland sea," and the sooner we ascertain just what those rights are the better, and the less trouble will we be storing up for the future. If you will pardon me for making further personal reference, I would state that the expedition of the present year, now wintering in Hudson Bay, is by no means the first one to assert Canadian jurisdiction and hoist the British flag on those northern shores, for, upon four different occasions, not only has it been my privilege to plant our colors, but many other explorers have done so before me, in the name of our "King and country."

In regard to the entire shores of Hudson Bay and its numerous islands, I do not think there can be any question as to ownership, as they are certainly British territory and part of Canada. The only question, to my mind, is whether the bay is exclusively British or is it an open sea?

In regard to physical conditions, the facts are these. Hudson Bay lies entirely within British territory—no other nation having lands bordering upon it, or in any way accessible by means of its waters. The only means of access and egress between it and the Atlantic Ocean is through Hudson Strait, which are four hundred miles in length and about forty miles in width at the narrowest parts. These being the physical conditions of things, it is "up to us" to establish our exclusive rights, if we are entitled to such.

If I may trespass still further upon your valuable space, I would like to make a brief quotation from a letter of my own published in The Toronto Globe of September 26th, 1896, as it expresses to-day, as then, my feelings and facts upon the question:

"I have observed the islands and shores in many localities swarming with walruses, and I have witnessed such sights of reindeer as only photographs can describe. These, as well as the other products mentioned, have a high commercial value, but I will not further dwell upon this subject, excepting to speak briefly with the whale fisheries, through which alone Canada has already lost many millions of dollars. I might quote figures to prove this statement, as I have them before me, but it will be sufficient to state that the assertion is not made without ample information upon which to base it. An average right whale, in bone and oil, is valued at from ten to twenty thousand dollars, and, as three or four whales are commonly captured by one vessel in a season, it is readily seen what are the possibilities of a single whaling voyage. It is, of course, a well-known fact that foreign whalers have for years been fishing in Hudson Bay and the adjacent waters to the north and east.

"I have seen as many as four vessels in one season myself, so that, although, by the treaty of Utrecht, the sovereignty of Hudson Bay was ceded to Great Britain, it is just possible that, through long continued acquiescence, these foreigners may be establishing rights whilst ours are being allowed to lapse. It is certainly high time that our Government should take steps to assert Canadian jurisdiction in our North Sea, and this cannot be better done than through an expedition, etc., etc."

Such an expedition, on board the whaling steamer Neptune, in charge of Commander Lowe, is now wintering in Hudson Bay, and it is greatly to be hoped that through his actions our rights may be respected.

A MOTHERS' PRAISE.

"From the time that my baby was born," says Mrs. Robt. Price, of Combermere, Ont., "he was always sickly and costive until I began giving him Baby's Own Tablets. He is now well, strong and growing nicely, and I can hardly say how thankful I am for my baby's cure." In every home where there are young children this medicine should always be kept on hand. The troubles of the little ones come when least expected, and a dose of the Tablets promptly given may save a precious little life. Baby's Own Tablets cure all the minor ills of little ones and an occasional dose will prevent sickness. They are guaranteed to contain no opiate or harmful drug. The Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or sent postpaid at 25 cents a box by writing to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Drinking in Canada.

Though there has been an increasing consumption of spirits by the people of Canada during the last five years, the total consumption in 1903 was barely a third of what it was in 1874. It is interesting to look back over the annual returns of the Department of Inland Revenue and observe the comparative consumption per head of spirits, beer, and wines, year by year. The record begins with 1869, and is as follows:

	Spirits. gals.	Beer. gals.	Wine. gals.
1869	1.124	2.290	0.115
1874	1.994	3.012	0.288
1879	1.131	2.209	0.104
1884	0.998	2.924	0.117
1889	0.776	3.263	0.097
1894	0.742	3.722	0.089
1899	0.661	3.995	0.086
1900	0.701	4.364	0.085
1901	0.765	4.737	0.100
1902	0.796	5.102	0.090
1903	0.870	4.712	0.096

While this record shows a decrease in the consumption per head of spirits, it shows an increase in the consumption of beer, the latter showing being largely due, no doubt, to the introduction of lager and other beers of light alcoholic strength. In connection with the above figures, it is to be noted that in Great Britain the consumption of spirits is 1.02 gallons per head per annum, and of beer 31.3 gallons per head; in Germany it is 1.89 gallons of spirits and 26 gallons of beer, in France, 1.94 gallons of spirits and 5.3 of beer, besides 24.25 gallons of wine. The United States is credited with a consumption of spirits amounting to 0.86 of a gallon per head, and of beer amounting to 12.6 gallons per head. On the whole, these figures afford just ground for the conclusion that Canadians are a sober people. —Manitoba Free Press.

We Paid $100,000

For Liquozone—Yet We Give You a 50c. Bottle Free.

This Company, after testing Liquozone for two years in the most difficult germ diseases, paid $100,000 for the American rights. That is by far the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery.

We publish this fact to show you the value of Liquozone. Men of our class don't pay a price like that save for a product of remarkable worth to humanity.

Kills Inside Germs

The reason for that price is this: Liquozone alone can kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Nothing else in the world is so good for the human body; yet Liquozone is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a germ that it cannot kill.

Liquozone destroys at once and forever the cause of any germ disease. And there is no other way to do it. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is helpless in troubles of this kind.

Not Medicine

Liquozone is not made by compounding drugs. Its virtues are derived solely from gas, made in large part from the best oxygen producers. By a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time, this gas is made part of the liquid product. Liquozone has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

The result is a product that does what oxygen does. Oxygen is the very source of all vitality, the most essential element of life. Liquozone is a vitalizing tonic with which no other known product can compare. Its effects are exhilarating and purifying. But germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetable matter.

Liquozone goes wherever the blood goes, destroying every germ in the body. In this way it cures diseases which medicine never cures. It will do more for sick humanity than all the drugs in the world combined.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.

To brew good ale pure, hard water is an absolute necessity.

"STRANGER IN THE HOUSE."

A Visitor's First Look at Ontario's Legislature—Superficial Glance at Men Who Make Provincial Laws.

The love of law and order is considered by many authorities to be the most important element in British character, and that on which all the other national virtues rest. It is not without some awe that one enters for the first time a House of Parliament, the very nursery and source of the organic life of a nation. The glamor of life in its aspect of greatest complexity appeals to one, and when you climb to dizzy heights in a vast chamber and gaze down on the duly chosen representatives of 2,182,947 people, more or less, your heart is apt to thump with the exertion if not with excitement.

Spick and Span Chamber.

The gorgeousness of the chamber in Queen's Park, which seems gaudy and even crude when empty, is softened and subdued to a rich beauty by the sombre masses in the crowded seats. Here and there little patches of bright color seemed to have dropped from the painting ceilings, whose frocks and blouses mingled with more substantial tailoring. After ten years' wear the chamber still bears the spick-and-span appearance appropriate to the new young country whose law-givers it shelters. The mace gleams as it lies on the table, its big head pillowed eastwardly on a comfortable cushion. The figures on the clock shine chronically. A glass of water brought by a page on a silver salver to a thirsty orator has an unusual sparkle, which the orator perhaps hopes to imbibe.

There is a massive loftiness about the legislative buildings which might inspire the casual visitor with ideas of elevated purpose and solid endeavor to be discovered in the utterances of the people's representatives, but visitors are rare who will admit any discovery of this nature. Indeed, there are to be found those who are misguided enough to contrast the pettiness of the proceedings with the nobility of the frame.

What Time Will Do.

There are four galleries around the Chamber. On the north, facing the Speaker, is the Speaker's gallery. On the east the visitors' and on the west the ladies' gallery afford a steep and straitened vantage for the general public. On the south sit, like the assessors in the Egyptian Hall of Judgment, the gentlemen of the press. Whichever gallery you sit in you will find the listening quite as bad as the speaking. On the principle that faculties develop with exercise, a reasonably deaf man might attain to moderately acute powers of hearing by attending the House and making it a point to catch every syllable. It is said that gentlemen of the press who have been engaged in legislative work for any time acquire a prehensile or flexible power of the outer ear, so that they can direct it as desired in the heat of debate. There is much dispute among members and the public generally as to whether any reportorial ear has ever been really seen to twitch.

The Speaker is quite a stately figure as he moves in wearing a three-cornered black hat and attended by the Sergeant-at-Arm with the mace and a sword. The Speaker reads prayers for nearly four minutes every day, and does it worthily. Everybody sits down then, and has a stool to put his feet on when the House settles to business. A message from the Lieutenant-Governor, who stands for the Crown, brings everybody to their feet once in a while, and there is great outer respect for dignities.

Look Busy Anyway.

The Legislators occupy their desks in pairs, like political twins, and the flash and rustle of snowy paper give an appearance of constant activity. From time to time one of the members, busied with correspondence, flings a letter with bird-like flight through the air, and before it falls one of the alert little page-boys, in the neatest of courtly costume, rushes silently forward to carry it to the mailing-box. The talking as a general rule is rather dreary to an outsider. It wanders monotonously along until suddenly all the big men on one side of the House begin to hammer on their desk-lids by way of applause. The hammering is generally confined to one side of the House at a time, but alternates with the speakers, and in cases of disorderly retort and hot words the hammering is echoed from side to side with the alacrity of party loyalty. But there is more order here than in the British House of Commons, where the members are huddled together. Ample space tends to neatness, and the absorption of the unseemly if not its suppression.

Keen-Eyed Speaker.

Such a small matter as a member wearing his hat is barely noticeable in the width of view. But the Speaker will permit no member to stand up with his hat on, whereby it may be perceived that the Speaker has a keen eye. They call the desks and the chairs whereon the legislators sit the treasury and the opposition benches, so strong is tradition, for British legislators have sat on benches for centuries, and a bench is a very good thing to work at in any case. As you look along the orderly rows in the darkening afternoon, before the electric lights begin to glow and the blinds are drawn, out of the spacious indistinctness there begin to appear familiar faces, faces you have seen in the papers, met on the streets, caught glimpses of in railway carriages, steamers, hotels, dispersedly home about on haunted corners of memory. With a chart of the House, a little map of the seats and the big table and the galleries, with the names of the very elect duly noted, it becomes clear to you that men of mark are not the least remarkable. And why not, when you boil down two million into five score?—Toronto Sunday World.

Everybody knows that Cod Liver Oil and Iron are the greatest system builders known to medical science.

Nearly everybody knows, too, that most people, especially those who most need building up, find it very difficult, sometimes impossible, to take and digest Cod Liver Oil and Iron. This difficulty has been entirely removed by the introduction of SHELLFISH LANGUAGE.

Curious Clicking Sounds Heard on the Water at Night.

Most seamen will tell of curious clicking sounds heard on calm nights at sea, and the origin of the noise seems so altogether unaccountable that it has often created some alarm among superstitious fishermen.

A distinguished naturalist made a careful study of the sounds on many occasions and found that it was not a sustained note, but made up of a multitude of tiny ones, each clear and distinct in itself and ranging from a high treble down to a bass. When the ear was applied to the gunwale of the boat the sound grew more intense, and in some places as the boat moved on it could not be heard at all.

On other occasions the sounds resembled the tolling of bells, the booming of guns and the notes of an æolian harp.

For a long time he was unable to trace the cause, but at length discovered that the sounds were made by shellfish, hundreds of them opening their shells and closing them with sharp snaps. The noise, partly muffled by the water, sounded indescribably weird. He was finally led to the conclusion that as the shellfish made the sounds they probably had some meaning and that the clicks might possibly be a warning of danger when the shallow water was disturbed by the boat.

Girls Kept In Cages.

It is said that the people of New Britain have a peculiar custom of confining their girls in cages until they reach marriageable age. These cages are built of wood cut from the palm tree and are inside the rude houses. Outside each house is a fence of wickerwork made of reeds. The girls are caged at the age of two or three and are never allowed to go out of the house, yet they seem strong and healthy.

His Latest Request.

There is a clever lad who will get his living in this world. For playing truant maternal authority cut off his supper. Casting one fond look at the authoress of his existence, he paused at the door to say:

"Mother, I am going to die, and when I am no more I wish the doctor to cut me open and look at my stomach."

The maternal heart was filled with awful forebodings, and the maternal voice asked what he meant.

"I wish it to be known," he answered, "that I died of starvation."

This was enough. The small boy was triumphant and retired to his little bed gorged to repletion.

A Superlative.

A gentleman at Listowel tells this story:

Several men were discussing the merits of the great men the world has produced, each saying that his hero was the greatest. As the temperaments of the men differed, they argued for warriors, statesmen and poets. One claimed the laurel for Shakespeare.

"My friend, William Shakespeare, was the greatest man that ever lived," he declared with emphasis.

"Your friend?" replied another "Why, he's been dead more than a hundred years."

"Well, well," was the reply, "how time do fly."

INDIAN HEAD WORK.

How a Canadian Chief Gave an Englishman an Object Lesson.

Numerous instances of the red man's quickness of wit are related by those who have had dealings with him. A Canadian chief was looking idly on while some Englishmen were hard at work improving property newly acquired from the dusky tribe.

"Why don't you work?" asked the supervisor of the chief.

"Why you no work yourself?" was the rejoiner.

"I work head work," replied the white man, touching his forehead. "But come here and kill this calf for me and I'll give you a quarter."

The Indian stood still for a moment, apparently deep in thought, and then he went off to kill the calf.

"Why don't you finish your job?" presently asked the supervisor, seeing the man stand with folded arms over the unskinned, undressed carcass.

"You say you give me a quarter to kill calf," was the reply. "Calf dead, me want quarter."

The white man smiled and handed the Indian an extra coin to go on with the work.

"How is it," asked the Englishman one day after a series of such one-sided dealings, "that you so often get the better of me?"

"I work head work," solemnly replied the man of the woods.

A white trader once succeeded in selling a large quantity of gunpowder to one of this tribe on the assurance that it was a new kind that the white man used for seed, and if sown in especially prepared loam would yield an amazing crop. Away went the Indian to sow his powder, and in his hope of making money from his fellows was careful not to mention his enterprise. When, at last, he realized how he had been duped, he held his tongue for a year or more until the trickster had completely forgotten the occurrence. Then he went to his hoaxer's store and bought goods on credit, amounting to a little more than the price of the planted powder. He had the reputation of a good payer, and his scheme worked easily. When settling day came, the creditor called promptly.

"Right," said the Indian slowly. "Right, but my powder not yet sprouted. Me pay you when me reap him."

BAD AS IT IS IT CAN GET WORSE

Indigestion Develops Into Dyspepsia which is Another Name for Continual Misery—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the one Sure Cure.

You know you have indigestion! You have a slight pain in the chest after eating; you have gas or wind that is disagreeable if it comes up, and much more so if it refuses to; you have headaches, nervousness, heart fluttering, low spirits; you do not feel like your work!

Now, you may have any or all of these symptoms and you must have along with them the discomforting knowledge that bad as the trouble is it can and will get worse. Indigestion never cures itself. It develops into Dyspepsia with its days of torture and nights of waking. The stomach must be helped and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the help it needs. There is both theory and proof for this. The theory is that they digest the food themselves, while the stomach rests and recuperates. The proof comes in thousands of cases like that of Miss Gusty V. Campbell, of Little Shippegan, Gloucester Co., N.B. She says:

"I cannot say enough in favour of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. I suffered from dyspepsia for two months and was always getting worse till an advertisement led me to try a box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. That one box cured me completely."

A VILLAGE IDYL.

Homesick to-night? My heart is sick,
And, as in days of yore,
I walk along the village street,
I see the village store
The same old timer cod fish
Is dangling near the door.

I hear the village joker;
I hear the answering roar.
He's cracked those hearty-headed jokes
These twenty years or more,
Yet I could laugh at them again
Until my sides were sore.

Before that self-same window there,
I used to stand and feel
My boyish eyes on candy wealth,
For candy was my creed,
And if I had a copper, O,
Then I was rich indeed.

I sit in awe upon a box,
My hands upon my knees,
And hear the farmers as they talk
Of politics and cheese;
Of horses, plows, the weather, crops,
And topics such as these.

Till all at once a vision bright
Stands in the open door,
Her face is sweet, her feet are bare,
Her little frock is tore;
My boyhood's darling! Ah, my heart,
I'll see that face no more.

Wall street has proved its soundness by the stout resistance offered to a quick succession of severe shocks, the like of which have not been previously experienced. The outbreak of war, the Baltimore fire and the collapse in cotton speculation, to say nothing of heavy new railroad borrowings, combined to put a strain on the monetary situation that would have wrought disaster had the financial fabric disclosed any weak points of importance. The fact, however, that our market yielded only a couple of points under such an avalanche of unfavourable news, and quickly reacted afterwards, is highly reassuring, and demonstrates anew the beneficial effect of our heavy liquidation in 1903. Had these adverse elemnts happened a year ago they would have precipitated a panic whereas now they have but a transient effect and have afforded a most satisfactory test.

The war, of course, overshadows all other influences. Japanese early victories encourage hopes of a short war as well as a check to Russian encroachments which latter are adverse to the progress of civilization. In view of general sympathy with the cause of Japan both at home and abroad Japanese victories are likely to have a stimulating effect upon the stock markets, while Russian success might, on the contrary, exert depressing influences. Thus far none of the world's money markets have seriously felt the war, the worst effect falling on Paris where Russian bonds are largely held. It has been estimated that France holds not less than $1,200,000,000 of Russian bonds; so that Russia's chances of increasing her borrowings from her best friend on good terms are not very brilliant. Later on Russia may make a better show of resistance, but the superior alertness of the Japanese have already won them important advantages.

PROMISING YOUNG JOURNALIST

Young men are attaining prominence in journalism, as well as in other pursuits, and one of the recent evidences of the success of a young man in this profession is that of Mr. Norman S. B. James, who has been taken into partnership with his father, Mr. M. A. James, publisher of the Canadian Statesman, Bowmanville. Mr. Norman James has grown up practically in a newspaper office, knows the business from the bottom up, and will make good in the larger responsibilities which a partnership brings. He is very popular among his fellow newspaper men, and has evidenced a decided ability along journalistic lines.

The Statesman is now in its 50th volume, and its circulation is increasing as its worth deserves.

WOLF! WOLF! AND THERE IS NO WOLF.

People Fooled Once are Slow to Respond When Danger Comes.

We have all read in our school readers the story of the boy tending the sheep who thought to have fun with the servants and cried out wolf! wolf! The servants rushed to his assistance to find that it was a false alarm, and when the wolf really came they would not respond to the call of the boy and the flock was destroyed.

It is the fashion nowadays among certain proprietors of patent medicine that "will cure every disease on earth" to try to frighten every one into believing that he is afflicted with some dangerous malady, by reciting thousands of symptoms and indications of disease. People see so much of this that when they really become so afflicted they will pay no attention to remedies of merit that they really stand in great need of.

The proprietors of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets do not claim that their remedy will cure anything but catarrh and they give the American people credit for having sense enough to tell for themselves when they are suffering from that disease. If you have catarrh, you know it and want to be cured and that's all there is to it.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are without doubt the most effective cure for catarrh. You may look the country over and you will find no one who will dispute that statement. They have cured so many sufferers of this odious and dangerous disease and have done so much good throughout the land that their name has become a household word. They thoroughly renovate and cleanse the entire system of all catarrhal poisons and impurities and by thus striking at the root of the disease effect cures that are complete and permanent.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. You cannot affard to tamper with this treacherous disease when a sure cure is within such easy reach.

OUR BUTTER EXPORTS.

Nothing perhaps illustrates more forcibly the value of the Liberal administration at Ottawa than the immense growth in the past seven years of the Canadian butter trade, says the Brantford Expositor. Back in the seventies and early nineties Canada used to send Great Britain a great deal of butter worth to our farmers nearly three millions in 1877, and $2,333,4 9 in 1881. From that time onward there was a great falling off. Other countries nearer Great Britain, like France and Denmark, had gone in for improved methods, and were allowed to capture the trade. By 1887 the trade actually fell off to $171,027, and in 1896, the last year of Conservative rule, it was $893,053. As soon as Hon Mr. Fisher became Minister of Agriculture he instituted the cold storage system, from maker to consumer. The first year the exports jumped to $1,912,389. By 1899 they had attained a value of $3,526,007, and in the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1903, the butter exports to Great Britain brought in $6,554,014. This is a remarkable development of the industry, and Canadian electors may draw their own conclusions from the fact that in the last seven years of Conservative rule the value of butter exported was $4,500,000, while in seven years of Liberal rule it was $27,500,000. The Opposition press may do all the howling it will, but it will find insurmountable difficulty in explaining away these figures.

Brother's Gruesome Find.

Toronto, Feb. 13.—The body of Francis Niblett, aged 63, of 14 Foxley street, was discovered by his brother, James, hanging from a beam in the woodshed, in rear of the house. When found the body was quite cold, and had apparently been there for several hours. The legs were touching the ground. Deceased lived alone and was in comfortable circumstances, but suffered from despondency since the death of his wife, a few months ago. Coroner McConnell is investigating.

By Acclamation.

Quebec, Feb. 13.—Nominations for the House of Commons took place in Kamouraska yesterday. Mr. Lapointe, Liberal, a barrister of Fraserville, was elected by acclamation.

THE GOLDEN LION, — — GEORGE STREET

A Year of Success

T-H-A-N-K-S—with a big Capital T—is the way we spell our thanks to you for the generous patronage you have given the Golden Lion during our business year, which has just closed. This is our business New Year. Stock-taking is over, and what a pleasure, after so much hard work and care, to look at the result. We have passed through the most successful year in the Golden Lion's career—the increase in sales being again a notable gain over last year and all previous years.

Gratitude to our patrons who have helped us to accomplish what we have is uppermost. But the growth is the natural result of the business methods of the store—a strict adherance to a straightforward policy as well as to the high character of our merchandise.

This Being Leap Year

our aim is to make our business continue to grow "with leaps and bounds." We are preparing for a busy New Year. There is always room for improvement.

As this is the time of year when business men generally take stock and balance things for 1904, it is time, too, when plans are changed and help organized. We have added new blood to the store staff and strengthened our selling ability commensurate with our growth in trade. The new salesmen which have been engaged are all capable and experienced for the different departments. We like to tell you these things because we want you to know how we are safeguarding your interests as well as our own.

The aftermath of Stocktaking shows up many "Consolation Prizes" for those who failed to get the bargains before. This is Gleaning Day.

THE LAND FIGHT
400 JAPS SABRED.

Japanese Troops Repulsed in Attack on Port Arthur.

19,000 JAPANESE TROOPS LANDED.

Port Arthur Closed to Merchant Ships—Protest From United States Minister Conger---Fall of Port Arthur Expected---Martial Law in the North—300,000 Russians Called to Colors—Alexieff Isolated.

London, Feb. 15.—The Daily Mail's Port Arthur correspondent, under date of Feb. 12, says:

"Official advices state that the Japanese landed 600 soldiers near Talienwan with disastrous results, 410 being sabred by Cossacks. The remainder escaped to their ships. It is further stated that the Japanese landed at Dove Bay, where 30 of them were killed and the remainder retreated."

Japs Defeated.

The Daily Mail's Newchwang correspondent, under date of Feb. 11, cables.

"According to official Port Arthur telegrams, the Japanese landed a force yesterday at Pigeon Bay, West Port Arthur. They were then attacked by troops and by the batteries and were defeated with heavy losses."

Port Arthur Sealed.

The Tokio correspondent of The Times, cabling under date of Feb. 12, says. "It is said that the Japanese squadron has sealed Port Arthur."

The Daily Telegraph's Shanghai correspondent under date of Feb. 12, says it is reported that the Japanese have bombarded Dalny and landed marines.

"The Times' Weihaiwei correspondent says that on the morning of Feb. 10, the Japanese occupied Chinghaiwen, a Russian coaling coaling station, close to Masampho.

Alexieff Isolated.

The correspondent of The Daily Express at Pekin, in a cablegram, dated Feb. 12, reports that Viceroy Alexieff is practically isolated, direct communication between Port Arthur and Vladivostock being suspended. He adds that the railroad behind Port Arthur has been blown up, and that 4,000 Japanese troops have landed near Dalny.

Thirty Japanese Captured.

New York, Feb. 15.—The American's correspondent at Che Foo cables: Outpost fighting on the Yalu has begun and the Russians have captured eighty Japanese officers and men. The Japanese army at present gathered at Wiju, or within a few miles of that point, is said to number 80,000. The Russian force which is being rushed across Manchuria to meet this force consists of 90,000 men of all arms.

Port Arthur Closed.

Port Arthur, Feb. 15.—The Russian Consul here gave notice to-day that Port Arthur was closed to merchant ships. Great excitement was caused by the report that the steamer Wenchow, with 200 Japanese on board, on attempting to leave the port was fired upon and seized. She had awakened the suspicions of the harbor police a fortnight ago, and Russian soldiers kept close watch upon her.

A strong protest has been lodged by United States Minister Conger in the case of the steamer Pleiades. This vessel has been virtually seized and an application for her departure refused. British vessels are being similarly treated. McCallam, the special correspondent of the London Daily Mail has been arrested at Port Arthur.

Port Arthur Will Fall.

London, Feb. 15.—The Nagasaki correspondent of The Daily Telegraph expresses the conviction that Russia is quite unable to hold the Liaotung peninsula and that Port Arthur is bound to fall in time, even without an assault.

A statement that China will maintain neutrality is published in Pekin.

It is also reported that the Siberian Railroad has been wrecked in six places, covering a distance of seventy miles.

The Tien Tsin correspondent of The Standard, under date of February 11, says the British, American, French, German and Italian Ministers have jointly notified the Russian and Japanese Ministers that no hostilities will be allowed on Chinese soil, outside of Manchuria.

10,000 Japs at Chemulpo.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 15, 2.45 a. m.—A communication from Viceroy Alexieff just received confirms the report of the landing of 19,000 Japanese troops at Chemulpo. The Viceroy adds that reports have been received of attempts to cut the telegraph wires along the Chinese Eastern Railway, and also to destroy one of the abutments of the Sungari bridge. These attempts, he adds, were immediately detected and decisive measures taken to guard the railway.

The mobilization of troops is being successfully carried out. Gen. Bazilewski, chief engineer, reports that the Port Arthur forts were not damaged during the bombardment.

Martial Law in North.

Valadivostock, Feb. 15.—Martial law has been proclaimed here. Those Russians who have no provisions must leave within two weeks. Russians with eight months provisions may stay in the meantime, but if the port is blockaded every one must go beyond the forty verst zone. One thousand Japanese, including the commercial agent, leave to-morrow in the steamship Batavia. The remainder will go to Khabarovsk, in Eastern Siberia.

10,000 Chinese Fighters.

Tien Tsin, Saturday, Feb. 13.—Ten thousand Chinese regulars have been ordered to leave Paotingfu for service in the Chili Manchurian border.

300,000 Called to Colors.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 15.—The mobilization of the reserves in Siberia and the Kazen district calls to the colors 300,000 men. All men who have served five years in the army and are under 43 years of age must report. This will result in the disorganization of daily life in this part of the Empire, and it will have an ill effect upon every profession and calling.

France Is Neutral.

Paris, Feb. 15.—The French Government has declared its neutrality in connection with the war between Russia and Japan.

Japs Beaten Back.

Che Foo, Feb. 15.—It is reported that 12,000 Japanese troops were landed at Dove Bay last Wednesday morning and that they were met by the Russians, who engaged them in a hand-to-hand fight. The reports say the Japanese were driven back. It is reported that Japanese troops have been landed 40 miles further west. All foreign steamers that have left Dalny have heard nothing of the Japanese fleet or army.

—Owing to the bad weather yesterday some of the churches were not very largely attended.

RUSSIAN GUNS SANK THEIR OWN VESSELS

Japanese Have Driven Russian Fleet Into Port Arthur Harbour.

Russian Vladivostok Squadron is Cruising in Japan Seas---The Latest Despatches of the War.

(Special to The Examiner).

THE JAPANESE AFTER COREA.

Latest despatches from the seat of war give the information that Japan is following up her earlier successes by a determined effort to strengthen herself in Corea. Nineteen thousand men have been landed at Chemulpo, and these may be depended upon to hold control of Corea. Six Japanese warships have also appeared at the mouth of the Yalu River, and there have been evidences of an engagement there.

Meanwhile the Russian Vladivostock squadron is said to be cruising in the Sea of Japan. The reason for this move is evidently that of inducing Japan to remove either a portion of her fleet, or the whole of it, from Port Arthur to go against the Russian squadron. The Japanese, however, appear to be relying on the ability of the torpedo fleet to keep them in check, and evidently has no intention of withdrawing from the stand taken at Port Arthur, where the whole Russian fleet has been taken into the inner harbour, and the port is depending for protection upon her forts, which have been re-inforced.

RUSSIAN TORPEDOS SUNK.

Chee Foo, Feb. 14.—A reliable authority says that three Russian torpedo boats have been sunk by guns from the forts. They were mistaken for Japanese vessels.

SQUADRON IN JAPAN SEA.

Tokio, Saturday, Feb. 13.—The Russian Vladivostok squadron is still in sight cruising in the sea of Japan. A report to the effect that Matsuyama, on the Inland Sea has been bombarded by the Russian squadron is untrue.

PORT ARTHUR DEPENDS ON FORTS.

Chee Foo, Feb. 14.—The steamer Wenchow arriving from Port Arthur reports that 11 Russian ships were struck in Wednesday's engagement and badly injured. The whole fleet has been taken into the inner harbour and Port Arthur is depending for protection of her forts which have been reinforced. There is frequent firing which is presumably drawn by Japanese torpedo boats. Firing was heard at midnight, Feb. 11th, at intervals, also on the nights of the 12th and 13th.

"THE MIDNIGHT" STRUCK A PASSING C. P. R. TRAIN

Near Myrtle This Morning All Trains Delayed by Drifted Snows.

Railwaymen were busy all day clearing the tracks after yesterday's storm, and digging out frozen in freight cars. In the neighbourof four inches of snow fell on Sunday and to-day. The trains generally were badly overdue, being anywhere between half an hour and three hours behind scheduled time. The actual depth of snow would not have been so formidable an enemy had there not been such a strong wind. The drifts along the lines seriously hampered the movements of the trains, the snow in every cutting being almost impassable. From mid-night until noon to-day both companies had all their available snowploughs in operation clearing the lines.

Speaking of the storm, Mr. Sindy of the G.T.R., said that this year Peterborough and the district had been exceedingly fortunate in regard to the depth of snow, as compared with places in western Ontario. In fact this winter was not an exceptional one in regard to snowstorms. In the western districts trains passed through between two solid walls of snow, so high as to sometimes darken the carriages. The Grand Trunk snowplough left Peterborough at 2 a.m. this morning, and returned about noon. The trains were all somewhat overdue.

The Canadian Pacific were unfortunate in their midnight leaving the rails at Myrtle. The exact cause for this mishap is unknown, but it is believed that in some way as the express and another train were passing, they struck, and both left the rails. No one was injured, as far as can be ascertained.

The train with the passengers were stalled at Myrtle all night, and only reached Peterborough shortly before noon to-day.

There are practically no freight trains running on the railways at all, and the 5.10 C.P.R. express from the east this morning, was more than three hours late, and the passengers, over 40 in number, were given breakfast at McCallum's restaurant by the Company.

THE EXODUS FROM FARM TO CITY.

The Illinois State Board of Public Instruction has issued a bulletin to the school teachers of the state, urging them to direct their energies towards checking the exodus of farm boys to the cities, says the Montreal Herald. The evils of city life are graphically set forth, and the bulletin says: "It will be a sad day for our national life when all our young farmers come to town; when the small, well-cultivated homesteads give way to landed estates." What the school teachers of Illinois may be able to accomplish in the way of stemming the cityward tide remains to be seen, but if the young idea of Illinois is taught to shoot by young women and men in their teens, as is the case in the rural sections of Canada, the exodus will hardly suffer a very serious set back. Besides school teachers have enough to do in the discharge of their legitimate work.

After all, is there not a good deal of nonsense talked about this keeping of boys on the farm? It certainly is desirable that the exodus be checked, but why city people should refuse to go to the country — and certainly thousands of them are better fitted for the farm than for city life — while at the same time they cry out the against the country youth coming to the city, is hard to comprehend. Why should a boy, because he happens to be a farmer's son, be expected to become a farmer any more than the son of a blacksmith should follow a life at the forge, or the son of a preacher become a parson? Human beings are not all made in the same mould. The world of commerce, of letters, of art, of war, the pulpit, the press, have drawn some of their brightest recruits from the farm. This infusion of new blood into city life, is an important factor in the world's progress. The exodus is not an unmixed evil. Point should be added to the campaign against the exodus from farm to city by a concerted movement encouraging an exodus from city to farm. Our cities are peopled with thousands of men and women who are expending to small purpose energy and vitality that would accomplish something worth while on the farm. They work long hours in poorly ventilated workshops and factories, for a small wage, are huddled together in little houses in crowded streets where the sun and pure fresh air are shut out—a sad contrast surely to the free and open air life of the farmer, who earns his daily bread by sweat of the brow in a first hand contest with nature.

Farm life never before held out such boundless opportunities to thrifty people as it does to-day. Science is making two bushels to grow where one grew before, and invention is doing much to lessen labour on the farm. The comforts of city life are within reach of almost every farmer, and the conveniences of the telephone, electric car and extended postal facilities are bringing country and city daily closer together. The farm to-day presents golden opportunities to the farm boy who will post himself on progressive farming, and he should not be encouraged to think the high road to fortune lies through city life. To the city man the farm offers a life of health and freedom compared with his present existence, and an opportunity to become a proprietor on an expenditure of much less capital than it would take to attain the same position in the city.

THE CONFLAGRATION IN BALTIMORE.

Mr. Bert Sherin, a Former Peterborough Boy in the Fire.

The Examiner has received from Mr. Bert Sherin, formerly of Peterborough, now connected with the advertising department of the Baltimore, Md., News, copies of that paper describing the great fire which occurred in that city two weeks ago. The disaster seems all the more appalling when the reports of it in the home papers are read. The News itself was burned out, and yet with characteristic enterprise never missed an issue. On Monday the issue as well as that of several succeeding days was published from the office of the Washington Post, about 30 miles from Baltimore.

The progress and ravages of the fire is very graphically described, one paragraph says:—"The enormity of the fire was beyond the comprehension of the throngs on the streets. The crowd was awed beyond thought. It was fascinated by the carnival of flame, and now and then women would exchange compliments on the uptown corners with as much equanimity as though they were attending a fete. However, the great mass of the spectators was speechless. It moved along because others moved and fixed in dumb wonder on the destruction."

REARING CHICKENS ON ONTARIO FARMS.

A Great Demand for Ontario Fowl in England.

Some Practical Suggestion from the Department of Agriculture.

There is every indication that there will be a great consumption of poultry in Canada this year. The demand for every class shows a striking increase during the last few years. Mr. F. C. Hare, Chief of the Dominion Poultry Division, does not believe it possible for the farmers to rear for at least five years to come, more utility type chickens than can be sold with profit on the Canadian markets alone. Moreover, commission merchants in Great Britain can handle profitably at least $1,000,000 worth of our poultry annually. Last year the export of chickens to Great Britain was materially reduced on account of the great demand in Canada. The poultry exports from Canada to Great Britain were only $160,513, a small proportion of the $5,154,092 imported by the Mother Country. The greatest value of poultry was exported from Russia, Belgium, France and the United States. Each of these countries shipped over $1,000,000 worth. It is a short-sighted policy on the part of our farmers to neglect this industry, when there is an unsatisfied demand for poultry; information with regard to any branch of the business can be had gratis, and the business is a profitable one.

It will pay almost every farmer to improve his flock before the breeding season begins. The old fowls should be killed. There is a greatly increased profit in breeding from utility type specimens rather than from common barn yard stock. It is preferable to select the eggs for hatching from a breeding pen of the best ten or twelve hens, and one cockerel rather than from the larger number of laying hens on the farm. As a general rule the eggs that are incubated on the farm are the eggs from the poorer layers. A utility-type Plymouth Rock cockerel should be bought and placed at the head of the breeding pen. A great improvement will be noticed in any flock of farm fowls by crossing with the Plymouth Rock.

The eggs for hatching should be kept in a cool place, 40 to 60 degrees. The chickens should not be hatched later than the middle of June. May-hatched chickens are preferable. It is quite possible for almost every farmer to increase the number of chickens reared with little extra labour.

Sitting hens should not be allowed to hatch chickens in any place they choose about the farm buildings. They should be in one pen, set apart for this purpose. The nest boxes should be made without a floor and placed around the sides of the pen. Two or three shovelfuls of earth should be thrown into each nest box and a hollow space scooped out for the eggs; the earth should be covered sparingly with straw. A board as required in front of the nest to confine the hen at will. This will give outdoor conditions in an indoor pen. The sitting hen should be thoroughly dusted with sulphur to kill the vermin. All of them should be fed on wholegrain and grit, and watered at one time. The hens should be placed on the nests and closed in when they finish feeding. It is advisable to start several hens together. The infertile eggs can then be tested out on the ninth day and one or more of the hens reset.

There is a great loss in farm-reared chickens, caused by the mother hen having her liberty. The hen wanders through the wet grass; the chickens follow her and become chilled and the weaker ones die. This loss can be prevented by confining the hens in a brood coop. It is more satisfactory to have a large brood coop that will be a shelter during inclement weather. A picking box of three or four feet, each dimension, is none too large. The cover of the box can be used for the floor. The box is reversed (open end on the ground) and an opening one foot high is made across one side of the box against the open end. Two one inch by two inch cleats are nailed on the two ends of the box at the ground; the cover or floor is reduced in size so that it will slide in on these cleats. This allows the floor to be removed for cleaning. The box should be covered with tar paper to make it water-tight and there should be a 10 by 14 inch pane of glass in the front. This glass should slide in cleats for ventilation. In front of the one foot opening at the ground there should be a crate 15 inches high covered with laths, two inches apart. The hen comes out into the lath crate to be fed and watered; the chickens run through the lathes. This form of coop will house safely one hen and 30 chickens. The number of coops is thus reduced. The hen and chickens should be placed in a grass field. This will reduce the mortality due to the chickens being reared on infected ground around the farm buildings. A number of cases have been reported to the Poultry Division of chickens and turkeys dying because of feeding on ground previously infested by diseased fowls.

CHANGES IN THE FISHERIES' LAWS.

Suggestions by the Ontario Authorities for the Preservation of the Species.

A special despatch from Ottawa to the Toronto Star says:

The Ontario Fisheries authorities have forwarded to the Department of Fisheries at Ottawa a number of suggested changes in the regulations in order to prevent the waters of the province from from being fished out. These will probably be accepted at Ottawa, with possibly a few minor changes. Some of the more important suggestions are as follows:

1. To confer Dominion authority upon Provincial overseers.
2. To specify a minimum penalty of ten dollars for fisheries violations. The Dominion Commissioner regards this as rather severe for trivial offences.
3. To compel owner of private ponds to observe the regulations.
4. To prohibit all fishing except under Provincial license, excluding only hook and line angling.
5. Fishermen's huts on the ice to be licensed.
6. To define by law the mesh of all nets.
7. The following close seasons: Speckled trout, Sept. 1 to April 30; black bass and maskinonge, Jan 1 to June 30; pickerel or dore and rainbow troyt, Jan. 1 to May 15; lake herring, coscoe, etc., Nov. 1 to 30; lake trout, Oct. 16 to Nov. 20.
8. The following minimum sizes of fish which may be taken: Black bass, ten inches; speckled trout, six inches; maskinonge, thirty inches; yellow pickerel, fifteen inches; blue pickerel, twelve inches; sturgeon, thirty-six inches; whitefish, two pounds. All under the size and weight named above to be replaced alive in the water.
9. Number of fish to be legally allowed per diem: Black bass, eight; speckled trout, twenty; maskinonge, four; yellow pickerel, twelve and lake trout, four.
10. Sale or export of black bass, maskinonge, and speckled trout to be prohibited for three years.
11. Netting of black bass and maskinonge to be forbidden.
12. Artificial lights and flares, driving and beating fish to be prohibited.
13. Fishing within three hundred yards below a dam, fall, fish way, or mouth of a river forbidden.

The Federal Commissioner considers three hundred yards excessive. The other suggestions he considers effective. He also submits grave reasons why trap nets should not be employed. He considers that a close season enforced effectively is all that is really needed, and that the prohibited sale and export of game fish will be far more beneficial than a lengthy close season violated all the time.

The Popular Vote of 1904

Is Unanimously in Favour of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They are the Nation's Favourite.

No article on the market, whatever be the purpose for which it was created, can be a phenomenal success, and be universally popular, unless it possesses great and unfailing merit. Inferior and worthless articles may flourish for a limited time if their praises are sung by sufficiently clever and catchy advertising; but their days are numbered from the start, and their finish is a foregone conclusion. This is an age of the survival of the fittest and only articles of true merit endure.

The unparalleled and phenomenal success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from a business standpoint, is not unnatural and not surprising. It is due directly to their unparalleled and phenomenal success in curing multiplied thousands of cases of dyspepsia throughout the English-speaking world.

The reason of the wonderful success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is so plain and simple that a child can understand; it is this and nothing more; they are natural in their workings and effects. They take up the effects of the worn and wasted stomach, and do it just as the stomach did it when it was well and strong and able. They actually digest the food and do it thoroughly, completely and independently, thus giving the weak and weary stomach an opportunity to renew and regain its wasted strength. You forget that you have a stomach just as you did when you were a healthy boy or girl, and Nature restores and heals that organ and makes it well and strong.

A St. Louis business man says:—"I was a confirmed dyspeptic for years. What I ate had to be forced down and most of it soured or lay like lead in my stomach and did me no good. I was in constant misery both in mind and body and came to be cranky, morose and irritable. My natural disposition, which was cheerful and pleasant, left me and I was alienating all my friends. The doctors did me no good. I got so I hated the sight or name of a doctor. My wife finally worried me into buying a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which I began taking under protest, as I had no faith in anything or anybody. I was sore on creation.

"I had not taken a third of that box before I noticed a decided and most welcome change. I could enjoy a good meal and feel no bad effects following it. I forgot my stomach and had a chance to think about something else. I went ahead with my business in ease and comfort. Six boxes of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at a total outlay of $3.00 cured me completely and I have not suffered a pain from dyspepsia for two years. I have an appetite like a sixteen-year-old boy. I wish everyone who suffers from dyspepsia could know what a change this great remedy made in me."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box. All druggists carry them and the best doctors are prescribing them. You need not fear that you will ever be unable to get them; for, because of the good they have done mankind and the suffering they have relieved and the happiness they have caused, the fame and the success and the popularity of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from generation unto generation will endure.

Will Stand Loss Alone.

Baltimore, Feb 13.—No call will be made for outside assistance to relieve the distressed situation induced by the fire. If it is found necessary later the municipality will float a loan to meet all needs.

Bye-Election For the St. Alban's Division of the Hertfordshire Goes Against the Government Conservative Since 1885 Lord Roberts Declines to Be Inspector-General—Sir Gilbert Parker's View.

London, Feb. 15.—The bye-election today for member of Parliament for St. Albans' division of Hertfordshire resulted in the Liberals winning the seat. The vote was: J. Bamford Slack (Liberal), 4,757, Vicary Gibbs (Conservative), 4,625. Liberal majority was 132.

The election was in consequence of the resignation of Mr. Gibbs, who is a strong Chamberlainite, and was due to the fact that the firm with which he is connected acted as agents for the Admiralty in the purchase of Chilian warships, which, according to custom, called for his resignation

Why He Lost.

London, Feb. 15.—(C. A. P.)—Vicary Gibbs was defeated in Midherts division by a majority of 132. The constitutency has been Conservative since it was formed. Sir Gilbert Parker's View.

The first public meeting of the Tariff Reform League Women's Association was held at the Duke of Westminster's house Saturday night. Sir Gilbert Parker presided, and many of the nobility were present.

Sir Gilbert Parker said tariff reform was an Imperial necessity, and in the end would result in an Imperial development undreamt by doctrinaires to-day. A telegram was sent to Mr. Chamberlain at Cairo wishing him luck in his cause.

Sir Gilbert Parker said if the Motherland would not unite with the colonies in a great effort towards wheat production, we in ten years would pay more for our bread.

Henry Chaplin said the objects of the proposed fiscal change were to secure better markets and to draw the colonies a little closer.

Mr. Franklyn, M.P., said they had been asked to offer a compromise to the free fooders on both sides of the House before the critical division. He suggested a two-shilling bounty on all wheat grown in the British Isles, with a bonus of two shillings to farmers who keep their corn in stack until Aug. 1; also a shilling bounty on all colonial wheat, and Gladstone's shilling registration duty on all foreign wheat. A bounty on British wheat would supply food in time of war and assist the farmer and federate the Empire. The duties on coffee, cocoa and sugar would be reduced by charging the foreigner market toll on all luxuries from abroad.

Japanese Capture Six Norwegian Coal Vessels of Russian—Rumor That 1,800 Japanese Soldiers Went Down in a Transport—Japs Capture Volunteer Russian Warship and Two Steamers—Japan Is Bitter.

Nagasaki, Feb. 15.—The survivors from the Variag and the Korietz, the Russian cruisers that were sunk by the Japanese at Chemulpo last Tuesday, still remain on board the British cruiser Talbot, the Italian cruiser Elba and the French cruiser Pascal. The situation is becoming acute, as the Japanese have twice made demands of the commanders of the three foreign vessels that the Russians be surrendered as prisoners of war. The captain of the Talbot, being the senior naval officer, each time replied that he was awaiting instructions from his Government.

A magnificent episode in the battle was the second sortie of the two Russian cruisers. With bands playing the National Anthem, the international fleet loudly cheering the bravery and gallantry of the Russians, the Variag and Korietz faced the Japanese fleet, which was certain death. The positions of the wrecks appear to be such that it will be easy to recover the guns. The Russian losses were one officer and forty men killed and 464 wounded.

The vessels that comprised the Japanese fleet which attacked and destroyed the Russian cruisers Variag and Korietz at Chemulpo on the 8th inst., were the cruisers Naniwa, Takachiho, Akashi, Suma and the Asama. The Japanese did not lose a man.

According to advices received, the engagement at Port Arthur commenced at 4 o'clock on the morning of the 9th. Altogether twelve vessels were destroyed and eight captured. The captured vessels were expected at Sasebo Sunday.

The Emperor has congratulated Admiral Togo, commanding the fleet, for his splendid victory. It is considered significant that the rigid censorship regarding the movements of the Japanese fleet has been withdrawn.

Cruisers Torpedoed.

London, Feb. 15.—A report originating with a Japanese firm having correspondents in Tokio was circulated here last night that three Russian cruisers, presumably the Vladivostock squadron, were torpedoed in the Straits of Taugaro Satura.

The Japanese Legation has heard nothing confirmatory of the report, although it has been received from several sources. The Legation officials received the report with considerable reserve, it being too good to be true, it is said. The Japanese have a strong naval base at Kotomari, and it is considered possible should the Vladivostock squadron attempt to harass the coast about Hakodate, that they would be met by torpedo-boats from Kotomari.

SANK IN 30 FATHOMS.

Disabled Russian Cruiser Askold Kept Afloat Till Saturday.

Che Foo, Feb. 15.—Passengers who have arrived at Port Arthur say the Russian cruiser Askold was damaged in Tuesday's battle in the roads outside of Port Arthur, but was kept afloat until Saturday, when it sank in thirty fathoms of water.

The Russians have explained their reasons for firing on the British steamer Fu Bing, in which three of the Chinese crew were wounded. They assert that the vessel was leaving port without clearing. The British steamer Wenchow is being held by Russians for refusing to deliver passengers.

Six Coal Vessels Caught.

Nagasaki, Feb. 15.—Six Norwegian steamers, chartered by a Russian naval contractor, have been captured. The vessels are the Lena, Active, Sentis, Seirstad, Argo and Hermies. They carried coal cargoes. The Hermies arrived here Saturday under convoy of a cruiser. It is rumored that 1,800 Japanese soldiers have been killed, presumably by the sinking of a transport. Disturbances are reported in Seoul.

Japs Capture Three.

Seoul, Tuesday, Feb. 9.—The Japanese fleet, which entered Chemulpo last night, escorting transports, captured one Russian volunteer warship and two steamers in the open sea.

Hakodate Bombarded.

Paris, Feb. 15.—The Figaro yesterday morning publishes a despatch from its St. Petersburg correspondent who confirms, without giving the source of his information to do so the reported attack on Hakodate, Japan, by the Vladivostock division of the Russian fleet. This division was commanded by Capt. Reisenstein, who last week replaced Admiral Dietalkenberg, who had suffered a stroke of apoplexy.

The correspondent says that a report is current in St. Petersburg that before bombarding Hakodate the Russian warships encountered a fleet of Japanese transports and sunk several of them

No Order to Surrender.

Tokio, Feb. 15.—Japan is deeply stirred and bitterly resentful over the sinking of the merchant vessel Zensho by four Russian cruisers. The Foreign Office has issued the following statement regarding the sinking of the Zensho:

"Two Japanese merchant vessels, the Zensho and the Naganoura, tonnage 170 and 700 respectively, while sailing from Kata for Otaru, were suddenly attacked by four Russian cruisers from Vladivostock, on Feb. 11, while ten miles off Jensangta. Fire was opened without an order being given to surrender. The Naganoura succeeded in escaping. The other vessel was surrounded by the cruisers and sunk. All on board were either killed or drowned."

To Watch Russians.

London, Feb. 15.—A despatch to The Daily Express from Singapore says:

"When the Kasaga and Nisshin left here they proceeded south and met a Nippon Yusen steamer, which has been assigned to a rendezvous in the Dutch Archipelago. The steamer transferred complete Japanese crews and officers to the cruisers, and then took their temporary English crews. The cruisers then returned to Singapore, but left immediately with orders to watch for the Russian volunteer vessels Ekaterinoslav and Veronej.

Sogarin Also Injured.

Port Arthur, Feb. 15.—The Russian transport Yenesei, while laying mines near Talienwan yesterday, struck a Japanese mine and sunk. The Sogarin was damaged through the same cause.

To Succeed Wirenius.

Berlin, Feb. 15.—It is reported from St. Petersburg that Rear Admiral Rodshestvenski, chief of the navy staff, has been ordered to proceed as quickly as possible to the Far East for the purpose of relieving Admiral Wirenius of his command.

Placed in Japanese Hospital.

London, Feb. 15.—The Japanese Legation here has been informed that thirty-four of the Russians wounded in the fight between the Japanese and Russian fleets at Chemulpo will be placed in the hospital of the Japanese Nursing Home.

Mongolia Is Safe.

Shanghai, Feb. 15.—The Russian mail steamer Mongolia, which sailed from Shanghai Feb 7, has arrived safely at Dalny. It was reported the ship had been captured by Japanese.

Russians in Red Sea.

Suez, Feb. 15.—A steamer which has just arrived here reports a Russian volunteer fleet cruiser, a battleship and four torpedo boats anchored at the Island of Jebel Zukup, in the Red Sea, about 90 miles from the Strait of Bab El Mandeb, Feb 10. The steamer also reports that previously she passed the Russian transport Smolensk and one torpedo boat steaming slowly south.

Japs Want Sailors Back.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Japan through her minister, will appeal to the United States probably to-day to prevail on the Russian Government to release the 100 Japanese subjects reported detained at Port Arthur. Naval opinion here is that the detention of these Japanese at Port Arthur is a strategical necessity to prevent the Japanese gaining information as to fortifications, troops, etc.

France Gets Ready.

Paganini's Idea of the Sabbath.

An incident in the life of Paganini comes to us from Liverpool. The great violinist was visiting friends in the suburbs of that city at the house of a lady whose religious ideas were severely strained by her guest venturing to play on the Subbath day.

"Vy," asked the musician, "eef ze Sabat mos be so holie that nosing mos be done at all, vy does Provecedence permit ze leetel birds to sing on dat day and ze leaves of ze forest to clap zere hands for joy, making ze rustling music, and ze vaters of ze great deep to sound zeir mysterious harmonies?"

Paganini's stay at that house, we are told, was brief.—London News.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL HELD ANNIVERSARY.

George Street Sunday School Special Services Yesterday.

Yesterday was Sunday School Anniversary Day at George street church, and services appropriate to the occasion were held. The preacher for the day was Rev. J. H. Locke, of Omemee, a former pastor of George street church, and his sermons, after an absence of about eleven years, were very much appreciated by the large congregations, which in spite of the unpleasant weather, almost filled the church.

At the morning service the members of the school who attended in a body, occupied the centre of the church, and the Sunday School Orchestra assisted in the musical service. Rev. Mr. Locke preached a helpful sermon from the text, "While He Was Yet Young He Served the Lord," in the sermon on which he drew some very useful lessons from the life of Josiah, and gave a number of reasons why the children should "serve the Lord while they are yet young." The music at this service, which was led by the church choir, was appropriate to the day. Rev. Mr. Locke also occupied the pulpit in the evening, when he preached another sermon which was much enjoyed by his hearers.

The musical service in the evening was an especially enjoyable feature, the anthem being "The King of Love, my Shepherd is," Mr. G. W. Mulligan taking the baritone solo, while for the offertory, "No Not Despairingly," was well rendered. The anniversary services will be continued to-morrow night when the annual entertainment of the school will be held in the school room of the church. Reports of the year's work will also be presented.

SAFE ARRIVAL OF REV. MR. LANGFELT

Announced at St. Luke's Church yesterday—Sermon by Rev. Mr. Holah.

Large congregations were present at St. Luke's church yesterday dispite the inclement weather. The acting-Rector announced to the congregation that he had received a cablegram from the Rector, Rev. E. Langfeldt, apprising him of the safe arrival at Hamburg, of himself and family, adding that they were all well, but a rough passage was encountered over the Atlantic. The news was received with joy by the members of the congregation.

Rev. Mr. Holah preached two excellent sermons, that of the morning service being on the text, Prov. i, 23, "I will pour out my spirit upon you."

The speaker said that there had been three dispensations; the first that of the Father, lasting 4,000 years; the second that of the Son, extending over 33 years; and the third that of the Holy Spirit. Speaking of the difficulties of the Spirit in doing His work, Mr. Holah said that the sin in our lives prevented the entry of the Spirit.

The sermon in the evening was preached from the text, "What have I to do with thee, thou Son of God?"

A neat folder has been published giving information with respect to the services during Lent. Commencing on Ash Wednesday, a service will be held at 10.30 a.m., and 8 p.m. The preachers for the Wednesday evening services will be:—

February 24, Rev. Geo. Ross Beamish, M.A., St. Thomas's church, Belleville.

March 2, Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, St. James' Cathedral, Toronto.

March 9, Rev. William Alfred Gustin, M.A., St. Mark's church, Port Hope.

March 16, Rev. John Lewis Holah, L.S.T., Diocese of Ontario.

March 23, The Very Rev. Buxton B. Smith, D.D., Doan of Ontario, St. George's cathedral, Kingston.

ALDERMEN CONSIDER LOCK CO.'S PROPOSAL.

Meeting of Committee of the Whole Held on Saturday Night.

The Company to Employ 150 Hands—Ask for Site Adjacent to the Railways.

His Worship Mayor Roger called a meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council on Saturday night to confer with the Peterborough Lock Company in reference to the proposition submitted by the company to the whole Council, and discussed at a previous meeting, for the procuring of a site, and the erection of new buildings by the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company. Hon. Mr. Stratton, President of the Company, and Mr. A. Cox were present at the meeting, representing the Peterborough Lock Company. Mr. Stratton explained to the Committee the position of the Company, which was that they desired to procure a site upon which larger buildings could be erected in which the Comapny could more efficiently conduct their growing business, and asked the Council to give the Company the lot situated between the C.P.R. and the G.T.R. tracks, known as Kennedy's cattle yards, on condition that they would erect buildings to cost at least $25,000. The buildings which the Company proposed to erect, provided the request is granted, would consist of moulding shop and brass foundry, 250 x 60 feet one and a half story high, to accommodate thirty-five moulders; three story building, for finishing and putting together, 200 x 40 feet; one story japanning building; three story shipping, storing and stock building; two story office and pattern shop; and coal, coke, iron and storing sheds for raw materials; upon which the company asks a fixed rate of assessment for ten years of $12,000. The Company agrees that after the present buildings have been vacated by them they may be assessed at a reasonable rate. They are now exempted from municipal taxes. In addition the Company will agree to employ in the new buildings at least half as many additional hands as at present employed, or in the neighbourhood of 150.

Considerable discusson was held on the proposition as submitted by Mr. Stratton, and the Committee decided to visit the present premises of the Company at three o'clock this afternoon, also the lot which the latter is asking from the town. It was also resolved that the Town Solicitor be asked to take such steps as are necessary to enable the matter to come before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature at the present session, providing the Council should grant the request of the Company, such action, however, is not to prejudice the action of any member of the Council after they have thoroughly looked into the matter.

THE FUNERAL OF THE LATE ROBERT HOWDEN

Took Place This Afternoon From his Former Residence to Little Lake Cemetery.

The funeral of the late Mr. Robert Howden took place this afternoon from the family residence, 678 Bethune street to Little Lake Cemetery. For the past year and a half Mr. Howden has been in declining health gradually becoming worse until death came as a release on Friday last at 10.45 p.m. In the person of Mr. Howden Peterborough loses one of its best known and much respected citizens having lived here for nearly 20 years. Born in 1818 in the County Fermanah, Ireland, he came to Canada when four years old, and with his parents settled in the Township of Cavan, near Springville, where he remained—in succession to his parents—on the homestead until 1885 when he came to Peterborough where he has lived a retired life ever since.

The late Mr. Howden was very successful in his life persuit, as a farmer, having emassed considerable wealth. He was a man of sterling qualities, upright and honest in a marked degree and with a kind heart made many warm friends. He was one of a large family, the only two surviving members being a brother, Major Howden, of Port Hope, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Ormond, of this town. Some years ago Mr. Howden married Miss Jane Sharpe, third daughter of the late David Sharpe, of Cavan, who survives him with three daughters, Mrs. W. H. Staples, of Cavanville, and the Misses Ella and Emma, at home. His daughter Mrs. Robert Fair and only son, Palmer, predeceased him a few years ago. In religion Mr. Howden was Church of England, and in politics, Conservative. Much sympathy is expressed for the bereaved family.

REV. MR. POTTER ON THE LORD'S DAY.

Preached a Sermon in Behalf of Preservation of Sabbath.

Lord's Day Alliance had no Part in the Recent Case of Alleged Violation of the Lord's Day Act.

Rev. J. G. Potter preached at both services yesterday. In the morning reference was made to the work of the church in making it possible for every man to worship God. The lesson he took from Acts iii, 1-10. He claimed that the church had its purpose outlined here, and that in their missionary work throughout Canada in missions, reading rooms, hospitals, industrial schools, etc, the church was making it possible that those outside the gate of the temple should enter to praise God. He also suggested that in view of all that was being done in missionary work, all impediments should be removed, and an effort made to give liberty to many in Canada who were in slavery on the day of worship. He mentioned that 150,000 men in Canada were toiling every Sunday, that to many women in boarding houses, Sunday was made the most laborious day, and to many of those who help in the homes, Sunday was a day of drudgery. He showed that mentally, physically and morally, the Sunday rest day should be secured for every worker. He sympathized with men who were under constraint to labour, but proved that the law only recognized the man who does the work as the sinner, and therefore every worker ought to maintain an independent position, for it was often found that in the violation of the Day of Rest Labour and Capital joined hands. John Mitchell and President Gompers strongly urged unions under their control to assist in establishing Sunday as a rest day, and seek to obtain Saturday afternoons for recreation and pleasure. This would give factories ample time for repairs, instead of using Sunday to get ahead of the other fellow. He said it was the work of the Lord's Day Alliance to seek to secure this day of rest for every man, for it was made for him, and to save it from the hand of greed. This work was strongly supported by both Catholic and Protestant clergymen, and he quoted from Archbishop O'Brien of Halifax, Archbishop Orth of Victoria, Archbishop Langevin of Winnipeg, Right Rev. Bishop McDonald of Charlottetown, Right Rev. Bishop Blais of St. Germain, Rimouski, and the Right Rev. Bishop Maxime of St. Hyacinthe. The later says:—

"I observe with satisfaction and sympathy the work accomplished by the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada. If the Alliance manages to arouse eventually the public conscience against the desecration of the Lord's Day of Rest, namely works not justified on the score of urgency—pleasure trips, uproarious pastimes, etc.—then the Alliance will have deserved well of religion and of Society itself. I sincerely wish it well."

In connection with the Local Branch of the Alliance, of which Mr. Potter is president, he said he was authorized to make the statement that in the recent arraignment of three millwrights for the violation of the Lord's Day Act, the Alliance had not been made aware of the matter. The late President, Sheriff Hall and Secretary were totally ignorant that the case was being tried. The Crown authorities in the discharge of their legitimate and proper duties, having learned of supposed violation, moved of their own accord in the matter, and as guardians of the law, ought to be commended for their vigilance. The ministers of the town, as guardians of the Day of Rest, were very properly invited to manifest their sympathy by their presence.

HE TORE DOWN SHED AND SHED DOWN TEAR

Wanted Warmth and Found is in the Police Court.

At the police court this morning, Eldridge Wescott, a married man, living in a house on Bethune street, owned by Mr. Harry Denne, was charged with destroying the woodshed at the rear. The evidence disclosed the fact that Westcott was out of wood a short time ago, and turned his axe on the woodshed in order that he might obtain warmth. Mr. Roland Denne appeared on behalf of his brother. After hearing the witnesses, the Magistrate engaged the case for one week in order to give the defendant time to rebuild the shed.

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT

BOTH TEAMS CONFIDENT— WILL STRIVE FOR VICTORY

Keene and T. A. S. Play off a Tie Game To-night in Curling Rink.

The great game between Keene and T.A.S. is scheduled to be played in the Charlotte street rink this evening and will begin at 8.15 o'clock sharp. It will be a fast game and those who wish to see an exciting match should not fail to take the opportunity of witnessing it. That the teams are well balanced is evidenced by the fact that T.A.S. beat Keene here and Keene won at that place. The Charlotte street rink is larger than the Keene rink and smaller than the Brock street arena. Thus neither team has an advantage regarding the size of the ice. Mr. McMillan, of Port Hope, will referee and will doubtless give entire satisfaction to both teams. The T. A.S. are very confident of victory and doubtless Keene, even if they do not think they have the game cinched, rely on their team to pull them out with colours flying.

MR. McMILLAN TO REFEREE TO-NIGHT.

Will Replace Mr. Geo. Brown who is Unable to Attend Through Illness.

This afternoon about three o'clock Mr. Clarry, secretary of the Trent Valley League, received word from Port Hope to the effect that Mr. George Brown, who was to officiate as referee in the T.A.S.-Keene match to-night, was confined to his bed through illness, and would be unable to be here to-night. Under these circumstances Mr. Clarry did the very best possible by appointing Mr. McMillan of Port Hope, who has the reputation of being a strict and impartial referee, and one who has had some experience in this line.

INTERESTING MEETING OF O. H. A. EXECUTIVE.

Vice President Frank Nelson Resigned Case Against McMillan of Belleville.

The Globe to-day contains the following report of a meeting of the O. H.A. Executive, which was held on Saturday night:—

"The Ontario Hockey Association's chief officer now is Mr. D. L. Darroch, of Collingwood, the second Vice-President. President J. Ross Robertson went to Egypt about a month ago, and first Vice-President Frances Nelson has been in charge in the meantime. At Saturday afternoon's meeting of the Executive Committee, held in The Telegram building, Mr. Nelson resigned his office on account of what he considered the committee's violation of the principles of the association in reinstating Harry peel, of London, who was disqualified several years ago and then went to Pittsburg, where he played hockey for $20 a week according to his own statement to the committee.

On Saturday Mr. Cox brought the question up again, and the Vice-President ruled it out of order. An appeal against this ruling was carried and Mr. Cox had sufficient support this time to carry a motion for the reinstatement of Peel, on which Mr. Nelson immediately wrote out his resignation and placed it in the Secretary's hands. The meeting was attended by Vice-President Nelson, (Chairman,) D. L. Darroch, (Collingwood,) Duff Adams (Paris,) H. O. Jameson (Barrie,) A. R. Cox, (London,) W. Wyndham (Hamilton,) A. W. McPherson (Peterborough,) and Secretary W. A. Hewitt.

The case of Aeinas ("Reddy") McMillan of the Belleville team occupied almost as much time as that of Harry Peel. McMillan played last winter in Cornwall, where he had always lived, and went to Smith's Falls at the close of last season. On the 29th of September — the O.H.A. residence limit is October 1—McMillan arrived in Belleville engaged apartments and remained a few days. He went back to Smith's Falls, he says, to finish up a job on which he was working and to remove his household to Belleville which he did on or about the 14th, though he had when first questioned by the sub-committee a month ago given a statutory declaration that he was a bona fide and continuous resident of Belleville, since September 29th.

From Smith's Falls the committee had declarations by McMillan's employer that he was working there and was paid up to October 17th; from his landlord that he paid for and personally occupied a house there till about October 30th, and from his grocer to the same effect.

Manager Truaisch of the Belleville Club, made a declaration that although he saw McMillan in Smith's Falls before the change to Belleville was made, but hockey or inducements play hockey, were not discussed at all. Declarations were also put in by the employers of several other Belleville players as a result of the sub-committee's inquiry into the report that the Belleville team was practically a paid organization, and whose members did little less than play hockey.

It was considered pretty clear that McMillan's case at best was only an attempt to evade the residence regulation by visiting Belleville for a few days about the first of October, and that it was made worse by the declarations which were calculated to mislead the executive on this point. Though the Belleville team had been notified, there was no representative present, and Mr. E. Gus Porter, M.P., who is a Belleville man, was kept away by illness. However that Belleville might have an opportunity for a hearing in the matter the meeting was adjourned until 10 o'clock on Monday night. The Marlboro and Belleville game fixed for tonight, was consequently postponed. Belleville has won its group and got through the second round by the default of Brockville."

The question being asked among local hockeyists now is, "How will this affect the championship of the District?"

PUCKERINGS.

In referring to a letter signed "Pure Sport," which was sent to the Examiner last week with the request that it be published, this paper stated that no communications were considered unless the writer's name was sent, not necessarily for publication, but as an evidence of good faith. In response to this another letter was received from the same writer to-day appending a name which is entirely strange to the Examiner, and of which no record can be found in the latest town directory. The Examiner is always ready to recognize all communications sent in good faith but must refuse to consider those sent by persons who have not thought the matter of sufficient importance to attach their proper name to.

VERDICT RE. THE CLALLAM.

Chief Engineer Loses His License and Captain's Is Suspended.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 15.—The decision of the Marine Board of Inquiry, which sat upon the Clallam disaster case, handed down Saturday, lays chief blame for the disaster upon Chief Engineer De Launey, charging him with neglect and incompetency.

Capt. Roberts is censured for not having an officer of the ship in the second and third boats that were launched, and for not giving explicit orders to the captain of the Holyoke to take the ship to the nearest shelter.

THE USE OF IRON.

Its Effect In the Industrial World as a Barometer of Trade.

There is an old industrial tradition that the iron market is the "barometer of trade." This saying has been ascribed to many modern authorities, ranging from Jay Gould to Andrew Carnegie. As a matter of fact, it is much older than any oracle of this century or the last. It had its origin in the earliest days of the period when iron manufacture and the use of credit were simultaneously rising to importance. The basis for the tradition is that the use of iron and of its products is essential for the prosecution of virtually all other industries. Before the output of miscellaneous manufactures in a community can be much enlarged the industries concerned must be equipped with new tools and new machinery. Before a railroad system can be prepared to transport a greatly increased traffic it must have new rails, new bridges, new stations, new cars and new locomotives. In these days of the steel and iron office building a "boom" in the building trade cannot go far without increasing enormously the demand for structural iron. Even in the agricultural industry it may be said that expansion and prosperity involve necessarily largely increased demand for farm machinery. Since the use of such additional equipment must precede any increase in the business of these other trades it naturally follows, first, that demand in the iron market will be felt aggressively even before the other industries have shown full measure of activity, and, second, that if such other industries foresee a period of slack demand and idle mills the first thing they will do will be to reduce their orders from the iron and steel mills.—Alexander D. Noyes in Forum.

The Blooming Thorn Tree.

There is a legend to the effect that the thorn blooms on Christmas day. It is said that St. Joseph of Arimathæa landed near Glastonbury and stuck his staff in the ground. It took root, grew and blossomed every Christmas day thereafter. The tree was hewn down by a Puritan of the time of Cromwell, but in doing this deed he cut his leg, and chips flying from his ax blinded him. The trunk, though separated from the root, grew and flourished, and for many years slips and blooms from the tree of St. Joseph were sold by the merchants of Bristol.

Brain Controls Every Muscle.

Injury to Brain or Nerves, Deficiency of Nerve Force, Mean Paralysis and Helplessness.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Every muscle of the body controlled by the will is connected with the brain, and every muscular action is originated by nervous force, generated in the brain and transmitted along the nerves to the muscles.

When the nerves are injured or diseased, when there is a deficiency in the supply of nervous energy, paralysis, locomotor ataxia or some form of helplessness results because the brain no longer has control of the muscles.

It may be weak heart action, inability to digest food, failure of the lungs to purify the blood or impaired action of any of the vital organs, but the cause of trouble is with the nerves.

The restorative action of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is soon felt throughout the entire system, because it restores the vigor and vitality of the nerves—fills them with new nerve force, the vital power of the body; weakness, nervousness, irritability, sleeplessness and low spirits disappear and new energy and strength take their place.

Mr. John Roszel, school teacher, living at 596 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—

"As a remedy for nervousness and nervous dizzy headaches, I consider Dr. Chase's Nerve Food excellent. I was troubled a great deal with headache, and my system was pretty well run down, but the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has made a radical change in my condition. My nerves have become strong and healthy, the headaches have entirely disappeared, and I believe that the credit is entirely due to this preparation."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 7

CANADA'S DESTINY.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier says She Is to Be the Child of the 20th Century—Virtually a Nation.

The following are extracts from Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech before the Canadian Club at Ottawa, Monday, Jan 18:

We are proud to call ourselves a nation, and it is a matter for pride that we have more population than many of the nations of Europe who have filled history with their fame and renown. We have more population than Switzerland, than Belgium, than Sweden, than Denmark, than Norway. Our population at this moment cannot be very far from six millions, and it is not presumptuous to expect that by the next census it may have reached eight millions. We have witnessed the happy phenomenon within recent years of the end of what we used to call the exodus. At all events, I think we can claim that at this moment Canadian children are staying on Canadian soil. For more than sixty years a current of population flowed from the north to the south, but now, happily, that has been stopped. We are not only keeping our own people within the Dominion, but are increasing our population by drawing upon the country to the south. There has been in certain quarters some misapprehension as to the result of American immigration to Canada. I have, for my part, no such misapprehension at all. Whenever people live under good laws, well administered, and they are prosperous, they never resort to revolution. Whenever people are happy under free institutions, each succeeding decade only makes them more loyal and contented, and I have no doubt for my part that the American citizen who settles in the Northwest Territories and becomes a British subject under Canadian laws will in the course of time develop into a good Canadian, and his children turn out better Canadians than himself. But, sir, while we claim with pride that we are a nation, we claim with equal pride that we are subjects of the British Crown—(hear, hear)—with equal pride, I say, because our colonial status carries no inferiority with it; it is not subjection. We have found that our Canadian independence is quite compatible with our dependency as a colony. The relations which we have with the mother country produce this double result. The present relations, however, though very satisfactory and likely to remain so for a long time, cannot always remain as they are. They shall and must improve as time develops, but they shall and will be improved after the British manner, gradually, without violence, and giving justice to everybody as justice is due to everybody.

For my part I ventured to express a few weeks ago the opinion that the time would come when we would require our own treaty-making power. I know too well the occasion of this gathering to enter into the discussion of such a topic. This is not a political organization, and if I were to discuss such a question I am inclined to think that my friend Mr. Borden would take the counterpart. I do not know that this is his idea upon this matter, but I am sure that we can both agree that we may well reserve the discussion for the House of Commons, which will meet in a few weeks from to-day. I referred to this matter, however, only to say that it has been asserted somewhere that the concession of the treaty-making power would mean the severance of the colonial tie. It is against that idea that I wish to protest. In my estimation, whenever the granting of power is necessary to such a colony as Canada, as Australia, as New Zealand, or any of the great self-governing colonies of the British Empire, to carry on their own laws for the development of their own interests, instead of lessening, it will simply strengthen the tie which binds us to the parent state. This has been the history of the past; it may be the history of the future. No one could have supposed, for instance, in 1837, when there was a rebellion in my own Province of Lower Canada, when there was a rebellion in the Province of Upper Canada, that four years afterwards the same two provinces would have been entrusted with responsible Government; that the mother land would not hesitate to place in the hands of men who had been in rebellion the powers of self-Government. So she did, however, and the result was to convert men who had been rebellious into the most loyal subjects of the British Crown. Sir, in the past Canada has been the pioneer in what I deem to be the civilization of the world, which shall be based upon peace. I told you a moment ago what was the difference between the Roman Empire and the British Empire. The difference can be summed up in this statement: The Roman Empire meant war; the British Empire means peace and harmony among all the races which are subject to its rule.

The more I advance in life—and I am no longer a young man—the more I thank Providence that my birth took place in this fair land of Canada. Canada has been modest in its history, although its history is heroic in many ways. But its history, in my estimation, is only commencing. It is commencing in this century. The nineteenth century will prove to be the century of the United States. I think we can claim that it is Canada that shall fill the twentieth century. I cannot hope that I shall see much of the development which the future has in store for my country, but whenever my eyes shall close to the light it is my wish—nay, it is my hope—that they close upon a Canada united in all its elements, united in every particular, every element cherishing the tradition of its past, and all uniting in cherishing still more hope for the future.

Gaman, a Baluchee convict, was asked in a Delhi court recently how prisoners concealed money. He replied by opening his mouth and pouring into his hand a number of coins.

HURRY UP!

Everywhere one hears that expression "hurry up!" It is a genuine Americanism expressive of the "rush" in which we live. Nothing is swift enough for us. We race against steam and lightning and find them slow. We grudge the time given to eating, and rush through meals as though life depended upon our haste.

Life does depend on our haste, but not in that sense. Look at the obituary columns of the papers and see how many prominent men are carried away by "stomach trouble," "acute indigestion" and other related diseases. Their lives have in general been sacrificed to the haste and rush of business which overlooked the fact that food can only nourish the body when digested and assimilated and that the digestive and assimilative processes can't be hurried.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, cures diseases of the stomach and the associated organs of digestion and nutrition. The source of all physical strength is food, properly digested and perfectly assimilated. By enabling the perfect digestion and assimilation of food "Golden Medical Discovery" increases and enriches the blood supply and sends new strength to every organ of the body.

"I was at one time as I thought almost at death's door," writes Mr. J. S. Bell, of Leando, Van Buren Co., Iowa. "I was confined to my house and part of the time to my bed. I had taken quantities of medicines but they only seemed to feed the disease but I must say that 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me, and to-day I am stouter than I have been for twenty years. I am now forty-three years old."

I had little faith in it, but before I had taken one bottle I began to feel better, and after the second I felt as well as ever. My cough has completely disappeared.

COSTLY LANTERNS.

The Fancy Lamps That Passenger Conductors Used to Carry.

Modern railroading has driven the passenger conductor's lantern almost out of use. Years ago the pride of a passenger conductor was his lantern. Then the cars were not so brilliantly illuminated as they are now, and the ticket taker was obliged to carry his light on his left arm in order to see the pasteboards as he passed through the dimly lighted car.

At one time the conductors indulged in considerable extravagance in the matter of lanterns. Some of them were gold and silver plated. The upper part of the glass globe was colored blue, and the name of the owner was cut in old English letters. At the meetings of the Conductors' association manufacturers would arrange a great display of costly lights at one of the hotels in the city in which the meeting would be held. Some of the conceits in the lights were unique, and the prices ranged from $25 to ten times that figure. The glass and plating were kept in a highly polished state, and none dared to meddle with this part of the ticket puncher's equipment.

Conductors still carry their own lanterns—that is, they are on the train ready for use—but there is nothing like the need of them that formerly existed.

The Mischievous Magpie.

Here is an anecdote illustrative of the magpie's love of mischief and of sport: There was a field wherein clothes were often hung out to dry on posts which were let down into deep wooden sockets buried in the ground and were carried away and put under cover when they were not in use. A gravel path ran round the field, and a tame magpie, which had the run of it, was observed to walk repeatedly and demurely from the path to a particular point in the field, conveying each time a stone in her bill and then returning without it. A magpie seldom continues at any one amusement for any length of time, but this amusement went on so long that the curiosity of the owner was aroused. There must be something unusually novel or piquant about it. He went to the spot and found that a large toad had fallen into one of the wooden sockets and that the magpie was amusing herself by deliberately stoning it. As each shot told, the toad gave a little hop of distress in the hole deep below, which the magpie capped by a big hop of satisfaction and an irresistible "currack" of delight above. —R. Bosworth Smith in Nineteenth Century.

SPENCER'S EAR PLUGS.

The Way the Great Philosopher Rid Himself of Small Talk.

"Years ago," says William H. Hudson in the North American Review, "Herbert Spencer found that the effect of following ordinary conversation became frequently too much for him. But he liked to have people about him to watch the play of expression on their faces, to feel that, though he could not himself share much in the merriment, he was, as it were, a part of the normal and healthy social world. For this reason he objected to withdrawal into solitude and evolved a plan by which he might secure the partial isolation which he required. He had a circular spring made to go round the back of his head, and this carried pads which fitted firmly upon the ears, effectively deadening the noise about him and reducing the surrounding chatter to a mere hum. I have often seen him, stretched at length upon his couch, follow with apparent interest the gossip over the afternoon tea cups up to a certain point and then, reaching under his pillow, draw forth and adjust his instrument, thus suddenly detaching himself from his environment. The effect of this movement with comparative strangers was always to cause an instant cessation of the conversation. But this was precisely what Spencer did not wish. 'Go on talking,' he would exclaim, with a quizzical look. 'I can't hear what you are saying, you know!'"

Canada and England Compared.

Lord Strathcona, in distributing the prizes at the annual distribution in connection with Pitman's Metropolitan School at the Queen's Hall, London, pointed out that in Canada typewriting was practised much more widely than in England. The proportion of ladies employed in Canada was twenty to one, and they were able to make not only a respectable but a comfortable living. It was quite an interesting meeting, the traveling scholarship of £25 given by the Salters' Company for proficiency in modern languages was won by Miss Mackay, and for four years out of five has been taken by a woman. Without any special desire to encourage Canadian manufactures, simply because they are "Canadian," I find myself with a Canadian bicycle, a Canadian typewriter, and last and by no means least, in this land of fogs and damp, a Canadian oil stove, which in five minutes can bring the temperature in a large room up to sixty-five, which, by the way, is the highest temperature one can stand in England. I would like to know from scientists why we can sit in a room with the thermometer registering seventy-five or eighty degrees of heat in Canada, and find sixty-eight degrees oppressive in London. A Canadian hot water furnace in a huge London house would amply suffice to warm it. If only a crusade of Canadian furnace people would invade London, doctors' bills would be beautifully less.—Lally Bernard in The Globe.

The Goose and Gridiron.

There existed in London long before the great fire in St. Paul's churchyard a very popular music house called the Miter. Here concerts were held, and the music at these performances had at least the merit of volume and joyousness. But the great fire laid the building in ruins and banished the music. When the place was rebuilt, the new tenant, wishing to ridicule the character of the former business, chose as his sign a goose stroking the bars of a gridiron with her foot and wrote below, "The Swan and Harp." At the Goose and Gridiron Sir Christopher Wren presided over the St. Paul's lodge of Freemasons for over eighteen years, and he presented to the lodge the trowel and mallet with which he laid the first stone of the cathedral. The goose is still preserved with her unmusical "harp" in Guildhall.—Julian King Colford in St. Nicholas.

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

A Slow and Uninteresting Day in Stocks.

The Fluctuations of the Leading Stocks

The Wall street market was a slow and uninteresting affair to-day, the sales to noon amounting to only 81,000 The absence of any definite war news was, no doubt, accountable for the hesitating state of the market. Soo common scored a good advance, touching 68, and C P.R reached 117 1-8, but reacted 3-8 of a point. The market had a strong undertone.

The wheat market continued its upward movement and by 0ne o'clock May wheat had reached 87 5-8; July, 90 1-8 and September, 86.

Messrs McMillan & Maguire, stock brokers, (Phone 416) have the following:

The last day of the week in the stock market was uninteresting. The market was entirely professional. The outlook for next week favours a continuance of professionalism. There are signs that the security list as a whole, is oversold. If nothing of an adverse character develops over Sunday we are likely to see a sharp rally in prices; events of the week point to this. During that time there has been no liquidation of importance and the short interest has increased. Untoward events piled one upon the other but the stock market exhibited a strong undertone. The floating supply of stocks has evidently not increased. The market is a good trader's market, but fair returns should be taken. It should be noted that while foreign markets were in a panicky state on account of the hostilities in the far east the American markets were comparatively steady, and London had but few stocks for sale. We do not believe that there is any speculative account open abroad and that no alarm need be felt as to selling from that side, which can only be for short account, and this affords a good basis for an advance. Improvement in the iron and steel trade was noted during the week owing to the Baltimore fire and placing of rail orders by the Harriman lines. The Baltimore fire directly gave orders, while the disaster stimulated the demand for structural steel to prevent fires elsewhere.—Floyd-Crawford & Co.

TO-DAY'S CLOSE.

Concerning to-day's grain market, Messrs. McMillan & Maguire have the following:

Chicago, February 15th.—Wheat. The market opened higher on stronger cables war news, and a generally bullish feeling among traders. Strength developed from the opening and held steadily until new high records had been made in all the options. The market has been exceedingly nervous durin" the session, the feature being the light trade with steadily advancing prices. The crowd have for some days been playing for the top, believing it to be near, but each succeeding day has registered higher prices and the end seems as far as ever. The Armour people were buyers of the July to-day and predict very much higher prices for this option The situation is very strong and we cannot change our opinion that wheat is a purchase. Buy it on all recessions.

Corn gained a cent over Saturday's close and the buying continued to be good while new forces are daily coming in. We are decidedly bullish on corn and have excellent reasons for thinking and predicting higher prices. Would advise buying on breaks.

Oats were very strong; gained about a cent over Saturday's close, but lost most of it in the late trading due to profit taking. We think advantage should be taken of the reaction to make purchases of this commodity.

PROMINENT MUSICIAN DIED IN MILLBROOK,

Miss Charlotte Cochrane. Former Organist of St. John's Church Died This Morning.

An announcement which will cause sincere regret among her late large circle of friends here, is that to the effect that Miss Charlotte Cochrane, whom many in Peterborough knew quite well had died in Millbrook this morning about 3 o'clock. The late Miss Cochrane was organist of St. John's church for about two years, during which time she made a great many friends by her genial personality and her musical capabilities made her a universal favourite. Last spring the late Miss Cochrane was obliged to give up her duties as organist through an illness, for which she underwent an operation, which was so successful that she was again able to resume her work. A short time ago, however, she experienced a return of her former illness, and her physician, Dr. Halliday, recommended an operation, which was performed on Friday, and was thought to have been successful, as she appeared better. Last night, however, she became worse and died from heart failure about 3 o'clock this morning.

The late Miss Cochrane was the daughter of Mr. James Cochrane, G.T.R. agent at Millbrook, who, with his two sons and two daughters survive her, Mrs Cochrane having died about two years ago. The brothers are Percy and Linden, who are living in the North-west.

The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock on Thursday.

Rev. J. C. Davidson paid the following tribute:—It was two years ago last June that Miss Cochrane began her duties as organist at St. John's church and since then has become greatly beloved by the congregation, especially by those who came into personal contact with her. She ever displayed great qualities of gentleness, kindness and indomitable courage. At the communion service yesterday, week, she presided at the organ, although totally unfit to do so, and continued until the end of the service, when she became quite ill. Last night special prayers were offered on her behalf and today the congregation is deeply grieved at the news of the end of her life on earth. It is the intention of the choir to attend her funeral, and members of the congregation who desire to go are asked to notify Mr. A. A. Hollingshead at the Ontario Bank in order that special rates or possibly a car may be secured.

The choir will hold a special meeting in the Guild Room to-morrow evening.

Lakefield carnival on Tuesday, Feb. 10th, a good list of prizes will be offered. Tickets at Ormond and Walsh. Come and enjoy a good evening's sport.

"SOUL DOES NOT PASS INTO INSENSIBLE STATE"

Evidenced in the Parable of Dives and Lazarus.

Rev. J. Bastow Preached First of a Series of Sermons Last Night Night.

The first of a series of five sermons on "Glimpses into the Future Life Through the Parable of the Rich Man and Lazarus," was given by Rev. J. Bastow, M.A., at the evening service at the Murray street Baptist church yesterday. Through the inclemency of the weather the congregation was not as large as usual, but those who did attend had the opportunity of listening to a very thoughtful discourse on "Lazarus on Earth and in Heaven," for which the preacher took his text from St. Luke xvi. verses 19—25:—"There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen and fared sumptuously every day; and there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate, full of sores, and desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich man's table; moreover the dogs came and licked his sores. And it came to pass that the beggar died and was carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom; the rich man also died, and was buried; and in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torment, and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom, and he cried and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue; for I am tormented in this flame. But Abraham said, Son, remember thut thou in thy lifetime received thy good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things; but now he is comforted and thou art tormented."

Rev. Mr. Bastow introduced his subject by remarking that the story of Dives and Lazarus was almost always called a parable, but that there were some who termed it as history. It may be the latter, he continued; that is Jesus Christ may personally have known the persons named. But it makes very little difference which it is, the main point being that it contains great fundamental principals of character on earth and destiny hereafter. They are truths which all should bear in mind.

Speaking of the future life, he said, that we will all soon enter into it, and that it was necessary for us to know something of that life in the future state. Many, he said, claim there is nothing known of the life beyond. It is quite natural for people who do not read the Bible to say so, but by reading the Bible we learn of the cardinal features of the life to come. This parable which speaks of the future life, comes to us through the lips of Jesus Christ, who spoke that which He knew and testified that which He had seen. He saw the future life as clearly as the present. But Jesus Christ did not impart His immortal knowledge for our curiosity, but to bring us closer to God, so that we may escape hell and go to Heaven.

Mr. Bastow went on with a description of Lazarus on earth and in Heaven; first in abject poverty and deep misery and then in unspeakable joy in Abraham's bosom. It was the common belief of the Jews of that time, he continued, that prosperity was the sign of God's favour and poverty of His displeasure. Jesus Christ, in this parable shows that to be a wrong view. Poverty is not an essential qualification for Heaven, and Christ chose His disciples from among the poor. In our days, as in the days of Christ, there is a large number of persons who have no use for the poor; who cannot associate with them, and there are people who court persons according to the size of their purses. Lazarus, however, was not only poor but sick. He was carried to the rich man's gate because he could not walk there. It is a matter of frequent observation that God allows His saints to be poor, and those who scorn religion He favours with beautiful gifts. He does not in His book give His reason for this, but we will know in the future. The pains of this life only make the heavenly life sweeter. Touching upon the fact that the dogs licked his sores, Mr. Bastow said that there were persons who heeded far more the health and fatness of their horses than the general condition of humanity. The claims of humanity, he said, should come first, those of animals, second.

Continuing, Mr. Bastow said that Lazarus' character was not dwelt upon. It was all in his name, however. Lazarus means "one whose trust is in God."

The beggar's death was a blessed relief—the end of pain and sorrow, and the beginning of a heavenly life. All of us have to die, and when a Christian dies his earthly sorrows are done with, and he begins his joys; but when a sinner dies he ends his joys and begins his miseries. Do we all realize what death is, and are we making preparations for it? the speaker asked. Death, he continued, is uncertain. It may come at any moment. If we are believers in the Lord Jesus Christ we are prepared, and death is a joy. Lazarus after death, was carried by angels into Abraham's bosom. What a contrast between the two burials! The beggar was borne off by angels, and probably none ever gave a sigh; but the rich man's burial was a magnificent affair, and while eulogies were being said over his dead body, his soul was suffering torments in hell. "Abraham's bosom" was an expression of the Jews at that time. Being there Lazarus was next in heaven to Abraham, who was next to God.

In conclusion the speaker made a practical application of his subject. When a man dies, he said, his soul does not perish—does not sleep nor enter into a state of insensibility of any kind. The one was carried into Abraham's bosom, and the other lifted up his eyes in Hell. Our souls are all important, Mr. Bastow said. To be without a soul would be to lose our personality. The soul and body are related as cradle to baby, frame to picture, tent to traveller—and so the soul goes out of the body and continues its existence in the Hereafter. There is no annihilation of the soul. For our salvation He left His home and came to earth, lived a life of poverty, died on the cross; for us He sends His Spirit now and forever down to us to recover our souls.

Next Sunday evening Mr. Bastow will preach on "Dives on Earth and in Hell."

ADDRESS OF INTEREST TO ALL DAIRYMEN.

Will be that of Mr. N. G. Summerville on Feb. 27th.

Mr. N. G. Sommerville, Government cool cheese curing expert, will be in Peterborough on Feb. 27th, on the occasion of the annual meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Poard, and will deliver an address on the subject of "Cheese Curing," which should be of vital importance to every cheesemaker in the county, and also to all dairyman, and those interested in securing a high grade of product. It is hoped that Mr. Sommerville's address will be heard by a large number of persons interested in this growing industry. The rapid increase made in the quantity of cheese manufactured in Canada during the last few years, has placed this county in the front rank of cheese producing countries, and if this position is to be maintained the quality of the product must be kept at the highest standard.

SENATOR HANNA DEAD.

Prominent Figure in the United States Passes to the Beyond.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Marcus A. Hanna, Senator from Ohio, and one of the foremost figures in American public life, died last evening at his apartments in the Arlington Hotel, at 6.40 p.m., of typhoid fever, after an illness of two weeks. He passed away peacefully and without pain after being unconscious since 3 a.m., at which time the first of a series of sinking spells came on, from the last of which he never rallied.

The members of the families, with one or two exceptions, were at the bedside when the end came. During the last hours life was kept in his body only by the use of most powerful stimulants.

Senator Hanna's death followed a sinking spell that lasted 10 minutes, beginning at 6.30.

Senator Hanna will be given a public funeral in the Senate Chamber at noon Wednesday, and probably lie in state at the capitol. Funeral services will also be held in Cleveland, Friday.

SIGHTED SINCE DRIVEN BY STORM

Vladivostock Squadron Cause of Many and Varied Reports.

FIRST THREE SAID TO BE SUNK.

But the Belief Now is That Squadron Has Gone Back to the Harbor---Japanese Land 20,000 Troops at Chemulpo---Report That Russians Sank Three of Their Torpedo Boats.

Che Foo, Feb. 16.—A reliable report received yesterday says that three Russian torpedo boats have been sunk by guns from the forts. They were mistaken for Japanese vessels.

Said to Be Confirmed.

New York, Feb. 16.—Official confirmation is given in Tokio, according to a cablegram to The World, of the report that three of the four Russian warships from Vladivostock which entered the Tsugaru Straits to attack Hakodate were blown up by mines the night of February 13 while attempting to pass the Straits.

Say They Were Sighted Since.

New York, Feb. 16.—A cablegram from London says the later advices are that four Russian warships have been sighted in Tsugaru Straits since the report went out that three of the cruisers had been sunk or disabled.

Driven Back By Storm.

Paris, Feb. 16.—A despatch to The Eclair from St. Petersburg says it is affirmed there that after the bombardment of Hakodate (which has not been officially corroborated) the four Russian cruisers which took part in the engagement were driven back to Vladivostock by a storm.

30,000 Japs Land at Chemulpo.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Information has reached here that nearly 20,000 Japanese troops were landed at Chemulpo Sunday, the first division of a large number which will be thrown into Corea while the Russian fleet is bottled in Port Arthur. By one conversant with the Japanese plans, it is stated that the repeated attacks on Port Arthur are not for the purpose of seizing that place at present, unless an unexpected weakness in the fortifications there should develop. They are part of a plan to harass the Russian fleet until Corea can be occupied.

Foxton Hall Destroyed By Fire.

London, Feb. 16.—In connection with the rumors of another bombardment of Port Arthur, the owners of the British steamer Foxton Hall, which was detained by the Russians at Port Arthur, have received news that she has been destroyed by fire.

Neutralization Not Possible.

London, Feb. 16.—Answering a question in the House of Commons yesterday as to whether the British Government was taking steps to secure an arrangement for the neutralization of Niuchwang during the war the Foreign Under Secretary, Earl Percy, replied that the Government did not consider it to be practicable to neutralize any territory in the actual occupation of either of the belligerents.

Government Not Approached.

London, Feb. 16.—Home Secretary Akers-Douglas announced in the House of Commons yesterday that the British Government not only had not been approached with a suggestion that it should consent to the Russian Black Sea fleet passing out through the Dardanelles, but there was no reason whatever for supposing that Russia contemplated such a violation of her treaty obligations to the European powers.

Wants to Denounce Alliance.

Paris, Feb. 16.—M. Jaures, leader of the Socialist party (which holds the balance of power in Parliament), has made a declaration contemplating the immediate denunciation of the Franco-Russian alliance, which has attracted a great deal of attention in diplomatic circles. The declaration was made at St. Etienne, where the Socialist congress is sitting.

ORDERLY MOBILIZATION.

Japan Has 300,000 Troops Ready—Merchant Steamers Rapidly Being Converted Into Auxiliary Cruisers.

Nagasaki, Feb. 12.—(Via Shanghai), Feb. 16.—The mobilization of the Japanese army has been carried out methodically. It is estimated that 300,000 troops are now ready to be placed in the field without impairing the national defence. The movements of the troops are surrounded in secrecy. They are being moved at night towards their bases at Essho, Kure Miji and Yokusuka and the lights of ordinary trains are extinguished when in the neighborhood of troop trains.

Members of the reserve force immediately step into the places of the outgoing regulars. Their organization is perfect and a full equipment is ready for each of the reserves.

All the steamers of Japanese merchant lines are being rapidly converted into auxiliary cruisers, armed with quick-firing guns and fitted with torpedo boats.

May Lead to a Clash

The Government officials refuse to give out any information regarding their military intentions. They expect to profit by dissentions in the Russian council of state. It is believed that the extraordinary powers conferred on Viceroy Alexieff will lead to a clash between Foreign Minister Lamsdorff and General Kuropatkin, especially as the latter is unfriendly to Alexieff. The result of a disagreement between these two Russian leaders here would end in a military muddle.

The Japanese are convinced that the Russians will be unable to concentrate and maintain 50,000 troops at any important point of military operations.

Dynamiting the Railway.

There is much talk current in regard to the possible dynamiting of the Russian railroad in Manchuria. The bands of Japanese who are practically undistinguishable from Chinese, are working in Manchuria, and would willingly risk their lives to aid their country's cause. A large body of troops is due in Nagasaki on Saturday to embark on transports for Corea.

Nagasaki and Yokohama harbors are protected by mines.

Several Russian merchant vessels, which have been captured, have been taken to Sasebo as prizes. Nine transports for horses are at Moji.

Intense War Feeling.

Absolute reticence is maintained by the Government. An intense war feeling prevails among all classes, although there is an apparent absence of excitement.

Initial Fight Cost $650,000 in Shells.

Paris, Feb. 16.—"The battle between the elephant and the whale," as the French press characterizes the Russian-Japanese war, is exciting comment here. The expense of such a war is specially dwelt upon. The cost of the bombarding of Port Arthur, lasting two hours, is estimated at $650,000, each shell of heavy calibre costing, according to French artillery experts, $200. To this must be added the cost of coal consumed.

JAPS PLAY A LONE HAND.

Accepts No Aid in Money or Men Though Both Offer.

Tokio, Feb. 16.—The Japanese Minister at Washington has officially advised his Government that he is receiving numerous offers of large contributions to the war fund from Americans, and requests instructions. It is considered probable that Japan will refuse to accept this aid.

The Cabinet will consider the question and formally instruct the Minister shortly. Many applications for permission to enlist in the Japanese army and navy are coming from various parts of the world. All these applications have been refused, and no foreigner will be allowed to participate in the military or naval operations in Japan, except as spectators.

At a meeting of the bankers, newspaper proprietors and commercial men yesterday, it was resolved to support the Government irrespective of party lines.

No further news of the Russian Vladivostock squadron has been received here. It is thought to have returned to the port of Vladivostock, in preference to risking a fight or exhausting its fuel.

Will Fight For Japan.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—The Post says: Sixty Chicagoans, many of them veterans of the Spanish-American war, it is said, will leave this week for Japan. Owing to the neutrality proclamation of President Roosevelt, the men are keeping their plans a secret, but it is intimated that the purpose is to join the Japanese forces

Canada and the War.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—Major Winter of the Militia Department, who writes the weekly military letter for The Evening Journal, expresses the opinion that if Great Britain becomes embroiled in the far eastern trouble Canada may have to send military contingents to her aid.

Will Watch the War.

Montreal, Feb. 16.—A Halifax despatch says. Lieut.-Col. Jones, son of Lieutenant-Governor Jones, has been selected to go to the Far East to watch the war for the Canadian militia.

RETIREMENT OF "BOBS."

Will Give His Services to Imperial Defence Committee—Duke of Connaught Is Inspector-General.

London, Feb. 16.—It is officially announced that Lord Roberts has retired from the War Office, but that at the special request of Premier Balfour he has consented to place his services at the disposal of the Committee for Imperial Defence.

The Duke of Connaught has been appointed Inspector-General under the new army reform scheme.

THE POSITION OF JAPAN STRENGTHENED.

From the latest information available from the scene of the conflict in the East, it is learned that the position of Japan is decidedly encouraging to that country's supporters, while the Russians are correspondingly weakened. It is learned that in the engagement off Port Arthur, the Japanese fleet only had one boat injured, and that but slightly, while the Russian fleet at that Port is so hopelessly crippled that it has been taken into the inner harbour, and is useless as a defence to the City. The fact that news has been received from Viceroy Alexieff by "telegraph" can mean only one thing, that the squadron has returned to Vladivostock, which is now the only post from which "telegraph" messages could be despatched.

Tokio seem to confirm this by reporting that nothing more has been heard of the raiders in Northern Japan. If the Gromoboi, Rossia, Rurik and Bogatyr are at Vladivostok they will be speedily bottled up there, for they are distinctly dangerous to Japan notwithstanding last week's fiasco.

Russia has lost another of her cruisers, by being blown up while passing over a mine. This still further weakens her naval force.

RUSSIAN CRUISER BLOWN UP.

St. Petersburg, February 16. — The Russian second class cruiser, Boyarin was blown up by a mine on Feb. 13th in the same manner as was the Russian torpedo transport, Yenisei. She had on board 197 officers and men, all of whom it is understood, were lost. No details of the diaster have been given out.

BRITISH GUN BOAT IN DANGER.

Yang Kow, February 15. — Threatening demonstrations have been made against the British gunboats, Espiegle and the United States gunboat, Helena, by Russian soldiers, whose assaults upon; and depredations against other foreigners continue. The civil administration is making every effort to arrest the offenders.

MANCHURIA TRAINS ARE RUNNING

New York, N.Y., Feb. 16.—The arrival is reported of 60,000 Russian troops at Irkutsk, says a Herald dispatch from Port Arthur by way of Chee Foo. The troops are now nearing Harbin. Manchuria trains are now running regularly, bringing supplies from Siberia.

RUSSIAN EFFORTS TO RELIEVE PORT ARTHUR.

A Russian fleet is reported to be moving in the direction of Korea or Southern Japan with the intention of bombarding the nearest ports causing a diversion in favour of Port Arthur.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Life looks dark indeed when a woman feels that her strength is fading away and she has no hopes of ever being restored. Such was my feeling a few months ago when I was advised that my poor health was caused by prolapsus or falling of the womb. The words sounded like a knell to me, I felt that my sun had set; but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound came to me as an elixir of life; it restored the lost forces and built me up until my good health returned to me. For four months I took the medicine daily, and each dose added health and strength. I am so thankful for the help I obtained through its use."—MRS. EASTERN ONTARIO LIVE STOCK SHOW

Will Be Held in Ottawa on March 9th to 11th.

Breeding and Feeding will Receive Attention—Lectures to be Arranged During the Show.

The Eastern Ontario Live Stock and Poultry Show to be held at Ottawa March 5th to 11th next, is the second of its kind to be held in eastern Ontario although similar shows have been held in the west for many years. The show is held under the joint direction of the Dominion Live Stock Associations and the Poultry Association of Eastern Ontario and is intended in the future to be an annual affair

The people of Ottawa have undertaken to erect and equip a splendid building in which the show will be held each year. Owing to a mishap the building cannot be made ready for this year, but commodious quarters have been prepared where the show can be carried on in a manner satisfactory to both visitors and exhibitors. The arrangements are made so as to bring up to the best advantage the educational features of the show.

To be a successful producer of live stock or live stock products in these days a farmer must be thoroughly versed in his work. Questions such as the principles of breeding, most economical methods of feeding and rearing, the proper time to market and the best markets are all of paramount interest. These questions will be carefully and concisely dealt with in a practical manner by expert lecturers during the different sessions of the show. The exhibits furnish object lessons that will most firmly impress upon the visitors' minds the value of many points brought out by the lecturers.

Among the exhibits will be found cattle, sheep, swine and poultry, both alive and dressed ready for market. There will also be the exhibit of dairy cattle and the stallion show. This latter is a new feature which is being introduced in connection with the Winter Fair and will, no doubt, make the show more instructive and of more general interest.

REDUCED RAILWAY RATES

Going March 8th and 9th; good to return up to March 10th. Round trip tickets for single fare.

Going March 6th to 9th, good to return up to March 12th; single fare on Standard Convention Certificate plan. A certificate should be obtained from the railway agent together with ordinary one-way ticket to Ottawa. The certificate must be signed by A. P. Westervit at Ottawa and will entitle the holder to free ticket to starting point upon presentation to ticket agent at Ottawa.

During the week of the show there will also be held at Ottawa the first National Live Stock convention at which subjects of interest to farmers and live stock men will be discussed. In all the management has prepared a very instructive programme and every farmer who possibly can go should be at Ottawa from March 8th to 11th

THE TWO GLENGARRYS.

(By Norman MacLaren)

There are two Glengarrys, mother and daughter, separated by four thousand miles of sea. The mother occupies one of the most romantic and beautiful stretches of country in the Highlands of Inverness-shire; the daughter possesses a fertile land washed by the broad St. Lawrence River. While old Glengarry is mostly peopled by phantoms, the new is filled by a teeming population; for the old glen has given its life to the new. Shortly after the fateful '45 that old race, turbulent and strong, which had made the thrones of three kingdoms rock, turned with wistful eyes to the west, where they heard there was a land that could give them bread. Their chief had no longer a use for them; the days of warring and reaving were over. He wanted money, and sheep alone could give money. So the cadet families bade farewell to the places they loved, sailed across the Atlantic, and settled in the Mowhawk Valley in New York. They sought peace but found war. These men who had joined in the mad rush to Derby, took up arms for the once hated House of Hanover when the war of American Independence broke out, and fought with all their might for the motherland; and when the fortunes of war went against them they fought their way through the wilderness to the banks of the St. Lawrence, and sacrificed their homes and possessions in the Mowhawk Valley that on Canadian soil, they might still call themselves subjects of a King. A large stretch of territory was assigned them, and they called their new home by the name of the glen of their dreams, Glengarry.

That was the beginning of the Canadian Glengarry. Still a large population was left in the old glen—a population which the thin, stony, rain-sodden soil could not support, and as these heard of the new land where their friends were prospering and their own language spoken, the stream of emigration which emptied the old glen into the new, set in. An extract from an old Canadian newspaper makes that stream visible to us: "Quebec, 7th September, 1786.—Arrived ship Mill naid, from Greenock, with emigrants, nearly the whole of a parish in the north of Scotland, who emigrated with their priest—nineteen hundred cabin passengers, with five hundred and twenty steerage passengers—to better their case." There were on their way from the Scotch to the Canadian Glengarry; and without any doubt they "bettered their case." The last large band that thus set forth for the West—perhaps the most important of all—sailed in 1802. It was composed of the Glengarry Fencibles, whom that redoubtable, and patriotic priest, Alexander MacDonell, was instrumental in raising, and to whom he ministered as chaplain while they fought in Ireland for that same government which their fathers once tried to destroy. When the regiment was disbanded in 1802 the chaplain went to London to arrange for emigrating them to new Glengarry. Mr. Addington, the Premier, objected that the Government considered the hold they had of the Canadas so slender that a person in his position could not be justified in putting his hand in the public purse to assist British subjects to that colony. Father MacDonell stood firm; he would not agree to Trinidad or any other place of settlement—the new Glengarry was calling to the children of the old! The priest pointed out to the premier that by diverting the tide of emigration from the United States to the British colonies their population would be increased by enthusiastic British settlers and the hold of the mother country on the colonies strengthened. The priest was the better statesman, and he prevailed. In spite of opposition in high places, and from the Scotch lairds, an emigrant ship sailed from Liverpool with eleven hundred souls, and after several months' voyage, landed them in Canada. That was the last band to swell the population of the new Glengarry and they were a band of soldiers. "If I were a young man," said Tennyson once to Carlyle, "I would lead a colony out somewhere or other." "Oh, ay," answered Carlyle, "so would I too—to India or somewhere; but the scraggest bit of heather in Scotland is dearer to me than all the forests of Brazil." Father MacDonell was fortunate in realizing the poet's wish—he led out his colony; but doubtless he and his thousand men, every one of them felt as they sailed west that the scraggiest bit of heather growing on the mountain sides of their own glen was dearer to them than aught they could ever get in that new land whither they were going. The love of the old land—the mist caressed hills that rise from the sides of many a winding loch—never died in the hearts of these exiles. In a new Glengarry their hearts were in the old.

Right well did these men fulfil their priest's word that by their going the empire would be strengthened; for when the States invaded Canada in 1812, and both the Canadas were seething with disaffection, the men of Glengarry rose as one man to fight for the old country. Their chaplain, now the Catholic Bishop of Upper Canada, stirred to flame the ardour of their patriotism. It was a MacDonell who had crossed the sea as a boy that died beside his general—General Brock—on the hill of Queenstown. He was but a youth, yet a colonel and attorney-general for the colony; and he shares his general's glory and grave. It was the Glengarry men, who, under Colonel Macdonell of Greenfield (how familiar that name is to us!) crossed the river on the ice, and stormed the fort of Ogdensburg, thus bringing to nought a plan by which five thousand men were to be thrown into Canada. It was the same Colonel MacDonell, who, by a march of unprecedented swiftness saved Montreal. When Bishop Macdonell promised the "Little Englander" Prime Minister that his colony would strengthen the empire, he probably little thought how good he would make his word. For more than any others these Glengarry men helped to save the greatest of the colonies for the British Crown.

Thirty-five years later, when the French-Canadians broke out into rebellion the sons of these Glengarry men proved worthy of their sires. French-Canadians, with the help of the States, were sworn to relieve the continent of the "absurdities of monarchy." In a few days two thousand Glengarry men enrolled themselves as willing to fight and die for these same "absurdities of monarchy." In the course of that rebellion, a fink was forged which unites the old Glengarry to the new with a romantic bond. In those days the late Mr. Edward Ellice, who was for over forty years M. P. for St. Andrew's, and his young wife, with her sister, Miss Balfour, went to Canada to see the family estate there, and were residing at Beauharnois when the rebellion broke out. Miss Balfour kept a diary of the daily incidents, and it gives a vivid glimpse of events which are well-nigh forgotten. Mrs. Robert Ellice can claim, no doubt, the distinction of being the last surviving prisoner of the Canadian rebellion of 1838.—Chamber's Journal.

MR. JAMES MUIR, CAVAN, AGED NEARLY 100 YEARS.

Is an Uncle of Mr. E. S. Clarry of Town Born in 1807.

Accompanied with a photograph the Saturday Globe in its last issue printed the following sketch of Mr. Jas Muir, an uncle of Mr. E. S. Clarry, town:—

"A well-known citizen of Cavan Township is Mr. James Muir. He was born in Ireland in 1807, and emigrated to New York in 1847. In 1853 he moved to Canada, preferring to live under a British Sovereign, and settled in the township of Cavan. He joined the Orange Order on the 12th of July, 1826, in Ireland, almost 78 years ago, and is to-day probably the oldest Orangeman in Ontario. He is still in very good health, and both he and Mrs. Muir bid well to reach their hundred-year milestone."

TOWN FRANCHISES PAY THEIR WAY.

A Refutation of Statements Made in Ottawa Paper Respecting Municipal Plants.

The Fort William Times-Journal publishes a lengthy article refuting the statement published in the Ottawa Free Press recently with reference to the municipal plants of the town. The article says:

'On December 30th, 1903, an article appeared in the Ottawa Free Press, regarding the cost and maintenance of the public utilities in the towns of Fort William and Port Arthur. These two towns own and operate light, waterworks, telephone and street railway systems, and are, therefore, the subject of study and comment by those who are interested in the subject of the ownership of these utilities by the people. The article was subsequently copied in the Toronto Mail and Empire on Jan. 8th, 1904.

"About two weeks previous to the publication of the article a man representing himself as an accredited correspondent of the Ottawa Free Press, appeared in Fort William, armed with the proper credentials from his managing editor, asking that he be given all necessary information in regard to the working and financing of the different systems, as his paper wished to make an exhaustive report on the subject. The correspondent was referred to as a special commissioner, and will be so referred to in this reply. All possible courtesy was shown him by the officials of the town and by citizens generally, and every facility was placed at his command to aid him in his self-imposed task.

"The special commissioner's report gives the figures on receipts and maintenance of light and water as follows:

LIGHT.

	Receipts.	Maint'ce.
1898	$3,446 99	$ 3,552 12
1899	5,018 87	7,405 36

1901	7,429 10	11,736 44

WATER.

1901	6,376 12	9,492 38
	$12,756 15	$18,797 03

"It will be noticed that the above figures are given only to 1901, while the figures given below are to December 31, 1903:—

"The statement given below shows the actual result:

"These statements are taken from the statements published by the town all of which have been audited except 1903, and the auditors are now at work on the statement of that year. The expenditures include all charges for maintenance, interest and sinking fund to end of 1903. There is now on deposit in the Bank of Montreal, Fort William, the sum of $11,803.00, being sinking fund in full on account of debentures issued for purposes of water, light and telephones to date. We have been able during the initial years to run our plants at a small profit and to provide our people with light, water and telephones as cheap or cheaper than any other place in the Dominion of Canada where steam power is used.

"The article says that 'the plant was given credit in the receipts for $6,692.38 from the town on account of street lighting, and $2,987 for street hydrants for fire purposes.'

"These figures are not correct, but the town is paying at the present time to the water and light plant approximately $3,600.00 per year for 50 arc lamps and 55 street hydrants, and are getting full value for this amount. The town requires the light and water and only pays to its plants a fair price for the service obtained.."

FORT WILLIAM'S FINANCES.

The special commissioner says:

"There has been no audit of the town accounts since 1901, and no financial statement has been published or is available from any source which I could command."

"There is probably no town in the province whose accounts are better kept than the town of Fort William. The annual statements of the treasurer published since 1894, bear evidence of this this, and many provincial accountants and treasurers of the larger municipalities have expressed themselves to the effect that Fort William's statement is one of the clearest and most comprehensive presented by any town in the province. The Provincial auditor, J. W. Lang, says in his report for the year, 1902: 'The treasurer of Fort William is an efficient officer. I found his balances correct, and books well kept. The financial statement for the year was an elaborate production.'

"The town accounts have been audited every year since incorporation, and a financial statement published. The statement of the year 1902 was delayed on account of the fire in March, 1903."

TROUBLE IN THE HOME.

The servant girl question has become a most important one in all populous centres, says the Kingston Whig. The trouble respecting them reached an acute stage when they practically went on strike against the conditions that formerly prevailed. The expert cooks, the trusty maids, the thrifty house-keepers became scarcer. The demand for them became the greater as the society women showed little knowledge of domestic affairs and less inclination to become familiar with them.

It was at this point—when the employers had become largely helpless, largely unable to deal with passing emergencies, largely unfitted for the duties of the hour—that the average domestic fixed her salary, her hours of service, her going and coming to suit herself. The experience of some years had led to experiments, which are working out well. In the larger cities of the United States clubs and schools have been organized through the instrumentality of which girls are educated and trained for housekeeping. In some of these places the routine is most complete, and those who pass through it, who graduate and accept the evidences of it in the credentials which are granted, may be engaged quite readily as domestics of the highest class.

Then there are the employment bureaus on a new and a better plan in these departments employer and employee meet. They have a definite understanding. The employee gives token of her ability to serve in a certain capacity and upon her representations she is engaged for a period and at a fixed stipend, with a full and complete understanding in respect of the service to be rendered.

But in spite of all these new devices, the schools, the clubs, the purposes — there are differences between the employer and the employee because on the one hand women do not know what they want and cannot define it, and on the other hand women do not qualify for the duties they essay to perform. So the war goes on, and must continue. There are two things consequent upon peace and contentment in the house—a head, who is an expert, and a servant who knows her place, and her work, and has the desire to honestly perform it. Unless both are present there will be difficulties.

OPERATIONS A FAD.

Public Gradually Awakens to the Fact

The latest fad in operations has been the appendicitis fad; before that the fad for rectal operations, (piles, etc.,) held away. Hundreds of patients were frightened and hurried into hospitals, operated upon and robbed of their last dollar, when the trouble was a simple case of hemorrhoids or piles only, easily cured at home with a simple remedy costing but fifty cents a box.

"I procured one fifty cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure of my druggist, with the intention of buying a large box later, but was happily surprised when I found that I was cured, and still have six 'Pyramids' left out of the first and only box. I have not had the first sign of piles since I used this one box, which has been about two months; previous to using Pyramid Pile Cure I had the worst kind of bleeding and protruding piles for over thirty years, and no one knows, except those who have had the piles, the pain and misery I suffered.

"I am a poor man, but have often said I would give a fortune, if I had it, to be cured of piles, and now I have been cured for fifty cents, I should be very ungrateful if I did not thank you and give you every privilege to use my name and this letter, when I know there are so many who suffer as I did." J. A. Weismiller, 1100 Bladensburg Road, Washington, D.C.

The Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., publish a little book on the causes and cure of piles, which they will be glad to mail free to any applicant, and we advise all sufferers from this painful disease to write to them for it.

WESTERNERS DEFEND THEIR LIBERALITY.

Letters From Examiner Subscribers in the North West.

Resent the Assertion That They do not Support the Churches Liberally All Parts Heard From.

Some weeks ago the Examiner published an item in which the experience of a Peterborough traveller in Manitoba was cited. The article referred to the way in which Manitobans supported the Gospel and told of how a man in a Stonewall church placed 25 cents on the collection plate and took 20 cents off.

The Examiner subscribers in the Northwest, and there are a great many of them, have taken objection to the inference conveyed by the article in question, and a number of those have written letters to the Examiner on the subject. "J. S." of Winnipeg wrote as follows:

Dear Editor,—The Examiner still makes its regular visits to our home, and no visitor is more welcome than the old home paper. It is, seldom that I have to take exception to anything which appears in its columns, but I feel that I must write to express my surprise that a Peterborough man should have found, as was stated in your issue of January 25th, that the Westerners were so small as to take twenty cents off a church collection plate, after putting 25c on. Now Sir, I have lived in the west nearly a decade, and I have to confess that such a thing as he speaks of as having happened, has never been witnessed by me. I have found that the people of Manitoba and the North West are most liberal in support of the Gospel, and I thank the hundreds of Christian ministers who have made their homes in this land will bear me out in this statement. I surely think that if the person referred to really did see what he is reported to have seen, the person who perpetrated such an act must have been an easterner who was sojourning in the west.

The same article brought out a similar protest from "G. H. J." who lives in Alberta, and who says:—

Examiner of 25th to hand this morning. I notice on page 6 below Peter Hamilton's advertisement in large letters: "How Manitobans Support the Gospel." Will you please ascertain from the representative of the wholesale local firm if he is certain that this liberal (?) giver was a Manitoban. In my twenty-two years' experience here if we noticed a man making change from the plate (which we have not) or placing a soiled copper on the plate, we at once set him down as a new arrival from the eastern part of Canada. During my residence of eight years in Stonewall, with the majority of the population from Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, who were all Liberal contributors, I arrive at the conclusion that this man who made change was lately from Ontario.

Now, my dear friend, ask the clergymen of the different denominations in your town to allow you the privilege of searching their blue books for reports of the church in Canada and if you do not find that the people of Manitoba and the North West do not contribute more liberally than the congregations of the East in proportion to the population then I will migrate to the Yukon. Judging from the reports as published in local papers of Peterborough I believe you must have left the age of copper behind and are now in that of silver. The different churches there have made a step forward and probably with a little urging they will advance to the age of gold. I well remember counting the coppers and pennies of St. Paul's in the long ago, but in the revival of 1881 the contributions, prompted by the right motive were larger and I am sure, were large and I am sure were the character who offered his 20 cents change to express an outpouring of the Holy Spirit he would not ask for change. May your congregations be animated by a desire to give for His sake Who gave all.

Lethbridge, Alta., Feb'y 2nd, 1904.

Both of these writers are evidently possessed of the idea that the people of the West are liberal supporters of the Gospel, and perhaps they are right. A letter from "A.J." in the far north, Edmonton, to the Examiner, also bears the same testimony. It says:—

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Some person in Peterborough or vicinity sent to my address a copy of the Daily Examiner of January 25th, containing the following paragraph, headed "How Manitobans Support the Gospel," and then goes on to give his experience as a Peterborough man in the West: "A representative of a local wholesale firm was recently travelling through Manitoba and, happening to be in Stonewall over Sunday, went to church as was his usual custom. He discovered that the Manitoba people are anxious to give to the support of the Gospel. Moreover that they have a very clear idea of just how much they want to give. The man sitting next to the above mentioned Peterborough man, when the collection plate was being passed, placed a quarter on it and took off four five cent pieces." Now, Mr Editor, this is not a fair criterion of how the Manitoba people give to the support of the Gospel. It is very seldom that we see enough five-cent pieces on the collection plate to change a quarter. Sometimes, however, we see a big red one cent piece shining on the plate as it passes by; mostly when there are lots of visitors from the east. We are always glad to see the eastern people come to church and are always ready to share our pew with them; but I must say that the Manitoba people are wholesouled supporters of the Gospel. All the visitor has to do is to take a look at the fine churches and go and hear the able preachers and I think he would be convinced that only the best along these lines would do for Manitobans. However we were glad to get hold of the old Examiner. We used to read it in our boyhood days and it brings back to our memory things that took place in Peterborough and vicinity long ago.

A subscriber in Brandon also adds his estimate of the liberality of the people in the West. This letter signed M.S., also refers to the same article and says:—"In the issue of Jan 25th, just to hand, I was much interested in reading of an action of an alleged Western man, in a church in Stonewall, and while I have no intention of denying the truth of all that the article said, I do wish to express my opinion that the person referred to was not a native of the West. Perhaps it is not generally known that at Stonewall is situated the only penitentiary in the West, and the close proximity of such a place may possibly have affected the spirit of Christian liberality, and if the man who acted as he is reported to have acted, I am positive that in no other town in the West would such a circumstance have been noticed. The people of Manitoba are noted for their liberality, and in my twenty years residence here, I have never seen anything which would lead me to believe that they were otherwise. The Examiner is still a very welcome guest in our home, and I am sure that following out your established policy of fairness in all things you will give equal publicity to this championship of Western liberality to the article referred to."

The Examiner is glad to learn that the West is peopled by such liberal-minded citizens, and is quite ready to believe that the instance referred to was an isolated one. The letters published above are from places representing all parts of the West, and this paper is happy to give publicity to their expressions of tribute to the inhabitants of our great Western Empire.

A GUARANTEE OF ACADEMY'S SUCCESS.

Mr. Small, One of the Recognized Opera House Manager in Canada.

Mr. Small has purchased the Grand Opera House in Hamilton and the Times sees in this fact the assurance that the city will have a modern Opera House. It says:—

"The sale of the Grand Opera House property to Mr. Small may be taken as an assurance that Hamilton will have an up-to-date theatre in the near future. This city has a large theatre-going population, which is continually increasing, and nothing but a first-class theatre in every respect will meet their requirements. A larger theatre will bring better companies, and better companies will bring larger box receipts."

In view of this it would seem that the promoters of the Peterborough Academy of Music are extremely fortunate in inducing Mr. Small to take a large block of stock in the local company, and to offer to lease the building after its completion. This will not only guarantee a good return to the investors, but will also ensure a high class series of plays put on in the new building.

What Tea Does to Rheumatics.

When you next take tea think of this.

Tea contains 175 grains of Uric Acid in every pound.

Meat contains only five to seven grains.

Rheumatism is Uric Acid in the blood.

Uric Acid accumulates from food when the digestive apparatus cannot create enough Alkaline elements (like soda) to neutralize it.

This Acid collects urea, or worn-out waste matter from the system.

That Urea enters the blood when Alkaline action has not previously dissolved it.

By and by the waste matter reaches the joints and muscles, through circulation of the blood.

There it gradually deposits in solid particles, like granulated sugar.

These solid particles grind between the joints and muscles at every movement.

This grinding causes irritation and pain.

These in turn may develop inflammation and swelling. That inflammation bestirs Nature to help herself.

She proceeds to coat the hard Uric particles over with cushions of pulpy mucous, like the first healing strata of an outer sore.

This pulpy covering grows to the bones, as well as to the particles deposited. There it hardens like plaster or sealing wax. Then we have "bony joints," almost inflexible, and usually fixed in a bended position, from the pain and inflammation.

That is rheumatism at its worst.

It is bad enough before it gets that far.

There is but one sure way of curing Rheumatism. The first step is to neutralize the Uric Acid already in the system. Next, to dissolve, and carry away, the hard deposits that grind between the joints. Then get the digestive apparatus into such healthy condition that it will, unaided, produce less Uric Acid and more Alkalines.

This is what doctors generally have failed to do.

It is what I studied a lifetime to accomplish and achieved only after many failures and thousands of experiments.

At last I found in Germany, a Solvent which was not only effective, but absolutely safe to use.

Now agents powerful enough to be effective in Rheumatism are safe.

My discovery, now called "Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure," acts directly, but internally, upon Uric Acid in the joints and muscles.

It dissolves and carries off the painful deposits, producing an immediate Alkaline condition of the blood, and neutralizing the Acid in it which would have fed the Rheumatism and extended the disease.

It won't restore bony joints to flexibility and it can't undo, in a week, the damage caused by years of rheumatic condition.

But it will benefit every case, and it will entirely cure most cases of Rheumatism.

So sure am I of this that I will supply Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure, to any sick one who writes me for it, on a month's trial, at my risk.

If it succeeds, the cost to him is only $5.50 for the six bottle treatment.

If it fails, I bear the whole cost myself.

And,—he alone shall be the judge—shall decide who shall pay.

Surely you will not continue to suffer when you can thus get well, at my risk.

I have written an important treatise on Rheumatism, telling of its relief and cure.

It is free to Rheumatic people.

Write me a post card for it to-day Address Dr. Shoop, Box 947, Racine, Wis.

P.S. Simple cases often yield to one bottle of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure. (Druggists $1) But all druggists do not supply it on a month's trial. You must write to me for that. C. I. S.

THE LENTEN FAST

—o—

Written for the Examiner by Rev. J. L. Holah, L.S.T.

"Be favourable, O Lord, be favourable to Thy people, who turn to Thee in weeping, fasting and praying." How many of us who hear these words have not reason to fear that they shrink from the Christian duty of which they speak! How much easier it is to offer unto God the tribute of our lips, than the discipline of our bodies! We stand to-day at the threshold of another Holy Season, and "is it nothing to you all ye that pass by? behold and see if there be any sorrow like unto my sorrow," for Jesus of Nazareth passeth by. This Holy Season is usually supposed to be observed in commemoration of our Saviour's Temptation, and His Fasting in the Wilderness. It is rather most probable that the Christian Lenten Feast originated from a regard to the words of our Lord Jesus Christ Himself: "The days will come when the Bridegroom will be taken away from them, and then shall they fast in those days." The history of the Christian Church teaches us that in this passage Jesus Christ has alluded to the institution of a particular season of fasting and prayer in His future Church. In the first instance, began this solemn period on the day which commemorated the Crucifixion, continuing until the morning of the Resurrection, the interval being about forty hours.

The Church remained not long in obscurity on this point, for we find that the Lenten Feast of forty days can be traced to a period very near indeed to that of the Apostles themselves; and the term of "Forty Days" was settled upon at an early period, as is quite evident from the writings of the Bishops in those days, referring us to the examples of Moses, Elias and Our Lord, all of whom fasted.

Fasting is frequently set forth in the Scriptures as a Christian duty, yet the set times for it rests solely on the authority of the Church.

S. Chrysostom has left to us the general design of the institution of the Lenten Fast: "Why do we fast these forty days? Many heretofore were used to come to the communion indevoutly and inconsideratly, especially at this time when Christ gave it to His Disciples. Therefore, our forefathers, considering the mischiefs arising from such careless approaches, meeting together, appointed forty days for fasting and prayer, and the hearing of sermons and for holy assemblies; that all men in these days being carefully purified by prayer, almsdeeds and fasting, watching, and tears and confessions of sins, might come according to their capacity with a pure conscience to the Holy Table."

Our Lord Jesus Christ gave directions to His disciples how they ought to fast, and promised that they should be recompensed for the right performance of this duty, "But thou, when thou fastest, anoint thine head, and wash thy face, that thou appear not unto men to fast, but unto thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly." And well has Hooker remarked: "Our Lord and Saviour would not teach the manner of doing, much less propose a reward for doing, that which were not both holy and acceptable in God's sight;" with our Saviour's seal, "The days will come when the bridegroom shall be taken away from them, and then shall they fast," clearly confirms our most Holy Season that He considered it a Christian duty for us. We are not denizens for this life only, but we live that we may live hereafter. Life is too real, and doth too certain. Remember therefore during this Holy Season to pray earnestly; to exercise special self-denial; to crucify the flesh, and all its lusts; to seek out and perform acts of charity; to seek to influence your neighbour for good; to attend the services of your church as you can; to add the cost of your denial to your church's Easter offering; to study your Bible prayerfully; to examine yourself prayerfully as to your thoughts and manner of life, seeking the grace of His Holy Spirit.

St. Luke's Rectory, Shrove Tuesday, 1904.

ALL SAINT'S CHURCH.

At All Saint's Church Sunday the Rev. R. W. Spencer, of Millbrook, officiated at both services and was greeted with very good congregations, considering the stormy nature of the day. His sermons were attentively listened to and much appreciated by his audiences. At the evening service Miss Mary Rush sang "Where is Heaven," with much sweetness.

At St. John's Church Sunday the congregations were large when the exceedingly inclement weather is considered. Rev. Mr. Davidson expressed his pleasure at the large number present and said it was an evidence of a sturdy type of Christianity.

Tendency of the Times

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip,) and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by all druggists.

Have You Pictures to be Framed?

There are hundreds of unframed pictures lying around well worth the price of framing — especially when you can get it done so cheaply at the Peterborough Bookstore. The beautiful premium pictures which come along with the illustrated papers, as well as loose water colours, photos, crayons, etc., make very pretty decorations when framed for dens, halls, parlours, libraries, dining rooms, and bedrooms. Bring in your pictures to the Peterborough Bookstore, and let us frame them at our February cut prices. We ran across a lot of new frames and moulding the other day which will cheapen the price to you about one-fourth. A. H. Stratton & Co.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR DEEP SEA MISSIONS

Given in St. John's Sunday School Room Last Night

Was a Great Success An Excellent Programme Rendered With Marked Success.

Although not extensively attended the entertainment given in St. John's Sunday School Room last night, for the benefit of the Deep Sea Mission, was not one jot the less delightful and those who did patronize the affair were rewarded to a marked degree. The programme was excellence personified and this was apparent in the manner in which the various numbers were received. The audience encored almost every number, and in some cases were rewarded with a second selection. The programme was divided into two parts, the first consisting of instrumental and vocal numberr and the second, a comedietta, which in parts was irresistibly funny. The school room and stage were decorated for the occasion and the event was very successful from a financial point of view.

The concert opened with an instrumental solo by Miss Katie Graham, which was enthusiastically received. Miss Lillie Moore followed with a vocal solo. "When the Tide Comes in," and in response to the continued applause which she received, sang "When the Heart is Young." The third number of the programme was a piano solo by Miss Wilhelmina Gumpright, she playing "Tamboutine," a selection typically Spanish in composition. Miss Gumpright's playing was exquisite and the audience was ecstatic in its approval. The next contribution was a vocal solo "Call Me Back," by Miss Helen Davies. The supplication was answered by the audience, who were favoured with a "cute" coon song entitled "Sing-a-low." The first part of the programme was concluded by Mr. J. Laurence, who sang, "Come Back to Me," in a manner thoroughly approved of by the audience.

The commedietta entitled "Crazed," was excellently done and the acting for an amateur affair was very creditable indeed. Although laughable the play, which would be more than complimented in being termed a musical comedy, had no plot and the caste numbered three as follows:—Sally, a housemaid, Miss Eardley-Wilmot; Playwright, Mr. J. Gracey; Musician, Mr. F. A. Lount. Miss Eardley-Wilmot made a very decided hit, while Mr. Gracey and Mr. Lount both showed up the respective vagaries of literary and musical men.

The concert was concluded with the National Anthem.

NEW MANAGER FOR CANADA WOOLEN MILLS.

Report to the Effect That Mr. Jas. Kendry, M. P., Will Resign.

Inquiry at the Auburn Mills Fails to Confirm the Report. The Local Mill not in the Amalgamation.

The Galt Reformer of Monday contained the following item:

"A report is current in Hespeler to the effect that Mr. Kendry has resigned his position as manager of the Canada Woollen Mills, in the various places, and that Mr. Moore, of the Excelsior Woollen Mills of Montreal, will succeed him. He is expected this week."

Inquiry at the Auburn Woollen Mills this morning elicited the information that Mr. Kendry was not in town, so that the report could not be confirmed or denied. When asked as to whether anything was known at the mills of the proposed change, the reply was: "We are not at liberty to say anything."

Mr. James Kendry, M.P., has since the amalgamation of the Canada Woollen Mills filled the position of manager of the company of which the Auburn Mills is not a member.

The Canadian woollen business, since the assumption of the management of the mills by Mr. Kendry, has improved considerably.

Mr. Kendry, in addition to holding his position as manager of the amalgamated mills, has managed the Auburn Mill, which is not in the amalgamation, so that while Mr. Kendry may sever his connection with the amalgamated mills, it is highly improbable that he will withdraw from the management of the town mill, in which he has a large interest.

A VERY PLEASANT TRIP THROUGH SUNNY ITALY.

Interesting Talk by Mr. H. H. Kenner to Epworth League Last Night.

"Here and There in Sunny Italy," was the name of a very delightful, educative and eminently interesting paper read by Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, of the Collegiate Institute Staff, to the members of the George street Epworth League, at their regular monthly literary meeting held in the Sunday school room of that church last night. The announcement in the local press that Mr. Kenner would deliver the address attracted an exceptionally large attendance, and the hearty manner in which the speaker was received heralded a delightful time. Mr. Kenner has remarkably lucid descriptive powers, and the numerous limelight views shown by Mr. R. M. Roy, made the event even more pleasant.

Mr. Jeffries was chairman, and in a few appropriate sentences introduced his brother teacher.

Mr. Kenner realistically described his journey from Switzerland to Milan, dwelling chiefly upon the beautiful scenery of the country traversed. At Milan views of the main points of interest were shown, the speaker referring to some pleasant reminiscences at each spot. From Milan he passed on to Venice, perhaps the most beautiful city in Europe. Scenes of the ribbling canals, over which skimmed the fairy-like gondoliers, with the clear, blue sky overhead, and the stately mansions on either side, greatly impressed the audience, and so realistic were the views that the sounds of the everyday life of the streets of water could, in imagination, be heard. From Milan to Piza, and from Piza to Rome, he passed, describing the world famous leaning tower at Piza, and showing excellent photographs of the Forum, the Colosseum and the Palace of the Caesars at Rome. It is beyond the power of the pen, even though space permitted, to do credit to the lecture in the smallest degree, and indeed the Leaguers were given more than a treat.

At the conclusion of the paper, a vote of thanks, moved by Rev. J. P. Wilson, seconded by Mr. George Robertson, and heartily approved of by the audience, was tendered the lecturer, who appropriately replied.

A LIFE RESIDENT OF NORTH MONAGHAN.

Death of Mr. Alexander Robertson Which Occurred on Monday.

The death of one of the best known and most highly respected residents of North Monaghan, occurred last night when Mr. Alexander Robertson died at his home in Springville, after an illness of a number of months from a complication of diseases. He had been confined to his bed however, only about a week.

The late Mr. Robertson was born on the farm where his death occurred, 59 years ago, and has lived there his lifetime, and was one of the leading men in all movements which had for their objects the improvement of society. He was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church and was a Liberal in politics.

There are surviving the late Mr. Robertson, besides his wife, three sisters and one brother, the former, Mrs. Jos. Scott, of Souris, Man.; Mrs. Robt. Lamb, of Perctang, and Mrs. Jos. Lamb, of Tyner, and the latter, Mr Josiah Robertson, of Peterborough and two daughters and three sons, the daughters being Mrs. Stacey, of Peterborough and Miss Florence, a trained nurse of New York, and the sons,—Robert and Kenneth, at home, and George, in Souris, Man.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday, at 1.30 o'clock, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT TO MR. W. LAING.

Fell on the Ice in Keene Breaking His Leg.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Keene, Feb. 16. — A deplorable accident occurred at the skating rink last night, by which Mr. Wm. Laing broke his leg. Mr. Laing, who is an employee of Anderson and Skinner, went to the rink for a skate, after the store closed, and had only been on the ice a short time, when he fell, sustaining a fracture of the leg. A physician was called, who set the broken member, and it is not anticipated that any serious results will follow. The accident is all the more regrettable since his family have just left the village for Toronto.

ALL SAINTS' GIRLS' VALENTINE SOCIAL.

A Characteristic Entertainment Given by the Senior Girls' Guild.

An evening of more than usual pleasure was that spent at the entertainment given last night by the Senior Girls' Guild of All Saint's church, and which took the form of a Valentine Social. The event was participated in by a large number of persons, all of whom enjoyed the originality which characterized the affair.

Following out the scheme of the social, valentines were cut through the centre, the different halves being given to ladies and gentlemen, who were asked to find the person who had the half corresponding to their own. This served the purpose for which it was intended, namely, that of getting everyone thoroughly acquainted with everyone else. When all had found their mates the gathering was called to order, and a very interesting programme run off.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, occupied the chair in the absence of a regular Rector, and during the course of the evening Rev. J. L. Holah, acting Rector of St. Luke's church, gave a short address, which pleased the audience. He started in a humourous vein, but referred before the close of his address to the approaching Lenten season, and, its solemnity. A very interesting and meritorious musical and literary programme followed.

Miss Free's recitation of "Jenny McNeil," and "The Progress of Madness," received well merited applause. Mr. Scott, with Miss Bullen as accompanist, sang "Take a Seat Old Lady," and for an encore "Winding of the Yarn." A piano duet, entitled "LeCarillon" was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Greenslade and Miss Mulholland.

Mr. Jos. Legg, whose singing has made him a prime favourite with All Saint's people, sang, with Miss Bullen as accompanist, "Out of My Life Forever," while Miss Daisy Sawers sang in a pleasing manner, "For Love Alone," she was accompanied by Mrs. Halpany. Mr. Rogers rendered a most artistic cornet solo, "Alice Where Art Thou," in which he was heartily applauded. The last number to an altogether pleasing programme was a Chrysanthemum song given by a number of girls and boys. This was a number which was much enjoyed, and was a fitting climax to a very pleasant evening. During the evening the orchestra under Mr. Rogers' direction gave a number of selections. Miss Rickey acted as accompanist to a number of the musical selections.

Dainty refreshments were served at the conclusion of the programme, and constituted not the least pleasing feature of the entertainment.

ALDERMEN VISITED LOCK CO'S WORKS.

With View of Ascertaining Needs of Company in Reference to New Building.

His Worship Mayor Roger and a number of the Aldermen paid a visit to the Works of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company yesterday afternoon, and were shown through the establishment, which was seen to be too small for the amount of business which the Company is doing, and it was manifest that the Company will have to procure larger premises in order to conduct the business economically. The members of the Council also visited the lot between the G.T.R. and C.P.R. tracks which the Company have asked the town to give them and on which they will erect modern buildingd to cost $25,000, and in which the growing business of the Company will be conducted. The Company will employ 150 hands, an increase of about 50 on the present number.

No decision was arrived at, but the matter will again be discussed at a council meeting to be held in the near future.

THE LICENSE LAW

Government's Policy to Dismiss Lax Inspectors.

MR. STRATTON'S STRONG STATEMENT

Fear of Their Jobs Will Probably Make the License Inspectors of the Province Sit Up—A Case in Point—Return Brought Down Giving Details of the "Soo" Payment.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—"I desire this House and the country to know that whenever it is shown to the department that the license law is not being properly enforced the inspector will be removed, and removed immediately." This was the emphatic declaration of the Provincial Secretary in the Legislature yesterday afternoon, a declaration supported later by the Attorney-General, when he pointed out that the Government reserved to itself the right of dismissing any inspector on short notice without investigation. The question arose on the motion of Mr. J. P. Downey (South Wellington) for a return of all the papers in connection with the removal of Mr. W. S. Cowan, formerly Inspector of Licenses for South Wellington.

The bill of Mr. John Smith (Peel), to amend the public libraries act so as to empower boards to allow outsiders the use of the library on payment of a fee was given a second reading.

Payment of Soo Wages.

The Provincial Secretary laid on the table the return asked for, giving details of the payment of wages at the "Soo." The total amount paid is close to $260,000, and there are accounts with over 4,100 men. The number of time checks presented was between 12,000 and 15,000. The list contains the following names and amounts paid:

A. E. Elliott, counsel, $338.71.
D. D. Lewis, superintendent Steel Company, $2000.

Opposition Had a Majority.

On motion to adjourn, Mr. James Reid jocularly asked for the yeas and nays, calling attention to the fact that the Government was in a minority, there being sixteen Opposition members present and only thirteen Liberals.

The debate on the budget will be resumed to-day by Mr. Hendrie of Hamilton.

T. A. S. CHAMPIONS OF NO. 4 DISTRICT

Defeated Keene Last Night by Score of 7—4

IN CHARLOTTE STREET RINK

The Game a Fast one, Characterized by Close Checking—The Better Team Won.

The game to decide the championship of District No. 4, in the Trent Valley League was played last night in the old Charlotte street rink between the T.A.S. and Keene teams, and was a runaway match for the T.A.S. who won by a score of 7—4, the last two goals for the Keene team were put in during the last five minutes of play and were extremely lucky shots.

The game was witnessed by a fairly good crowd, about three hundred persons occupying the seats in the gallery and surrounding the centre ice, and it was a revival of olden times when the Peterborough teams battled for supremacy on the small ice. Both teams had an equal advantage, and the spectators saw plenty of action, as it was a fast game from start to finish, both teams doing some lightning work at different periods of the game.

The fact that each team had been credited with a win from the other, and were tied for the district championship made the game doubly interesting, and both teams went on the ice to win if there was any possibility of doing so, and while Keene played a good hard game, and fought every inch of the way, it is a fact which few will deny, that of the two teams on the ice last night, the best won, and the championship has gone to the team which, judging by last night's game, deserved it. The T.A.S. team showed the result of good, consistent practice and their playing was in every way superior to that displayed by them in any previous game this season. The defence was well nigh impregnable, while the forwards found apparently little difficulty in penetrating the Keene goal defenders.

The game was comparatively clean, and although there were a number of players penalized on both teams, the offences were for the most part minor, and about an equal number of each team were given rest periods. The players, however, generally evidenced little or no desire to go beyond the bounds of the allowable, and in a game characterized by as close checking as that of last night, it is almost impossible to eliminate all questionable play. The forwards on both teams followed their checks closely, and it was seldom that any scurrying individual rushes were made. The small ice made this almost impossible. Both teams have some fast skaters on their forward line and the work of these made the game very fast.

The T.A.S. team won the game on their combination plays, coupled with the excellent defence game played by Crowley and Meagher, assisted very materially by McCoy in goal, while the Keene forwards seemed to be unable to get working in combination. They worked hard, and deserve great credit for the showing they made, but the game put up by the T.A.S. was too effective, and Keene went down before a superior aggregation. The half time score was 3—1 in favour of the home team, who scored the first three goals in succession, by rushing matters right in the start. This lead they maintained throughout the game, and there was never after the first few minutes much doubt as to the outcome of the game.

At one time the score stood 7—2, but by an attempt to win out by a garrison finish the Keene team ran in two goals in quick succession. They were too late in starting, however, and the home team won by 7—4, which just about represented the relative playing abilities of the teams. While the T.A.S. line-up was identical with that on the ice in former games, the article of hockey put up by them was of an entirely different quality. They played with a system last night which was absent in former games, and their forwards worked the combination game to good advantage.

McCoy in goal distinguished himself last night by his really excellent work. He stopped shot after shot which was labelled for the nets, a number of them very difficult ones, and his work last night placed him in the front rank of goal tenders. He played perhaps the best game that he has ever figured in, and that the losing team had such a small score is due to a great extent to McCoy's good work. Captain Meagher played his usually effective game, blocking well, and his lifting transferred the scene of action to a less dangerous locality on many occasions. With Crowley he played a great defence game. The popular cover-point put up a splendid game last night. Not only did he check the rushes of the opposing team but on a number of occasions he took the puck into the enemy's territory, and his rushes always spelt danger for the Keene nets. The team was minus his services twice for questionable plays.

The forwards for the T.A.S. literally covered themselves with glory. They put a vim into their playing which at times practically demoralized the Keene defence. They were always on the puck, and knew pretty nearly where to place it. It would be difficult to particularize on their playing, as each man played a splendid game, and each seemed to have the faculty of taking the puck through the opposing defence.

The Keene team while they played a good clean game, did not give as good an account of themselves as they did on the larger ice in the Brock street rink. This was perhaps accounted for to a large extent by the fact that they had been out in the cold for about four hours driving to town, and were not in a condition to play the game of which they are capable. McIntyre guarded the nets and did it well; the opposing forwards gave him plenty of work, and the shots which went past him were not his fault, and at different times when the T.A.S. men had succeeded in passing through the defence, he stopped their shots. Dixon at point, kept well back in the flags, and checked fairly well. He was a little slow in his clearing however. He scored one of the goals on a long lift from near the Keene goal. The Keene defence was not nearly as heavy as that of the T.A.S. and this was perhaps the chief source of weakness to the Keene team.

J. Quinn played at cover-point in the first half, but in the second period he was moved out in the wing, and Welsh took his place at cover. The latter is a heavier man and played his position well. He was ruled off for tripping George when the latter was injured by getting a serious cut in the head. H. Quinn, who played centre, was the smallest man on the team, but he played a great game. He is a very fast skater, and a good stick handler, and scored two of the goals credited to his team, both on difficult shots. McCarthy and M. Miller on the wings are good fast men, and their work was fair. The Keene forwards, however, lacked combination, and they relied too much on individual work.

The teams were:—

T.A.S.	Keene.
Goal.
McCoy	McIntyre
Point
Meagher	Dixon
Cover point.
Crowley	J. Quinn
Forwards.
George	Welsh
Lynch	McCarthy
Parnell	H. Quinn
McGrath	Miller
Goal umpires
E. Hurtubise	H. Burnham
Time keepers.
T. Turcotte	T. J. Wallace

Mr. R. M. Glover refereed the game, and his decisions gave satisfaction to players on both teams. Mr. McMillan, of Port Hope, who had been appointed, was unable to reach here because of the snow blockade on the railway.

2—T. A. S., in 2 minutes, by Lynch.
3—T.A.S., in 3 minutes by George.
4—Keene, in 13 minutes, by H. Quinn.

Second half.

5—T.A.S., in 1 minute, by George.
6—T.A.S., in 4 minutes, by George.
7—T.A.S., in 2 minutes by McGrath.
8—Keene, in 1 minute, by Miller.
9—T.A.S., in 9 minute, by Parnell.
10—Keene, in 2 minutes, by Dixon.
11—Keene, in 1 1-2 minutes by J. Quinn.

KEENE VERSION OF THE GAME.

Our boys went under! The team playing the better hockey won. But what could we expect? After spending four and a half hours tramping the snow in weather 15 degrees below zero, and arriving in town only an hour and a half before the game started, they were in no shape, and showed it. They never got started, and were a disappointment to their own supporters. However, the boys have had a good season and take their defeat with good grace. We wish the T.A.S. a brilliant close of the season. The team and their supporters did not leave for home until this afternoon, not being able to get through on account of the impassable condition of the roads.

MAX WILEY WON IN BALTIMORE.

Took Decision from Americus on Feb. 10th.

Max Wiley, who is matched to wrestle George Kennedy in Peterborough on February 23rd for the 135 pound championship of America, won in Baltimore, Md., on February 10th, where he met the local champion "Americus" and defeated him in one of the best wrestling bouts ever seen in that city. The Baltimore News, speaking of Wiley, said: "Wiley arrived in Baltimore yesterday morning and has been taking a good rest. Since his last appearance here he has taken on weight, and is fully 15 pounds heavier. He has been taking on experience as well and has a new line of victories to his credit. He comes here fresh from a match of 2 1-2 hours to get the decision over "Tom" Trimley, the Canadian wonder, and, after the match to-night he will go to Florida to meet a southern champion. Until this year Wiley wrestled at 135 pounds, and had the distinction of downing every man worth mentioning in the country of that weight. He likewise won many handicap matches from such men as Harvey Parker, "the Cuban Wonder," E. J. Atherton and Clarence Bouldin. Only a month ago he met Harvey Parker, and, after 11-2 hours, the heavier man was unable to throw Wiley.

Wiley stated this morning that he never felt better in his life, and that he weighs at present 140 pounds. "I am down here to-day to help the downfall of the Baltimore champion,' he laughingly said. 'But, seriously,' he added, 'I really expect to win the match to-night, and if I do not it will be no fault of mine, and 'Gus' will know that he has been in a battle. I have been doing a lot of work since my last appearance in this city, when I wrestled Grant to a draw, and the local boys will have their 'eyes opened.'"

A CLOSE GAME WON BY AUBURNS.

Defeated the Farriers last night by the Score of 2 to 1.

The Auburns and McKercher's Farriers played an exciting game of hockey last night at the Brock street rink, the result of which was that the former won by the close score of 2—1. The game was fast and one of the best exhibitions of a "green" game seen this season. The Auburns were given a hard run for the victory. The teams were:—

Auburns — Goal, Fitzpatrick; point Belleghem; cover point, W. Shaw; forwards, M. Shaw, Tougas, H. Long, Brundrette.

Farriers — Goal, Kemp; point, Armstrong; cover point, Squires; forwards, Stuart, A. Long, Smith, and Nicholls.

On Thursday night the William Hamilton team will play the Farriers.

PUCKERINGS.

The Ontario Bank team will play the Business College seven to-night from 5 to 6.

Last night's win by the T.A.S. puts the team in the leadership of this district and gives them a good chance for the championship. The next team to go up against will be Bobcaygeon, which game will likely be played in the near future. Following this the winners will play the winners of the Eastern district, which those "in the know" say will be Warkworth. Then will will come the games with the winners of the southern districts. Cobourg is now champions of that district and Napanee and Picton have to play off for the championship of No. 1 district.

The first of the semi-final games in the Trent Valley League will take place here on Friday night, when Bobcaygeon and T.A.S. will play the first of a series of home and home games.

The O.H.A. Executive at its meeting held early this morning decided that "Reddy" McMillan of the Belleville team, was allowed to remain in the O.H.A., and the case against the team was dropped. The Belleville team will play its first game with the Marlboros to-morrow night and the second on Friday.

BOXING.

The following telegram was received last night by the secretary of the P.A.C.:

"Philadelphia, February 15.

"Gorman ill; can't get another good enough. J. R. Cunningham."

Mr. Cunningham is manager for Andy Gorman, who was to have boxed J. Mason of Montreal here next Tuesday, and as Mason was agreeable to meet any man in his class the secretary of the P.A.C. phoned Hockey Jones of Hamilton, the clever young boxer, who is well known here. Jones agreed to take Gorman's place so a first class bout is assured.

A METEORIC CAREER

Rise and Fall of Whitaker Wright—Some Interesting Details of His Methods—Beginning of the Frauds.

Meteoric in his rise, and meteoric in his fall. One day marshaling millions and dazzling the world of finance. Another day not long after tumbling from his dizzy height, and expiring almost as the court declares him criminal. Such was the career of Whitaker Wright, the promoter of the modern South Sea bubble.

By birth an Englishman, Wright was an American by naturalization and training. He came of the school of United States financiers who have exploited the public with so much success by means of the trusts. As a broker in Philadelphia he had observed their methods. His first achievement was in New York in floating Australian mines, but was a trifling affair. His great and crowning venture was launched about ten years ago for the purpose of handling and speculating in Australian mining securities. In 1894 the West Australian Financial Corporation was formed with a modest capital of one million dollars. In this company Wright reserved to himself 5,000 founders' shares, representing at par $250,000. In the following year the London and Globe Corporation was floated by Wright, with a nominal capital of a million dollars, of which he held founders' stock to the value of about $25,000. Thus far the financial operations had been of a preparatory nature.

By 1897 Wright had wormed himself into the confidence of many men of high standing in Great Britain. He was regarded as a wealthy, a successful and withal a safe operator in mining securities. A princely palace in Park Lane was his domicile. Luxury and outward evidences of affluence abounded. Thus equipped Whitaker Wright essayed to float the London and Globe Financial Corporation, to take over the eminently successful business of the two other concerns, and to engage in larger and more profitable ventures. The new corporation aspired to a capital of $10,000,000. Lord Dufferin was its chairman. For the founders' shares held by Wright in the two other concerns he was allowed in the new company $3,050,000, which was exactly three millions more than the face value of the shares transferred. His salary was fixed at $20,000 a year, and a commission upon the dividends earned. The public was eager to buy the new securities. Wright was the whole concern, and the Board of Directors was a nonentity.

Meanwhile other companies were formed to assist the projects of Wright. One of these side-shows was the British-American Company, with a capital of $7,500,000. Next, the Standard Exploration Company, another Wright venture, was capitalized at the same figure. These concerns, which Wright controlled, bought and sold stock to each other at, apparently handsome profits to the shareholders. As a matter of fact, Wright was simply buying and selling to himself, while the gullible public looked on sometimes enviously at the splendid profits that were being made. The scheme was not unlike a game of football. Stocks were passed from hand to hand continuously. When the time came to strike the annual balance sheet, one company would unload on the others, would, in fact, appear to make a goal, and in due time the process would be reversed.

In the first year of its existence the London and Globe Financial Corporation was by this means enabled to gratify the investing public by declaring a dividend of 10 per cent. This of course was done to stimulate sales of stock. In 1899 the same process was repeated. It is in respect of the balance sheet of 1899 that the charge of fraud was made against Whitaker Wright. The balance sheet represented a profit of $2,145,000, and showed that the company had $2,672,275 in the hands of its bankers. All the figuring was done by Wright, the controlling directors simply accepting his statements. They declared the usual dividend of 10 per cent., and added that they would have been justified in declaring a dividend of 25 per cent., but that it was thought better to pursue "a sound and conservative course." The financial statement, however, was entirely false. The actual bank balance on Sept. 7, 1899, was $163,000, about two millions and a half less than it was represented to be a few weeks later. The money had, in the meantime, been obtained by manipulations with the other companies. At the time the profits were represented at two and a half millions they had not exceeded $285,000. This process of falsification has been described as "window dressing."

In the following year affairs were in a worse state. The corporation had experienced a loss of $8,000,000, but the balance sheet again showed a profit of about $2,300,000. Wright had valued shares in the balance sheet at double the price he was selling them to the public. The South African war and general scarcity of money precipitated the collapse, which came in December, 1900. At that time the company's balance sheet showed a surplus of $13,785,000 over all liabilities. Wright had unloaded nearly all his founders' stock. The $20,000,000 invested in the corporation was a total loss. The failures of the auxiliary companies add greatly to that figure.

Wright fled to France, and afterwards took refuge in New York under the name of M. Andreoni. There he was caught and extradited. His prosecution and conviction to seven years' imprisonment was under the Larceny Act, which makes it a criminal offence for a director of any company to prepare and issue financial statements calculated to deceive and defraud. From the jurisdiction of earthly courts death almost instantly released the ruined and disgraced man.

IT'S ONLY ONE OF A GREAT MANY

But Reuben Draper's Cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills is Wonderful.

He Had Gravel That Two Doctors Failed to Relieve—Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured It Quickly and Permanently.

Bristol, Que., Feb. 15.—(Special.)—Cures of different forms of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills are so numerous that they hardly cause more than passing notice. Some of them are so wonderful, however, that they cannot be allowed to pass without mention and of this kind is the cure of Reuben Draper, well known in this neighbourhood.

Mr. Draper tells his experience as follows:—

"About three years ago I was taken ill with what I thought was Gravel. I was suffering great pain and I sent for a doctor. He could do little to relieve me and I called in a second one with no better results.

"I was getting weaker all the time and when a man told me that Dodd's Kidney Pills had cured his mother of Gravel I thought I would try them. I got a box and commenced to use them, and in just one week I passed a stone as large as a small bean, and four days later I passed another about the size of a grain of barley.

"This gave me great relief, and I commenced to feel better and to gain strength. I was soon perfectly well, and have had no trouble since."

THE COLOMBIANS.

They Are Hospitable People and Like Good Living.

The Colombians are a hospitable people and receive strangers cordially. It is customary for a stranger to send cards to those whose acquaintance he desires, and etiquette demands that the recipients of the cards call within a few days.

The dining tables of the rich are spread with fine linen and set with handsome cut glass and china. Among their beverages, in addition to wines, are cebada, barley water; orchada, which contains almond juice and sugar; agrass, the juice of unripe grapes; naranjada, orangeade and a preparation of chocolate thick as gruel. A dish for invalids is sopa de pan. A raw egg is broken upon a slice of toast, and a beef broth is poured over it. A breakfast often consists of several courses—for instance, fruit, poached eggs, with stewed tomatoes and rice; fish, chops fried in eggs and herbs and a tortilla con seso, brain omelet, sweet potatoes or other vegetable and coffee. Saffron is a favorite flavoring for soup. Chicken or game pies contain a variety of vegetables, hard boiled eggs and other ingredients. A common dish among the poor is a stew called sin coche. Another standby is rice and red beans. Rice cooked in lard, with a little tassado (dried beef) for a relish, is a tidbit among the lower classes. The flesh of the iguana, a species of land lizard, is regarded as a delicacy and is said to resemble chicken. The natives slit the sides of living female iguanas and take from them strings of eggs as large as plums. They hang these eggs in the sun and dry them for future consumption.

Wooden Shoes.

Wooden shoes in France are produced to the extent of about 4,000,000 pairs yearly. They are made in Alsace and Barriers by machinery and in Lozere by hand. In the last named province 1,700 persons are engaged in this manufacture, and the yearly product is more than half a million pairs. The best are made of maple. In the provinces nearly every lady possesses a pair of the finer subots for wearing out in damp weather. These have monograms and other designs carved on the vamps, and they are kept on the foot by ornamented leather pieces over the instep. The manufacture of these pieces of leather is a regular business in France.

How She Got New Clothes.

The lawyers at Iola were swapping yarns the other day during a recess in the district court. A lawyer whose wife is marked for her good dressing told how he had come to be such a good provider. Soon after he was married his wife met a girlhood friend. The friend said to her that she wasn't as well dressed as she used to be before marriage. "Oh, you are mistaken," said the wife. "I am wearing the same clothes I did then."

I was pale and weakly for years. Miller's Compound Iron Pills brought about a change. For sale by all druggists.

Could Not Sleep At Night.

Was All Run Down.

Had No Appetite.

FOOD WOULD NOT DIGEST.

Mrs. I. W. Warner, Riverdale, N.S., is glad there is such a remedy as Burdock Blood Bitters.

IT CURED HER
AND WILL CURE YOU.

She says: "I wish to add my testimony to the many others who have spoken so highly as to the unfailing virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters. I was all run down, had no appetite, lost all ambition, could not sleep much and had terrible headache and backache, and my food did not digest properly. I saw B B B. advertised, so concluded to give it a trial, thinking if it did no good it could do no harm. But after using one bottle I began to feel better, and by the time I had used three bottles I was feeling like a new person. I am so glad there is such a remedy provided for suffering humanity, and cannot praise it enough for I think there is no medicine like it on the market."

ACTING WITHOUT ORDERS.

General Grant's Tribute to General Sheridan's Judgment.

Senator Hoar in his "Reminiscences" says that at a dinner where General Grant and other distinguished men were present Commodore Alden remarked that there was nothing he disliked more than a subordinate who always obeyed orders. "What is that you are saying, commodore?" said President Grant across the table. The commodore repeated what he had said. "There is a good deal of truth in what you say," said General Grant. "One of the virtues of General Sheridan was that he knew when to act without orders. Just before the surrender of Lee, General Sheridan captured some dispatches, from which he learned that Lee had ordered his supplies to a certain place. I was on the other side of the river, where he could get no communication from me until the next morning. General Sheridan pushed on at once without orders, got to the place fifteen minutes before the enemy and captured the supplies. After the surrender was concluded the first thing General Lee asked me for was rations for his men. I issued to them the same provisions which Sheridan had captured. Now, if Sheridan, as most men would have done, had waited for orders from me Lee would have got off." Senator Hoar adds this comment: "I listened with wonder at the generous modesty which, before that brilliant company, could remove one of the brightest laurels from his brow and place it on the brow of Sheridan."

Stars by Daylight.

It is worthy of remark that but for the brightness of the sky the stars could be seen in daylight. Even as matters stand, some of the brighter of them have been seen after sunrise by explorers on high mountains, where the air is very clear and the sky dark blue. If we could go above the atmosphere the sky would appear perfectly black, and stars would be visible right close up to the sun. Astronomers observe bright stars in daytime by using long focus telescopes, the dark tubes of which cut off the side light, and persons in the bottom of deep wells have noticed stars passing overhead, the side light being reduced by the great depths of the wells.—T. J. J. See in Atlantic.

The Modesty of Brahms.

At an interesting dinner party given by Joachim, at which were present also his friends, Professor Dorn of Naples and Von Herzogenberg, the composer, an amusingly characteristic scene occurred. Joachim in a few well chosen words was asking us not to lose the opportunity of drinking the health of the greatest composer, when before he could say the name Brahms bounded to his feet, glass in hand, and called out: "Quite right! Here's Mozart's health!" and walked round, clinking glasses with us all. His old hatred of personal eulogy was never more prettily expressed.—Leisure Hour.

Keeping Up Appearances.

Wife—There was a man around today selling big brass burglar alarm bells to put on the front of the house, so I ordered one.

Husband—What! You know we haven't anything worth stealing.

Wife—I know that, but it will make the neighbors think we have.

It is the Poison That Causes Pain

The Poisonous Waste Matter is Removed by the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels When These are Kept Healthy by

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

The kidneys, liver and bowels are known as excretory organs, because it is their mission to cast out of the body the poisonous waste material, which would otherwise poison the system, cause pains and aches and give rise to deadly disease.

Because of their direct and specific action on each of these organs, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are wonderfully successful in overcoming pain and in thoroughly eradicating from thes ystem the very cause of serious and painful ailments.

Once the bowels are regular and the kidneys and liver active in filtering the waste material from the blood good health and proper working of the bodily organs are assured, seems useless to experiment with new-fangled medicines, which are only intended to afford relief, when you can be thoroughly cured and the cause of your troubles removed by Dr. Chase's Liver-Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Thomas Covert, Highland Grove, Peterborough Co., Ont., writes: "I was a sufferer for years with stomachic troubles and terrible headaches, and spent a good many dollars in medicine without receiving any benefit. Hearing Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills highly recommended I determined to give them a trial and did so with most satisfactory results as I was very greatly benefitted and do not hesitate to recommend this treatment as the best obtainable for such ailments."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

THE ROOT AND THE FRUIT

Bu-Ju is not a remedy for symptoms. It is a cure for disease. Disordered Kidneys will produce many troubles, among which may be mentioned Rheumatism. Sick kidneys cannot properly perform their functions; hence the system is flooded with uric acid and rheumatism in its various forms is the result. Bu-Ju cures rheumatism, because it cures the cause of rheumatism, Disordered Kidneys; for same reason it cures dropsy, blood poison, weak heart, loss of ambition, sleeplessness, brain fag, failing memory irritable temper, sallow complexion, bad breath, lame back, and a hundred and one ailments that spring from disordered kidneys, which is the root of the evil. You may pluck the leaves of a rank weed, or cut its stem, but so long as you leave the root it bears new fruit and spreads until its extermination is almost impossible. If you are suffering from any of the above troubles you cannot afford to neglect them. Neglect means misery, for what joy is there in living without good health? Bu-Ju, the Kidney Pill, has restored thousands and it can do the same for you.

The Claflin Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont. Brockton, October 7, 1903.

Dear Sirs:—I have used a box of Bu-Ju Pills and have been greatly benefited by them. I was troubled with piles for years and tried several kinds of medicine, without getting any relief, but I have had no trouble with them since I took the third box of Bu-Ju. I still take them whenever I can get them and I recommend them to all my friends. Yours sincerely,
MRS. GEORGE BOWMAN.

THE "BLACK WATCH"

HISTORY IN DETAIL OF THE FAMOUS HIGHLAND REGIMENT.

Their Beginning Was in 1729 as Six Independent Companies to Keep the King's Peace in the Mountain Districts of Scotland—Honors Borne on Colors of 42nd Are a History in Themselves.

In 1729 to assist in keeping the King's peace in the mountain districts of Scotland it was resolved to enrol a number of loyal highlanders who should form part of the regular domestic establishment. Accordingly six independent companies were formed, who wore the clan tartan of their respective commanders. The colors were black, blue and green and from their sombre appearance the new force were designated Am Freicreadan Dubh or "Black Watch" in contradistinction to the regular troops who were called Suighdearan Dearg or "Red Soldiers"—this latter appellation finding a curious modern equivalent in the "Rooinek" of the South African Boers. The original equipment of these independent companies consisted of muskets and bayonets supplied by the Government, but each man in addition carried his own broadsword, pistols, dirk and target. The sergeants carried that formidable weapon specially effective against cavalry attack, the tuagh or Lochaber axe.

This experiment proved very successful and in consequence of their soldierly qualities the constitution of the independent companies was changed. On the outbreak of the Spanish war in 1739 four additional companies were added, and the whole were formed into a regiment of the line, their original number being the 43rd. The uniform at this time consisted of a scarlet jacket and waistcoat with buff facings and white lace. A tartan plaid 12 yards in length was plaited round the middle of the body, the upper part being fastened on the left shoulder ready to be thrown loose and wrapped round the shoulders and musket in wet weather. This was the "belted plaid" worn on full dress parades and on duty—for other purposes the phillibeg or little kilt was worn. The head-dress was a blue bonnet bordered with white, red and green in squares—a tuft of feathers or black bear's skin was added later.

Although the understanding on enlistment was for the Scottish home service alone, in 1743 the regiment was ordered to march into England, and to allay suspicion it was represented that the King was curious to see his new Highland soldiers. On arrival in the outskirts of London it was found that the King had on that very day left for Hanover, and the discontent was fanned by the receipt of orders to embark at Gravesend for Flanders. Under the command of two corporals, Malcolm and Samuel McPherson, and a private, Farquhar Shaw, the latter, a magnificent specimen of a Highland soldier, the regiment started to return to Scotland. It was overtaken by two cavalry regiments at Oundle in Northamptonshire and seizing a strong position threatened a stubborn resistance. Better counsels, however, prevailed, and the Highlanders returned to London, where the two McPhersons and Shaw were tried and shot, and two hundred of the rank and file drafted to various corps serving abroad. That the three ringleaders were men of worth may be gathered from the fact that Lord John Murray, afterwards colonel of the regiment, had their portraits hung in his drawing-room.

Although the army swore terribly in Flanders it could fight as well, and the Forty-second soon began that glorious record which the passing years have not dimmed, but rather heightened and increased. At Fontenoy its gallantry was conspicuously shown. The colonel had obtained permission from the general commanding for his men to fight in their own fashion. On his instructions the regiment clapped to the ground and received the French fire when it sprang up and closing with the enemy delivered a withering fire and then charged home with claymore, pistol and dirk. Its conduct during the retreat won the highest encomiums, and Lord Crawford declared that the Forty-second had acquired as much honor in covering so great a retreat as if they had gained a battle.

At the commencement of the Seven Years' War the regiment was despatched to America, and again displayed extraordinary gallantry in the desperate but unsuccessful attack at Ticonderoga on July 22, 1758. An officer of the 58th, who was an eye witness, thus wrote: "With a mixture of esteem, grief and envy I consider the great loss and immortal glory acquired by the Scots Highlanders in the late bloody affair. Impatient for orders they rushed forward to the entrenchments which many of them actually mounted. They appeared like lions breaking from their chains." For this intrepid behavior George III. conferred the title of The Royal Highland Regiment, and the color of the regimental colors and facings was in consequence changed from buff to blue. In 1768, by royal warrant, the Forty-second were authorized to bear in the centre of their colors the King's cypher with the garter and crown over it. Under it St. Andrew with the motto "Nemo me impune lacessit." In the three corners of the second color the King's cypher and crown.

It was during the Netherlands campaign of 1794-5 that the glorious red heckle, unique in the Highland regiments, was won. On Jan. 4, 1795, the British forces retired upon the Village of Guildermalsen, where the Forty-second and several other regiments halted and formed up to cover the retreat through the village. The French cavalry, however, cut through the retreating picquets and attacked the regiments holding the village, where they met a severe repulse. In their retreat they seized two guns, which had been left undefended and were dragging them off when the Forty-second, under Major Dalrymple, charged with great impetuosity, retook the guns and brought them in triumph into the village. For this exploit the regiment was rewarded with the "Red Heckle" or vulture plume, the distinctive mark of a "Black Watch," Highlander.

Fresh laurels awaited their regiment during the Egyptain expedition of Sir Ralph Abercromby in 1801. It displayed its now historic dash and daring at the landing of the force at Abonkir Bay, an operation described as one of the most remarkable in military annals. Later on March 21, during a night attack, made by the French a demi-brigade of the enemy's Grenadiers, known as the "Invincibles," preceded by a six pounder gun, penetrated the British lines and passed unobserved between the wings of the Forty-second. When the enemy was discovered the Highlander's right wing attacked the Invincibles front and captured the six-pounder, while their rear was attacked by Major Stirling. The Grenadiers made a desperate resistance, and only yielded after 700 of their number were hors de combat, and in the melee their standard was captured by the Forty-second. While pursuing the French, the regiment, while in broken order, was charged by dragoons, who were beaten off. For their gallantry in this Homeric combat the Forty-second were granted the sphinx as a further mark of distinction.

Again at Quatre Bras the Forty-second exhibited what is described as "unparalleled bravery" and was publicly mentioned by the Duke of Wellington in his despatches. Service was not again seen till the days of the Crimea, when the regiment maintained its high reputation. It took part in the relief of Lucknow at the time of the Indian Mutiny and in 1861 the old name of "Black Watch," which had been officially in abeyance, was restored "as a distinguished mark of honor."

At Coomassie in 1874 H. M. Stanley then correspondent of The New York Herald, thus wrote: "The conduct of the Forty-second in many fields has been considerably belauded, but mere laudation is not enough for the gallantry which has distinguished this regiment when in action. It was the audacious spirit and true military bravery on the part of the Highlanders as they moved down the road to Coomassie, which challenged admiration this day." In Egypt during 1882-84—on the Nile expedition of 1884-5, and in South Africa during the recent war Scotland's premier Highlanders showed themselves to be still animated by the same martial spirit which inspired the "Black Watch" through its long and varied record of service, and which is equally conspicuous in the other Scottish regiments of the line.

The second battalion of the "Black Watch," late the 73rd Regiment, was raised in Perthshire in 1758, as the second battalion, but was subsequently renumbered. It also has had a long and honorable career.

The honors borne on the colors of the Forty-second are these, and they are a history in themselves: 1801, Egypt; 1808-14, Peninsula; 1809, Corunna; 1811, Fuentes D'Onor; 1813, Pyrenees; 1813, Nivelle; 1813, Nive; 1814, Orthes; 1814, Toulouse; 1815, Waterloo; 1846-53, South Africa, 1855, Sebastopol; 1858, Lucknow; 1874, Ashantee; 1882-84, Egypt; 1882, Tel-el Kebir; 1884-5, Nile; 1885, Kirbekan.

From the formation of the regiment the bandsmen have worn the showy red tartan they still retain, and with which Canadians will become familiar during the visit of the band to the Exhibition. It ranks high among the military bands of Britain, and this no less than the famous regiment to which it is attached will ensure it a most enthusiastic welcome.

Married and Bachelor Bishops.

Several of the English Bishops are unmarried. The Bishops of London, Lincoln, St Albans and Worcester are all bachelors. On the other hand, several of the Bishops have married twice, though there is none living who has achieved the record of the late Bishop Ryle, of Liverpool, in marrying three times. Two or three of the Bishops have large families. Dr. Sheepshanks, Bishop of Norwick, has had sixteen children, of whom twelve are living; the Bishop of Ripon has a family of eleven; and Dr. Bickersteth, late Bishop of Exeter, is the father of twelve children, one of whom became a Bishop, while several other sons entered the Church and some of his daughters married clergymen.

The Bishop of London gave a singularly interesting dinner party last week. He welcomed as his guest at London House, St. James' Square, the several couples whom he has united in matrimony since he was preferred to the See of London. Each lady was garbed in white, and, with one or two exceptions, the costume was the one the bride wore on the day that made her a wife. Very appropriately the gathering closed with a short service of thanksgiving—Church Eclectic.

A Fish Story.

Sir Herbert Maxwell contributes to The Monthly Review an attractive article on the debatable subject of "Animal Intelligence."

Some remarkable experiments were made about thirty years ago by Mr. Amtsberg of Stralsund. A large pike in an aquarium was so destructive to other fish in the tank that it was separated from them by a sheet of plate glass.

The sight of its accustomed prey tempted the pike to make the usual dash, only to receive a smart blow on the nose. After about three months of this experience it found this to be such a losing business that it gave up trying, and so firmly convinced was it that these fishes were past masters in the art of self defense that when the glass was removed at the end of half a year it let them severely alone.

Yet when other fish were introduced they were not spared.

Colombian Natives.

In Colombia the huts of the poor are of logs, with bamboo plaited sides and mud filled chinks. The windows have wooden shutters, but no glass. Sleeping places are bamboo benches with hide thrown over them, or hammocks woven by the women. Gourds of various shapes and sizes do duty for dishes, spoons and knives. Chairs and benches are hollowed logs of wood. But the peons get their living easily and enjoy life well. They delight in music and dancing, and women as well as men are smokers. Cockfighting is a favorite amusement.

The peasant women are usually barefooted and bareheaded, with mantillas for special occasions. Their dress is a short skirt and bodice or an ample frilled low necked garment called a pollera. Even the poorer classes are bedecked with jewelry.

TEACHER OF ART.

MRS. L. McCARTHY will open a class in Oil and China Painting. Studio—Donegal street. Terms moderate.

A woman worn-out, who never has to lift a hand for herself, who does not know the meaning of the word "worry"! How can it be possible? That it is possible is proved by the experience of many a woman who, because of sleeplessness, nervousness, backache and other womanly ills, becomes an utter physical wreck.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives new life and new strength to weak, worn-out, run-down women. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I suffered for five years with inflammation which caused violent pain and often torture so bad at times that I could not be about to attend to my daily duties," writes Mrs. Julius C. Bell, of Bathrost, Kingston, Ont. "Life was simply misery to me and I did not know which way to turn for relief. Had tried doctors but found they did not help me. My druggist advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—eulogizing it in glowing terms. I decided to give it a trial and brought a bottle home. I am happy to say that after the use of the first bottle I felt so much improved I decided to take another and after that a third bottle. I have good reasons to be pleased, for I am to-day a well woman, work is easy and the world looks bright. I have perfect health, thanks to your medicine."

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

THE MODERN NOTE.

It Is Not Sentiment, but Bravery With a Dash of Humor.

According to the modern notion, a man should be something of an artist in life. He should at least appear to play his part easily, with dash and gusto, like the acrobat who performs each dangerous feat smiling. This is la panache, the feather in the cap of courage—bravery with humor added. It is the spirit in which Lungtungpen was taken, in which Cyrano composed his ballade while he fought a duel, for Cyrano and Alan Breck, no less than Mulvaney and Sherlock Holmes, are very modern heroes.

Stevenson's whole life was one long devotion to this ideal. He carried his ill health and penury bravely and wittily into far corners of the earth through many strange adventures. As he wrote to William Archer: "The medicine bottles on my chimney and the blood on my handkerchief are accidents. They do not exist in my prospect."

The melodramatic gloom of Byron, the lachrymose pathos of Dickens and the shallow sentimentality of Thackeray touch the source of our tears less surely than the sheer gay heartedness and courage in the face of disease, difficulty or danger. This is the modern note. A clever woman told me that every young man of her acquaintance when he reached a certain degree of intimacy, quoted these lines of Henley's:

Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbowed.
—Claude Bragdon in Reader.

A Little Off.

"Really," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "your little dinner last night was quite recherche."

"Oh, dear," her hostess groaned, "I just knew that new cook would make a botch of it some way!"

The Essentials.

"Which would you rather marry, Ethel, brains or money?"

"Money, of course. I can get along without the luxuries, but I must have the necessities."

Ten men have failed from defects in morals where one has failed from defects in intellect.—Mann.

REGULATIONS FOR THE LENTEN FAST.

Circular Letter Read in all Roman Catholic Churches.

That of Peterborough Diocese Directed by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor—What Must be Observed.

The season of Lent opens to-morrow morning. The faithful will be called upon to observe the usual rules. The first day of Lent is called Ash Wednesday because the church puts blessed ashes on the heads of the faithful. According to the teaching of the Roman Catholic Church, inspired by the Holy Ghost, this ceremony was established to exite in the souls of those who receive ashes on their heads sentiments of humility, penance and mortification. By this pious practice she intends to retain some traces of the ancient custom and discipline with respect to public sinners, who, being covered with sackcloth and ashes, were separated from the communion of the faithful, and allowed to assist at the Divine offices only under the portices of the church.

ASHES ON THE HEAD.

The priest, in putting ashes on the heads of the faithful, makes use of these remarkable words taken from the 3rd Chapter of Genesis: "Remember, man that thou 'art dust, and unto dust thou shalt return.'" These words should recall to our memory the sentence pronounced by God against mankind on account of sin, and teach us to submit to that sentence, and prepare ourselves for it by a penitentral life, remembering that death is certain, and that the moment thereof is uncertain.

On Sunday a circular was read by direction of His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, in all the churches in the Diocese directing attention and observance to the following:—

1—All days in Lent, Sundays excepted, are fastings days, on which only one full meal is allowed, with a morsel in the morning, and a collation or light repast in the evening.

2—Those exempted from fasting are—All persons under 21, and those over 60 years of age; likewise the sick and infirm; women carrying or nursing infants, and all who are engaged in hard duties, and all who are engaged in hard labour. They may take their usual number of meals every day in Lent.

3—The law of abstinence from flesh meat, which forms part of the penitential discipline of Lent, obliges all who are over seven years of age.

4—By virtue of powers granted us by Apostolic Indult, we permit the use of flesh meat at each meal on Sundays, and once a day on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, except the Saturday after the first Sunday of Lent and Holy Saturday.

5—Fish and flesh are not allowed at the same meal.

6—The use of milk, butter, cheese and eggs is allowed on all days.

7—The use of dripping or lard is allowed in the preparation of food on all days except Good Friday.

8—All who are exempt from fasting should at least observe the abstinence from meat on the days prescribed, be more constant in prayer, give alms more abundantly, and attend to their religious duties with greater exactness, so as to live up to the spirit of penance and self denial that should mark the holy season of Lent.

Should any further relaxation of the fast or abstinence be required by particular persons, they may obtain it from their respective pastors, who are hereby authorized to grant it, provided true and sufficient cause be assigned.

The yearly commemoration of the forty days' fast of our Divine Lord in the desert reminds us of our duty to imitate our Redeemer, and also encourages us to perform salutary penance in expiation of our sins. "Unless you do penance you shall all likewise perish." (Luke xiii, 5.) Many are so taken up with the things of this life that they give too little attention to the "One Thing Necessary." Yet this "one thing necessary," namely the saving of our souls, is the purpose which God had in creating us, and which Christ had in redeeming us; and it should be the great duty of our lives. "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His justice, and all these things shall be added unto you." (Matt vi, 33.) It is not enough to believe that Jesus Christ made sufficient atonement for the sins of mankind. Millions of men for whom Christ died are eternally lost, because they do not fulfil the conditions prescribed in the covenant of Redemption, to have applied to their individual souls the merits of Jesus Christ. We are free agents, and the ways of life and death stretch out before us. We must of ourselves, assisted by Divine grace, choose the way of life, if we would reach and enjoy life everlasting in Heaven. Our loving Saviour has in His divine mercy and goodness, placed within our reach the most powerful means for obtaining God's grace, and, if we make use of these means, they will enable us to work out our Salvation and reach one day the Kingdom of infinite joys and eternal happiness. These means of grace are chiefly prayer, the sacrifice of the Mass and the Sacraments. We exhort you, therefore, dearly beloved brethren, to make use at all times, but especially during the holy season of Lent, of those means of grace that are within your reach and at your disposal. "Behold now is the acceptable day, now is the day of salvation." (2 Cor. vi. 2.)

Though the Church in these latter times has moderated the former severity of the fast and abstinence, on account of the weakness of her children and the changed conditions of human life in many ways, yet she expects that the faithful will observe with exact fidelity the few and small restrictions of food now required of them. Greater self-denial and mortification in things that are lawful and that contribute to bodily pleasure or comfort, will tend to compensate for past transgressions of the commandments and will excite in the heart sincere sorrow for sin. "They that are Christ's have crucified their flesh, with the vices and concupiscences." (Gal. v., 24.) Such voluntary acts of mortification are pleasing to Almighty God and are always productive of much grace to those who practice them. How numerous are the modern forms of pleasure and amusement! Some of them are innocent in themselves; others are more or less dangerous; all of them can be diminished or entirely avoided, especially during the penitential season of Lent. If we desire to take unto ourselves the true spirit of devout and earnest Christians. Let each one then resolve to pass the Lent with great profit to his spiritual welfare, by renouncing one or more of those unnecessary and perhaps dangerous enjoyments, to which he has been accustomed. Such self-denial will be acceptable to our Lord Jesus Christ as a voluntary penance and atonement for past sin, and it will moreover strengthen the soul for the time of temptation.

It is recommended in Missions where people can conveniently attend, that special devotions be held on Wednesday and Friday evenings. These devotions may consist of the Beads, followed by an instruction, or the "Stations of the Cross," and concluded by Benediction of the Holy Sacrament.

During Lent, at night prayers each family should recite at least five decades of the Beads, as a powerful means of sanctifying the Christian home and bringing down abundant graces and blessings on those who unite in family prayer. "Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them," says our Divine Lord. Where parents and children assemble together in their happy homes to close the day with adoration and thanksgiving to God, with supplication for pardon for their offences, and petition for continuance of heaven's favours, most assuredly Christ will be in the midst of them and He will bless them most abundantly.

The time for fulfilling the Easter Duty extends from Ash Wednesday to Trinity Sunday, and the religious exercises of Lent are intended to prepare the faithful for the worthy reception of the Sacraments of Penance and Holy Communion. We hope and pray that all the children of the Church, who are of proper age, will approach the tribunal of Penance and receive the Blessed Eucharist within the Paschal time, thereby proving their earnest and sincere desire to secure their salvation.

May "the peace of God, which surpasseth all understanding, keep your hearts and minds in Christ Jesus." (Philippians iv., 7.)

This Circular shall be read to the Congregation in each church and chapel of the Diocese, on the Sunday after its reception.

Bishop of Peterborough.

THE FIRST NAVAL BATTLE.

London Daily Mail's Correspondent at Port Arthur Gets Through the First Uncensored Report of Details.

London, Feb. 16.—The London Daily Mail received yesterday the following uncensored details of the first sea fight at Port Arthur from its correspondent, who got out of the Russian lines:

Yienhow (Niuchang), Wednesday Morning, Feb. 10.—I have just reached here by special train from Port Arthur, and to save time have written my account while traveling on locomotive. There was no other method of getting out of Port Arthur or transmitting a message of this length, as since the bombardment on Tuesday no vessels have been permitted to leave the harbor, and the railway telegraph lines are reserved for the exclusive use of Russian officials.

There were only four special correspondents present at the bombardment, Reuter's representative, two foreign correspondents and myself. Unfortunately one of them was wounded.

About midnight on Monday the town was roused by the firing of big guns. I hastened up the hill on which the main battery is situated. I saw that six Japanese torpedo boats had approached within half a mile of the Russian fleet and were showing lights, funnels and signals just like those of the Russians.

The Japanese torpedo boats crept quite close to the Russian ships. Before they were discovered each of the Japanese boats discharged torpedoes, three of which took effect, striking the battleships Cesarevitch, Retvizan and the cruiser Pallada. The three damaged ships returned to the harbor entrance in order to avoid sinking. Notwithstanding the continuous fire from ships and forts, four of the Japanese torpedo boats escaped. One, however, was sunk, and another in sinking condition was deserted by her crew and afterwards captured by Russians.

I saw several Japanese cruisers in the distance. The remainder of the fleet was still farther off, lying eastward, showing search lights. After the retirement of the Japanese torpedo boats the Russian cruiser squadron, under Admiral Prince Ktompaky, followed to investigate, and then returned. The action ceased at 8 a.m.

Russian Losses.

The loss on Russian ships was eight killed and twenty wounded, apart from the disablement of the three Russian ships. The damage done to the fleet and forts is not very great. Tho many Russian torpedo boats and destroyers were in the harbor they were not ready to resist an attack. The Japanese, in fact, created a great deal of surprise, not only by the unexpected onslaught, but by the promptness and bravery with which they acted.

On Tuesday morning news arrived from Dalny that the Japanese fleet was steering westward in attack formation. It came in sight about eleven o'clock. There were in all 15 ships in two lines of battle, six battleships, six first-class cruisers and three second-class cruisers. Russians had outside thirteen large vessels under Admiral Stark (Flagship Petrohawlossk) and Rear-Admiral Prince Ktompaky (Flagship Peresviet), excluding Pallada, Cesarevitch (Flagship Rear-Admiral Mollas), and Retvizan, which were lying aground across the inner harbor entrance, as it was low water. The action was commenced by the big guns of the land battery. The morning was dull, with light wind, and the heavy smoke rendered it difficult to observe the details of the action, but I witnessed all that was possible from the Beacon Hill opposite the entrance to the harbor in line of fire. Two shells fell near us and about twenty others fell in the old town and western harbor, where many steamers flying neutral flags were anchored.

Fled From Town.

After the commencement of the action all people fled towards the hill outside the town and got under its protection. A little while after the first shell a big 12-inch one exploded, smashing the office fronts of Guensbergs Yalu Concessions Company and Russo-Chinese Bank. The streets were then entirely deserted, but the local police kept splendid order. There was no looting. The women and children were very brave. Regiments from the adjoining barracks and camps came pouring thru the town to take up a defensive position in the event of a Japanese landing.

The Japanese warships steamed slowly past in line of battle to westward and about four miles off, each vessel beginning fire when opposite Russian ships, which were two miles off shore. The action soon became general. There was no manoeuvring, simply heavy fast firing on both sides. I counted over 300 shells, few of which reached the mark. Others did not explode during action. Several merchant steamers outside the roads moved their position, but none were allowed to leave the anchorage in the harbor. Firing ceased at noon, the Japanese ships withdrawing southward, having lost one battleship and one larger cruiser put out of action. One small boat was chased and sunk by the Novik, which afterwards received a shell at the water line, but reached port all right. Admiral Stark signalling "Well done," while all the rest of the fleet cheered her arrival. Even the three ships aground fired during the action.

Cesarevitch Repairing.

Afterwards the Cesarevitch got off at high water and was towed into Targe basin, where she now is being repaired.

The Pallada effected her own repairs and rejoined the fleet. The Retvizan was still aground when I left. The casualities were 23 killed and 64 wounded. Nearly half the casualities occurred on the Pallada and Novik.

The Japanese fleet sailed southward. At 1 o'clock all quiet. The wounded were brought ashore and removed to hospitals. After Monday night's action many Japanese torpedoes were found floating outside the harbor. They were secured and their mechanism extracted. During the afternoon Alexieff ordered all women, children and non-combatants to leave. The slow special trains were crowded. They ran as often as possible from Dalny. The women and children were immediately removed in an English steamer.

After the action on Monday night official telegrams from Vladivostock stated that the cruiser squadron, consisting of the Gromovoi, Rossia, Rurik and Rogatnyr had shelled a town in Yezo and then returned to Vladivostock. I offered a large price for a launch or tug boat, to put to sea from Port Arthur for Chefoo, Chinwangtao or Newchwang, but was unsuccessful."

The Question of Baldness.

This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald, or partially so. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of wigs and toupees. The visit of Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto, to Peterborough on Thursday, February 18th, when he will be at the Oriental Hotel, renders it possible for every one who wishes to consult him to do so at his private apartments retained at the Oriental Hotel for this purpose. Demonstrations given to show the perfect naturalfulness of his wigs and toupees. Do not miss this opportunity. Remember the day and date, Thursday, February 18th.

Deep Sea Oysters.

Although the cold weather has made oysters exceedingly scarce we are receiving a regular supply of the deep-sea variety. These are the best oysters obtainable. If you are not a regular customer give our oysters a trial, and we feel convinced that you will be satisfied with no others. S. A. OKE, 376 George street. Telephone 18.

who has so ably conducted this department for so many years as to make it one of the most successful in the Province, will again take charge. That she will continue to retain the confidence of her lady patrons is unquestioned, because when a garment is finished it must be right, and because the hands that modelled it put thought and skill into it. Miss Neild will have an increased staff of experienced assistants, which will ensure that orders will be turned out not only pefrectly but promptly.

Paris, Feb. 17.—An official despatch received here this morning from Tokio announces that one of the most important movements of Japanese troops yet made is occuring to-day, one of the main branches of the army, consisting of three divisions and including a division of guards, is now going on board transports. TOWN MUST FACE A FUEL FAMINE

If the Present Weather Continues Much Longer.

No Coal Received in Town for Over a Month—Mayor Roger Takes Action to Avoid a Crisis.

A fuel famine is staring Peterborough straight in the face, and the local coal and wood merchants know of it only too well, but are absolutely powerless in the matter, and cannot supply the town with either coal or wood. In the course of a few days, unless the unexpected happens, Peterborough's condition will be acute in the extreme, and daily numbers are turned away from the coal offices without fuel of any kind, while standing orders can only be half-filled.

In the coal offices the telephone rings unceasingly, anxious householders inquiring about coal. One and all are however informed that "no coal has arrived in Peterborough for over a month." Naturally there is a shortage but it is not on the part of the coal dealers that the town is in such a predicament, the main cause being the extremely severe weather which has been experienced all over Ontario this winter. The heavy snow drifts and hard frosts have badly crippled the freight service of both the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk Railways, and in fact no way freight has passed through Peterborough for nearly a week. The local coal merchants have for some time past been expecting this state of affairs, car loads of coal having been on the road since the first and second weeks of January, and when a few days of milder weather were being experienced last week, one and all were of the opinion that a coal famine would be narrowly averted. But this was not to the case, and the railways are more hopelessly tied up now than ever.

THE COAL DEALERS.

The local coal dealers were all canvassed by the Examiner to-day, and, without exception, considered the condition of things very grave indeed. As has been said above, they have abundant coal on the road, but it is all frozen in, and they cannot even locate its whereabouts. One dealer said that at Buffalo alone there were said to be snowbound cars covering an area of sixty-five acres. These were hopelessly frozen in and had been so for three and four weeks. Until the backbone of this weather is broken any hope for coal is deemed groundless and one merchant looking at it in a practical manner woefully said, "And when the weather gets milder the people won't want the coal." Perhaps however, that is a little narrow for even should the weather break to-morrow the winter has apparently far from spent itself and days and weeks of cold weather are to come.

MAYOR TAKES ACTION

The condition of things is decidely critical. And this is evidenced that on the request of some of the coal merchants His Worship Mayor G. M. Roger has taken action in the matter. After an earnest consultation last night, when the situation became very plain, the Mayor sent off the following telegram which speaks for itself:—

"W. B. Bulling, Ass't Freight Traffic Manager, C.P.R. Toronto:

"There is a hard coal famine in Peterborough, please have all coal on your road, consigned to Peterborough, rushed.

G. M. ROGER,
Mayor of Peterborough."

His Worship's timely action will undoubtedly do much to relieve the situation. Such an earnest appeal is bound to bear fruit.

WHO WILL SUFFER MOST?

If things are really as black as they look, and should the worst come, the natural question to be asked is "Who will suffer the most?" The answer is given in the words of a local coalman: "Those who buy coal by the half ton and wood by the half cord, in fact the poorer class." Those who could afford it, taught by last winter's severe lesson literally "made hay while the sun shone," and at the beginning of the winter laid in an ample supply of fuel. But the man who only buys small quantities of coal or wood either daily or weekly will be face to face with Jack Frost, and the fight in some cases can only too well be imagined. There are very few who really know what it is to have to stay in bed to keep warm but if things come to a serious pass undoubtedly the number will be swelled in Peterborough alone before the winter is over. This may be a hard way of looking at the condition of things but it is none the less true, and it is a common saying that truth is always hard to hear.

WHEN RELIEVED.

"When will the situation be relieved?" is a question which will probably be heard very frequently, but it cannot be answered. Local coal men have absolutely no hope of getting any fuel before March 1st, and it may be a month yet before the railways will have even got through moving half of their blocked in freight, for it must be remembered that other merchandise is also tied up, and it is not the coal and wood alone which the companies have to deal with. Thus it seems as though the situation is critical. This cannot be helped. People should under these very trying circumstances, instead of attempting to squeeze water out of a stone by asking the merchants for fuel, do everything possible to make the present supply last as long as possible.

At a late hour this afternoon, Mayor Roger received the following reply from Mr. Timmerman, of the C.P.R.:

"G. M. Roger, Mayor:

"Toronto, Feb. 17. — Your wire 16th. Mr. Bulling. Will do everything in my power to forward to your town any hard coal on our line, but owing to weather conditions prevailing to-day have had to discontinue running freight trains east of Toronto. H. P. Timmerman."

PASSENGER SERVICE IN AN AWKWARD FIX.

No Trains Reached Peterborough To-day at all.

The condition of the railways to-day may be truly said to have been worse than at any time during the winter. This was not due altogether to the fierce snowstorms and intense cold that have been general throughout the province, but to the very precarious position in which the railways were left by the last cold snap which rendered them particularly vulnerable to a renewed attack from the weather. To-day reports come in from all parts of trains blocked in snow drifts which filled up the cuttings.

No trains have passed through Peterborough at all to-day. The 2.05 train for Belleville left the G.T.R. station on time, but it is more than a matter of conjecture as to when it will reach its destination. Another G.T.R. train left town at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon for Toronto.

THE IMPROVEMENT OF CHEESE CURING ROOMS.

The Advantages to be Derived From Such Improvement.

Tho question of improvement in curing rooms has been much discussed for two or three years past, and the advantages to be derived from such improvement have been clearly set forth, yet there has not been as much progress made in this direction as there ought to have been, and something more seemed necessary to convince those engaged in the manufacture of cheese that it is a matter of economy if nothing else, to spend sufficient money on the improvement of curing rooms to ensure proper control of the temperature at all seasons of the year.

CENTRAL COOL CURING ROOMS.

With the object of providing a practical working illustration on a scale sufficiently large to attract general attention, and to get a comparatively large number of people directly interested in the results, four large central or consolidated cool cheese curing rooms were established by the Dominion Department of Agriculture in the spring of 1903.

THE SAVING IN SHRINKAGE.

At these four illustration stations over 70,000 cheese from some forty factories have been cured during the last two seasons. As the cheese were collected from the factories, a number from the same vat from all factories were set aside each week, and after being carefully weighed, one was placed in the curing room and the mate to it put in the upper story where the temperature was not controlled. When the cheese of the corresponding week were sold, these cheese were again weighed as before, and the difference in shrinkage noted. From this difference the saving in shrinkage on the whole lot was calculated. The following table shows the actual saving of shrinkage on all the cheese handled this season to date at the four cool curing stations:

Factory	No. of Cheese	Shipped Weight	Shrinkage	Value.
	9,530	761,590	0.80	$1011 36
Brockville	14,080	1,137,150	13,091	1497 17
St. Hyacinthe	9,255	711,056	6.80	699 79
Woodstock	12,897	1,013,562	11.410	1494 15
	45,762	3,623,336	11.060	$4693 77

The total value of the saving, namely, $4,669 76 represents the interest at six per cent on over $75,000, or in other words would provide for a capital outlay of nearly $2,000 for each of the factories contributing cheese. As everyone knows the past two seasons have been remarkable for the very cool weather and moist condition of the atmosphere that prevailed all summer. In an ordinary season the saving of shrinkage would be very much greater, because a high temperature and dry air are the two conditions that increase shrinkage.

IMPROVEMENT IN QUALITY

But the saving in shrinkage is only a minor consideration. The main one is the great improvement in quality. The cheese cooled in the cool rooms and those cured in uncontrolled temperatures have been repeatedly been examined and compared by a large number of cheese buyers, cheesemakers and others, and in every case the cool cured cheese has been pronounced the best in quality.

EFFECT OF HIGH TEMPERATURE ON QUALITY.

In this experimental work there have been many opportunities for the observing of the effect of a high temperature on the quality of cheese. The first effect of a high temperature and one which is always noticeable is to make the texture of the cheese rough and mealy, and in extreme cases show a greasiness which is undesirable, or in other words it destroys that silkiness of texture always present in cheese at its best. Bad flavours are intensified at the higher temperature and many cheese go "off" flavour, while their mates that are cool cured remain sound and clean. All cheese become sharp and "tasty" much quicker at the high temperature. Cool curing will not make a fine cheese out of a poor one, but still cheese which are a little weak and open, or on the other hand have a little too much acid, show up better when cool cured than they do when cured at ordinary hot weather temperatures.

One cannot help thinking what great benefit would accrue to the Canadian cheese industry at large, if all the cheese were cool cured. Indeed, it is doubtful if anyone can properly estimate. We have had in the past two seasons a most excellent illustration on this point, in as much as the comparatively slight improvement in quality, due to the unusually cool summers, had the effect of encouraging consumption to such an extent that the demand forced prices up to a point that few ever expected to see again.

Arrangements for cool curing cheese will doubtless be worked out in different ways, according to local circumstances and conditions. The larger factories will probably make the necessary improvements in connection with their own buildings. Combination, or consolidation may be affected in some cases, but the jealous rivalry which exists among factories stands in the way. It is still quite probable that a considerable portion of our cheese will in the future be cured in the warehouses of the exporters and commission merchants. At any rate, time will decide how it is to be done, as it is imperative that it be done in some way.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM NORWOOD.

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest from the Eastern Town.

Norwood, Feb. 15th.

Miss Della Plant, of Hastings, is the guest of Miss C. Calder.

Miss Edna Scott, of Toronto, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. E. C. Squires.

Miss N. Morrison, of Hastings, is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. P. Coffe.

Mr. Alex Calder of Ottawa is home at present.

It was a happy gathering of students and ex-students who attended the annual "At Home and Reunion" of the High School here, on Friday night, in the school house. The assembly room and armouries were tastefully decorated with the school colours of red and green, and flags and bunting. There was a musical and literary programme. The Norwood orchestra rendered appropriate selections for the promedading, together with the help of several piano selections by pupils of the school. Refreshments were served.

Mr. Chas. McLachlan had a narrow escape on Friday. He was assisting in the moving of a piano to the High School, when the piano upset and fell on his leg. Fortunately for him the bone was only fractured instead of being broken as he first thought.

Mr. James Andrews, ex-Reeve of Dummer, and his daughter, Miss Emma, were driving into Norwood on Friday, with a spirited span of colts, and upon reaching the corner of Ridge and Colborne streets the tongue of the cutter broke which frightened the colts who started to run upsetting the cutter and its occupants, and draging Mr. Andrews some distance. They stopped themselves by running into the McIsodist shed. Neither Mr. Andrews or his daughter were hurt.

Mr. F. Elliott shipped one carload of hogs to Toronto this week. Price paid $4 75.

Mrs. C. Miller, of South River, who has been visiting her mother for the past two months, returned on Saturday.

The Palace Skating Rink which has been condemned since Monday last is still standing. It is easily apparent that it is on the last round. With additional fall of snow Sunday the centre sagged fully four feet. The last straw broke the camel's back, so when it comes it will mean good day to hockey and skating for Norwood, as the rink will never be rebuilt.

Miss Elsie Taylor of Peterborough, is visiting with friends in town.

Mrs. D. A. Fraser and Miss Edna Waters spent a few days in Peterborough last week.

Mr. Ira Moore of Peterborough, attended the Norwood High School at home on Friday.

Rev. Thos. J. Small of Glendale, Manitoba, preached at the evening service on Sunday in the Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Small has been has been in the west for some years. He is an old Dummer boy and received part of his education at the Norwood Public and High Schools.

Isabella, wife of Mr. Thos. Grover of town, died at her residence on Queen street, on Tuesday last after a lingering illness. The funeral took place from her residence on Thursday at 2.30. The bearers were Messrs. T. M. Grover, T. W. Wilkins, Fred Wilkins, Trevor Perry, Guy Grover. Rev. McKee McLennan conducted the funeral. Mrs. Grover was the daughter of the late Rev. Mr. M. A. Farrar, who was the incumbent of the Church of England at Westwood and Norwood for many years. Mrs. Grover has been a resident of this place since her marriage. She leaves a husband and six children to mourn her loss—five boys and one girl—Maitland, of Winthrope, U. S.; Trevor, of Garanoque; Percy, of Toronto; Guy, Japer and Louise, of Norwood. Mr. Grover has the sympathy of the community in his bereavement. Among those who attended the funeral from outside outside places were Judge Weller, of Peterborough; Mrs. Dean of Peterborough; Rev. Mr. Gibson of Richmond Hill.

INDIAN RIVER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The village on Sunday was thrown into a state of great excitement over the mysterious disappearance of the Rev. Mr. Pirie, who took charge of the appointment here. However we are pleased to report that the mystery has been solved by the efforts of Detectives Duff, Borland and Walker. These gentlemen are rapidly coming to the front in the profession and are already equal to Sherlock Holmes or any detective Scotland Yard ever produced. They are still on the track of the missing hat and a liberal reward will be paid to anyone leaving the same at the office of Mr. Duff.

Mr. Norman Patterson is recovering rapidly and it is hoped will be out again in a couple of weeks.

It is reported that Mr. H. Nesbitt of the Third Prince of Wales Dragoons has been offered a commission in the Imperial Body Guard of the Czar of Russia, and will leave at once for St. Petersburg.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY'S REQUEST.

The Shelter is Full of Children for whom Homes are Wanted.

The officers of the Children's Aid Society wish to call the attention of the public to the fact that the Shelter is now full of children. There are ten little waifs who are being looked after by Mr. and Mrs. Henry at No. 276 Charlotte street. The Society would like to place these children in foster homes, and request that any persons who are thinking of taking a boy or girl will apply now.

The conditions upon which the children are placed in homes are of the simplest character. A person taking a child is made to promise to send the child to school, and to treat it as a member of the family. If the foster parents are dissatisfied with the child they are at liberty to return it to the Shelter at any time. There is therefore, no risk whatever on the part of any person taking one of these children on approbation.

The children now in the Shelter are all bright, intelligent and healthy. The girls are aged 7 years, 6 years and two of 5 years. The boys are aged two of 5 years, two of 12 years, one of 4 years and one of 2 years.

Any person who would like to see the children is invited to call at the Shelter, 276 Charlotte street, where the Matron, Mrs. Henry, will be pleased to answer any questions.

WOMAN'S FANCY FOR HAT COSTS HER $5.

Interesting Proceedings at Tuesday's Police Court Stole a Muff.

Woman's inexplicable adoration for a hat was again brought to light at the Police Court yesterday morning. The hat in question has been a source of dispute for the past two weeks, both complainant and defendant claiming it. Both parties were young women and the evidence showed that the defendant's jealousy was so great that on Sunday night last she and several others followed the complainant and took the "creation" away by main force, leaving complainant to go home bareheaded. The case created quite a stir among a certain class of the fairer sex, and ended by the defendant being fined five dollars.

The other day Mrs. Turner, fifth ward, missed her sable muff Her girl, Lizzie Smith, had also gone and she informed the police who putting two and two together sent Lizzie a blue paper inviting her to the Court yesterday morning. Defendant pleaded guilty, and was allowed to go for a week for judgment, on the understanding that if the muff was restored and costs paid by that date, it would be taken into consideration by the Magistrate.

Wm. Collins, Jr., for driving a load of coal on the sidewalk, and Robt. Duncan for driving his horse and cart on the place reserved for pedestrians, figured in the Police Court proceedings. Being the first offenders they were allowed to go free, gratis. Future infringements in this direction will be dealt with severely.

A local hotelman appeared in answer to the charge of keeping a gambling house. The case was enlarged until next Monday.

WAYS OF THE MAGPIE.

The Bird Is Sociable, Secretive and Full of Mischief.

The magpie has the same sort of sociability, the same secretiveness, the same thirst for education—of a certain kind—the same inherent and ineradicable love of mischief as has that very versatile bird the raven. Not that in intellect and strength of character she is in any way equal to the raven. Fun she has in abundance, but hardly humor. Conscious humor, that high and rare gift of man which interpenetrates and colors everything in life, is, I think, possessed in germ by the raven and the raven alone. You see it in his eye, in the pose of his head, in his walk, in every movement of his body. The eye of the magpie is, like the wit of Dickens, always on the move, nervous, excitable, glittering, scintillating. The eye of the raven is like the humor of Goldsmith. It has a faraway look, it dreams, it thinks, "it bodes and it bodes," it all but smiles. The magpie will pick up many words, or even sentences, and the old superstition that she will only talk or talk well if her tongue is slit with a thin and sharp silver sixpence died a natural death about the time that the coins of the realm had to be "milled" and so were rendered unsuitable for so stupidly cruel an operation.—R. Bosworth Smith in Nineteenth Century.

Servants In Germany.

It is difficult in Germany for a professional rogue to enter a family as a domestic servant. There every servant has a character book, in which the mistress must enter the dates of the coming and leaving of the servant, with her character while in service. This the girl is obliged to take to the nearest police station and have it dated with the official stamp, thus preventing the manufacture of bogus recommendations.

In Humanity's Name

I Ask You to Tell Me a Sick One Who Needs Help.

No money is wanted I ask simply a postal card stating which book to send. I will do all the rest and accept all the risk to see that your friend gets well.

I will send him my book. I will arrange with a druggist near by that he may take six bottles of Dr. Shopp's Restorative. He may take it a month at my risk. If it succeeds it costs $5.50. If it fails, I will pay the druggist myself. And the sick one's mere word shall decide.

I do so that those who need help will accept it. I have what those sick ones must have to get well, and I make my offer so fair that no sick one can neglect it.

You may think it too fair to be possible, but I do just as I say. I have furnished my Restorative to hundreds of thousands in this way, and 39 out of each 40 have paid gladly, because they were cured. I willingly pay for the rest.

It is a remarkable remedy that makes such an offer possible, and I have spent my lifetime on it. It is my discovery, and the only known treatment that strengthens the inside nerves.

The common way is to doctor the organ that is weak, but that way at best brings but temporary results. My way is to bring back the nerve power which alone operates every vital organ. I give to each organ the power to do its duty, and there is no other way to make weak organs well.

I fail only where organic trouble—like cancer—makes a cure impossible. Such are rare.

My book will convince you, for it is clear. Almost any sick one who reads it will know that he can get well

THE KANGAROO'S STORY.

Why the Does Throw Their Young Away When Hard Pressed.

"I have heard that men folk in their blindness deem our does to be lacking in the proper instincts of maternity because they have found that a doe kangaroo when hunted will throw away its offspring to save its own skin by hastening its speed. This," says Old Man Jack in the "Autobiography of an Australian Kangaroo" in Pearson's Magazine, "is simply scandalous and foolish.

"Men people are evidently not aware that our youngsters use the mother's pouch almost up to the age of maturity. Would they have our does attempt to fly from dogs and men and horses with youngsters weighing nearly fifty pounds in their pouches? The thing would be impossible.

"Among us a mother is taught to toss her youngsters to a place of safety when she is hard pressed. If she could not throw it to a place far safer in the circumstances than her own pouch she would turn at bay with it and face any odds.

"In the case of my mother, when we were chased, and sure as the hunt became dangerous she would pause, draw me out of her pouch, throw me carefully into long scrub on her right, then turn sharply to her left, pause again until the hounds had seen her and then be off like the wind straight away from me."

Stone Throwers.

The most skilled stone throwers in the world are the natives of Terra del Fuego. Sailors have been struck by them with stones thrown by hand when they considered themselves out of musket shot.

Vagaries of a Post Card.

The despatch of the Postoffice department, and its equal liability to make ridiculous blunders, are well illustrated in the case of a certain post-card. This card was started out on November 16, 1903, from 11 Cameron place, Toronto, to the Dominion Business College on Richmond street. This is, perhaps, a couple of miles at the furthest. On December 30, the party to whom it was sent received it. The card had been six weeks on the road. The reason for its delay was a stamp in the left corner—"Dawson, Y. T., Dec. 8, '03." The total number of miles covered by that erratic post-card, in order to get from Cameron place to Richmond street, just east of Yonge street, was probably not less than 9,000 miles. The round trip to the land of the Midnight Sun and back to Toronto again was made in six weeks. How the mistake occurred is a mystery, as the card was plainly addressed.—Toronto News.

FAMOUS SHIP ENGINEER.

Mr. L. Tomlinson, Who Estimates He Has Traveled About 2,125,000 Miles.

Mr. L. Tomlinson, one of the most famous of ships' engineers, completed his last voyage as chief engineer of the Cunard Liner Campania on her arrival in Liverpool recently, retiring on a liberal pension after fifty-one and a half years' service with that company. As the vessel neared port on Saturday morning the saloon passengers met and formally presented him with his portrait, an illuminated address, and a purse of gold. One of the many feats which he performed at sea, just eleven years ago, stands out as remarkable. In the middle of December the Umbria was fighting her way through a great gale, about 800 miles out from New York, when her thrust shaft to which the propeller is attached snapped. On land no news could be obtained of the vessel, and Christmas passed without any tidings. Both in England and America the greatest concern was felt, and the vessel was given up as lost. But just before New Year's Day the Umbria very slowly and very gingerly steamed into the Cunard wharf at Liverpool. The old shaft could not be replaced, and the chief engineer had to piece up the great steel rod, on which practically the whole force of the engines is thrown. For eighty hours the engineer and his staff toiled, and at last with feelings of intense anxiety the engine was started. The shaft stood the test, and not a penny had to be paid in salvage. Mr. Tomlinson has served as engineer on fourteen of the company's ships, and estimates that he has traveled about 2,125,000 miles.

A Veteran Journalist.

Mr. Mason Jackson of The Illustrated London News, died the other day after forty-two years' service. Mr. Jackson's artistic experience dated back to the days of the Rebellion of 1837. Some years ago in an interview with The Sketch, Mr. Jackson told the story as follows: "It came about in a curious way," said Mr. Jackson, in answer to a question as to how he first became connected with the pictorial press. "In 1837 a rebellion broke out in Canada, the interest of which chiefly centred in Navy Island, in the Niagara River. There were no regular illustrated journals then, though The Weekly Chronicle and The Observer used occasionally to blossom out with a woodcut. Mr Wyld, the map publisher, called to see my brother, John, and said that a block of Navy Island was urgently wanted for The Morning Chronicle. In my brother's absence I successfully undertook the work. The next incident was the fire at the Royal Exchange in 1838. A rough sketch of it was given me to execute for The Weekly Chronicle in a great hurry. I well remember working on it through a winter's night, the weather being as cold as the theme of my engraving was warm. Four days later my picture appeared in the paper. When the Queen's Coronation furnished the subject of a picture in The Weekly Chronicle I helped to engrave the Coronation procession. Thus as a young man I became equipped for the duties which ultimately came to me in the office of The Illustrated London News."

Mr. Jackson had been for many years a director of The Illustrated London News. He is the author of "The Pictorial Press: Its Origin and Progress."

The Oldest London Kitchen.

Perhaps the oldest relic in London of a mediaeval kitchen is at Westminster Abbey, though little remains to indicate it save the rubble flooring, the buttery hatch and an adjoining cellar, now the handsome dining hall of Canon Wilberforce. The monk who acted as kitchener or refectorian had a responsibility as great as any hotel manager or chef in these days. For among his fellow monks, to say nothing of the pensioners, were critics as keen as any among the world-famed diners of to-day. Yet the Abbey kitchen was scarcely more elaborate than any one of those which linger on in the remote cottages of the rough Cornish coast or on the Yorkshire moors, where the entire cooking of the family is done on a flat hearth, with no other fuel than turf, or peat or twigs. The "broth-pot" hangs from a crane or stands on a tripod, and is most accommodating in its uses. Would you make bread? Lay the dough on a clean iron plate and invert the broth pot over it; then heap up all round it your lighted turf or wood.—Windsor Magazine.

Sketch of Archbishop Bond.

Archbishop Bond of Montreal, who recently celebrated the 25th anniversary of his appointment to the Anglican See of Montreal, is a remarkable man. He was born in England in 1815, and is consequently 89 years old. He became rector of St George's, Montreal, in 1848, and was later appointed Dean of Montreal. When Dr. Oxenden, the last English Bishop of the see resigned in 1878 to return to England, Dean Bond was elected by the Synod to succeed him. Belonging to the evangelical school of thought in the Church, Archbishop Bond has been for many years on terms of intimacy with all the religious bodies in his diocese. Upon the union of the Presbyterian churches in 1875 he attended the consecration service, along with the present Coadjutor Bishop Dr Carmichael, and partook of the communion with the clergy of the Scottish churches, and in 1893, during a serious illness, prayers were offered for his recovery in the Protestant and Roman Catholic churches of the city.

Aged Weather-Observer.

At Wiarton one evening recently the recent cold snap was under discussion, when one old gentleman predicted a January thaw. A bystander suggested that there might not be a thaw this year, an idea the old gentleman scouted vehemently.

"I've never known it to fail," he said. "Every year since I can remember I have remarked the January thaw," and growing emphatic he concluded, "I've seen thousands of them."

Herndon, Va.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—"I cannot speak too highly of the value of Peruna. I believe that I owe my life to its wonderful merits. I suffered with catarrh of the head and lungs in its worst form, until the doctors fairly gave me up, and I despaired of ever getting well again.

"I noticed your advertisement and the splendid testimonials given by people who had been cured by Peruna, and determined to try a bottle. I felt but little better, but used a second and a third bottle and kept on improving slowly.

"It took six bottles to cure me, but they were worth a king's ransom to me. I talk Peruna to all my friends and am a true believer in its worth." ---Mrs. Col. E. J. Gresham.

Thousands of women owe their lives to Peruna. Tons of thousands owe their health to Peruna. Hundreds of thousands are praising Peruna in every state in the Union. PANCAKE SOCIAL AT ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

Shrove Tuesday Celebrated in a Pleasant Manner

Last night a very enjoyable time was spent in the school house of St. Luke's church, where a Pancake Social under the auspices of the Mothers' Meeting, was held. The attendance was not as large as it would have been had the weather been favourable, but the room was comfortably filled, and those who braved the elements had a thoroughly pleasing evening, the enjoyment of which was accentuated by the warm greetings which each stranger received upon entering.

The refreshments served by the ladies consisting of pancakes and maple syrup, cake and coffee, were provided in characteristic St. Luke's style, and to say this is but to say that there was nothing left to be desired.

After all had been given refreshments, a short programme of considerable merit was run off. The chairman was Rev. Mr. Holah, L.S.T., acting Rector, who expressed his pleasure at seeing so many present on such an unpleasant evening, and, called upon Miss Sawers to render a vocal solo, which she did to the delight of the audience. Miss Fisher also favoured the gathering with a piano solo, in which she displayed considerable musical ability. Miss Sawers gave a second solo, after which a social hour was spent before the company dispersed, with singing the National Anthem.

INFORMAL DANCE IN PORT HOPE.

Number of Persons From Peterborough Were to Attend but the Weather Prevented.

An informal dance was held last night at the St. Lawrence Hotel, Port Hope, to which a number of Peterborough ladies and gentlemen had been favoured with invitations, and a number would have attended had not the uncertainties of the tram service made a trip out of town an extremely risky undertaking. Port Hope dances are always enjoyable and it was a great disappointment to those in town who had thought of going, that the weather conditions made such a pleasure one denied.

DRESSING STAFF GIVE A LOCKET

To Mr. W. Hartley, Who is Leaving the Auburn Mills.

His Associates Remembered Him in a Pleasing Manner Nearly Quarter of a Century's Service Recognized.

On Monday evening a very pleasing event took place at the residence of Mr. William Hartley, Water street, when the employees of the dressing department of the Auburn Woollen Mills, of which Mr. Hartley has been in charge for nearly a quarter of a century, gathered at the home of their late foreman, who is about to leave town for the United States, where he will in company with Mr. Richard Chowen, engage in the manufacture of a warping reel attachment of which they are the inventors.

There were about forty present, representing the staff of the dressing department, and after a short time had been spent in social enjoyment, Miss Alice Carter read an address to Mr. Hartley, and the latter's little daughter, Miss Eva, presented her father with a beautiful gold locket, on behalf of his late associates in the department of which he was chief.

The address was as follows:—

Mr. Wm. Hartley:

We, the employees of the dressing department, over which you have had charge for so long, feel that we cannot let you go away without showing you in some practical manner that we appreciate the courteous treatment which we have always received at your hands. While you have always kept the interests of the company in view, you have at all times treated us with uniform kindness. It was with feelings of the deepest regret that we learned you were about to sever your connection with the firm, and we trust that, as you go to other fields of labour, you will meet with the same success as has characterized your efforts in Auburn.

We ask you to accept this locket as a slight token of our kind feelings toward you, and we hope that as you make new friends in the city in which you are about to locate, you will not forget your old friends in Auburn.

Mr. Hartley, who was taken by surprise, in a neat reply expressed his gratitude at the evidence of good will shown by the gift and the address, and assured those present that he would always look back with pleasure and satisfaction upon the period he had spent in the Auburn Mills. It had been a distinct pleasure to him to be associated with those whom he was glad to call his friends, and he should always remember with the most kindly feelings the staff of the dressing department.

A very pleasant evening was then enjoyed by those present.

TEA AND CONCERT AT AUBURN S. S.

A Pleasant Evening was Spent there Last Night The Programme.

The tea and concert held last night under the auspices of the Auburn Sunday school, was an unqualified success, particularly when the exceedingly unpleasant weather conditions are considered. The tea was served by the ladies of the congregation, and was of an excellent quality. Following this a splendid programme was rendered. Rev. Mr. Potter, pastor of St. Andrew's church, acted as chairman of the entertainment and introduced the participants in the programme, the numbers on which were as follows:

Opening hymn, "All Hail the Power."
Prayer ... ... Rev. J. G. Potter
Chairman's address .....Rev. Mr. Potter
Phonograph selection ... Mr. R. Kendrey
Solo ... ... Miss E Miller
Orchestra selection, Messrs Blade, Atkins and Wilson.
Song ... ... Mr. Devereux
Phonograph selection ... Mr. R. Kendrey

GOD SAVE THE KING

The dialogue provoked perhaps the greatest amount of merriment, and "brought down the house."

WERE MARRIED IN ST. PETER'S ON TUESDAY

Miss Lizzie O'Donnell Became Bride of Mr Frank Greig.

St. Peter's church, Peterborough, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday morning, when Miss Lizzie O'Donnell, second daughter of Mr. Patrick O'Donnell, of Ennismore, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Frank Greig, of Buffalo.

The bride was charmingly attired in a suit of pearl grey Venetian cord goods, with trimmings of white silk applique and buckles. She wore a picture hat. Her maid, Miss Annie Conway of Bridgenorth, was dressed in steel grey, trimmed with white satin, and wore a black picture hat.

The groom was ably supported by Mr. James O'Donnell, Ennismore, brother of the bride.

After the wedding ceremony the bridal party adjourned to the residence of Mr. Edward Phalen, Smith street, where a sumptuous wedding dinner awaited them.

The presents were both numerous and costly, showing the high esteem in which the young couple are held. The gift of the groom to the bride was a beautiful set of white fur.

The happy couple left by the G.T.R. amid showers of rice and congratulations for their future home in Toronto.

Mr. Powell of Grace Street Church read the following report from the school in connection with that church:—

GRACE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The Secretary-Treasurer of Grace Church Sunday School begs to submit the following report for the year ending Dec. 31st 1903:

Sunday school was held every sunday in Grace church except one union meeting at George Street on Flower Sunday.

The number of scholars on the roll is seventy with an average attendance of forty-five.

They are divided into eight classes, three of which are girls and five are boys, also a primary department with two teachers.

There are thirteen officers and teachers with an average attendance of ten.

The collections for the year amounted to $43.60, an average of 84c per Sunday.

The total number of verses recited was 4,312.

There is in connection with the school a temperance organization called the Blue Button Club and nearly all the school are pledged against the use of intoxicating drinks of any kind. The club held a very successful entertainment in December and donated $5 to the Sunday school which was used in defraying the expenses of giving the members of the school a sleigh drive.

Prizes were offered to the teachers or scholars who attended every Sunday and we are pleased to report that two teachers and three scholars are entitled to prizes. The teachers are Mrs. Syer and Mr. J. J. Hartley and the scholars are Wilbert Regan, Frederick Brown and Lorn Smyth.

Mr Hartley offered two prizes, one for the girl and one for the boy who recited the greatest number of verses in the year. These have been won by Lela Smyth with 251 verses, and Wilbert Regan with 383 verses.

It has been decided that the above prizes will be presented next Sunday, and the parents of the scholars and the friends of the school are cordially invited to be present.

Respectfully submitted

An Interesting Game Booked for Saturday Night.

On Saturday night at the Brock street rink the works department of the C.G.E., will play the Toronto office staff a game of hockey, which gives promise of being one of the most interesting of the season. The personnel of the local team as given below is sufficient evidence that the game will be a fast one. The team representing the office staff is said to be very fast, and it is certain that a good game will result. The works team will be as follows:—Goal, Fitzpatrick; point, Ford; cover point, Crowley; forwards, Whiteroft, (captain,) Renton, Lee, McGrath.

Reddy McMillan Case up Before O.H.A. Executive Last Night.

The adjourned meeting of the Executive of the O.H.A. was held at the Telegram office, Toronto, on Monday night and it proved to be almost as long a one as that held on Saturday. The principal discussion of the gathering was the case against the Belleville team for playing McMillan, who was alleged to not have been a resident of the town within the time limit placed on players by the Association. Evidence to show that he was in Belleville before the stated time was forthcoming, and the team was exonerated, and will continue the series. The first match will be played in Toronto on Wednesday with the Marlboros, and the return game at Belleville on Friday.

MIC-MACS DEFEATED THE MOULDERS.

Peter Hamilton Employees Played a Fast Game.

A fast game of hockey was played in the Brock street rink Saturday night between the Mic-Macs and Moulders of Peter Hamilton's, resulting in a victory for the Mic-Macs by a score of 3 to 1. Both teams were fast and some fine work was displayed by both. The Moulders had a decided advantage in weight but the Mic-Macs had their stick-handling down to a science. The game started at 6.10 and after seven minutes' hard playing the Mics scored their first goal from a scrimmage. After ten minutes' play the Moulders tied the score and at half time each team had one goal to its credit. The second half was faster than the first and no scoring was done till the last ten minutes when the Mic-Macs scored two more, making the score 3—1 in their favour. Mr. Thompson refereed to the satisfaction of all.

Goal umpires, LePlante and Hollingsworth.

GEORGE KENNEDY, OF MONTREAL.

George Kennedy, who won the American wrestling championship from Max Wiley in Montreal recently, will defend the title against Wiley on Tuesday night next at the Peterborough Opera House, under the auspices of the Peterborough Athletic Club. The bout will be one of unusual interest because of the keen rivalry which exists between these two men.

Kennedy, who now holds the championship will make a big attempt to retain the honour he has won, while Wiley will be just as anxious to wrest it from him and again possess himself of the Richard K. Fox belt representing the championship.

GOUGH BROS'

"Good-Bye" Sale

There's no alternative. We would rather suffer a loss before March than afterwards. Skim the cream while it is thickest. Save money while you may.

This is the Biggest, Broadest, Boldest, Unloading Movement of the year. It's not like any ordinary winter sale—it's winding up a business,—just pulling up stakes and leaving the tent behind for good luck to those who follow.

That's why Lower Still Go the Prices. That's why Boots and Shoes get the knife deepest. That's why all Odd Suits, Overcoats, Trousers and Fur Coats never were so lowly marked. You'll never have a better chance.

The Sale, thus far, has gone beyond our calculations—notwithstanding the blocked roads and intense cold—and this makes us all the more anxions to boom things now. We give the people a wide open invitation to come and see.

P. S.—All Outstanding Accounts not Settled before March 15th will be placed in our Solicitor's Hands for Collection.

AN ENJOYABLE TIME SPENT LAST NIGHT

At the C. G. E. Mutual Benefit Society's Concert.

An Excellent Programme in Foresters Hall was Followed by a Pleasant Hop.

The concert and hop given in the Foresters' Hall last night, under the auspices of the C.G.E. Mutual Benefit Society, was well attended and was a very pleasant affair.

The first part of the programme consisted of a number of vocal and instrumental selections, while the dancing concluded the whole affair.

The chair was occupied by Mr. R. E. Layfield, who presided in a very efficient manner, introducing the different numbers on the programme very capably in a few pointed sentences. The programme ran as follows:—

Instrumental solo	Mr. McCoy
Vocal solo	Mr. Jos. Legg
Recitation	Mr. Dunslow
Vocal solo	Miss M. Clancy
Recitation	Miss Kennealey
Comic song	Mr. J. Cole
Recitation	Mr. Dunslow
Comic song	Mr. J. Cole
Hypnotic demonstration	Mr. Bert Cranfield

The selections of Mr. Legg, Mr. Dunslow, Miss Clancy and Mr. Cole were all heartily encored, and each responded to the continued applause which followed their respective efforts. By far the most interesting number, however, was the hypnotic demonstration of Mr. Cranfield, who not only highly entertained the audience but proved that it was absolutely no "fake," and displayed very great, if not marvellous powers as a hypnotist. After a number of very amusing experiments in hypnotism, the hall was cleared of seats, and the company indulged in a very pleasant dance, which lasted well on into the small hours of the morning.

Have You Pictures to be Framed?

There are hundreds of unframed pictures lying around well worth the price of framing — especially when you can get it done so cheaply at the Peterborough Bookstore. The beautiful premium pictures which come along with the illustrated papers, as well as loose water colours, photos, crayons, etc., make very pretty decorations when framed for dens, halls, parlours, libraries, dining rooms, and bedrooms. Bring in your pictures to the Peterborough Bookstore, and let us frame them at our February cut prices. We ran across a lot of new frames and moulding the other day which will cheapen the pirce to you about one-fourth. A. H. Stratton & Co.

The Question of Baldness.

This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald, or partially so. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of wigs and toupees. The visit of Prof. Borenwend of Toronto, to Peterborough on Thursday, February 18th, when he will be at the Oriental Hotel, renders it possible for every one who wishes to consult him to do so at his private apartments retained at the Oriental Hotel for this purpose. Demonstrations given to show the perfect naturalfulness of his wigs and toupees. Do not miss this opportunity. Remember the day and date, Thursday, February 18th.

At zero Centigrade, crude rubber loses its elasticity and softness and becomes rigid and inelastic. When heated to 100 or 120 Centigrade, it gets soft, viscid and inelastic.

We have to treat crude rubber chemically to make it stand extremes of temperature and everyday wear.

We had a secret chemical process fifty years ago—it's a better one now, of course—as near perfect as can be—actual experience proves that.

It gives a toughness and pliability to the rubber that makes it outwear any other brand.

BALFOUR'S MAJORITY

Mr. John Morley's Tariff Amendment Defeated by 51.

28 UNIONISTS FOR MOTION

Sixty-Nine Nationalists Voted Against the Government, and John Redmond Declared They Voted That Way Solely to Forward the Cause of Home Rule General Election Expected in the Autumn.

London, Feb. 16.—By a vote of 327 to 276 the House of Commons last night defeated John Morley's amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne censuring the Government's fiscal policy.

The division took the form of a vote of want of confidence in the Government, which impelled many Unionists who totally disagree with the idea of protection to vote to keep Premier Balfour in power While Mr. Balfour's absence was keenly felt, it was perhaps a source of strength to his party, as without any defined fiscal declaration from the Premier, many of his supporters felt justified in upholding the Government. Joseph Chamberlain was absent. A general election is expected in the autumn.

John Redmond, the Irish leader, said the Irish party voted against the Government solely to forward the cause of home rule. He added the same action would be taken against every Government until home rule is secured.

Neither the speeches last night nor the division can be taken as accurate indication of the probable trend of the British opinion on the fiscal question. In the lobbies of the House of Commons it was frankly admitted that votes were given to the Government which may be counted on the Opposition side, when a general election on the basis of free trade versus protection occurs.

A large crowd heard the debate.

Scarcely a member of the House who voted with the Government last night did not frankly admit his ignorance of the degree of fiscal reform to which the Cabinet is really committed. The hopeless division of opinion among members has been a feature of the discussion.

Sixty-nine Nationalists voted against the Government, also 28 Unionists, including Right Hon. Charles H. Ritchie, Lord George Hamilton, Lord Hugh Cecil, Winston Churchill, Sir John Gorst, George Kemp and Hon. Fred W. Lambton.

The Popular Vote of 1904

Is Unanimously in Favour of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—They are the Nation's Favourite.

No article on the market, whatever be the purpose for which it was created, can be a phenomenal success, and be universally popular, unless it possesses great and unfailing merit. Inferior and worthless articles may flourish for a limited time if their praises are sung by sufficiently clever and catchy advertising; but their lays are numbered from the start, and their finish is a foregone conclusion. This is an age of the survival of the fittest and only articles of true merit endure.

The unparalleled and phenomenal success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from a business standpoint, is not unnatural and not surprising. It is due directly to their unparalleled and phenomenal success in curing multiplied thousands of cases of dyspepsia throughout the English-speaking world.

The reason of the wonderful success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is so plain and simple that a child can understand; it is this and nothing more; they are natural in their workings and effects. They take up the effects of the worn and wasted stomach, and do it just as the stomach did it when it was well and strong and able. They actually digest the food and do it thoroughly, completely and independently, thus giving the weak and weary stomach an opportunity to renew and regain its wasted strength. You forget that you have a stomach just as you did when you were a healthy boy or girl, and Nature restores and heals that organ and makes it well and strong.

A St. Louis business man says:—"I was a confirmed dyspeptic for years. What I ate had to be forced down and most of it soured or lay like lead in my stomach and did me no good. I was in constant misery both in mind and body and came to be cranky, morose and irritable. My natural disposition, which was cheerful and pleasant, left me and I was alienating all my friends. The doctors did me no good. I got so I hated the sight or name of a doctor. My wife finally worried me into buying a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which I began taking under protest, as I had no faith in anything or anybody. I was sore on creation.

"I had not taken a third of that box before I noticed a decided and most welcome change. I could enjoy a good meal and feel no bad effects following it. I forgot my stomach and had a chance to think about something else. I went ahead with my business in ease and comfort. Six boxes of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at a total outlay of $3.00 cured me completely and I have not suffered a pain from dyspepsia for two years. I have an appetite like a sixteen-year-old boy. I wish everyone who suffers from dyspepsia could know what a change this great remedy made in me."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box. All druggists carry them and the best doctors are prescribing them. You need not fear that you will ever be unable to get them; for, because of the good they have done mankind and the suffering they have relieved and the happiness they have caused, the fame and the success and the popularity of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from generation unto generation will endure.

PANIC STOPPED BY MAYOR.

Draperies Caught Fire at an Entertainment—Many Women Fainted.

New York, Feb. 16.—A panic was averted at the annual entertainment of the Anawanda Club in Terrace Garden last night by the presence of mind of Mayor McClellan and Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader. While a vaudeville performance was in progress some evergreen decorations in front of Mr. Murphy's box caught fire from a defective electric wire. Mr. Murphy reached out and tore down some draperies that were threatened, but the audience had already risen and a rush had begun for the doors. Mayor McClellan, in the opposite box, implored the audience to remain seated, as all danger was over, and in a few moments order was restored. During the excitement many women fainted.

DOUBLE-HEADER DITCHED.

Bad Smash-Up on the Deloraine Branch—One Passenger Injured.

Winnipeg, Feb. 16.—The eastbound passenger train on the Deloraine branch of the C.P.R. was ditched near Killarney yesterday afternoon. One passenger, Mr. Young of Napinka, was injured. The others escaped as by a miracle. The train was a double-header and running fast when it encountered a snow drift. Both engines and every car left the track, several toppling over, including the mail, baggage car and smoker. The track and rolling stock were badly damaged.

JOINT COMMISSION APPOINTED.

To Delimit the New Boundary Line of Alaska.

Ottawa, Feb 16.—A joint commission has been appointed to delimit the Alaska boundary as determined by the tribunal which sat in London last summer. It will be composed of Mr. Tittman of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, and Mr. W. F. King, Dominion Astronomer. They will meet at an early date, probably in Washington, to draw up arrangements for the delimitation during the coming summer.

The Telephone Hearing.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—It is likely that the hearing of applications from municipalities or independent telephone companies desirous of connecting with the C.P.R., which were to have been heard to-day, will be postponed until later. Some objection has been raised that the notice is too short for all the parties to reach here in time.

Bonus to Railway.

Waterloo, Feb. 16.—The bylaw to bonus the Waterloo and Wellesley Electric Railway to the extent of $4,000 was voted on yesterday: 241 voted for and 130 against. The bylaw was carried by a majority of 23.

Callaghan Is Free.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—W. H. Callaghan was released from Toronto jail on Sunday morning, with his two months' sentence as completed.

Collision at Kingston.

Kingston, Feb. 16.—There was a collision of trains at the G.T.R. junction early yesterday morning, but fortunately with no serious results. The belated western passenger train was coming in when it collided with a freight train on the main line. Two men in the caboose had a thrilling escape getting off with cuts and bruises. Passengers ready to debark at Kingston were thrown down by the collision and several were bruised, but not seriously injured.

A Brandon Tragedy.

Winnipeg, Feb. 16.—The body of a well-dressed young man was found three miles east of Brandon yesterday entangled in a wire fence. He had apparently lost his way in a snowstorm.

Dynamited a Bridge.

Salonica, Feb. 16.—A band of Bulgarians on Feb. 13 dynamited a bridge between Demirhissar and Dumbala. Seven workmen and two soldiers were killed.

Cape Colony Elections.

Cape Town, Feb. 16.—The Parliamentary elections just held in Cape Colony have resulted in a Progressive majority of five over the Afrikander Bund.

COINS OF THE PAST.

Gold Pieces That Were Once Common, but Are Now Rarely Seen.

Recent mention of the disappearance of the $2.50 gold piece from circulation and the premium this coin commands as a curio has set many to rummaging in old pocketbooks and bottoms of cash boxes and drawers in search of odd or out of date coins. Some have found a $2.50 piece, but not many. The $3 piece, once quite common, but always a sort of curiosity, is oftener found, and many have specimens of the little gold coins representing 25 cents and 50 cents which were not minted by the government and probably have not so much gold in them as they represent. They used to pass as coin, but were never in general circulation, being so easily lost that they soon became scarce. One of the handsomest coin relics seen is a $10 gold piece bearing the mint stamp of 1799. It is larger than the present $10 piece. The owner has it hung in a band and wears it as a charm on his watch chain. The owner says he refused an offer of $150 for this relic. The old octagonal $50 pieces were quite common in California in early days, when gold dust was largely used as a circulating medium. They were made of pure gold, and, while they had not the elegant finish of the gold coins minted by the government in these days, many still remember them as the handsomest coins they ever saw. Many people now would consider them handsome on account of the $50 in them.

Homemade Jam.

"You must give him plenty of berries," said the doctor, who had been asked to furnish a list of articles suited to a convalescent patient's daily diet. "The seeds are good for him."

One day not long afterward the little girl of the family heard her mother lamenting because there were no berries in the market for the invalid. The child left the room quietly and presently returned with a saucer of something that looked inviting.

"Here, papa," she said, "just try this. I fixed it for you."

"What is it?" asked the invalid, with a spoonful half way to his lips.

"Jelly with little glass beads in it. If you eat it with your eyes shut, you'll never know it isn't whole raspberries. I tried it, and it was just lovely."

A Fine Gentleman.

The Duc de Richelieu, the beloved of ladies, the breaker of hearts, was the perfect fine gentleman of a studiously elegant epoch. The suave repose of his manner was immovable. When his second wife lay dying he came in to see her, stepping softly, hat in hand. Though she was expiring, her fading eye lit up at the sight of him.

"How sweet it would be for me to die in your arms," she murmured.

He held her as she wished till she died, then went out again, stepping softly, hat in hand. One of his spiteful chroniclers—a woman, needless to say—suggests that he was off to a rendezvous with the lady of the moment, and that the graceful manner in which he bore the delay caused by his wife's death was proof of the perfect breeding of one of the finest gentlemen in Europe.—Geraldine Bonner in The Reader.

Where It Should Begin.

"But why do you have your hero marry in the first chapter?" they asked. "Because," replied the author, "it has always seemed absurd to me to end a novel just where a man's troubles really begin. That's where you should begin the story."

When a man tells you that all women are delusions and snares, it's doughnuts to fudge he has been snared by a delusion.—Cooking Club.

ALWAYS BE SANGUINE.

Keep to the Highways and Shun the Back Alleys of Life.

Keep to the broad highways of hope and cheerfulness. Expect to succeed. Think success, and you will succeed. Keep out of the back alleys of gloom and pessimism. Join the procession of the cheerful, the willing and the hopeful. Be sanguine. Know the pleasures of living. Enjoy the sunshine of hope.

Keep away from the scavengers and ragpickers who infest the back alleys of life. Your pessimist is your scavenger, your ragpicker. He may be a necessary evil, a boil as it were on the body social, but too much of him is fatal. He never gave the world a smile. He never contributed to the good cheer of any human being. He never lifted the gloom from any distressed soul. He is the antithesis of progress. He is the pollywog which in the evolution of life is continually dragging backward toward the slimy past, resisting the progress of development which must go on with or without him.

Beware of the encroachments of the carping, pessimistic spirit. It is a hardy plant. It takes root easily in the mind, and, like the thistle, when once it gains a foothold it is well nigh impossible to uproot it, but it cannot live in an atmosphere of sunshine and cheerfulness.

Therefore, keep to the highways. Keep out of the back alleys.—Exchange.

You Cannot Rely on imitations.

When Threatened With Bronchitis, Asthma, Pneumonia or Serious Lung Troubles be Sure to get the Genuine

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

For generations the value of turpentine as a remedial agent in all affections of the bronchial tubes and lungs has been well known.

It remained for Dr. Chase to so combine turpentine, linseed and half a dozen other ingredients as to not only make a wonderfully successful medicine, but also one that is so pleasant to the taste as to be sought for by children.

The sale of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is more than three times that of many similar remedies. The result of this success is a host of imitations.

When attacked by coughs and colds which threaten to reach the lungs and prove serious; when awakened by children with croupy coughs, gasping for breath, you cannot afford to trust to imitations.

Mr. John Pollard, Echo Bay, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled last winter with a very bad cold, which was beginning to settle on my lungs. I was so hoarse that I could scarcely speak, and had a nasty hacking cough, which I could not get rid of. One bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine cured me, and I can heartily recommend it."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is sold by all dealers at the advertised price, 25 cts. a bottle, family size, three times as large, 60 cents. Edmanson, Bates & So., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle. 9

TATTERS

By M. LOUISE CUMMINS

...Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure...

Radford Hoyt toiled along the cliff path, a moving mass of cloaks and cameras.

His genial face, hotly flushed, smiled as though he was right in the fun of the merry party ahead.

The tall, graceful girl who seemed the center of it stopped suddenly, pushing her heavy hair back from her forehead.

"Who said this wasn't summer, and where is the lighthouse?" she demanded.

"'Tis but a step,' my lady fair."

The man who spoke was usually to be found at Elise Crompton's side. He turned as he answered her and flung a light coat back to Hoyt.

"Here, Rad, you seem to be the general burden bearer," he drawled easily.

"Mr. Jerold! What a shame!" Elise laughed. But she glanced rather contemptuously at Hoyt.

The coat struck the young fellow's shoulder and slipped to the ground. The smile did not leave his face as he passed on. In the grateful shade of the lighthouse he dropped his load amid a murmur of thanks from the girls.

"Where's my coat?" Jerold examined the pile of wraps on the ground.

"Where you threw it probably."

Hoyt picked up a stone and shied it with easy strength into the water.

"I threw it to you." Jerold's face flushed with chagrin.

"Did you? Well, I only fag for women."

Elise Crompton turned and for the first time in their acquaintance looked directly at Hoyt.

"Why, he's a man!" she thought wonderingly.

His eyes met and held hers steadily for a moment. She looked quickly away, annoyed to find herself blushing under his gaze.

After that she felt like a ship swept from its destined course by a strong wind. Hitherto she had acquiesced in her mother's wish that this outing might end in her engagement to Jerold, though well aware that wealth was his one recommendation. But that look of Hoyt's had been as a steady breeze on a foggy day.

She, Elise Crompton, to sell herself! The blood rose shamedly to her temples. More than ever she had wanted anything she wanted that this young man with the honest eyes should think well of her.

HE SWERVED AT A SHARP CRY FROM ELISE.

She began to avoid tete-a-tetes with Jerold, but in spite of that what she had learned to dread came a few days later. Perhaps the possibility of Hoyt as a rival had given to Jerold's dilettante wooing the spur it needed. He raised his eyebrows in surprise, incredulity almost, when she temporized and asked for time to think it over.

That afternoon she strolled down to the rocks alone. Hardly had she seated herself when a man's voice reached her, coming in admonitory jerks from around the next promontory.

Elise leaned forward and saw Hoyt sitting quite near her. Between his knees he held the shaggiest and most forlorn of mongrels. His hand was firmly closed upon one of the dog's forepaws.

"Here, Jerold!" The girl drew back quickly. "Help me, will you? The poor beast has cut his paw almost in two on a broken bottle."

The girl quivered at the harshness of the voice that answered.

"Oh, let the cur alone. Where has every one disappeared to?"

Hoyt's reply sounded as though his teeth were closed on something, and Elise could hear the noise of tearing cambric.

When Jerold passed out of sight she rose. Hoyt had finished his bandaging and, followed by the mongrel on three legs, was ascending to the cliff path above.

"Look here, Tatters, old fellow," he admonished, "you'd better go home, if you've got one to go to, which I very much doubt. I could never take you to the hotel, you know."

He swerved at a sharp cry from Elise. One foot had become wedged between the rocks. Her body swayed uncertainly, while her face grew white with the agony of a spraining ankle.

With a bound Hoyt was at her side. Very tenderly he freed the jammed boot and, lifting her lightly, carried her to the path above.

"Oh!" Her lips quivered with pain as she leaned against him.

"You'd better sit down while I go for a carriage," he said quickly.

Suddenly a ray of humor shot into her eyes. Tatters stood before her, his bandaged paw pathetically uplifted in a ludicrous demand for sympathy.

"Oh, poor fellow! I know how badly it hurts. There are two of us," she exclaimed ruefully. Then she turned her face up to Hoyt. "How good you are, how good!"

Hoyt felt himself turning dizzy under her look.

"Leave the dog with me," she said suddenly. "I—I would like to keep him always, if I may."

"You!"

Hoyt stared in amazement from the girl in her young beauty to the battered animal at her feet, and yet, incongruous as it seemed, he could not deny to himself as he strode away that there had been something—something for him—in the eyes of both which it meant madness to think of in connection with Elise Crompton.

That evening she sat on the piazza in a low steamer chair, with Hoyt beside her.

Tatters, who had protestingly been initiated into the ways of higher living through soap and water, lay curled up on the end of her soft gown.

"Is Jerold to be congratulated—yet?" Hoyt turned to her suddenly.

She was looking off near the moonlit water and did not withdraw her gaze.

"Mr. Jerold will never be congratulated as far as I am concerned," she answered quietly.

Hoyt's hand closed over the one which rested on the arm of her chair. Elise looked up and saw his face, white and streaked in the moonlight. She withdrew her fingers and lightly touched his coat sleeve.

"Why—don't you say it?" Her eyes were smiling naively into his.

"Say it! I never have been mad enough to dream that it would be any use. I have loved you from the first moment I saw you—sweetheart!"

If ever Tatters needed four legs it was then. He got slowly on his three available ones and, with his stump of a tail revolving like a windmill, barked ecstatically, for in the moonlight the two figures cast but one shadow.

Hoyt made a quick grab at him.

"Don't!" Elise's fingers closed on his. "Only for him I might never have known—until too late—that I—loved you. "And"—she leaned her head against Hoyt's arm and looked critically at Tatters—"I really think he is a handsome dog, don't you?"

"I do," said Hoyt promptly.

And yet Hoyt had been one of the judges at the dog show.

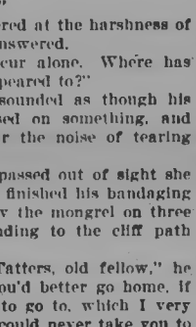
Cooling Off.

The man who would sit on a cake of ice to cool off would be considered crazy. Yet it is a very common thing for a person heated by exercise to stand in a cool draught, just to cool off. This is the beginning of many a cough which ultimately involves the bronchial tract and the lungs.



For coughs in any stage there is no remedy so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures deep-seated, obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, and like conditions which if neglected or unskillfully treated terminate in consumption.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good."

"I took a severe cold which settled in the bronchial tubes," writes Rev. Frank Hay, of Nortonville, Jefferson Co., Kansas. "After trying medicines labeled 'Sure Cure' almost without number, I was led to try Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles and was cured, and have stayed cured.

"When I think of the great pain I had to endure, and the terrible cough I had, it seems almost a miracle that I was so soon relieved.

"That God may spare you many years and abundantly bless you is the prayer of your grateful friend."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 1008 pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for it in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BURNING THE YULE LOG.

The Custom One of Ancient Origin. The Yule Candle.

The custom of burning a large log of wood which is known as the Yule log is very ancient in its origin. All through the middle ages every farmhouse, cottage and castle in England burned its Yule log upon the hearth, the log being dragged in with much ceremony.

At Yuletide when the great log flamed
In chimneypiece and laugh and jest went round.

The word "Yule" itself seems to be derived from the Anglo-Saxon "Geol," meaning December. Earlier still the Yule, or midwinter, feast is seen in its most flourishing state among the Norsemen, who commemorated the fiery sun wheel with a mighty feast. They believed that during the twelve nights from Dec. 25 to Jan. 6 they could trace the actual movements of their great Odin, or Odhinn, the god of storms, and other deified beings on the earth. The Yule log, with its cheery blaze, comes to us across the centuries as a dim memory of the fires lit to celebrate the setting out of the sun on his northward journey toward the light and warmth of summer.

A large candle known as the Yule candle used also to light the Christmas eve festivities. It was a bad omen if the candle burned out before the evening was at an end.

The Novelist's Gentleman.

In that curious code of morals which obtains in certain classes of society a man may be a gentleman and not pay his tailor, but a man may not be a gentleman if he neglects to pay the debts he has incurred over a game of cards to one who may have no need for the money. A man may lie often and diversely and yet be a gentleman—in fact, that very question of how thorough a gentleman he is sometimes depends upon the dexterity and fluency of his lies.

A few faults he should not commit. He must not steal, for example, and he must wear clean linen. He must not falsify unnecessarily, only upon those occasions which particularly demand it. If he can possibly help it he must not be a coward. In this country he should not marry for money, though in Europe that is not only condoned, but looked upon as quite permissible if not commendably clever. The gentleman in Europe "cannot dig, and to beg he is ashamed," so the rich wife is the only respectable way out of the difficulties that he is very often in.—Geraldine Bonner in The Reader.

The Man of the Moment.

When they saw him coming along, case in hand, they rushed to the door and called and beckoned and made frantic gestures.

As soon as he was within the house they almost dragged him upstairs and into the bedroom where she lay, gasping and so very, very pale.

"What do you think?" three of them cried at once.

He was painfully shocked and distressed.

"I think she's a very sick woman," he said.

They waited a second, and then one said:

"What shall we do first?"

He looked surprised.

"I should call a doctor," he said emphatically.

At that they all screamed at once:

"But aren't you a doctor?"

He started violently and stared at them in amazement. "No, I'm a piano tuner," he replied."—Town Topics.

Messrs. McMillan & Maguire furnish us with the following:

Berlin, Feb. 17. — The Frankfurter Zeitung has a telegram from St. Petersburg, making the sensational announcement that Russia is preparing for war with England; Russia is determined to show no weakness as to England's invasion of Thibet.

Chicago, Feb. 17th. — Bromhall says war has commenced in the Balkans. This is what put the wheat market down.—Klein.

New York, Feb 17. — Market opened irregular with some strength in places but rather heavy tone in a good many active railroads. Traders were bearish on idea that there was not really much short interest, while the only buying seemed to be by hastily formed pools liable to change position at any time. Story of listing Atchinson in Berlin was received but is not treated seriously by foreign houses. Rather heavy tone in Erie, N.Y.C. and Penn. was due to cutting of grain rates to the Atlantic.—D.J.

Boston, Feb. 17.—It is stated on what is considered good authority that Messrs. Kuhn, Loeb and Co. have an understanding with German banking house to maintain Atchinson at 65, and Un. Pac. at 76 for six months period for the purpose of influencing German investment in the shares of these companies. Atchinson securities will probably be listed upon Berlin Bourse, and such action may be taken later followed by Un. Pac. having a continental listing.

Liverpool close, wheat unchanged to 1-8 lower; corn, unchanged to 1-8 higher.

New York, Feb. 17. — C. P. showed some strength with some evidence of trade operations in the stock. It is thought in some rather well informed quarters that there is some Standard Oil stock to be realized for which a market is being made. Buying in Am. Loco. seems rather speculative with probably some of active Hoffman House traders taking a hand.

—Last night's lowest thermometer reading was 15 degrees below zero. A biting north-west wind which prevailed yesterday and last night made this cold spell perhaps as severely felt as any we have experienced this winter. Though there is apparently a great depth of snow on the ground, yet, as a matter of fact, the snowfall of this winter has not been up to the average in this district. On every occasion that snow has fallen it has remained. The first snowfall of any account, on November 19th, still remains on the ground. There has been no thaw, nor apology for a thaw, during the whole winter.

ANNUAL MEETING OF GEORGE STREET S. S.

A very pleasing feature of the evening was the address and presentation made to Mr. T. W. Robinson, who has held the position of Superintendent of the school for a number of years past, giving most valuable services. As a token of the appreciation and esteem of the school, Mr. Robinson was presented with the following address by Mr. J. Jeffries, and a beautiful oak chair and purse of gold, the presentation being made by Mr. Dixon. The address read as follows:—

To T. W. Robinson, Esq., Superintendent of George Street Methodist Sunday School.—

The officers, teachers and scholars of this Sunday school and a number of the congregation, recognizing your long and faithful service to the church as superintendent of their Sunday school, desire to convey to you an expression of their appreciation of this service

Only those who understand the relation of the school to the church and those who for years have been co-workers with you can fully appreciate the sacrifice you have made. To look after such a large school, to carry the burden of it all the week, to keep it supplied from Sunday to Sunday with efficient teachers, attend the weekly teachers' meeting and provide for all the varied needs of the school, is no light task, and only the constant approval of Him whom thus you serve could ever induce you to perform such unending and exacting toil.

You have done what you could—faithfully and well, as testified by the large, enthusiastic and prosperous school. In grateful acknowledgement and to lighten your toil, we say to you, well done, and we ask you to accept in further expression of our thanks and that you may ever have a remembrance of our sympathy and gratitude this chair and purse.

We unite in wishing for you and yours a long and happy life.

Signed on behalf of your staff, scholars and friends,

A. E. DIXON.
J. JEFFRIES,

February 16th, 1904.

Mr. Robinson, who was taken totally by surprise, made a fitting reply. He did not deem himself worthy of all the complimentary remarks of the address, and stated that the success of the school was due to the hearty support given to the Superintendent by the teachers and the pastor; he was always upheld by the staff, which was a splendid one. He greatly appreciated the kind words of the address and the presentation. He had always tried to do his best for the school and would continue to do so in the future.

A series of limelight views and moving pictures were then given by Mr. J. Stubbs, who described the various views and interspersed his remarks with selections from his phonograph. The views were varied in their nature and proved quite interesting. Several poems were recited by the speaker and illustrations thrown on the canvas to add additional interest. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Stubbs at the conclusion of the entertainment.

CONGREGATION HELD DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL.

A Pleasant Affair at St. Paul's Church Last Night.

A very pleasant social gathering of the congregation of St. Paul's church was held in the Sunday School room last night, and was attended by a large number. Mr. R. E. Wood occupied the chair. An excellent musical and literary programme was rendered, the following being among the contributors: Miss Helen Davies, Miss Lillian Moore, Mr. Gilbert Scott, Mr. J. Laurence and Mr. C. N. Brown. Short speeches were also made by Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. J. A. Wilson, Mr. J. Coyle, Brown, Sheriff Hall, Mayor Roger, Mr. Ross Cameron and Mrs. Jack MacPherson. At the conclusion of the programme a vote of thanks moved by Mr. Garvin, and seconded by Mr. T.A. S. Hay, was tendered the contributors. The pleasant affair was brought to a close by serving refreshments.

JAP OPERATIONS ON A VAST SCALE

250,000 Troops Will Be in Corea Before Great Land Fight.

60,000 MEN ALREADY AT WONSAN

Eight Transports of Japanese Troops on the Way from Nagasaki to the West Coast of Corea—Japanese Bury Their First Dead With Impressive Services—China Should Be Watched.

Berlin, Feb. 18.—The Admiralty here has received confirmation of the reports that Japanese landing operations on a vast scale are taking place on Corea's northern coast, and it is assumed by the German authorities that Japan will be ready by early spring for a forward land movement, supported by properly equipped bases. Possibly 250,000, according to the estimates made at the German Admiralty, will be in the field before a collision takes place with the Russians in force.

60,000 Japs Already at Wonsan.

Port Arthur, Feb. 18.—The reports that the Japanese have concentrated about 60,000 troops at Wonsan (on the east coast of Corea), with the object of entering Manchuria, are confirmed.

8 Transports on the Way.

Tokio, Feb. 18.—Eight transports, with Japanese troops, from Nagasaki, and several additional vessels carrying war munitions, are on their way to the west coast of Corea. Detachments of Japanese cavalry have already landed at Wiju, on the Yalu River.

15,000 Embarked.

Nagasaki, Feb. 16.—Fifteen thousand troops were embarking on transports yesterday. Two damaged warships are here waiting to go into dry-hock.

To Fight For Japan.

Montreal, Feb. 18.—Major Sakol, who reached here yesterday from St. Petersburg, is hurrying home to fight for Japan.

Japanese Bury Dead.

Sasebo, Japan, Feb. 18.—Impressive funeral services were held here yesterday over the remains of three officers and two men of the Japanese battleship Fuji, who were killed by the Russian fire during the first attack on Port Arthur. The religious ceremonies were conducted by a Shinto priest, and the funeral oration was delivered by Admiral Sameshi.

To Blow Up the Railway.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 18.—A despatch has been received here from Major-General Pflug, chief of staff to Viceroy Alexieff, saying that Yuan Sha Kai, commander-in-chief of the Chinese Army and Navy, has ordered 2,500 men to Tsinchou, to maintain order. Continuing, he says everything is quiet at Niuchwang, and that the information that the Japanese are forming bands of Chunchus (bandits), to attack the railroads, is confirmed. Quiet prevails on the Yalu. Russian scouts did not find the enemy within a distance of 34 miles of river.

Leave Port Arthur Alone.

New York, Feb. 18.—A special cable from St. Petersburg to The World says Russia waits with the utmost confidence the conflict on land which is soon to come. Experts recognize that relief from the responsibility of maintaining the long line of railway through Manchuria will greatly simplify Viceroy Alexieff's task. Port Arthur can be safely left to take care of itself.

Japs in Ascendant.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Mr. Allen, the American minister at Seoul, cables the State Department that Wiju has been declared open to the commerce of the world by the Corean Government. It is understood that the opening of Wiju is directly attributable to Japanese ascendancy in Corea.

China Favors Japan.

New York, Feb. 18.—Careful observers of the situation in Pekin, according to a cable to The World, from Tien Tsin, are unanimous regarding its gravity. The growing feeling in favor of Japan is shaping itself into a movement against all foreigners. Great anxiety is felt here, and the conviction grows that it is of the utmost importance that a close watch be kept over China.

W. RICHMOND SMITH.

Toronto Newspaper Man Will Represent London Standard at the War.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—W. Richmond Smith, who was war correspondent for The Montreal Star in South Africa, yesterday received instructions from The London Standard to leave at once for the scene of hostilities in the Far East. The Standard's chief correspondent, William Maxwell, is already at the front. Mr. Smith will act as associate correspondent with Mr. Maxwell. The latter is one of the best known war correspondents attached to the London dailies, and his work in South Africa was very favorably commented on.

Mr. Richmond Smith, who has had a wide newspaper experience, was despatched to South Africa with the first Canadian contingent. He spent a year at the front, and saw some of the most important engagements, including Paardeberg. Mr. Smith was among the war correspondents who received a war medal.

Mr. Smith was editor of The Evening News under the former management, which position he held until that newspaper was taken over by J. W. Flavelle. His friends in the city will wish him good luck in the Far East and a safe return from his hazardous undertaking.

SIBERIAN RAILWAY IS DEMORALIZED.

Russian Troops are Literally Starving, and All Food Stuffs Advanced in Price.

Government Admits Heavy Mortality of Men and Horses—The Latest News of the War.

THE PRESENT WAR SITUATION.

From the latest despatches from the Far East, Russia seems to be in a bad way. The Siberian Railway is demoralized, and added to this calamity, is the fact that her troops on route, of whom there are supposed to be many thousands, are literally dying of starvation. The War Office is being besieged with appeals for assistance. Meanwhile Japan, evidently taking advantage of Russia's deplorably weak condition, is preparing to repeat her successes. Port Arthur has been the scene of more attacks from the Japanese torpedo fleet, in which Russia warships have been injured; the extent, however, is not yet known. While the operations of the different fleets are pretty well reported, of the operations on land but little is known.

That Japan has transported thousands of men overseas is certain. That her transports are now preparing to sail with an expeditionary force of between forty and fifty thousand men seems to be established in the mouth of many witnesses. The only question is as to their destination. Will it be the mouth of the Yalu, as in 1894, or will it be on the Liaotuing peninsula in the rear of Port Arthur? These facts create a strong presumption that Japan's expedition will land near Port Athur, and attempt the reduction of that fortress in co-operation with the fleet, leaving the force of 20,000 men known to have landed in mid-Corea a week ago to work up to the Yalu and keep in play the Russians there. In brief, the Japanese seem to be preparing to cut off Port Arthur, and at the same time hold Northern Corea.

(Special to THE EXAMINER).

RUSSIAN TROOPS STARVING.

London, February 18.—Complete moralization of the Siberian Railway service beyond Lake Baikal is confirmed by official reports, says the Express' St. Petersburg correspondent. The Government admits the heavy mortality of men and the lack of horses. At all stations the stocks are exhausted or perilously low. Urgent telegrams are bombarding the Capital imploring assistance. Many troops are literally starving and all food stuffs are thrice their normal value.

THE GLOBE'S WAR NEWS.

From Special Correspondents in the Field.

The Russo-Japan conflict has commenced in earnest and that part of the world is now the centre of interest.

In order that our readers may be kept in the closest touch with the situation, we have made special arrangements whereby they can have The Weekly Globe for the year 1904 on specially liberal terms.

The Globe, with its usual enterprise, has made arrangements with The London Times whereby it is able to publish simultaneously the reports sent direct from the scene of action. The Times, London, England, has established its reputation as being the greatest and most reliable news-gatherer in the world, and our readers can have the full benefit of its excellent staff of correspondents by reading The Daily or The Weekly Globe.

The Globe has the exclusive control of this service in Canada, and these reports will not appear in their original form in any other Canadian publication.

A summarized report with every item of interest will be specially written for The Weekly Globe, enabling readers to gain a thorough knowledge of the situation without the trouble of reading columns of contradictory and confusing reports.

The Weekly Globe, with its illustrated section, and many interesting features, is now one of the cleanest and brightest newspapers in America, and we are pleased to be able to announce that the arrangement just completed will enable subscribers to secure it for this year at a special rate.

LICENSE LAW ENFORCEMENT.

A discussion took place in the Legislature on Monday which showed two or three things. It emphasized the extremely difficult character of the work of enforcing the license law, admittedly, more difficult of application than any other law; it showed that the License Department and the Government are determined to deal promptly and effectively with officials who by neglect of duty defeat the desire of the department to procure strict enforcement of the law. In the third place it showed that those who are first to criticise the Government for alleged neglect to enforce the law are most prompt to blame the Government for taking action to remove inefficient officials, are most ready to court the friendship of such officials by becoming their champions and enrolling them in the ranks of martyrs.

Mr Downing, of South Wellington, by motion for papers, brought up the case of Mr. Cowan, of Guelph who had after eighteen years' service been dismissed from the office of License Inspector. Hon. Mr. Stratton explained that there had been complaints of the inefficient enforcement of the law. Investigation showed that these complaints were justified and Hon Mr. Stratton's words in the House may be quoted from the report to show the stand he assumes:—

"The department takes this strong position," said Mr. Stratton emphatically, "that Mr. Cowan was an inefficient inspector, and that his administration was lax—my hon. friend does not deny it—and as soon as I was satisfied that this was the case I decided on Mr. Cowan's removal, just as I will do whenever it is shown that any inspector in the Province is not carrying out his duties."

Mr. Matheson — Without a written report?

Hon. Mr. Stratton — I have explained why there was no written report in this case. I desire that this House and the country should know that, so far as the department is concerned, whenever it is shown that the license law is not being properly enforced, the inspector will be removed, and removed immediately. We have carried out that decision ever since I have had charge of the license branch.

Hon. Attorney-General Gibson explained that license inspectors held office subject to removal without investigation, and they had been distinctly informed by the Government to that effect. "No license inspector," added Mr. Gibson, "has the right to set up the plea of hardship, or pose as a martyr, through the medium of members of the House," who for political effect and with a hope of embarrassing the Government, set up as a martyr to Government tyranny, an inspector, whom as a class, under other circumstances, the Opposition denounce, and in denouncing, demand their heads.

The Opposition in the House complain of non-enforcement of the law and blame the Government. When, to secure adequate enforcement of the law, the Government acts promptly, the Opposition blames the Government all the same, so that it comes to this, the fable of the wolf and the lamb is repeated—the Government is to blame, no matter how well it does. From the Opposition point of view, the Government might as well neglect as procure the enforcement of the license law. They will get just as much blame—not credit in any event—in one case as the other. The Opposition have a touching solicitude for the temperance cause when they think they can injure the Government, and just as much indifference to the temperance cause when such an attitude can be made to embarrass the Government.

RUSSIA'S LAND ROUTE TO THE SEAT OF WAR.

Without the command of the sea, Russia will be compelled to transport its troops, munitions and supplies nearly six thousand miles overland to the theatre of the war. How is it equipped for this great feat? Can Russia fight efficiently at such long ranges against a power that has its base for supplies and recruiting within a few hours' journey?

For such an emergency the Trans-Siberian Railway and its branch line, the Eastern Chinese Railway, were built. No less than $500,000,000 of borrowed money was spent by Russia on this great enterprise. It connects St. Petersburg and Port Arthur by a band of steel, which reaches northward to Vladivostock, and is being pushed southward to Pekin. This sounds formidable for the Japanese, but it is not necessarily so. Much depends upon the character of the roadbed, the strength of the rails, and the nature of the equipment.

The Trans-Siberian Railway is neither a very good nor a very poor railway. Some of the sections are well built and some are inferior. It is a drawback that the railway has a five-foot guage and therefore cannot be operated by trains of the standard guage. The rails are much too light for heavy traffic, such as is inevitable in war. From forty-two to forty-eight pounds per yard is the average weight of the steel; thus they have about half the strength of the rails now generally used. Besides being light the rails are soft, and sometimes will bend between two sleepers. Such rails do not recover their elasticity and remain bent. It is said on one curve that a certain rail is crushed every time the express passes, the buckling of the web rendering it useless, and it has to be replaced with a new rail each time it is used by the express. This is an extreme case, and may not be characteristic, but it is always the weakest link that determines the fate of a chain.

AN INFERIOR ROADBED

Not less important to the successful operation of the railway is the roadbed. There was much robbery in the construction of the Siberian railway. One contractor made his embankment of snow, instead of earth, so that when the thaw came the track subsided four feet throughout this whole section. Everything was done in a primitive way. Cuts were made wide enough only for the trains to pass, so that rains washed the soil down on the tracks. Embankments were made so narrow as to afford the minimum of support to the rails. Instead of using excavating machinery provided for modern railway building, the Russians employed hand labour. Hence the soil obtained from cuttings is merely piled up near the track, instead of being utilized further on for embankments. The railway winds like a serpent to avoid obstacles that good engineers would easily have surmounted. It is more like a colonization road than a trunk line. Accidents are very frequent and cause long delays.

SLOW TRAINS ONLY.

From St. Petersburg to Vladivostock is 5,700 miles. To cover that distance in fourteen days is a great achievement. But it is a fast train on the trans-Siberian line that can travel twenty miles an hour. The express going at that rate is a very short train, for which all the passengers are booked a week ahead. The ordinary heavy passenger and mixed trains seldom make more than twelve miles an hour. Much slower are the freight trains, which "rumble along like traction engines on a country road." The weight of these trains often brings down earth from the narrow cuttings or causes subsidences in the tracks. Then ensue accidents which delay the express trains. Water is not well distributed. In some places it is pumped a half mile or more to the tanks, and in others reserve supplies have to be carried on the trains. Assuming that no accidents occur, and that heavy trains could make 240 miles a day, a liberal estimate, it will take Russia 23 or 24 days to transport a train from St. Petersburg to Port Arthur.

LAKE BAIKAL INTERVENES.

Lake Baikal, an inland sea, four hundred miles in length, cuts the great highway in two. This is one of the weak points of the system. Two ice crushing vessels are used to bridge the lake, which necessitates a voyage in fine weather of about five hours. In winter the boats cannot sometimes keep navigation open. The distance is then covered by sleighs over the ice. At present that is the only means of communication. It is proposed however to lay tracks over the ice to permit of more rapid traffic. The lake is traversed about seventy-five miles from its southern end. The intention is eventually to build the railway around but as the country is very hilly and formidable, that part of the undertaking has been delayed. The Circum-Baikal Railway to connect the severed system, will be only 180 miles in length, but it will require many large bridges and seven tunnels, of which the longest will be over two miles. Several years must elapse before this can be accomplished. Lake Baikal, therefore, presents a great obstacle to the operation of a largely increased traffic on the Trans-Siberian Railway.

The extent of Russia's dependence on this highway cannot easily be estimated. To keep the present army efficiently in the field in Manchuria will necessitate an immense traffic. The transportation of food for men and horses, of weapons and ammunition, formerly effected by water, will enormously increase the demands on the railway. Besides this, the transportation of reinforcements must be provided for. Thus the railway must maintain a greater degree of efficiency than has yet been possible. At the same time, passing in Manchuria through a country largely hostile, it must be defended at every point. This alone will require an immense army. Russia has not solved the military problem in Asia by its railway. It has probably only increased its difficulties. The sea is the seat of power.

LIPTON'S TEA.

Liptons have begun an extensive advertising campaign in Canada, and already a surprising increase in the consumption of their tea is reported. While Lipton is a firm believer in newspaper advertising he is also a firm believer in giving the public a pure article. The tea reaches the consumer absolutely without adulteration, and the blending and packing is performed in the most scientific and approved manner.

In Great Britain Lipton's teas are used more largely than any other, they having a record of over 53,000,000 packages per annum. This certainly speaks for the purity and quality of the teas that are known throughout the civilized world. Every lover of good tea should try a package of Lipton's. The delight to be extracted will be a revelation.

THE PRESS AND THE POLICE.

Talking of the trouble between the Hamilton press and the police of that city the Brantford Courier says:—

"There's trouble in Hamilton between the papers and the police.

"On behalf of the latter it is claimed that their work has been injured and justice thwarted because of the publication of certain items of news regarding criminal events, and for this reason it has been decided to establish a censorship with regard to what shall and what shall not be given to reporters.

the ambitious city get euchered out of news by any such plan as that they deserve to be classed with Hamilton bobbies.

"Meanwhile the fact remains that no good police force is ever afraid of the newspapers, and when you find one that is, a pretty safe conclusion may be drawn.

"As a matter of fact, the press is a great deterrent of crime. Many men do not care a fig about being brought before a police magistrate, but what does bother them is to see their names in the papers afterwards.

Tendency of the Times

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip,) and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it si announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by all druggists.

JAMES KENDRY M. P., MAKES A CHANGE.

Resigns Management of Canada Woollen Mills

According to a Toronto Desdatch Will Return to Peterborough Shortly.

Toronto, Feb 18.—An important change will soon take place in one of the largest industries of the Dominion when James Kendry, M.P., will sign the management of the Canada Woollen Mills Company and return to the management of the Auburn Woollen Mills, Peterborough, which he is interested. The facts of the change in the head of the Woollen Mills Company were given to The Star this morning by one of the heads of the company.

When Mr. Kendry left Peterborough to take charge of the Canada Woollen Mills properties, he appointed a manager to take his place as manger of the Auburn Mills, being the largest shareholder in the mills. The directors of the Peterborough mill have not been satisfied with the results since Mr. Kendry left, and they have insisted upon his giving his whole attention to the Auburn mill. Mr. Kendry will remain with the Canada Woollen Mills Company as manager until the new head takes charge.

He will remain long enough to post his successor, who will be Mr. Charles Moore, for many years a successful wool manager, and for the past four years in charge of the Excelsior Mills at Montreal. Mr. Moore will take charge of the mills on Monday, the 22nd of February. He is a young man, just about forty, but he commenced as a lad of 12, working his way up the ladder till he has reached the top. The financial headquarters of the Canada Woollen Mills Company is in Hespeler, and Mr. Moore will make his residence there. He will arrive in Toronto on Friday morning, and will visit Mr. R. Millichamp, 108 Wellington street, west.

The above despatch is much along the same lines as one printed in the Examiner at the beginning of the week, but which could not be announced as official. Inquiry at the Auburn Mills resulted in an answer that nothing was known there regarding Mr. Kendry's reported move.

AN EMILY RESIDENT CALLED BY DEATH.

Sad Demise of Mr. Isaiah Thornton this Morning.

The news of the death of Mr. Isaiah Thornton, of Emily township, will come as a severe blow to many in Peterborough, he being well known and highly respected in town. His sad demise occurred at his residence, lot 9, concession 3, Emily, at an early hour this morning, the cause being typhoid pneumonia.

The late Mr. Thornton was 57 years of age and leaves to mourn his death a bereaved wife, one son, Percy, who is attending Varsity at Toronto, and one daughter, Mrs. Sandy, Emily. He was a consistent elder of the Presbyterian church, and was Liberal in politics. In civil life generally he was well known and highly respected by a large circle of friends, both in country and town.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, from the family residence, lot 9, concession 3, Emily, to the Emily Cemetery.

A LABOUR MINISTRY?

Curious Plans of the Socialist Party in New South Wales.

London, Feb. 16.—The London Globe's correspondent at Sydney, Australia, says the Labourites are indulging in big talk respecting what they intend doing, and the possibility of forming a Labour Ministry. On the subject of preferential trade, the labour party both in the State of New South Wales and the Commonwealth are hopelessly divided, the Socialist section being anxious to prohibit the importation of manufactured goods, whether of British origin or otherwise.

A MONTH ON TRIAL.

I will absolutely stand all the cost if it fails. If you say, "It did not help me," that ends it as far as cost to you is concerned. Do you understand me? I am telling it as plainly, as clearly as I can. I want you to know absolutely and without doubt that this offer is made on honour. I have the prescription that cures. My only problem is to convince you that Dr. Shoop's Restorative will cure—is an uncommon remedy. A common remedy could not stand a test like this. It would bankrupt the physician making the offer. And I am succeeding everywhere, and here is the secret of my success. I found invariably that where there was a weakness the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality, the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found, I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of, but the vital organs' nerves. The inside—the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation. Then my real success began. Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves. That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Thousands are accepting my offer and only one in each forty writes me that my remedy failed. Just think of it. 39 out of 40 get well and these are difficult cases too. And the fortieth has nothing to pay. That is a record I am proud of. It is wrong to stay sick when a chance like this is open. If well, you should tell others who are sick, of my offer. Don't let a sick friend stay sick because he knows not of my offer. Tell him. Get my book for him. Do your duty. You may be sick yourself, sometime. Sick people need help. They appreciate sympathy and aid. Tell me of some sick friend. Let me cure him. Then he will show to both of us his gratitude. Your reward will be his gratitude. Send for the book now.

A HAVELOCK MAN AND LEAP YEAR PROPOSALS

Received Touching Offer From a Would-be Bride.

A Live Letter of News from the Railroad Village Fast Hockey Match.

Havelock, Feb. 16.

Mrs. Webster, of London, and Mrs. W. J. McNab, of Winnipeg, mother and sister of Mr. Wm. Webster, spent a few days at his home here last week.

On Friday last the local hockey team met the Cordova seven in a game on the town rink, the Havelock boys winning by a score of 5—1. The line-up was as follows:—

Havelock—Goal, W. Rose; point, J. Coverdale; cover point, W. Alger; forwards, P. Ford, L. Ferguson, A. Ford and N. Stibbs.

Cordova—Goal, J. Post; point, Rev. T. Wardwill; cover point, H. Sample; forwards, P. Vanalstyne, Wm. Elliott, Wes. Elliott, E. B. Clark.

Referee—A. E. Deanke, dentist.

The Elliott brothers were the stars for Cordova, also if all the shots had told that were stopped by Posts, the score would have been three or four times as large. Ferguson and the Ford brothers were the local stars, while Alger and Covernton played well in their positions.

Mr. O. Mollet had the misfortune to give his ankle a very bad sprain Tuesday morning.

The snow plow has been working in the yard and out on the line nearly all the time in addition to about one hundred and fifty Italians shoveling onto flat cars which are being drawn out of town and dumped.

The following is a leap year proposal which a young gentleman has received and with his kind permission he has let us print it, so as to show the girls how to do the thing nicely:—

——, February 10th, '04

My Dearest Friend,

This is leap year and the girls have a chance to ask the boys to marry them and if they refuse they are supposed to buy the girl a silk dress, but I will let you off with a silk waist so long as it is a white one and if ready made it must be size 34 and if it is the makings of one there must be 4 yds. Now dear friend I love you as I never can love any other fellow and without you life would not be worth living. Your dear face is ever before me whether waking or sleeping. I can make lovely hot biscuit and pies and cook meat and potatoes and vegitables and make bed and wash and mend to perfection and I am not at all extravagant so you see I would be quite a handy little house wife and, if you take me you will do well. I am rather good looking as you see by my photo and if you refuse me—but there I cannot bear to think of such a thing for five minutes and O please read this proposal through carefully and if you dont love me now you will learn to by and by. love is sure to come after marriage it always does. O precious one I am in such tortue for fear you should not marry me that I can scarcely write but do think over what I am offering you my hand and my heart with both just full to overflowing with love if you find it too difficult to write a long letter when ans. this please just write the one little word yes and that will do and then I will know you mean yes.

O my love I must close now and I will try and controal my feelings till I hear from you but ans. right away and let me know what my fate is to be is it life or death for life without you would be death. I remain yours till the last bell rings your affectionate and ever loving

FIVE OUT OF EIGHT

Results of the Dominion Bye-Elections on Tuesday.

THE LIBERALS LOSE ST. JOHN

Four Liberal Members Returned in the Province of Quebec—Mr. Gervais Made a Splendid Run in St. James Division of Montreal—East Bruce and East Lambton Remain Conservative—Returns.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—The eight Dominion bye-elections held yesterday resulted very much as had been anticipated, save in the case of St. John, where a Conservative replaces Hon. Mr. Blair, who resigned to take the Chairmanship of the Railway Commission. The change in the vote since 1900 is very large, Mr Blair obtaining a majority of 997 over Hon. Geo. E. Foster. The Globe's St. John correspondent says there was apathy in the Liberal ranks, and defection, or at least coldness, on the part of the Liberal press.

In the four Quebec contests Liberals won by excellent majorities. Sir Wilfrid is still irresistible in his native Province. The result there is a distinct setback to the adequate protection campaign and Mr. Prefontaine is of opinion that it marks the end of Mr Tarte's short-lived leadership of the Quebec Conservatives.

In East Bruce and East Lambton Conservatives were elected by increased majorities to succeed the former Conservative members. The cry that Mr. Jenkins wanted to reduce the crude oil duties quite evidently influenced the result in East Lambton.

Queen's West, Prince Edward Island, is still strongly Liberal, and affords little comfort to the believers in a Conservative reaction.

East Lambton Conservative.

Petrolea, Feb. 17.—While the returns are far from complete, yet sufficient is known to indicate that Mr. J. E. Armstrong, the Conservative candidate in East Lambton, has been elected by double the majority received by Mr. Oliver Simmons, the late deceased member. Though Mr. Jenkins, the Liberal candidate, was considered by his friends to be a winning candidate he was handicapped by reason of a local dispute over the crude oil tariff. It is thought that when full returns are in Mr. Armstrong's majority will be in the vicinity of 500, as against 221 for Mr. Simmons in 1900.

Result in Bruce.

Walkerton, Feb. 17.—The bye-election for East Bruce, held yesterday, was something of a surprise. Judging from the closeness at the general election, when Mr. Cargill, the late member, was returned by a majority of 43, it was expected that Mr. Robb, the Liberal candidate, would be able to overcome this and place the riding in the Reform ranks, although it was never seriously expected that his majority would be a large one. Several places have yet to be heard from, but so far as known the Conservative candidate has a majority approximating 200. Various causes might be given for Mr. Robb's defeat, but the presence in the riding during the last couple of weeks of a whole army of platform speakers and others had its effect on those whose political affiliations are not very pronounced

Victories in Quebec.

Montreal, Feb. 17.—Yesterday was a bitterly cold day for Mr. Tarte and the Conservative party in the Province of Quebec. The thermometer registered several degrees below zero, a nipping gale blew steadily from the northwest, and, to make the day altogether disagreeable, the four "protectionist" candidates went down to defeat. The blow in St. James' division of Montreal and in Hochelaga is particularly telling, for there the Conservative organizers and stumpers waged the most strenuous battle known in recent years

St. James.

Gervais	3,211
Bergeron	2,575

Liberal majority, 636.

In 1902 Brunet got 2,899, and Bergeron 2,252.

Hochelaga.

Rivet	4,105
Bernard	3,804

Liberal majority, 301.

In 1900 Madore (Liberal) got 4,093, and Lachapelle (Conservative) 3,458.

Mr. Armond Lavergne was returned by 200 majority.

Dr. Blanchet, Liberal, elected by 195 majority. St. Hyacinthe City gave 500 Liberal majority, but all the outside places went Conservative. St. Barnabas gave Tache 7; St. Danafe 14; St. Julien 1; St. Denis 323; St. Charles 17.

West Queen's P.E.I.

Halifax, Feb. 17.—Despite the desperate exertions by the Conservatives, who fought as they never fought before to capture Sir Louis Davies' old constituency, on behalf of A. A. McLean throughout the district of West Queen's, P.E.I., Horace Hazzard, the Liberal candidate, was elected by a majority, when all returns are in, of nearly three hundred.

St. John Goes Conservative.

St. John, Feb. 17.—Dr. J. W. Daniel (Conservative) was elected yesterday over Hon. H. A. McKeown by a majority of three hundred and one. The total vote cast was about one thousand less than in the general election of 1900.

A SAD CHAPTER OF MANY ACCIDENTS.

One of Which Unfortunately Ends Fatally—Father and Son Frozen.

While driving from McDonald's lumber camp, back of Buckhorn, to town yesterday, Mr. Peter Kelly and his son, John, of Trenton, were badly frozen. The younger man got both his hands very badly frozen, while one of the father's feet suffered somewhat. While driving they did not feel the effects of the frost but on reaching town were immediately conveyed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where they are now being cared for. Both are progressing fairly well.

KILLED BY A LOG.

Mr. John Robinson, fifth ward, who was injured a fortnight back at a lumber camp at Burleigh by a log falling upon him, died at the home of a relative where he was taken after the accident. The corpse has been on the road since Monday on which day friends started for Peterborough with it. He leaves a wife and a two-year-old child. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

BROKE HIS WRIST.

Yesterday Mr. Beattie of the Collegiate Institute staff, while walking, slipped and fell on the icy sidewalk, breaking his wrist by the fall.

VERY SAD DEATH OF A HALF-CENTURY RESIDENT

Demise of Mrs. Thomas Theobald at 12 Albert Street Yesterday.

In the death of Mrs. Thomas Theobald which occurred yesterday Peterborough loses a resident of almost half a century and one who, during her life time, has become well known and greatly beloved. The late Mrs. Theobald was born in Castlecomer, Kilkenny, Ireland, in the year 1833 and consequently was aged 71 years at the time of her death. She was married in 1851 and predeceases her husband. Together they emigrated to Canada in 1857, settling in Peterborough where they have resided since, of late on Albert street.

Fifteen days ago the deceased contracted a cold which developed into a severe attack of bronchitis from which she never recovered. There are surviving her seven children, four sons, John, Charles, Thomas and Edward, and three daughters, Mrs. Jas. Finn, Mrs. Michael Welsh, and Miss Amy, all of whom reside in Peterborough.

The funeral will take place on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence, 12 Albert street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery for interment.

EKO CAMP HONOURED DEPARTING MEMBER.

Mr. R. H. Henderson Leaving Shortly for the West.

Where He Has Obtained a Good Position Presented with Gold Locket and Address.

A very pleasant hour was spent in the Eko Camp Rooms, Hunter street, last night when the members gathered together to say good-bye and Godspeed to Mr. R. H. Henderson, a fellow member, who is leaving Peterborough for the West, where he has obtained a lucrative position. Mr. Henderson was the recipient of a gold locket, suitably engraved and accompanied with an address which ran as follows:—

Mr. Robert Henderson,—

Dear Bob,—The members of Eko camp have learned with regret of your intention of shortly leaving Peterborough. We regret very much your going away as you have always been an enthusiast for the success of the Club, an exceedingly pleasant companion and our gatherings have never been complete unless you were present. We have always found you up and up in every way and no member who has left town will be more missed than yourself.

We ask you to accept this little gift which we hope will serve to draw to your memory the many happy times the members of Eko have spent together during your residence in Peterborough.

Our very best wishes are for your future success in your new home.

FRED A. CLARKE, W. COMSTOCK, J. M. WATT, J. COMSTOCK, J. P. GILLESPIE, JOS GIBSON, M. COMSTOCK, R. P. WATT, (Sec'y-Treas.) W. A. SMITH, R. M. GLOVER, W. R. G. HIGGINS (Pres.), R. COTTRELL, R. MATCHETT, J. M. GEMMELL, R. COTTRELL, G. M. JACKSON, R. H. ELLIOTT, W. CAVANAH.

In reply Mr. Henderson sincerely thanked his friends for their, what he deemed, unwarranted kindness to him before leaving town. He dwelt at some length on the good times he had spent with the other members of the camp and in conclusion said that having to sever his connection with the Eko boys was a hard thing to do.

Mr. Henderson for the past two years has been in the employ of Mr. F. A. Clarke, furrier, and was a colour-sergeant in No. 8 Company of the 57th Regiment, in which organization he will leave a gap which it is felt will be hard to fill. Amongst the younger generation of the town he was very popular and will undoubtedly be missed. Mr. Henderson leaves shortly for the West.

THE LADDER SLIPPED AND PAINTER FELL,

But was not Very Badly Hurt and Walked Home Unaided.

At the Canadian General Electric Works this morning Herbert Harris, a painter, with brush and pail in hand, fell heavily from a ladder to the ground beneath, a distance of over 10 feet, sustaining some injury to his back. Harris was working on the new C.G.E. buildings and was mounting a ladder when it slipped. At first it was thought the man was seriously injured and three doctors were called. Two were out but Dr. McCullough attended the injured man. After a short rest Harris was able to walk home. He is an unmarried man living at 32 Albert street.

THE WEATHER MILDER AND TRAINS BETTER,

Passenger Service Good Under the Prevalent Conditions.

To-day was considerably milder than yesterday, and the railways succeeded in getting some trains through though not on scheduled time. Yesterday the extreme cold prevented the engines from steaming well, but none of that trouble was experienced to-day. The lines were however very slow, and all trains experienced great difficulties. No freights at all were run and the passenger trains were from one to two hours late. Under the conditions the railways did more than was expected of them.

ASH WEDNESDAY DULY OBSERVED.

By the Local Anglican Church The Lenten Services.

Yesterday, Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, was duly observed in the Anglican churches of town yesterday, and services were held in St, John's and St. Luke's churches, as follows:

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

Eight o'clock service was celebrated at St. John's church, last night, and the rector preached. There was a fair attendance. Mr. Davidson gave an introductory address to the general subject, "Present Day Call to Churchmen." He pointed out briefly and concisely the changes to come in the different departments of life.

ALL SAINT'S CHURCH.

There was no service at All Saints' church last night but the management are making arrangements with a district clergyman to conduct the service next Wednesday evening.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

Acting-Rector Rev. W. H. Holah, L.S.D., conducted the services at St. Luke's church, last night, which was well attended despite the weather. Rev. Mr. Holah preached from Joel ii, verse 12, "Therefore also now saith the Lord, Turn ye, even to me, with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning."

Rev. George Ross Beamish, M. A., of St. Thomas church, Belleville, will conduct the special service on next Wednesday evening.

HIGH SECRETARY OF FORESTERS DEAD.

Mr. Thomas White, of C. O. F. Died in Brantford on Tuesday.

Was Well Known by the Hundreds of Foresters in Peterborough — A Successful Fraternity Man.

Local members of the Canadian Order of Foresters will learn with sincere regret that the High Secretary of that Order, Mr. Thomas White, died on Tuesday at Brantford. The late Mr. White was quite well known to the seven or eight hundred members of the order in Peterborough, as he has frequently visited this town in his official capacity. The deceased had suffered for some years with white swelling at the knee. The disease was not of a serious character in the early stages, but it grew worse and became more painful. As a final resort it was decided that it would be well for the patient to have his leg amputated above the knee and thus prevent the further spread of the disease. This was done some months ago, and Mr. White seemed to be progressing favourably. He returned to his home from the hospital and was just preparing to again engage actively in his work when the disease reappeared and it became necessary that another amputation be made. The patient was removed to the hospital, and the operation was performed. Mr. White, however, was unable to withstand the shock, and succumbed Tuesday night. Had the operation not been performed the disease would have proved fatal in the course of a very short time.

The late Mr. White was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, on October 19, 1844, and in company with his parents came to this country in 1857, settling in Warwick township. He attended the public school at Kelvin Grove, and later graduated from the Sarnia High School to the Normal College, Toronto. As a teacher he was a great success, and rapidly rose to the principalship of the Watford public school, filling that position when Premier Ross was in Strathroy. An acquaintance grew between the two and they became fast friends. In March, 1872, he married Miss Jane Dunlop, of Warwick, Ont.

But it is perhaps within the Canadian Order of Foresters that Mr. White met with his most signal successes. In 1885 he commenced work for the Order, in 1886 was elected High Court auditor and in the year following became High Secretary, removing to Brantford. Each succeeding year he was honoured by the Order by being re-elected by acclamation. When Mr. White first assumed the arduous and responsible duties of High Secretary the Order was not in the same flourishing condition that it is in at the present time, a condition which is largely due to the untiring efforts, zeal, honesty, integrity and uprightness of the late high secretary. In the year 1887 the Order had a membership of less than 8000 and a surplus of about $30,000. To-day it has a membership of 55,000, with a surplus of over a million and a half. It can be readily seen that this rapid growth called for much care, business management and acumen. The members of the Order throughout the Dominion will deeply mourn his demise.

The late Mr. White is survived by a wife and six children. The funeral took place this afternoon.

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT

NAPANEE AND PICTON TO BREAK THE TIE.

The Championship of District No. 1, T. V. L. to be Decided To-night.

Many dates have been set for the breaking of the Picton-Napanee tie in the Trent Valley League, but the attempts have one and all proved failures, either by their being no rink available or some other important reason. Now, however, the game has been set down for to-night, and will be played in Belleville. The winner will carry off the championship of District No. 1, of the T.V.L., and in all probability will play Cobourg on Monday night next. To-night's game has been hanging fire for so long that excitement has risen to fever heat. Both teams are fairly evenly matched, and a fast and hard game is expected to take place.

THE WARKWORTH CLUB'S PROTEST HAS CARRIED.

Lodged Against Campbellford Winner Plays T. A. S.

The protest lodged by Warkworth against Campbellford has been considered by the Trent Valley Executive, and it has been decided that the Warkworth protest was proven. The executive has ordered, in compliance with this decision, the match to be played over again at Keene on Monday night next, in the meantime notifying Campbellford that they must rectify immediately any irregularities regarding the registration of their players, and to comply with the rules of the league in any and every particular. The winners of this match will play the first of the home and home games with the T.A.S. on Wednesday night at Peterborough. That is to say that the next Trent Valley League Match in Peterborough will be played on Wednesday between the T.A.S. and the winners of the Warkworth-Campbellford match.

BELLEVILLE CLAIM THEY ARE MARTYRS

For Not Protesting "Chris" But the Globe Does Not Think So.

The Globe says: "The Belleville Intelligencer says that Belleville deserved some consideration from Peterborough for refraining from pointing out that in the first game between the two teams Peterborough had on an ineligible player who had already played in another league this season. The player referred to is Chris. Graham but he was eligible as he had not played in another club. Cornwall and several other clubs play in the O.H.A. and in other leagues. A player cannot play for another club but he can play for his own club in other leagues than the O.H.A."

Decidedly Depeer Cuts To Rush GOUGH BROS' "Good-Bye" Sale

There's no alternative. We would rather suffer a loss before March than afterwards. Skim the cream while it is thickest. Save money while you may.

This is the Biggest, Broadest, Boldest, Unloading Movement of the year. It's not like any ordinary winter sale—it's winding up a business,—just pulling up stakes and leaving the tent behind for good luck to those who follow.

That's why Lower Still Go the Prices. That's why Boots and Shoes get the knife deepest. That's why all Odd Suits, Overcoats, Trousers and Fur Coats never were so lowly marked. You'll never have a better chance.

The Sale, thus far, has gone beyond our calculations —notwithstanding the blocked roads and intense cold—and this makes us all the more anxions to boom things now. We give the people a wide open invitation to come and see.

P. S.—All Outstanding Accounts not Settled before March 15th will be placed in our Solicitor's Hands for Collection.

HAMILTON HOCKEYISTS ARE NOT COMING.

Local Ladies Efforts to Arrange a Game Prove Futile.

The lady hockeyists of Hamilton are not coming to try conclusions with their fellow organization in Peterborough, owing to the long distance between the two towns. The local team has been energetically trying to get some team to play here and finally after many efforts it was all but arranged that the Hamilton girls would come. News yesterday, however, was to the effect that the westerners deemed the journey too long and now the Petes. have written to the Alexanders of Toronto, who will probably accede to their wishes and give a game.

HIGHER PRICES FOR MAKING CHEESE.

Makers Find Present Price too Low in View of Other Expenses.

A large and representative gather- of cheese factory owners and makers was held on Saturday last in the Ontario Bank Chambers, when the question of raising the price for the manufacturing of cheese was discussed. For the past few years the price paid to owners and makers for manufacturing has been too small, with the increased cost of material and supplies incidental to the making of the product, including fuel, cotton, etc., as well as wages. It was pointed out that the prices for all farm products such as cheese, butter, grain and meats, have very largely increased in recent years, while that paid for cheese manufacturing has remained stationary, and wood which is largely used for fuel in the factories, has nearly doubled, while wages are more than twice those formerly paid. The price of cotton has advanced one cent per yard, while cheese boxes are 6 cents each in advance of the former price. The drawing of the milk is another item which is largely increased in cost. Each of these increases have to be paid by the maker out of the price received from the patrons, and for these reasons the factory owners have been forced to raise the price of making 1-4 cent per pound.

TAX ANOMALIES.

Second Reading of the New Assessment Bill Removing Them—Evolution of Taxation—The Budget Debate.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—In moving the second reading of the bill "Respecting municipal taxation," which is the outcome of the investigation by the Royal Commission and the subsequent non-partisan and business-like labors of the select committee appointed by the House for the purpose, Attorney-General Gibson delivered a most interesting speech in the Legislature yesterday. By way of preliminary, he drew attention to the evolution of the principles of assessment since 1793, when, in the second session of the legislative history of the Province, a bill was passed for the levying of rates for the destruction of wolves and bears, the erection of jails, and the payment of wages of members of the House of Assembly, said payment being collected direct from the people by the justices of the peace. The Attorney-General explained the principal features of the new measure rendered necessary by the demand for a modification of certain "anomalies and archaic features" of the present law, and suggested a few further changes that it might be found desirable to make when the bill again came before the committee. He pointed out that the taxation of railways had not been amended in the bill, but announced that the Premier would shortly introduce a measure providing for a "more than ordinary increase" in the amount derived from these corporations.

Mr. J. S. Hendrie of Hamilton resumed the debate on the budget, and Mr. S. Russell of East Hastings spoke at the evening session. Mr. E. A. Dunlop of North Renfrew, who moved the adjournment at 9.40 p. m., will speak to-day, and will be followed by Mr H. J. Pettypiece of East Lambton.

Premier Ross gave notice of the following motion: "That in the opinion of this House the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway is entitled to the usual subsidy granted by the Dominion of Canada, and that this House respectfully memorialize the Dominion Government to deal with the said railway as in the case of ordinary railway companies."

TERRORS ENOUGH OF ITS OWN

Indigestion Neglected Leads to Terrible Results—What a Combined Treatment of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and Dodd's Kidney Pills does in Extreme Cases.

While Indigestion and Dyspepsia weaken the body and make it unfit to fight such diseases as la grippe, etc., they carry terrors enough of their own to cause anyone suffering from the first symptoms to fly to the one recognized and never failing cure Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Listen to the experience of Mrs. James Bradley, of Smith's Cove, Digby Co., N.S.:

"I had Dyspepsia for nine years," says Mrs. Bradley. "I tried the best doctors in this place and never got relief till just the present time.

"I had to starve myself from eating and had given up for ever having any help. No tongue can tell what I have suffered. I procured six boxes of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I have taken the most of them and I am thankful to say I can eat most anything and sleep comfortably which I never expected to do in this world. I advise all who suffer as I have done to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Keep the stomach right with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and the blood pure with Dodd's Kidney Pills and you lay a foundation of good health that means solid comfort.

Toronto Election Scandals.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—When Judge Winchester ascended his seat yesterday morning to resume the investigation into the civic election scandals, the name of Samuel Thompson was called, but in vain, for Thompson, who was deputy returning officer in sub-division 9, of Ward 4, had skipped his bail and disappeared. The most of the afternoon was taken up in endeavoring to find out all about him from his brothers and sister. The Judge ruled that no man would be permitted to refuse to answer questions on the ground that he feared to incriminate himself. It is said that Durance, Thompson's poll clerk, will turn King's evidence. Durance is said to have made a confession to his solicitors, who, it is said, have turned it over to the Crown Prosecutor.

"When hostilities were at last opened," declared Mr. Kurino, "it was directly due to the action of Admiral Alexieff. By his ostentatious preparations for war he rendered war inevitable."

Mr. Kurino affirmed that the Viceroy never delivered the last note to the Japanese Government. Mr. Kurino said he had not the slightest information as to what the note contained.

Pay at Home With Notes.

Berlin, Feb. 17.—The issue of $25,000,000 in Russian notes, announced from St. Petersburg yesterday, caused all Russian securities to weaken on the Bourse. An impression among the bankers is that Russian designs to pay abroad with gold, and at home with notes. The belief is that Russia naturally will seek loans here and Paris within a couple of months especially if she has a success on land.

THE ROOT AND THE FRUIT

Bu-Ju is not a remedy for symptoms. It is a cure for disease. Disordered Kidneys will produce many troubles, among which may be mentioned Rheumatism. Sick kidneys cannot properly perform their functions; hence the system is flooded with uric acid and rheumatism in its various forms is the result. Bu-Ju cures rheumatism, because it cures the cause of rheumatism, Disordered Kidneys; for same reason it cures dropsy, blood poison, weak heart, loss of ambition, sleeplessness, brain fag, failing memory irritable temper, sallow complexion, bad breath, lame back, and a hundred and one ailments that spring from disordered kidneys, which is the root of the evil. You may pluck the leaves of a rank weed, or cut its stem, but so long as you leave the root it bears new fruit and spreads until its extermination is almost impossible. If you are suffering from any of the above troubles you cannot afford to neglect them. Neglect means misery, for what joy is there in living without good health? Bu-Ju, the Kidney Pill, has restored thousands and it can do the same for you.

$150,000 FIRE IN BERLIN.

Felt Boot Company Factory Burned to the Ground.

Berlin, Feb. 17.—One of the most disastrous conflagrations in Berlin's history visited us last evening, when the large four-storey building of the Berlin Felt Boot Company, situated on the G.T.R., and one of the largest of the kind in the Dominion, was burned to the ground. Fire was discovered in the spinning and carding-room, first floor, about 6.45, and no time was lost in getting the brigade out, but very little could be done to save the structure. The fire raged for over two hours and a half. The Waterloo brigade arrived about 8, to render all assistance they could. Pieces of burning embers were carried for a mile. The loss will reach probably $150,000. The amount of insurance carried is said to be over $30,000. The industry employed about 200 hands, and was established about 30 years ago.

The Usual Cause Of Dyspepsia

And Indigestion is Constipation and Cure can Only Come when the Bowels, Liver and Kidneys are Regular and Active.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

Digestion is not confined to the stomach, for by far the most difficult part of the process of digestion takes place in the intestines and depends on the activity of the liver in supplying bile and the regularity of the kidney and bowels in removing the waste matter.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills bring prompt relief and cure for dyspepsia, indigestion and constipation, because they have a direct and combined action on the kidneys, liver and bowels, making these organs regular and active in their work of cleansing the system.

Instead of merely aiding digestion they have a beneficial action on the entire digestive system. They remove the cause of trouble and ensure the healthful functions of the various organs of digestion and excretion. The cures they bring about are thorough and lasting.

Mr. James H. Harvey, baker, 641 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled very much with constipation and pains in the back. At times the pains were sharp like a stab with a knife and caused me great suffering. I heard of many being cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and decided to try them. I am pleased to say that they soon helped me, and I used them right along until cured. I never have pains in my back now, and only occasionally take a pill in order to keep my bowels regular."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all druggists, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, Ont. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box of his remedies. 11

PORT ARTHUR IS IN DANGER

Russian Apprehensions Ends in Movement of Troops.

MOVING INTO NEWCHWANG

120,000 Troops Said to Be Already in Corea.

IN BATTLE ARRAY ALONG YALU

20,000 Russian Troops Said to Be at Pingyang in Central Corea—A Tokio Report Says There Has Been Another Fight and That One Russian Warship Was Damaged—Russian Squadron Now at Vladivostock.

London, Feb. 17.—According to a special despatch from Tokio, the Russian squadron has returned to Vladivostock.

The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Mail says in a despatch that two Russian warships appeared off Oki Island in the southern part of the Japanese Sea Sunday.

The correspondent at Chemulpo of The Daily Express makes the astonishing statement that Japan has already landed 120,000 troops in Corea, 80,000 of whom are extended along the fighting front south of the Yalu River.

The press attaches great significance to the departure of Viceroy Alexieff from Port Arthur, and comments upon the sudden throwing of Russian troops into Newchwang as indicating Russian apprehensions that Port Arthur is in danger, and that the Japanese attack may not after all be made where it is expected on the Yalu. All reports tend to confirm the impression that Russia has little or nothing to expect from sea operations.

According to a despatch to the Paris edition of The New York Herald, four hundred torpedoes, being two-thirds of Russia's entire available supply of these articles, were destroyed on board the Variag at Chemulpo.

20,000 in Central Corea.

The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Chronicle cables that it is said officially that several thousand Russian troops have reached Antung, and it is rumored that 20,000 Russian troops have arrived at Pingyang on the Tatong River, in Central Corea.

The Chronicle, however, regards this rumor as quite improbable, unless the invasion of Corea preceded the outbreak of hostilities.

Another Fight.

Tokio, Feb. 17.—A report has reached here that the Japanese torpedo fleet re-attacked the Russian fleet at Port Arthur, Feb. 14, and it is thought that one Russian warship was damaged.

Russians Lose Two More.

London, Feb. 17.—In a despatch dated Port Arthur, Feb. 13, a correspondent of The Times gives a description of seven Russian war ships which he says are lying disabled there. They include the battleships Sebastopol and Petropavlovsk, which have not been named in previous reports of the action. The correspondent says that altogether eleven Russian ships were put out of action at Port Arthur.

Continuing, he declares that the Japanese were driven from the neighborhood of Kinchau, near Newchwang, after a skirmish, in which 150 Japanese were taken prisoners and 70 Russians killed.

Heading For Port Arthur

Paris, Feb. 17.—Advices through the French Government channels confirm previous reports to the effect that the Japanese are preparing to make a landing west of the Liaotung peninsula, at or near the port of Newchwang.

Landing in the North.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 17.—A despatch from Port Arthur, dated Feb. 15, denies that the Japanese are landing at Chinwangtao. No Japanese have been seen on the Yalu River. The Japanese are landing provisions and munitions of war at Wonsan on the east coast of Corea and north of Seoul.

Had No Refugees With Her.

Port Arthur, Monday, Feb. 15.—The firing on the German cruiser Hansa by Japanese warships occurred while she was proceeding to Port Arthur to take away the German residents, and not when the latter were on board of her. The Hansa was not damaged. On her arrival at Port Arthur she took on board a number of wives of Russian sailors and left the port without further incident.

Japs Trap Three Russian Ships.

Russian Flag For Mikado

Tokio, Feb 17.—The flag of the Russian cruiser Variag, which will be presented to the Emperor as the first trophy of the war reached Sasebo Monday on the cruiser Chiyoga, together with the anchor, a gun and other souvenirs of the destroyed warship.

Alexieff Says Russians Will Win.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 17.—Viceroy Alexieff on Feb. 16 issued an order of the day admonishing the soldiers with regard to patriotic duty, and expressing his confidence in victory.

Leased to Great Britain.

Canadian Missionaries.

Scott, Secretary of State, received Monday evening the following cablegram from the British Consul at Seoul, in response to a message sent on behalf of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, requesting that measures be taken to ensure the safety of Canadian missionaries in Corea: Seoul, Feb. 14.—Hon. R. W. Scott, Secretary of State, Ottawa, Canada's telegraphic communication with Song Ching interrupted, but I sent message on 11th inst to Wonsan, to be forwarded overland, recommending that women and children at Sonchin and Hamheung should be sent to Wonsan.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—His Excellency the Governor-General has received a further telegram from the Right Hon. the Secretary for the Colonies, directing that the following additional rules be added to those already published touching the coaling of belligerent vessels of war in British ports:

1. During the continuation of hostilities no coal to be supplied to warships of either of the belligerent powers, except on a written authorization of the competent port authorities, specifying the amount of coal which may be supplied.

2. Before issuing any authorization for the supply of coal to any belligerent warship, the port authority shall obtain a written declaration, duly signed by the officer commanding such warship, of the destination to which it is proceeding and the amount of coal already on board.

Meanwhile the local option measure should be utilized.

The report called attention to the stationary condition of the membership, which only showed a net increase of three for the year. The condition is disheartening and discouraging, he said. The membership is now 8,016.

Japs Torpedo Two More Russian Warships at Port Arthur.

WAS ENGAGEMENT GENERAL?

Inference Is That Way As Port Arthur Reports That the Russian Volunteer Cruiser Kherson Was Struck By a Japanese Shell—Japanese Wounded Arrive in Japan at Che Foo—A Third Fight.

Wgshington, Feb. 18.—The Japanese Legation received yesterday from the Foreign Office at Tokio the following despatch, giving details of the torpedo attack at Port Arthur, on the morning of the 14th: "On the 13th of February, a detachment of torpedo boat destroyers proceeded, braving the fierce north storm, toward Port Arthur. At 3 o'clock the next morning, the Asargari, Japanese torpedo boat destroyer, amidst a shower of shells from the enemy's fort and ships, torpedoed a Russian man-of-war, and further firing on the enemy's guard boat, safely returned to its headquarters. The Hayatori, another Japanese torpedo boat destroyer, at 5 o'clock of the same morning, approached to the mouth of the port, where she found two of the enemy's men-of-war, and, in defiance of their firing immediately torpedoed one of them, with effective explosion and safely withdrew."

In a Heavy Storm.

Tokio, Feb. 18.—A heavy storm spared the Russians from a desperate torpedo attack at Port Arthur on the morning of Sunday, the 14th inst. During the preceding night the vessels of the Japanese flotilla of torpedo craft were parted by the force of the wind and waves in a blinding snowstorm, so that only two of the larger destroyers succeeded in forcing their way through the fierce gale to Port Arthur. When they arrived there they attacked separately, and the officers of one of them are confident that they succeeded in torpedoing a Russian warship.

The destroyer Asargiri, in charge of Lieutenant-Commander Ishikawa, arrived off Port Arthur about 3 o'clock in the morning and was met with a sharp fire from the fortress and Russian ships acting as scouts. The Asargiri discharged several torpedoes at a big warship, but the result is unknown.

A cannonade was opened upon the scouting vessels and maintained until they withdrew. The destroyer Heyatory, Lieutenant-Commander Oakenouchi, arrived two hours after the Asargiri and ran up close to the mouth of the harbor, where she found two warships, names unknown. She fired a torpedo at one and the torpedo exploded.

Admiral Togo, in reporting the attack, says, although the results are unknown, he feels sure the moral effect upon the enemy will be excellent. Commander Nagari commanded the entire torpedo flotilla. The number of the craft in the flotilla and the point of their departure are concealed.

Japan's Determined Purpose.

Kobe, Feb. 18.—On account of the darkness of the weather on Sunday, Feb. 14, the Japanese torpedo boats were alongside the Russian battleships before their presence was detected, and only then did they launch their torpedoes. Japan is determined to cripple effectually the Russian fleet, and nothing will be allowed to prevent the carrying out of this purpose.

Two Russian Warships Torpedoed.

London, Feb. 18.—A despatch to The St. James' Gazette from Kobe, Japan, in reporting the Japanese naval attack on Port Arthur, Feb. 14, says the Russian guardship in the harbor and another Russian warship lying outside the harbor were torpedoed, and that the Japanese retired without sustaining any injury.

Russian Volunteer Struck.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 18.—A despatch received here from Port Arthur, dated Feb. 17, says that in the action off that port of Feb. 14, the Russian volunteer fleet steamor Kherson was struck by a 12-inch shell in her upper works. A slight fire broke out, which was quickly extinguished. There was no loss of life.

Junks Bear Japanese Wounded.

Paris, Feb. 18.—The Che Foo correspondent of the Paris edition of The New York Herald, in a despatch in which he reports the arrival of junks bearing Japanese wounded from the Port Arthur engagement of Feb. 14, considers this to show that something more than a torpedo attack took place there.

Two Russian Battleships Destroyed.

London, Feb. 18.—The Tokio correspondent of The Standard reports that two Russian battleships were destroyed in this attack, while the correspondent at Tlon Tsin of the Standard says, under date of Feb. 12, that a private despatch from Port Arthur brings the statement that the Russian squadron has again put to sea.

Has There Been a Third Fight.

Sasebo, Japan, Feb. 18.—The opinions of Japanese naval officers here is that a third fight has occurred off Port Arthur, some of the Russian war vessels having been reported as leaving that place.

Nagasaki Harbor Mined.

London, Feb. 18.—Cabling from Shanghai, Feb. 17, a correspondent of The Daily Telegraph declares that a combined movement between a Japanese fleet and a large landing force from Nagasaki is now proceeding. The reports that the Japanese have captured the East Asiatic Company's steamer Manchuria, as well as the Siberian Railway's steamer Manchurin, are confirmed. The harbor of Nagasaki has been mined.

Shot By His Own Admiral.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 18.—The accidental blowing up of the Boyarin in Port Arthur harbor has had a dramatic sequel. Infuriated at what he considered the culpable negligence of the lieutenant in charge the admiral shot him dead by his own hand.

Cable Cut.

Che Foo, Feb. 18.—The Port Arthur-Che Foo cable was cut Tuesday.

Good-Bye, My Brothers

St. Petersburg, Feb. 18.—In the courtyard of the Winter Palace, the Czar yesterday reviewed the Third Battalion of the First Siberian Rifles, which is proceeding to the Far East. The battalion, accompanied by its baggage wagons, then marched past the Czar, who called out to the men as they went by: "Good-bye, my brothers."

Russians Leave Irkutsk.

London, Feb. 18.—A telegram has been received here from Irkutsk, Siberia, dated Feb. 17, saying that the first detachment of Russian troops has started from there for Port Arthur.

How China Helps Japan.

Shanghai, Feb. 18.—The Russian gunboat Mandjui, of 1,224 tons, for which two Japanese cruisers have been lying in wait, has been ordered by the Chinese officials to leave. Being unarmed, the Mandjui will fall an easy victim and her chances of escape are slender.

Correspondence Forbidden

Tien Tsin, Feb. 18.—The Russians have regained control of Shankenkwan, a town about midway between Newchwang and here, and have forbidden correspondents to travel in the district. A Chinese army is moving north of Shankaikwan.

The Black Sea Fleet.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 18.—It is officially denied that the Russian Government asked permission for the Black Sea fleet to pass through the Dardanelles. It will remain at home.

Baltic Fleet Sets Sail.

Copenhagen, Feb 18.—A despatch has been received here from Wisby, Island of Gothland, saying that six Russian warships passed the island on Feb. 15 going south. No doubt these vessels are part of the Russian Baltic fleet about which there have been a series of conflicting telegrams.

British Steamer Missing.

Tien Tsin, Feb. 18.—It is feared the British steamer Hai Ping, bound from Chinwang for Shanghai, with passengers and bullion has been captured. She is five days overdue and was last seen in Port Roads.

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

Almost Dollar Wheat at Chicago.

The Fluctuations of the Leading Stocks

The Wall street market was decidedly sickly this morning, following the lead of London which was from 1-4 to 1-2 down. C. P. R. was surprisingly weak, selling down to 116 5-8. The fluctuations were narrow throughout.

The grain market developed great strength and the prediction of the Bulls that dolair wheat would be reached were almost realized. May wheat in Chicago touched 99 1-2, closed only 1-8 lower and July and September wheat were correspondingly strong.

Messrs. McMillan & Maguire furnish us with the following:

New York, Feb. 18, 1904.—Wheat 1-2 higher; corn 3-8 higher at Liverpool close.

Opening.—Market, opened generally lower, but later showed hardening tendency with probably little short covering. Some selling of B. O. on January statement, but stocks seemed to find good support. Steels steady and opinion has turned into conviction that the trade situation is improving. Breaking off negotiations between Penna and Gould interests is not a new matter and has already been given reiteration of the fact, had no effect on Penna.

Chicago.—The market is in the same condition to-day as it was yesterday. Responds quickly to either buying or selling and is very nervous. We are bullish on the market.

We guarantee every Water Bottle and Syringe bearing our Regal Brand stamp on it. Those who buy their Rubber Goods from Edmison's Drug Store, get the best satisfaction.

RUSSIAN TROOPS NOW OCCUPY WIJU.

Occupied Pingyang and Are Now Advancing Towards Seoul.

JAPS CAPTURE TWO STEAMERS.

First Collision Between the Land Forces Expected to Be in Vicinity of Wiju—Chinese Are Pouring Troops into Manchuria—Japanese Repulsed at Port Arthur on February 16—Japan's Fleet Intact.

Tokio, Feb. 19.—Russian troops are reported to have occupied Pingyang, a station on the Wiju and Seoul Railway, about 100 miles south of Wiju. They are now advancing towards Seoul.

First Collision at Wiju.

Seoul, Feb. 19.—The report that 3,000 Russian troops had arrived at Chintiencheng, opposite Wiju, on the Yalu River, is confirmed, as is the report that the Russians have occupied Wiju itself. They have 20,000 troops at Wiju, and the first collision is expected somewhere in that vicinity.

Japs Capture Two Steamers.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 19.—A telegram received here from Port Arthur says the Japanese have captured the Okhotsk-Kamchatka Company's steamers Kolik and Bovrik.

Chinese Pouring Into Manchuria.

Chinwangtao, Feb. 19.—The Chinese Government is displaying unexampled activity and troops are pouring into Manchuria. Special trains have been chartered and are being despatched as speedily as possible. Their ultimate destination is at present unknown.

A JAPANESE REPULSE.

Official Russian Despatches So Report Attack on Port Arthur Feb. 16.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 19.—Official confirmation is given that an attack on Port Arthur, Feb. 16, was repulsed after heavy fighting on both sides. According to the story this attack was intended as a feint to cover a landing at Talienwan Bay, but it failed, because the Russian's guns were placed with great foresight to command the shore.

A Russian expert says the Japanese recently hoped the adjacent group of Eliot Isles would cover this movement, as they did the same thing during the Chino-Japanese war landing simultaneously at Talienwan and Kinchou, thus cutting off Port Arthur from each side of the Liaotung Peninsula.

"It surprises me," this expert continues, "the Japanese should have adopted a foolhardy attempt to face the Russians, as they must have known from their spies how strongly the peninsula is mined and defended."

The Government's frank statement in its communique of yesterday morning on Russia's unpreparedness owing to Japan's sudden precipitation of hostilities, and warning the Russian public not to expect immediate victories, confirms the opinion which has existed here that Russia will act upon the defensive until her army is fully mobilized, and the equipment of the commissariat is in perfect working order.

There are already over 300,000 men in the field, and this number will be largely augmented. About 50,000 men are required to guard the railroad.

JAPAN'S FLEET INTACT.

Official Denial of the Loss of Japanese War Ships.

London, Feb. 19.—The Japanese Legation here received an official despatch from Tokio last night saying it was not true that any Japanese vessels had been destroyed, so far in any of the various naval engagements, and that all necessary repairs had already been made. The Japanese fleet remains intact.

This message also denies the report that the Japanese were driven from the neighborhood of Kinchau after a skirmish in which 150 Japanese were taken prisoners, and declares that the Japanese made no attempt to land at Pigeon Bay. It says the Japanese forces have up to the present time made no attempt to land at any point where they could come in contact with the Russians, and that consequently all reports of land actions and Japanese losses are untrue.

Russians Fired on British Ship.

Tien Tsin, Feb. 19.—The British steamer Hsiping from Chingwangtao for Shanghai, which was believed to have been captured by the Russians, arrived yesterday at Shanghai. She reports that she was fired on by the Russian ships and forts when seeking shelter in the outer roadstead of Port Arthur, and that she was then ordered to Dafny, where she was detained four days in spite of her captain's protests.

Alexieff Reports of Feb. 9.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 19.—A long official despatch from Viceroy Alexieff was given out yesterday, recounting details of the fight of February 9 at Port Arthur. It does not enumerate the Russian casualties, and says it is known that a number of Japanese ships suffered severely, which accounts for their not following up the attack. After giving a full list of the ships engaged, with the names of their commanders, Admiral Alexieff says:

"According to the reports of the commanders, the men fought exceedingly well, on which account, in virtue of the imperial authorization, I have conferred six crosses of the Order of St. George on each company of the first and second class warships having crews of over 200 men, four crosses on each company of all other ships of the second class, one cross on each torpedo boat, one cross on each station at Golden Hill, which operated under the heavy fire of the enemy; four crosses on Battery No. 15, three on No. 13, and one cross on a gunner who, though severely wounded, returned to his battery.

"Our losses were: Of the squadron, 5 officers wounded, 14 men killed and 16 men wounded.

"Of the fortress and garrison, One man killed, one man severely wounded and five men slightly wounded.

"In announcing the above to Your Majesty, I am pleased to be able to add that the naval and land forces in the Far East are inspired by the most heartfelt wish to meet their enemy in order to fulfil their duty in sight of their adored ruler, and, firm and unshakable to fight for the honor and glory of their beloved Fatherland."

The Roy studio is prepared to do classes of view and commercial work, during the time their new studio is being fitted up. tf

Attitude of France is Not Conducive to Peace Between That Country and Great Britain.

Russians Claim They Will Have 400,000 Troops in Manchuria in Twelve Days—The Latest Developments in the Far East.

LATEST NEWS OF THE WAR.

Nothing of an especially startling character is being reported from the seat of war to-day, but it may be taken for granted the Japanese transports are steaming either to the Yalu or the Liaotung Peninsula, and in the meantime some important news may flash over the wires at any minute. It is thought probable that an attack on Port Arthur may be expected at any time, by the Japs. It is known that there are only about 25,000 men in Port Arthur, or half the number in the Japanese expeditionary force now at sea. The cutting of the Port Arthur-Chefoo cable, presumably the work of the Japs, is is an indication of their determination to at once isolate Port Arthur so far as communications are concerned.

A despatch from London gives the information that Lloyds is asking a premium of thirty per cent. against an outbreak of an Anglo-French war within the next three months.

(Special to THE EXAMINER).

RUSSIANS MOBILIZING TROOPS.

Paris, February 19—The concentration of troops, the Russian correspondent of the Matin says, proceeds systematically, and provision has been made for the speedy arrival of 120,000 men from the divisions of Moscow, Kieff and Varsovie. Before twelve days shall have elapsed the Russians will have disposed of an army of 400,000 men through Manchuria.

MAY BE WAR UNIVERSAL.

London, February 19. — Lloyds is to-day asking a premium of thirty per cent. against an outbreak of an Anglo-French war within the next three months. This high rate is based on the fact that France has not given a formal declaration of an attitude of neutrality towards the Far Eastern belligerents beyond a vague statement by Foreign Minister Delcasse. In fact, the French Government, instead of giving such assurance, has allowed Russia to use Jibutil, which is in the French Colony, at the head of the Red Sea, as a base of rendezvous. The British Foreign Office, is uneasy regarding the outlook, while the Admirality is getting ready for rapid mobilization, in case certain eventualities develop.

The Italian Attempted Murder Case at To-day's Police Court.

Two boys poured forth into the ear of the Magistrate at this morning's police court, exactly opposite stories of an assault case. The evidence was of such a contradictory nature that the Magistrate dismissed the case. Apparently one wanted to close the door, but the other closed his eye for him. The one attacked naturally did not "see" the point of the onslaught.

The old story of the stabbing affray between Pantalleone and Guiseppe de Paolo was heard at this morning's court, and great interest in the proceedings was manifested by the "Latin" populace, who flocked there in numbers.

Dr. McNulty was the first witness called, and testified regarding the condition in which he found the almost murdered man, Guiseppe de Paolo. He was lying on the floor, very weak from loss of blood, several dangerous knife wounds having been inflicted on his person.

Guiseppe Cerenelli, who can speak a little English, was next called, and told his story in an amusing manner. He was present at the time of the time of the affair. Pantalleone came home somewhat the worse of liquor, and began to quarrel with his brother Guiseppe. The brothers ate and drank from the same tin plate and mug; Guiseppe announced that his brother could not drink out of his mug. Pantalleone retaliated with "If you won't let me drink from your cup, I won't let you take tea from my pot." This game of tit for tat led to even fiercer words, and finally blows were struck. Guiseppe then picked up a knife and attacked his brother. Witness and the other men, Anthony Muscao, Johann Ceci, Dominico Natali, all tried to prevent him but were unable to do so. This occurred in the kitchen of the Italian boarding house at 540 Donegal street, on Friday, February 5th.

The remainder of the evidence was given in Italian and translated by Mr. Minicolo, town, and the former testimony was corroboriated.

Prisoner was committed for trial.

Inquiry at St. Joseph's Hospital resulted in information to the effect that Guiseppe was on the high road to recovery.

Unfortunate Fall of Gladstone Wise Aged 5 Years.

While sliding on the sidewalk outside his home about 11 o'clock this morning, Gladstone, the young five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wise, had the misfortune to slip, falling heavily on his shoulder. Dr. Scott was immediately summoned, and after examining the child, pronounced his collar bone broken. The fracture was at once set and the lad is resting as well as can be expected after so painful an accident. The lad's father is the superintendent of the Little Lake cemetery.

The affair was held in the Sunday school room, and the visitors were received by Mrs. Jory president; Mrs. D. W. Dumble, Mrs. Fife, Mrs. Ackerman and Mrs. Kendry.

After tea had been served Mrs. Fife made a short speech pointing out the object of the reception as being one to get all the ladies of the congregation acquainted with each other; secondly, to let the strangers see what the Ladies' Aid was doing; and, thirdly, to try and get them into some branch of church work. The affair was a very pleasant one to all present.

REV. W. M. ROGER'S SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Brother of His Worship Mayor Roger Injured in British Columbia.

His many friends in Peterborough will learn with sincere regret of an accident which befel Rev. W. M. Roger, of Salmon Arm, B. C., brother of Mayor Roger, recently. Rev. Mr. Roger but a short time ago returned from the Mauritius Islands, where he was a missionary.

This week's issue of the Presbyterian, says:—

"Rev. Mr. Roger, of Salmon Arm, met with a painful and what was almost a fatal accident at the Salmon Arm Station on the evening of the 22nd of January. Mr. Roger had been mailing a letter at the station and was on his way home, when a passing freight train, from which he thought he stepped aside sufficiently for to avoid, struck him, and hurled him some thirty or forty feet, where he lay in the snow, in an unconscious condition, for almost an hour, before he was found and taken to his home. On examination it was found he was badly bruised about the head, and his left arm was broken. A telegram was sent to Kamloops, 65 miles distant, where the nearest doctor was to be had, and without loss of time Dr. Burris proceeded to Salmon Arm, and took the sufferer back with him to the hospital at Kamloops, where he is now undergoing treatment, and is making most satisfactory progress towards recovery. When he is able to undertake work again, Mr. Roger will take charge of the Ashcroft field, and Mr. Duncan, now of the Presbytery of Edmonton, will take up the work at Salmon Arm."

ANNUAL MEETING OF CHEESE BOARD

Will be Held in Peterborough on Saturday, Feb. 27th.

Mr. John Riddell, the secretary of the Peterborough Cheese Board, writes to the Examiner to call the attention of those engaged in the cheese industry, to the annual meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board, which is called for Saturday, the 27th of February, at 12.30 p.m., in the council chamber, Peterborough.

A special feature of that meeting is that Mr. Sommerville, a Government official connected with experiments in the cool curing of cheese, is expected to be present, and doubtless he will be able to give valuable information along the line of caring for cheese from the making room until the product is shipped.

WONDERS OF RADIUM.

Prof. McClellan, of Toronto University, Will Lecture on it in Y. M. C. A. Hall To night.

Prof. McLennan, who will lecture to-night on the subject of Radium, when seen this afternoon in the Y.M.C.A. Hall, was putting up his instruments and connecting them with the electric service. The Professor said that he intended to develop the subject step by step and to show what the phenomona of Radium indicate.

This will be an exceedingly interesting and practical lecture, and will be given under the auspices of the Fortnightly Club. It will perhaps be the only oportunity those interested in the subject in Peterborough will have for some time of hearing a practical exposition on this subject. The admission to the lecture is free.

The sale of the Humphries property, including about 100 acres of woodland, was adjourned on account of the snow blockade until Saturday, the 27th inst., and will take place at 2 p.m., at the Munroe House. 2d

There are hundreds of unframed pictures lying around well worth the price of framing — especially when you can get it done so cheaply at the Peterborough Bookstore. The beautiful premium pictures which come along with the illustrated papers, as well as loose water colours, photos, crayons, etc., make very pretty decorations when framed for dens, halls, parlours, libraries, dining rooms, and bedrooms. Bring in your pictures to the Peterborough Bookstore, and let us frame them at our February cut prices. We ran across a lot of new frames and moulding the other day which will cheapen the price to you about one-fourth. A. H. Stratton & Co.

This is a great opportunity for Peterborough, and no one should miss hearing the professor to-night at the Y.M.C.A. Hall. There will be no charge for the lecture.

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT

A FAST GAME FOR SATURDAY NIGHT.

C. G. E. Office Staff of Toronto to Play Works. of Peterborough.

The C.G.E. Co. match on Saturday night promises to be championship hockey. The Toronto bunch is bringing the best team they can get together, and as they have to meet the pick of the O.H.A. and senior league teams of town, the match should be a red hot one. As the Toronto team will arrive at noon the match will start sharply at 8 p.m.

THE GOOD SEASON OF THE RUGBY CLUB

After a Hard Struggle Have a fair Balance on Hand.

The annual dinner of the Peterborough Rugby Club was held last night, and is fully reported in another column of this issue. It will perhaps be both timely and interesting to say a few words regarding the club's record last year.

The first game was on Thanksgiving Day at the Nicholls Oval between the Wellesleys of Toronto, and Peterborough, the home team winning by 9—8. The second game was also at home, and was with the Victorias of Toronto, on October 31st, who won by the narrow margin of 2—1. The third game was at Toronto on November 7th, against the Wellesleys, whom the locals defeated by 15—11. The last game was played on November 21st at Toronto, with the Victorias, who won by 13—11.

After a hard season the club came out with a balance of $70.20 on the right side.

DRY GOODS MEN PLAYED HOCKEY?

Hall's Beat Sutcliffe's by 6 Goals to 1 Last Night.

Sutcliffe's and Richard Hall's played off their game at the Brock street rink last night between 6 and 7 o'clock and the latter aggregation defeated their opponents to the tune of 6 goals to 1. The game was not such a lob-sided affair as the score seems to indicate, Hall's having all their work cut out to hold down the Sutcliffe bunch. The game began by Hall's scoring and at half time they had tallied three to their opponent's one. Towards the end of the second half G. Currans, for Sutcliffe's, punctured the other net, scoring their only goal. In the latter period of the game Hall's also added another three.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Hall's—Goal, Kingscote; point, W. Todd; cover point, R. Todd; rover, I. Gillespie; centre, B. Lang; right, H. Hall; left, W. Burritt.

Sutcliffe's — Goal, Feint; point, Currans; cover point, P. Blade; rover, H. Blade; centre, C. Crane; right, Curry; left, G. Currans.

Referee—H. Sawers.

PEN IS MIGHTIER THAN THE SWORD,

And the Pen Pushers Than the Counter Hoppers in Hockey.

Five to one, was the defeat Cressman's "Counter Hoppers" suffered when they ran up against Davis, Thompson & Co's "Pen Pushers" at the Brock street rink between 10 and 11 o'clock last night. The game was pretty much in the winners' favour all through but the Cressman bunch gave them a run for their money, and at times sailed around their opponents' net in great style. At half time the scribes had scored three goals to the other peoples' one and in the second half the former aggregation put on two more goals.

The scribes put up a good combination game and were strong on the forward line. The teams lined up as follows:

Pen Pushers — Goal, Eyres; point, W. Wood; cover, Delaire, centre, Seymour; rover, Jameson; right, Maguire; left, Ostrome.

Counter Hoppers — Goal, Bell; point Stevenson; cover, Bowes; centre, Mulhern; right, Cressman; left, Primeau.

Referee, R. Mercer.

OVER THIRTY CLUBS FOR THE BONSPIEL

Prospects for a Splendid Curling Event Here Next Week.

Advices are being received by the secretary of the Curling Club to the effect that there will be a large number of curlers in town next week on the occasion of the big bonspiel. Already clubs in Oshawa, Whitby, Cobourg, Orilla, Barrie, Beaverton, Bobcaygeon, Lindsay, Lakefield, Norwood, Keene, Millbrook, and a number of other places have signified their intention of participating in the event, and the probabilities are that between 129 and 130 curles will visit town next week.

The prospects for good ice are excellent, and now that the weather conditions have made travelling a safer experiment, the attendance from outside towns will be greater.

The bonspiel will open on Tuesday and will be in progress until Friday.

THE RUGBY CLUB'S ANNUAL DINNER

Was Held Last Night in McCallum's Restaurant.

A Large Attendance of Members and Friends—Enlivening After dinner Speeches Made.

The annual dinner of the Peterborough Rugby Club was held last night when a most enjoyable evening was spent. The function was a great success in every respect; the dinner was excellent; Mr. Jos. Halpany's orchestra provided a pleasant programme of music and the short, pithy after-dinner speeches made the affair even more enlivening, and entertaining. The following list of those present will show that the banquet was largely attended. At the head of the table sat the President of the Club, Mr. E. S. Clarry, and at the foot the Vice-President, Mr. Fred Clarke. In the post of honour to Mr. Clarry's right hand was seated Mr. Will Crowley, the captain of last year's team, and to the President's left, Mr. R. Glover. Then followed Messrs. H. R. H. Kenner, C. G. Graham, E. Dillon, B. Rickey, E. Hurtubuise, J. Deanard, W. Meagher, G. Morgan, R. Craig, A. Noble, G. Lee, E. Ford, B. Cameron, A. W. Spence, F. D. Kerr and Messrs. Jolliffe, of the Review, Anderson, representing the Times, and an Examiner reporter.

Regarding the "spread" nothing more was to be desired and full justice was done to the many dainties supplied. Mr. Clarry acted as chairman and when the inner man had been satisfied, proposed the toast of "The King," which was honoured together with the singing of the National Anthem.

Proceeding, Mr. Clarry on behalf of the Peterborough Rugby Club, thanked all present, collectively for the hearty response made to the invitations extended them. He continued by pointing out the combined pleasure and usefulness in the officers and members of the Club and those of sister sporting organizations meeting together under such circumstances. Although the Peterborough Rugby Club had not succeeded in winning the championship of the O.R.F.U. last season, they had acquitted themselves very honourably indeed. This marked success he believed due almost wholly to Mr. Crowley, who at the beginning of the season with practically no material to work with, had undertaken to organize a good spirited team and what is more important did put a strong organization onto the field. (Applause) Then Secretary Graham had also been most faithful and energetic in working in the interests of the Club on any and every occasion. (Applause.) Incidentally he remarked on the many changes which had taken place during the past five years in the team and its management and believed Captain Crowley was the only person present who was connected with the club five years ago. In conclusion he asked to be joined in drinking the health of the Peterborough Rugby team. This was heartily done, Mr. Crowley and Mr. Graham responding.

In return for the honour Mr. Crowley began with some introductory sentences of thanks. He dwelt at some length on the unpromising circumstances the team was placed in at the beginning of the season especially in the loss of Messrs. Burnham and MacPherson, but considering the "new game" and the above losses he believed the team did very creditably. Mr. Crowley continued with an account of last year's matches and in reply to Mr. Clarry wished to state that he was not the only veteran of five years ago, but that Mr. Rickey could also claim that honour. He also spoke in very eulogistic terms regarding the President and Secretary-Treasurer, and in conclusion remarked that he felt proud that he had captained last year's team.

Mr. Graham made some lucid remarks, stating that the post of Secretary-Treasurer had been one of great pleasure to him. He read a report of the season's matches together with a short financial statement showing the club to be in a very satisfactory position.

On request Mr. Norman Jolliffe followed with a song which was very highly appreciated.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner next proposed the toast of "Sister Sports," Messrs. F. D. Kerr, R. Glover and F. A. Clarke, replying. Mr. Kenner began by stating that of all the sporting clubs with which he was connected, there was none of which he was so proud as the Peterborough Rugby Club, the reason being that the members displayed the best sporting spirit in town, (applause.) It had been as successful as any club in town, and the Electric City in regard to sport can compare well with any other town. The club during its existence had won the Ontario and Dominion championships, and he was glad to be able to say that above all they had always been "clean." He knew of no club in Canada, and he felt assured that none existed, which showed such clean sportsmanship, and he congratulated the team directly, and club generally, indirectly, on their success. He himself had dropped out of all sport, rugby included, and he knew that his place had been ably filled by his successor. Mr. Clarry; and regarding Chris. Graham, he said, "One of the best secretaries in town, no matter what club. His accounts have been well kept and he is energetic and obliging." The citizens had deservedly treated the club well, and many had bought tickets for the sole purpose of helping the club along.

C. G. GRAHAM
Sec.-Treas.

In response to the toast, Mr. F. D. Kerr wittily replied on behalf of Lawn Tennis. Mr. Kerr regretted that the Rugby Club of last year had not succeeded in winning the O. R. F. U. championship, but he was glad to see that they took their demanfully. This was a noticeable characteristic of all Peterborough sports. He believed that the great improvement in local sport during the past few years had been largely due to Mr. Kenner, whose endeavour it had always been to cultivate a proper spirit of sportmanship among the young men.

Mr. Glover returned the compliment on behalf of Hockey. He believed that there was no sporting club in Peterborough which enjoyed the favour of the public to a greater extent than did the Rugby Club. This he believed was due to the fact that the members of the team were either from the Peterborough Hockey Club, the T.A.S. Hockey Club, the Athletic Lacrosse Club, the Excelsior Baseball Club, or some other sporting organization. He held the conviction that it was also for this reason that the other sporting organizations thought very highly of the Rugby Club, and were willing to help them at any time. Notwithstanding the obstacles encountered at the beginning of the season, the club had played good football, and in conclusion he hoped the club would this year win the O.R.F.U. championship.

Mr. Clarke, as a former hockey player, also spoke along these lines, especially pointing out the great pleasure it had afforded him in being elected as vice-president.

The toast of the Ladies, was appropriately proposed by Mr. B. Rickey who called on Messrs. Ford and Noble to respond. The last named gentleman, in a few sentences, upheld the honour of the absent weaker sex.

"The Press," proposed by Mr. E. S. Clarry, formerly city editor of the Examiner, was responded to by the representatives present.

Mr. Kenner, after asking the formal permission of the chairman, voluntarily proposed the health of the absent members, which toast was very enthusiastically honoured. Mr. Kenner spoke at some length on the good work done by many former Rugby men, who were not present, especially mentioning the names of Messrs. R. F. McWilliams, Hal Burnham, A. W. McPherson, Rev. Bushel, Frank Burnham, Victor McWilliams, A. J. McClellan and Geo. Revell.

The affair, which began at nine o'clock, lasted well on towards midnight, and was concluded with the National Anthem.

"Good-Bye" Sale

There's no alternative. We would rather suffer a loss before March than afterwards. Skim the cream while it is thickest. Save money while you may.

This is the Biggest, Broadest, Boldest, Unloading Movement of the year. It's not like any ordinary winter sale—it's winding up a business,—just pulling up stakes and leaving the tent behind for good luck to those who follow.

That's why Lower Still Go the Prices. That's why Boots and Shoes get the knife deepest. That's why all Odd Suits, Overcoats, Trousers and Fur Coats never were so lowly marked. You'll never have a better chance.

The Sale, thus far, has gone beyond our calculations—notwithstanding the blocked roads and intense cold—and this makes us all the more anxions to boom things now. We give the people a wide open invitation to come and see.

P. S.—All Outstanding Accounts not Settled before March 15th will be placed in our Solicitor's Hands for Collection.

MAX WILEY WILL ARRIVE SATURDAY.

Hockey Jones of Hamilton in Splendid Condition for his Bout.

Max Wiley writes from Rochester under date of Feb. 16th, that he will arrive here Saturday morning, and will finish his training in the Oriental gymnasium, which has kindly been placed at his disposal by Mr. Chris Graham. Chris met Wiley in New York four years ago when he won three amateur wrestling championships of America—the light, welter and middle-weight — a feat that was never accomplished since or before by one man. When it is taken into consideration that only the best wrestlers on the continent contest for these championships, it certainly places Mr. Wiley in a class by himself.

Hockey Jones, of Hamilton, who meets Jack Mason of Montreal, in a 12-round bout here Tuesday night, has had several bouts since he outclassed Jack Morrison, of Lindsay, here in January, and is in splendid condition and will give the eastern man a hard battle when they meet. It will be a splendid exhibition as both men are very fast and scientific boxers.

SITUATION IS SERIOUS.

Austria Has 30,000 Men Ready to Invade Albania.

Rome, Feb. 19.—The situation in the Balkans, especially since the revolt of the Albanians in the District of Diakova, Province of Ipek, is considered here to be serious. It is declared that Austria has 30,000 men ready to invade Albania, but if such a move were made Italy would consider it as disturbing the balance of power on the Adriatic and most detrimental to her interests here.

Bulgarians Routed.

Salonica, Feb. 19.—The Albanians, who were besieging Shemsi Pasha have been routed, losing 800 men killed and wounded. The Turkish losses are said to be heavy. Five additional battalions of troops have been ordered to Verisovich (315 miles north of Uskub).

The Popular Vote of 1904

Is Unanimously in Favour of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—They are the Nation's Favourite.

No article on the market, whatever be the purpose for which it was created, can be a phenomenal success, and be universally popular, unless it possesses great and unfailing merit. Inferior and worthless articles may flourish for a limited time if their praises are sung by sufficiently clever and catchy advertising; but their days are numbered from the start, and their finish is a foregone conclusion. This is an age of the survival of the fittest and only articles of true merit endure.

The unparalleled and phenomenal success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from a business standpoint, is not unnatural and not surprising. It is due directly to their unparalleled and phenomenal success in curing multiplied thousands of cases of dyspepsia throughout the English-speaking world.

The reason of the wonderful success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is so plain and simple that a child can understand; it is this and nothing more; they are natural in their workings and effects. They take up the effects of the worn and wasted stomach, and do it just as the stomach did it when it was well and strong and able. They actually digest the food and do it thoroughly, completely and independently, thus giving the weak and weary stomach an opportunity to renew and regain its wasted strength. You forget that you have a stomach just as you did when you were a healthy boy or girl, and Nature restores and heals that organ and makes it well and strong.

A St. Louis business man says:—"I was a confirmed dyspeptic for years. What I ate had to be forced down and most of it soured or lay like lead in my stomach and did me no good. I was in constant misery both in mind and body and came to be cranky, morose and irritable. My natural disposition, which was cheerful and pleasant, left me and I was alienating all my friends. The doctors did me no good. I got so I hated the sight or name of a doctor. My wife finally worried me into buying a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which I began taking under protest, as I had no faith in anything or anybody. I was sore on creation.

"I had not taken a third of that box before I noticed a decided and most welcome change. I could enjoy a good meal and feel no bad effects following it. I forgot my stomach and had a chance to think about something else. I went ahead with my business in ease and comfort. Six boxes of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at a total outlay of $3.00 cured me completely and I have not suffered a pain from dyspepsia for two years. I have an appetite like a sixteen-year-old boy. I wish everyone who suffers from dyspepsia could know what a change this great remedy made in me."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box. All druggists carry them and the best doctors are prescribing them. You need not fear that you will ever be unable to get them; for, because of the good they have done mankind and the suffering they have relieved and the happiness they have caused, the fame and the success and the popularity of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from generation unto generation will endure.

LONDON POLICE KILL A BURGLAR.

"Shorty Bill" Shot in a Desperate Encounter With Two Detectives.

London, Ont., Feb. 17.—In an encounter yesterday afternoon between two of the local detectives and two desperate characters, known as "Shorty Billy" and "Texas," who are suspected of having committed a series of burglaries in and around London during the past week, "Shorty Billy" was fatally shot, "Texas" is now in the police cells, charged with burglary.

During the past couple of months a number of midnight housebreakings and robberies have been perpetrated in the city. The cracksmen, as a rule, have chosen hotels as their places of operations, and Saturday night as the time, and the local detectives have been on a still hunt for the perpetrators ever since. The latest robbery took place on Saturday night last when Cole's turning factory on Bathurst street was broken into and a quantity of tools stolen. On Monday two brothers named Frank and James Watson and Fred Mosely were arrested on suspicion of being concerned in this last crime. Yesterday morning two of the prisoners, Mosely and Frank Watson, pleaded guilty to housebreaking, and a quantity of the stolen tools were recovered. Detectives Nickle and Egelton were then told off to search Mosely's home on Ridout street.

Their knock on the door of the house not being answered, the officers entered unbidden, and were confronted by Mosely's mother, Mrs. Richardson. The woman accompanied Egelton upstairs, Nickle remaining below. The latter had not waited long when in walked "Texas." As Nickle gave no evidence that he recognized the newcomer, the latter was taken off his guard. Shortly afterwards Egelton came down stairs and Nickle imparted to him in a whisper the information that "Texas" was in the house and the two approached the room where "Texas" was putting fuel in the stove. When "Texas" saw the two officers coming he realized that he had been trapped, and instantly he whipped out a revolver from his left hip pocket. But the officers were too quick for him. They knocked the weapon from his hand, and soon had him upon the floor. The struggle was a strenuous one. Blood on the floor, on the man's clothing, on the officer's hats, and the crushed condition of these are among the proofs that the fight was desperate.

"Texas" called to a confederate known as "Billy" for help, and a moment later the shutters on the kitchen window were torn open and two revolvers were thrust through the panes of glass. The man on the outside immediately opened fire on the detectives, each of whom replied with one shot, when the fellow drew back from the window and disappeared. Nickle thought he was coming in by the front door to help his pal, and started in that direction to meet him, when "Texas," who was struggling with Egelton on the kitchen floor, secured another revolver, which he had secreted inside of his vest, and attempted to use it on the officer. In this he was unsuccessful.

A search was then made for "Billy," and he was found lying in the snow near the front of the house. He had been shot in two places. One ball entered below the left ear, and lodged at the base of the brain, and the other pierced the breast close to the heart. The man was still alive, but unconscious and died in a few minutes. Either wound was sufficient to cause death. Egelton's escape was nothing short of wonderful. The desperado on the outside of the house fired two shots or more through the window, and one of these pierced the rim of the Christy worn by Egelton. The latter, however, did not receive a scratch. The dead man is supposed to have been one of the worst characters ever met by the local police. Sewn in his shirt were a number of fine saws, such as would be used cutting through the iron bars of a prison. He also had a number of diamonds which were stolen from a hotel here a few weeks ago, and tied around his waist was a belt containing fifty cartridges. He also carried an electric flashlight and other burglars' appliances. "Texas" escaped from jail here a few years ago, and he also succeeded once in getting away from Bailiff English.—Toronto Star.

Baby's Arm Jerked Off.

Philadelphia, Feb. 18.—As Mrs John Lougheed of Toronto, Canada, was ascending in an elevator in one of the big stores yesterday afternoon, the right arm of the infant she carried in her arms became caught in the guard work and was jerked completely off. The baby will die. The mother fainted and is suffering severely from shock.

The Turks are said to be without food and water, and to have already lost 100 men. Strong reinforcements, under Shakin Pasha, are hurrying to the relief of Shemsi Pasha.

Lumber Schooner Wrecked.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 18.—The three-masted schooner Emma Utter, with 360,000 feet of lumber, from Gray's Harbor to San Francisco, which cleared Aberdeen, Feb. 7, struck heavily on a bar and was abandoned by Captain Hansen and five of the crew on the 11th, leaving on board Seaman Henry Byndall. Since that date the vessel has been drifting about the coast. Two Indians rescued Byndall yesterday. The Utter will be a total loss. Nothing can be learned of the fate of Captain Hansen and his men.

THE WESTERN BURGLARIES.

Gang Broken Up in London Believed to Have Committed Them.

London, Feb. 18.—The surviving burglar of the two who engaged in mortal combat with Detectives Nickle and Egelton yesterday afternoon came up for examination at the Police Court yesterday morning. He gave his name as Harry Burdell. He was arraigned on a charge laid by Jacob Obernesser of stealing an iron safe from his hotel, containing $80 in money and valuables worth $500. He elected to be tried by the county judge, and was remanded for one week.

The inquest was opened at Smith's undertaking rooms during the afternoon upon "Shorty" Wilson, the man shot by the detectives. The jury, after viewing the remains, adjourned for a week.

The police are investigating the past life of two desperadoes, and hope within a short time to definitely trace a large number of robberies committed in Western Ontario recently. The men carried tools of safe-crackers, and the police feel assured they are the same that committed the recent safe robberies at Embro and Brantford.

Clue to Napanee Bank Robbers.

Hamilton, Feb. 18.—Many $10 bills of the Dominion Bank in the series numbering from 16,000 to 17,000, which were stolen in the famous Napanee Bank robbery several years ago, have turned up in this city. It appears that there was a cock fight not far from Buffalo a few days ago, which was attended by several sports from the neighborhood of Napanee and Hamilton. It is alleged that the sports from Napanee tried to work off the bills when paying lost bets, and that is how the stolen bills happened to drift into this city. They are dated Jan. 2, 1888, and are not negotiable.

Royal Templars.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—The Royal Templars of Temperance of Ontario continued their grand councils sessions yesterday in St. George's Hall. The committee urged that members take a more active interest in municipal and Parliamentary politics, to the end that better men should be selected as candidates in election contests; also that Royal Templars take the initiative in having the Local Option Act brought into force, until such time as prohibition can be obtained. Several representatives were chosen for the Dominion Grand Council, which meets in Hamilton in March.

Rail Road Men

In all departments of active service stand in need of the readiness of mind and promptness of action which depend on a healthy nervous system. Let a railroad man be "rattled," and every life depending on him is in danger. A great many railroad men have found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a valuable tonic for the overstrained nervous system. It builds up the body, purifies the blood, nourishes the nerves, and induces a healthy appetite and refreshing sleep.

"I suffered for six years with constipation and indigestion, during which time I employed several physicians, but they could not reach my case," writes Mr. G. Popplewell, of Eureka Springs, Carroll Co., Ark. "I felt that there was no help for me; could not retain food on my stomach; had vertigo and would fall helpless to the floor. Two years ago I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and little 'Pellets,' and improved from the start. After taking twelve bottles of the 'Discovery' I was able to do light work, and have been improving ever since."

Hanna Left $8,000,000.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 17.—The value of the estate left by the late Marcus A. Hanna is valued at from seven to eight million dollars. It is stated that he owned at least 15 per cent. of the stock of the Cleveland Electric Railway, capitalized at $23,500,000.

FORT FRANCIS POWER.

Agreement With Syndicate For Development of 8,000 Horse Power.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—The syndicate represented by E. W. Bachus of Minneapolis has concluded an agreement with the Government for the sale of water power on the Rainy River at Fort Francis. The agreement provides that the syndicate shall develop the water power to its full capacity and shall render permanently available on the Canadian side one-half of the whole capacity of the stream.

The purchasers agree to supply power to Canadian users at a price to be fixed by the Government. Within nine months of the date of the agreement $50,000 is to be expended. The price is $5,000 and the agreement is not to take effect unless within two months the purchasers enter into a satisfactory arrangement for the erection of a flour mill at Fort Francis with a capacity of 1,000 barrels a day or some other industry equally extensive.

There is about 16,000 horse-power capable of development at Fort Francis, and of this 8,000 will be on the Canadian side. The right is reserved to the Dominion Government to build and operate the canal at Fort Francis.

STARTLING TESTIMONY.

Poll Clerk Durance Reveals Crookedness in No. 9, Ward 4, Toronto.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—Startling evidence was given in the civic investigation into election scandals yesterday morning by John J. Durance, who was poll clerk under Samuel Thompson at sub-division 9, ward 4. Durance went into the witness box and made a clean breast of the ballot-stuffing and frauds at sub-division 9 of the Fourth Ward. He told how, at Samuel Thompson's instructions, after all the scrutineers had gone and the constable had been sent home by Thompson, he wrote the 25 names in the poll book which caused the discovery of the crooked work. "We have to do this every year," was the only explanation Sam Thompson vouchsafed with reference to the matter.

Durance also told of an interview the family of Sam Thompson tried to have with Controller Richardson and of one they did have with Dr. Beattie Nesbitt.

THE BUDGET DEBATE.

Hon. E. J. Davis to Make an Important Announcement—Mr. Dunlap and Mr. Pettypiece the Day's Orators.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—By special arrangement the debate on the budget was continued yesterday in the House, notwithstanding that it was private members' day, and after a small amount of routine business had been transacted two more speeches were heard. Mr. E. A. Dunlop made his maiden speech, and by his good delivery and clever sarcasm commanded the attention of members on both sides. Mr. H. J. Pettypiece, who followed, exposed the weak points put forward by the youthful representative from North Renfrew, and dealt ably with the wonderful resources of New Ontario that had been revealed to him during the tour of the Canadian Press Association last year. Mr. C. B. Powell moved the adjournment, and will continue the debate this afternoon. Hon. E. J. Davis will speak next, and is expected to make several important announcements respecting the Government's policy in connection with the Crown Lands Department, especially in regard to the preservation of the timber resources of the Province. Hon. John Dryden will take part in the debate on Tuesday next.

Answers to Questions.

Hon. Mr. Davies informed Mr. Gamey that W. L. Nicholl, now Indian Land Agent at Sault Ste. Marie, had not been dismissed from the offices of Crown Lands Agent and Division Court Clerk at Thessalon; he had resigned and his resignation had been accepted. Upon inquiry he had learned that Mr. Nicholl was deputy returning officer at the gravel pit subdivision during the recent Soo bye-election. Of this the Government had no further information than that his appointment was made by the returning officer.

Hon. Mr. Gibson told Mr. Matheson that the office of Clerk of the Peace and District Attorney for Thunder Bay had been vacant for about two years. A son of the late Hon. David Mills was temporarily filling the position. He could not say when a permanent appointment would be made; it was better to go slow than make mistakes.

Hon. Mr. Latchford announced that he had placed on the table of the House a profile of the proposed extension of the Temiskaming Railway for that part of the line between New Liskeard and Lake Temagami, a distance of fifty-four miles.

Waived Usual Notice.

The Kingston Street Railway dead lock was made the subject of the deliberations of the Standing Orders Committee of the Legislature yesterday morning. E. F. B. Pense, the member for Kingston, asked the committee to waive the rule in regard to the giving of notice. The committee unanimously agreed to the introduction of the bill without the notice fixed by law being given. Mr Pense will introduce the bill this week, and it will be taken up by the Private Bills Committee.

The Fires of Eczema.

So keen is the suffering of many people who endure the stinging, itching sensations of Eczema that they speak of the skin as being on fire. By its soothing, healing, antiseptic influence Dr. Chase's Ointment positively cures Eczema, Salt Rheum, and every form of itching skin disease. It is of inestimable value in every home, and when once introduced becomes a household necessity. Dr. Chase's Ointment is the standard the world over, and has no worthy rival.

Atlas Loan Decision.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—The Master-in-Ordinary yesterday gave decision affecting the Atlas Loan contributors, holding that the reserve fund contributors are entitled to rank equally with the depositors in the assets of the company.

Nomination in Gaspe.

Quebec, Feb. 18.—Saturday will be nomination day in Gaspe. This bye-election has been caused by the appointment of Rudolphe Lemieux as Solicitor-General. It is almost certain that he will be re-elected by acclamation.

Not For Canada.

London, Feb. 17.—The Westminster Gazette, referring to Lord Londonderry's refusal to reduce the postage on newspapers to Canada, says there certainly seems no reason why a preferential postal tariff should be created in favor of Canada alone.

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

The Fluctuations of the Leading Stocks

The Wall street market was again to-day slow, weak and uninteresting. Messrs. McMillan & Maguire furnish us with the following:

Market dull; practically all the business between the traders on the floor. Conservative banking interests expressed some concern last liquidation in Berlin might give rise to a wave of liquidation here as they thought some speculators were still suffering from undigested securities. Some of buying in BO appeared to be well informed and a certain amount was taken apparently for foreign account.—F. C. Co.

Vienna, Feb. 19.—The Nardonilisty prints a report that two regiments of Russian pioneer and one regiment of railway troops have been drowned while crossing Lake Baikal. This lake is on the direct route from Russia to Manchuria.

We strongly recommend the purchase of such stocks as So. Pac. and Un.Pac. for these two in particular will go much higher with return of reason. ACP is being steadily accumulated by Standard Oil interests, which in reality are not bearish but have all the stocks and want prices kept down until they are ready for a campaign. We also believe that BRT is being bought by insiders there is talk of a contest for control. The Rock Island issues are in process of accumulation also and they will have aggressive advances. The report of the iron age of improvement in the steel trade caused buying of the US Steel stocks to-day. These issues have few friends and we believe it time to buy them whenever weak. There is a good borrowing demand for these issues as well as many others and it shows that they are oversold. We advocate the taking of moderate profits for the present for many turns can be made by purchasing on soft spots and selling out on the bulges.—Floyd Crawford & Co.

Coulter, was made the bride of Mr. A. A. McIntyre, of town, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. C. Davidson, in the presence of the relatives and a few friends of the contracting parties. The bride wore a very becoming dress of white chiffon organdie, trimmed with cluny lace and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Russian Scouts Make Report to Alexieff's Chief of Staff.

COSSACK SCOUTS REACHED ANJU.

Russians Employed Guarding the Railway in Danger from Chinese Troops—Russian Anti-British Feeling is Rapidly Growing—Three Regiments of Russians Drowned in Lake Baikal—Canada's Action.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 20.—Major-Gen. Pflug, chief of staff to Viceroy Alexieff, has sent the following telegram from Port Arthur: "Our scouts report that no Japanese have been either at Tsenchu or Pingyang, Corea. The population is indifferent towards us. The ice on the Yalu River is beginning to go out. Natives say that if a high tide comes in five days the ice will begin to drift. The west coast of the Liaotung Peninsula is covered with ice for a distance of a mile and a quarter to sea. None of the enemy's ships have been seen lately. There have been no fresh attempts to destroy the railroad."

1,500 Cossacks Near Wiju.

London, Feb. 20.—The correspondent at Seoul of The Daily Mail reports that 1,500 Cossacks are crossing the border near Wiju, and that Cossack scouts have already advanced into Corea as far as Anju.

Cablegrams received here from Shanghai declare that Gen. Ma, who is protecting the borders of Chili Province, wires that it is becoming daily more difficult to prevent the Chinese troops at Sinmingting from crossing the Liauho and engaging the Russians employed in guarding the railroad.

No Credence Put in Them.

No great importance is attached to the stories published in Paris and elsewhere on the continent of alleged intrigues looking to the coalition of Russia, France and Germany in the Far Eastern war, the belief being that it is to the interest of all powers to take steps that the struggle be localized. As Germany and France joined with Russia in 1895 against Japan, it would be natural for Russia to seek similar assistance in her present difficulties. Argument is therefore made that it behooves Great Britain to be prepared for any and all eventualities.

Anti-British Feeling.

Russian despatches record the rapid growth of anti-British feeling, one saying many English boys have been withdrawn from Russian schools owing to insults, and there is evidence in public resorts in Kieff that the position of the British residents would be very dangerous should Great Britain become involved in the Russo-Japanese issue.

Russian Regiments Drown.

Vienna, Feb. 20.—According to a despatch received here, the Russians have met with another disaster on Lake Baikal. Two regiments of Russian pioneers and one of railway guards have been drowned. It is supposed the ice gave way under the train and that all went to the bottom.

No Censor in Russia Now.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 20.—The Russian Government yesterday abolished the censorship upon all news and other telegrams going abroad. The lifting of the embargo, which has existed for generations upon the free transmission of news from Russia, came as a direct result of consideration of the subject by the Czar. In some respects the action is regarded as the most important since the emancipation of the serfs.

The internal censorship is to be retained, but foreign despatches are to be entirely free. Inasmuch as a state of war exists telegrams from the theatre of hostilities will be subject to the same kind of military censorship enforced in all countries under similar circumstances.

10,000 Chinese to Shanhaikwan.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 20.—Paul Lessar, Russian Minister at Pekin, has telegraphed that Yunshaikli, commander-in-chief of the Chinese army, intends to send 10,000 men from Paotingfu to Shanhaikwan.

The Variag's Losses.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 20.—The official report of the Chemulpo fight gives the losses on the Variag at one officer and thirty-three men killed, two officers slightly wounded and seventeen men severely wounded. There were no losses on board the Koritez. The officers and crews of both ships behaved nobly.

Only Three Intact.

London, Feb. 20.—"An American squadron is expected here," telegraphs the Che Foo correspondent of The Morning Post, under date of Feb. 19, "and it is reported that Americans intend to land a force of marines.

"There are rumors of possible trouble with Germany, who claims exclusive rights in Shantung.

"Only three Russian warships at Port Arthur remain intact."

10 Warships Crippled.

New York, Feb. 20.—The Russian warship Bayan, according to a cable to The World from Tokio, is reported to have been the vessel most damaged in the last torpedo attack on Port Arthur (Sunday, Feb. 14). The Japanese attacked with torpedoes at a distance of only 50 yards. As the results of the attacks at Port Arthur, ten Russian warships are crippled. It is believed that no further naval engagements will take place in the open, as the Japanese torpedo boats can do destructive work most expeditiously and most cheaply.

Two New Cruisers.

Tokio, Feb. 20.—The crews of the Nisshin and the Kasuga, the two cruisers purchased by the Japanese Government from Italy, were formally received yesterday in Tokio. The men were brought from Yokohama on a special train. There was an enormous crowd of spectators. The officers of the cruisers were given a dinner last evening.

CANADA'S ACTION INDICATED.

Would Have to Defend Her Eastern and Western Coasts.

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—(Globe special.)—The officials at the Militia Department are not blind to the possibilities that may arise in connection with hostilities in the Far East. If Great Britain becomes involved in the struggle Canada may have to defend its eastern and western coasts. The effective defence of this country would be the greatest service Canada could render to the British Empire. In the case of war it would leave the British forces free to strike a blow elsewhere. There is reason to believe that inquiries are secretly being made as to the length of time it would take to mobilize and equip troops for the defence of those parts of Canada most open to attack. It is no secret that Lord Dundonald would like to be in a position to place 100,000 men in the field in case of emergency. But the best that Canada could do just now, perhaps, would be to place 50,000 or 60,000 men in the field, all of whom, however, would not be armed with the Lee-Enfield rifle. But any deficiency in that regard could be quickly made up by the Ross rifle factory, which has now begun to manufacture small-arms. The Ross rifle is said to be a much better weapon than the Lee-Enfield. It is fervently hoped that the occasion for a call to arms may not arise; but it is well to be prepared for eventualities. "Defence, not defiance," is regarded as Canada's motto.

Russia Refuses U.S. Exequatur.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Secretary Hay has been informed that Edwin V. Morgan will not be granted an exequatur by the Russian Government authorizing him to act as United States Consul at Dalny. Mr. Morgan is now on his way from Washington to his post. He will sail from San Francisco and touch at Yokohama, at which point the State Department will be able to advise him a month hence what course to pursue.

Called Back Again.

Paris, Feb. 20.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Figaro cables that the Russian squadron at Jibutil, French Somaliland, on the Gulf of Aden, has been ordered to return to Cronstadt. The Russian squadron at Jibutil consists, so far as is known, of the battleship Oslabya, the cruiser Aurora, the cruiser Dmitri Dunokoi and a number of torpedo boat destroyers. It was reported from St. Petersburg, Feb. 15, that this squadron had been instructed to remain at Jibutil until further orders. It has been suggested that the stopping of these warships at Jibutil might lead to international representations. Jibutil being a neutral French port

NEUTRALITY OF CHINA.

What the Note to Japan Says and the Reply of the Latter.

Washington, Feb. 20.—China's note to Japan regarding neutrality says that special preparations have been ordered for the guarding of Mukden and Shinnking, the sites of the Imperial mausoleums and palaces. A garrison has been despatched to all the districts west of Liao, which have been evacuated by Russia. China engaged, however, not to take such steps as will make a rupture of friendly relations in Manchuria," adding that "there are localities still in occupation by foreign troops, and beyond the reach of the power of China, where the enforcements of such rules of neutrality, it is feared, will be impossible. The three eastern provinces, as well as the rights pertaining thereto, shall remain under China's sovereignty, whatever side shall gain the victory and shall not be occupied by either of the powers now at war."

Japan's Reply There To.

Tokio, Feb. 20.—Japan's reply to China regarding the neutrality of the latter agrees to respect it so long as Russia does. Japan will not wantonly destroy property nor disregard the rights of citizens. But in the event, however, that they should extend aid and comfort to the enemy of Japan, the Imperial Government reserve to themselves the right to take such action as the circumstances require.

"It remains to say, in conclusion, that the war is not being waged by the Japanese for the purpose of conquest, but solely in defence of her legitimate interests, and, consequently, the Imperial Government have no intention to acquire territory at the expense of China as a result of the conflict. The Imperial Government also wish the Imperial Chinese Government to clearly understand that whatever action may be taken by them on Chinese territory, which is made the theatre of war, will be the result of military necessity and not impairment of Chinese sovereignty."

FOREIGN CONSULS LEAVING LONDON.

Report that Russian and French Ambassadors Have Left Britain's Capital.

ANTI-AMERICAN DEMONSTRATION.

A Land Battle Has Been Fought---Japanese Troops Have Been Captured---Women and Children Have Left Port Arthur.

A despatch from Chicago gives the information that it was reported on the Grain Exchange there that the Russian and French ambassadors have been recalled from London, which, if true, practically means that Great Britain will be envolved in war with these countries.

(Special to THE EXAMINER).

JAPANESE TROOPS CAPTURED.

St. Petersburg, February 20. — A despatch from Port Arthur today says the first land encounter occurred yesterday. A picket of Cossacks attacked a small detachment of Japanese troops on Corean territory. The Cossacks captured some Japanese prisoners, on whom they found maps and papers. Further advices from Port Arthur say that all the women and children, and most of the male civilians have left that place, and practically only the garrison remains.

ANTI-AMERICAN DEMONSTRATIONS.

St. Petersburg, February 20. — Anti-American feeling is growing more intense daily, and although it is said at the American Embassy that nothing is known about it, the authorities took special precautions during last week's public demonstrations to safeguard the embassy from insult or attack.

REVELATIONS PROMISED.

Fugitive Deputy Returning Officer to Give Evidence Monday or Tuesday.

Toronto, Feb. 20.—Ald. Ramsden, Alfred Maguire, George Robertson, Bernard Kelly and a number of ward workers who were working for various candidates, were in the box during the day, together with Durance and George Thompson. Much interest centred in the New Year's Eve tour of Controller Richardson, Ald. Ramsden and others in Kelly's back through the ward, and especially the gathering at George Robertson's home on Centre street, where it is alleged plans were layed for controlling the election in that part of the city.

Sam. Thompson, the fugitive returning officer, will be in the witness box of the civic investigation Monday or Tuesday. At that time a full confession, covering all knowledge of crooked election methods he possesses, will have been placed in the hands of Mr. Riddell. Arrangements were practically completed Thursday night by which the fugitive agreed to return and tell a story "that will reveal a sickening condition of municipal corruption in high places."

It is said Thompson has never been out of the city. A warrant has been issued for his arrest, and will be executed if he does not give himself up.

Hays Off For London.

Montreal, Feb. 20. — Charles M. Hays left New York yesterday for London. It is understood that the general manager of the Grand Trunk goes to England for the purpose of submitting the Grand Trunk Pacific's modified agreement with the Dominion Government to the half-yearly meeting, which takes place in London in March.

A Prohibition Convention.

Toronto, Feb. 20.—On or about March 15 a prohibition convention for the Province of Ontario will be held in Toronto. The exact date will be announced as soon as the executive of the alliance can be sure of having the proposed temperance legislation before the convention for its consideration.

Flour Advances in Price.

Winnipeg, Feb. 20.—Both milling companies advanced the price of flour another 10 cents yesterday. This makes price for best qualities of Ogilvie Milling and Lake of Woods Milling Companies $5.30 per barrel.

Drove Over 90-Foot Cliff.

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 20.—Patrick Walsh, lighthouse keeper Lingan, drove over a 90 foot cliff in a snowstorm Monday night. The body was found yesterday morning by a searching party.

AGRICULTUBAL INTERESTS THE PROGRESS IN ONTARIO.

The Deputy Minister of Agriculture Speaks on the Subjects.

Speaking before the open meeting of the Natuaral Science Association, of the University of Toronto, on Wednesday night, Mr. C. C. James read an interesting paper on "Recent Progress in Agriculture." He briefly sketched the agricultural history of the province since 1812, when timber was the only surplus product of any account in Ontario. The period from 1850 to 1866 was, he said, the period of our greatest agricultural growth. The inflation of prices for farm products due to the Crimean war and the American Civil War, and the Reciprocity Treaty with the States combined to produce a phenomenal development of our agricultural production. There followed, from 1874 to a comparatively recent date, a period of great agricultural depression, induced by depression in prices and the shutting out of our products from the American market. But with the inauguration of the McKinley tariff in 1890 our farmers necessarily turned their attention to the British market, and to the production of beef, bacon and cheese. "The day may come," said Mr. James, "when we may feel so grateful to our neighbours to the south, that we will erect a monument to the memory of the McKinley Bill." Since 1890 our exports of agricultural products to Great Britain had increased from twenty millions to seventy-nine millions. The last seven year had witnessed a wonderful growth of our exports of farm products from forty-nine millions in 1896, to one hundred and fourteen millions in 1903. The farm products of Ontario last year were from thirty-five to forty millions more than in 1896. That means that on the average the farmers of Ontario received $200 each more than they did seven years ago. And that in turn meant that the whole business of the country had received a marked and irresistible impetus in the right direction. During the same period, he added, the capital stock of Ontario farmers had increased by $140,000,000, or at the rate of nearly $2,000,000 per annum.

Mr. James also referred to Mr. J. J. Hill's recent statement in Minneapolis, that Canada possessed three times as much arable land as the United States; that in ten years the Dominion would raise enough grain to supply the British market, and henceforth United States farm products must seek new markets inu the Orient.

FISH FAMINE IS NOW THREATENED.

Excessive Cold Causes Scarcity, and the Prices are on the Climb Here.

Lent this year is confronted by extremely high fish prices, an inconvenient contingency under the circumstances. The excessively cold weather is the cause.

"Bays are frozen over, and drifting ice has made the work of the fishing fleets perilous," said a large local dealer at noon to-day. "Already prices have gone up fully twenty-five per cent., and before Lent is half over there will be another twenty-five per cent. advance. Not only that, but several varieties of fish will not be obtainable at all. While there may not be an actual fish famine, there will be a fish scarcity. People have been expecting Lent to moderate meat bills, but there is little prospect of relief from that source now.

"Word comes from New York that flounders, which generally sell there at $2 a barrel, are now bringing $7, while lobsters are scarce at 40 cents a pound, and codfish at 12 1-2 cts."

THEY JUST STOP IT ONCE AND FOR ALL

What Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do to Every Ache and Discomfort Indigestion can Cause.

"I was troubled with food and gas rising in my throat and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have stopped it." That is the terse statement of Mr. W. H. Hutmer of Avonmore, N.B. And that is what Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do to every pain and discomfort Indigestion and Dyspepsia bring bring to their victims. They "stop it."

It may be pain in the chest after eating. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets "stop it." It may be headaches and lassitude. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets "stop it." It may be coated tongue. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets "stop it." It may be giddiness, dry cough, nervousness, heartburn or any one of the dozen other effects of Dyspepsia. No matter what. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets "stop it."

How are you to know they do? First, ask others—thousands can and will tell you of cures they have made. And then try them yourself—that is the surest proof of all—that after you have given Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a fair trial you will have no indigestion or Dyspepsia.

Against the Jews.

London, Feb. 19.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Jewish Chronicle says the commission now sitting at St. Petersburg, charged with the revision of the laws in force against the Jews, proposes to recommend that in 10 provinces of Poland, where hitherto Jews have enjoyed unrestricted rights, these rights shall now be restricted in every respect to conform to the regulations obtaining within the "pale of settlement."

MR. KENDRY'S SUCCESSOR FROM THE RANKS.

Mr. Charles Moore Worked his way up From the Bottom.

Referring to Mr. Charles Moore, who will succeed Mr James Kendry as Manager of the Canada Woollen Mills, the Toronto Star says:—

Could you have looked into a certain mill twenty-eight years ago you would have seen an employee about as large as a minute. If you had asked him his age he would have told you twelve, and if you became more solicitous you might have learned his name. Sweeping up, carrying water and doing odd jobs constituted his part in the proceedings in this great mill, where he had entered, an employee on the bottom rung. But perhaps bottom rung is too large a word to use here. There is no real rung so low as his position called for, and he had no claim to attention save that which his energy and earnestness might secure for him.

Twenty eight years ago a youngster of twelve, he walked into this mill unknown, uneducated and unsought for. A broom and a watering can were the length of his learning.

However he was promoted and made boss sweeper of the floor. His envelope then reached the sum of $2.50 a week. You say little, but he didn't think so. He was only a broom artist, but he did better work, left less dirt, and raised less dust, than the other sweepers throughout the mill.

The Board of Directors of the Canada Woollen Mills Company held an important meeting the other day. The Woollen Mills Company is one of the large financial concerns of the Dominion, and the destiny of an army of employees, the voice of silence of a myriad looms, depended upon their verdict.

However they were meeting to appoint a new manager for their great interests.

Have you guessed the story? How they picked Charles Moore, who on Monday next will enter his position, with headquarters at Brodie Mills, Hespeler?

This is only another lesson on what rewards the School of life holds for men who have got grip, gumption and common-sense.

The new manager is the broom artist of twenty-eight years ago, who without friends or push, came in through the cellar window and is now out on the roof.

In those twenty-eight years you may be sure that there was much of disappointment, much of temptation, and misunderstanding, crowded. Even as with you and I, much of jealousies and knockings.

But slowly, surely, the boy who swept, rose rung by rung, and now he is at the top.

Yes, Charles Moore came in through the cellar, and one of the chief differences between the new manager and others who would like to manage is that they wish to come in by the roof.

PUTTING BABY ASLEEP.

If baby is restless or sleepless do not give it "soothing" medicines to make it sleep. These medicines always contain opiates, and you are merely drugging the little one into temporary insensibility—in fact you are placing its life in peril. Restlessness and sleeplessness is usually the result of some trouble of the stomach or bowels, and if this is removed the child will sleep naturally, and awake bright and healthy. Baby's Own Tablets cure all stomach and bowel troubles, and the mother has a solemn assurance that the medicine contains no opiate or harmful drug. Mrs. Lewis Reville, Gawas, Ont., says:—"My baby suffered from colic, cried a great deal, and was very sleepless. After giving him Baby's Own Tablets the trouble disappeared, and through giving him an occasional Tablet since he has always been healthy, and is now a strong rugged child. No mother should ever be without the Tablets in the house." You can get Baby's Own Tablets from any dealer in medicine or if you write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., the Tablets will be sent by mail at 25 cents a box.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS.

The heavy snowfall in Ontario, and some other localities, is militating somewhat against retail trade, as the roads in some places are almost impassable. Business is, however, fairly good, and the outlook encouraging. Failures for the month of January have been few in number in comparison with other years, and reports from the various centres indicate that money is fairly plentiful. The bank statement continues to manifest favourable aspects, and the feeling prevails that notwithstanding the few clouds on the horizon, the situation is reassuring. Wholesale trade has been good in staple lines considering the circumstances as above set forth. Travellers have been on their territories for the past couple of weeks and in spite of the disadvantages of railway demoralization, and poor roads, report the interest in spring goods as quite encouraging. In some lines dealers are holding back. Hardware, on account of the drop in pig iron, is experiencing an easier feeling, and although buying in staple lines, such as implements, has kept up fairly well, there is a tendency to await developments. The dry goods market continues to rule firm, especially in cottons and linens, and a good spring business is being done. In boots and shoes spring orders are being completed and are reaching a volume fully up to the expectations of the wholesale trade. Groceries are selling well, although buying is being done only on a limited scale on account of heavy stocks following the holidays. The recent bullish movement in wheat is having the effect of keeping the farmers in good humour, while incidentally holding up the flour markets. For the time of the year the whole situation is most satisfactory.—Furniture and Upholstering Journal.

HIGHER IDEALS FOR FALL FAIRS

School Children's Day Should be Made a Prominent Feature.

President Creelman Said the Fakir is Becoming a Thing of the Past.

Thursday afternoon in the City Hall the Canadian Association of Fairs opened their convention. As surmised through the name, the association is formed for the purpose of advancing the status of the annual fall fair held yearly throughout the Province. The meeting yesterday was noted for two things, its enthusiasm and for the splendid attendance of young men.

President J. T. Murphy, of Simcoe, presided, and the audience included President Creelman, of the O.A.C., until recently superintendent of the Association; Prof. G. E. Day, of the O.A.C.; Alex. McNeill, Dominion Fruit Inspector, Ottawa; J. E. Brethour, Burford; J. M. Gardhouse, Malton; W. H. Bunting, St. Catharines, president, and Mr. L. Woolverton, Grimsby, secretary, of the Ontario Fruit-Growers' Association.

In his address President Murphy advocated the extension of educational effort at the fairs. The people should be impressed with the fact that a higher ideal in work must be attained. More expert judges should be secured, and school children's day should always be given and made a prominent feature. Nature study should be encouraged, and a woman's tent should be on every ground, where demonstrations and lectures on domestic science may be given. He had, from experience, arrived at the conclusion that the fair that was doing the best was the fair that, instead of paying out large sums for attractions, was carrying on an educational work in an interesting manner.

President Creelman of the O.A.C. drew attention to the fact that the fakir, who was winked at by the County Fair Executive, was rapidly becoming a thing of the past. The speaker pointed out that during the last ten years, with practically no increase in population, the increase in the value of live stock amounted to $26,000,000. He believed in education being worked in at all points, as suggested by Mr. Dryden, and thought that the Winter Fair, the Farmers' Institutes, and the Fall Fair were capital places for it. Some animals on the farm would not pay for their board, and others would pay off the mortgage, and it was in the interests of the farmer to know what was what. Above all, shows must be clean, and the children should be encouraged. Mr. E. Ming of Napanee, spoke against what he termed "leg shows" and putty, paint, and curls, and thought shows that made these a feature should receive no grant from the Government.

Hon. John Dryden spoke in favour of concentration of fairs into one good county exhibition, instead of multiplying agricultural societies.

Prof. G. E. Day of the O.A.C. was in favour of giving prizes for the establishment of contests in stock judging for young men. Five minute addresses followed, when many good suggestions were given in brief as follows:

Rev. C. B. Clarke, Russell, comprehensive prize lists and expert judges; W. E. Smallfield, Renfrew, enterprising and well-directed advertising; J. W. Sheppard, Cayuga, directors should participate in the competitions, and the name of exhibitor should be put on every entry card; Wm. McElroy, Richmond, revolutionized programme, with cooking contests, expert judges, etc.; John Farrell, Forest, good buildings; W. F. Kydd, Simcoe, exhibit only pure bred horse and cattle sires.

If your druggist hasn't it in stock send 50 cents (Canadian stamps accepted) to the Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo., manufacturers of Laxative Bromo Quinine, the celebrated cold cure.

Looking Toward Canada.

New York, Feb. 19.—At the meeting of the Newspaper Publishers' Association yesterday, it was urged that Congress should be asked for free paper and free pulp. It was said that fully 50 per cent. of the pulpwood is now drawn from Canada, and the paper business has passed beyond the protective period. "With the tariff out of the way, capital could safely invest in Canada and give us our paper at living prices," said one delegate.

A BROOKLYN BELLE THREATENED WITH CONSUMPTION.

Pe-ru-na Promptly Saved Her Life.

Miss Alice O'Neil, 312 Adams street, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I cannot say too much in favor of Peruna. About a year ago I was completely worn out, had a serious cold and a hard cough which seemed to be in danger of affecting my lungs. If my system had been in a stronger condition it would have been much easier to throw off this cold, but I could not seem to get any relief until I took Peruna, and I must say that it did the work thoroughly. Within a week I could see a wonderful improvement, and I took Peruna four weeks and am in perfect health now."

WHAT PEOPLE SAY

About Pe-ru-na as a Remedy for All Diseases of Winter, Coughs, Colds and Catarrh.

That Peruna cures catarrh, coughs, colds, is well known to both the medical profession and the people generally. It is undoubtedly the most popular remedy for this class of diseases in existence. Read the following letters:

Pe-ru-na Cures a Cold at the Outset.

Miss E. M. Isaacs, Armstrong, Pa., Vice-President of the Fortnightly Club, writes:

"No one who has tried the comforts Peruna brings would ever be without it. I used to dread the slightest cold, as its consequences were so lengthy and so unpleasant, and the catarrhal condition which invariably followed so hard to get rid of, but since I have known of the blessed relief secured through the use of Peruna, I am free from all this unpleasantness and suffering.

"A few doses never fails to cure me of a cold and I keep well through its use."—Miss E. M. Isaacs.

Hon. W. J. Purman, ex-member of Congress from Florida, writes from 1426 Q street, N. W., Washington, D. C., as follows:

"From representations to me and my own experience I feel justified in recommending your Peruna to any and all persons suffering with catarrh, nervousness or stomach troubles. I regard it as a great tonic and remedy for such afflictions. I, and others to whom I recommended it, are using it now with beneficial results."—W. J. Purman.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION.

A New System of Public School Teaching Which Is Claiming Considerable Attention.

Reference has already been made in these columns to the new system of teaching being introduced in some schools in New York state. Mr. J. J. Hartley, chairman of the local Board of Education, is deeply interested in the subject, and has supplied the Examiner with further particulars of the system, which will be published in a series of articles, the first of which follows:—

What has been called the Batavia Experiment began about five years ago. It started in connection with the very common and practical problem of relieving an overflowing grade room. The usual mode of relieving such a room is to take out a portion of the children and start another room. The Batavia board of education, on the recommendation of their superintendent, resolved to try the experiment of leaving all the children there, and bringing in another teacher, who should devote all her time in bringing forward the slow, dull and backward children individually. It was thought that this would be the most merciful treatment for such children than to nag and scold and threaten them. And it was thought that it might be a wiser treatment. For nagging, scolding and threatening do not bring children forward. They only overwhelm the unfortunates with absolutely benumbing misery. Furthermore the teacher who has gotten well under way with nagging, scolding and threatening is moving at a galloping pace toward nervous prostration. And nothing is more contagious than nervous disturbance. The teacher who has become prostrated by nervousness will quickly infect, not only a whole school system, but a whole town. The doctors are bright men. You cannot mystify them long. If they see a surprising upgrowth of sanitariums, and if they see an astonishing epidemic of nervous diseases, they will start in pursuit of the cause and run it down. They have chased it into our schools and located the initial virus there. They used to frown upon the garbage heaps and the dirty streets; they used to recoil with horror from steaming cess-pools; they used to despair over defective sewer pipes. But they see a little form failing of vitality, a more dreadful spectre of destruction than garbage heap, cess-pool or sewer pipe rises before their vision. It is the spectre of a towering and stately building, fire-proof and health-proof, the best looking building and the best planned and best equipped building in the town. His integrity of conscience compels the physician to brand that sightly structure, that well-lighted, well heated well-seated, well-swept and well-garnished structure, as a disease centre. He looks upon the fading form and at last pronounces the ominous word "school," and he waves off the proud structure with a fierceness in his tones "Get thee behind me, Satan, while I try to save this child." And he stands by the bed of nervous fever, where his art comes in too late; and from the depths of his stricken sympathies comes again the three word "school." Again and again in his rounds he is giving admonitions unknown to the older practitioners; "Madam, if you would save that child you must take her out of school." "Madam, if you would live for your husband and children you must take them out of school; for their troubles are killing you. After your despairing fight with their unready lessons you can not sleep, you are breaking down. Yours is a case of 'school' and unless I can disconnect you from the cause I cannot save you."

When we put in that second teacher to extend a helping hand to the unfortunates we struck at the root of the sch tragedy. We started a movement th will, in my opinion, cause a greater up in sanitarium stock than has ev onished the bulls and bears of Wa ret. Soon, very soon, almost ne nously, that room in which we p s individual teacher was not a d centre. It became, and has re a health promoter. I have nev a better sanitarium. There has ev on a good one consuming the leg s of broken and miserable invalids re has never been a profession sanitarium that could bring about in anything like the time the steadiness of nerve, the composure of manner, the brightness of eye, the glow of circulation, the elasticity of tread and the general sense of life and vigour that have been manifest in that room, even to the most careless observer, ever since its reorganization. A critical observer, one of national reputation in educational circles, said: "It makes me long to see the kind of people that will be walking in the streets, twenty-five years hence. I can hardly avoid the feeling that you have a different race or breed of children than are to be found elsewhere. I look in vain for the anaemic child or the one hovering on the verge of exhaustion." The utterer of those remarks was in recent times the head of the most important faculty in Syracuse University. And I do not think that Dr. Leonard will feel aggrieved at my quoting him on this occasion.

I do not mean merely that that room is a sanitarium for children. I mean more. I mean that it is also a sanitarium for teachers. I do not think it possible for a teacher to break down in either of the positions in that room; and I do not think it possible for a broken down teacher not to get well in that room.

The new teacher came among the children as a ministering angel, not as a taskmaster. Her message to them was: "Be of good cheer. What lack you and where? Lose your grief!" The fear was wiped away, and that worse thing, the unshed tear, was driven back to its sources. The sob of sorrow was hushed, and that worse thing, the stifled sob, was lifted from the burdened heart. The angel went, like every angel of mercy, to the most crushed and down-trodden. And she said in effect if not in actual words: I will never leave you; cling to me, until you can buffet the breakers alone." And the despairing one clung until hope and courage grew, clung till a consciousness of personal power welled through his being, and then he struck out alone; never again to need the hand of angelic assistance. That hand was free for another sufferer, and that one was ready to maintain himself proudly in his class. He was now a joy to the teacher whom he had formerly been dragging down to his grave, and he was now an object of respect to the classmates who had formerly looked upon him with crushed patronage or offensive commiseration. And he made his classmates better children by teaching them that conceit has no justification in fact, and that a prodigy is a person calling forth a feeling the reverse of envy.

And so our individual teacher went on lowering up the grade, freeing the grade from every clog and enabling it to move on, lifting up the life of the grade, improving the health of the grade, improving the manners, spirit and character of the grade, and securing the future of the grade. She brought up every child in the grade to a condition of health, happiness, confidence, efficiency and ambition. There were no children left over; there were no children who were not determined to finish every other grade, high school and all. There were no children to whom school was a dread; and consequently there were no children to whom school could possibly be an injury. We saw at once a forthcoming invasion of our high schools; and the invasion has come within five years. Our high school is swamped. We are building a $40,000 eight-room annex to relieve it. When I told an educator friend that individual instruction is open to the objection that it will swamp high schools, he replied with more epigrammatic force than Chesterfieldian elegance: "Let her swamp; we'll build all the high schools that ambitious children will care to use."

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

A Month on Trial.

I will absolutely stand all the cost if it fails. If you say, "It did not help me," that ends it as far as you are concerned. Do you understand me? I am telling it as plainly, as clearly as I can. I want you to know absolutely and without doubt this offer is made on honour. I have the prescription that cures. My only problem is to convince you that Dr. Shoop's Restorative will cure—is an uncommon remedy. A common remedy could not stand a test like this. It would bankrupt the physician making the offer. And I am succeeding everywhere and here is the secret of my success. I found invariably that where there was a weakness, the inside nerves were weak. When there was a lack of vitality the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of, but the vital organs' nerves. The inside—the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation. Then my real success began. Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves. That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

Thousands are accepting my offer, and only one in each forty writes me that my remedy failed. Just think of it. 39 out of 40 get well, and these are difficult cases too. And the fortieth has nothing to pay. That is a record I am proud of. It is wrong to stay sick when a chance like this is open. If well, you should tell others who are sick, of my offer. Tell him. Get my book for him. Do your duty. You may be sick yourself sometime. Sick people need help. They appreciate sympathy and aid. Tell me of some sick friend. Let me cure that. Then he will show to both of us his gratitude. Your reward will be his gratitude. Send for the book now.

So far I have spoken only of the work of teacher No. 2. But I have a report to make on teacher No. 1 that is quite as remarkable. Before her room was relieved she had about fifty-one or fifty-two pupils. She made no complaint to the management and tried to be patient, but we could see that she was trembling on the verge. While not exactly hysterical she was not far from it. There needed but the proverbial straw to break the back of this worthy lady. And any additional child seemed to be that straw. She kept her feet, but she was on the defensive. Things hurt her; and she was naturally inclined to see moral obliquity in what caused her physical pain. She was overtaxed; and it was the children that were overtaxing her. She struck back. I never saw a teacher who would not strike back when she herself was almost driven to the wall. Cross-purposes reigned. The atmosphere of her room was not good. The relationship between her and her pupils was the reverse of wholesome. It was understood on both sides that they were a sort of mutual enemies, compelled by force of circumstances to agree upon a modus vivendi.

From the very day of the arrival of teacher No. 2 a most marvellous transformation began to take place in teacher No. 1. She began to get well right off. She began to get wonderfully well. She began to take on benignity. She began to like the children and they began to like her. She did not stand them off any longer. She began to call them under her wing, and they began to rush there. She still had all the class teaching to do; and it grew and grew. The children came and came. But they did not come too numerously. The same lady who had been nagging forty-nine was now clucking seventy-nine. The same lady who had been standing off fifty children was throwing her arms out to eighty. And if six more appeared at the door they would only cause her face to take on a motherly smile. The hospitality of her heart for children became practically unlimited. If she were asked how many children ought to be sent to her she would answer: "The more the better."

And we saw that she had become seized with the instinct of the provider; we saw evidences that she had been foraging abroad for the children. We noticed some little well-matured nature lessons that were evidently prepared out of school. We noticed birds' nests, cocoons, catkins, cotton-balls and other wonders appearing on her table. We heard charming stories that she was reading to them. And we saw new pictures going on the wall. And we saw new flowering-pots going into the windows.

And as the bee goes where the honey and pollen will stick, so the two ladies early gave evidence that they had been out in society. And they brought back the impress of good society to reimpress it inconsciously upon the children. Some improvement of presence and bearing; some little touch of manner; some little touch of dress; some improvements in point of view; some broadening of thought; a bringing of the best of life into the school-room and against the children.

Tendency of the Times

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip,) and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by all druggists.

SNOW COST RAILWAY A MILLION DOLLARS.

Grand Trunk's Estimate of Loss to That Railway by Recent Storms.

Passenger Trains Making Better Time—Freight Still Congested Mr. McGuigan on the Situation.

With the continual lowering of the temperature the railroads have given up all hope of clearing up the freight congestion until the fine weather is here. "It is no use," said one of the road officials, "bothering about freight; we have trouble enough getting the passenger trains through."

"But," ventured the newspaper representative, "won't you make an effort to get some freight moving, such as coal, to the towns that are on the verge of a famine?"

"Well, yes," was the reply, "we will, if we can, but the trouble is we cannot get even a snowplough through. Our only hope is fine weather. And then look out if it comes suddenly. We will be flooded and the cure will be worse than the disease. There are some places in Northern Ontario where there is a wall of ice six feet high on each side of the track, and when the sun gets warm enough to melt that we will be fortunate if we can keep the ties and rails down in their places."

WALLS OF FREIGHT CARS.

A passenger who arrived in Peterborough from the east this morning, said the congestion of freight must be enormous. From Montreal through to Peterborough, he said, "we could see nothing but banks of snow and a wall of freight cars, every siding being filled. I was told that between Buffalo and New York there are at least 30,000 freight cars not turning a wheel."

SOME IMPROVEMENT.

The situation to-day was such that the officials could smile with a ray of hope that the worst has come, and that from now on the condition of the railways will improve.

The branch lines are open, and if the beautiful snow will only remain secluded for about a week things will be back to their normal condition. Superintendent George Spencer of the O. and Q. Division of the C.P.R., who had such a difficult task at Myrtle, returned to Toronto this morning, and reported that the snow bank that they had to cut through two miles west of Myrtle, is about 400 yards long and ten feet high.

FEEDING PASSENGERS.

During the past week the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railway have provided meals for 400 passengers in the district of Myrtle alone. This will give the public some idea what the cost this winter will be to the railroad companies for meals alone.

BEHIND A MILLION DOLLARS.

Manager F. H. McGuigan, of the Grand Trunk, is doing business again to-day at the Union station, and a Toronto Telegram representative had a few moments with the busy official regarding the condition of the system. Mr. McGuigan, among other things, said: "Never in all my railroad experience did I witness anything like the present. True, we have had cold days, but never have we had it 18 weeks on a stretch before, and I hope it will be a long time again before we get such a dose."

"What will the cost be to the Grand Trunk for the extra expense?" asked the scribe.

"I cannot say," was the reply. "The truth is we have not thought about that; but this I do know, the loss in revenue to the G.T.R. at the end of this month will be over one million dollars, and then some people will say the railroads don't care whether they run trains on time. I tell you very official and employee on the system has been working night and day, and it is most surprising to me how some of the men can endure it. I have nothing more to say for them than that they gave ample proof of their loyalty to the company and their desire to serve the public."

The Professor was a former classmate of Mr. J. W. Garvin.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE CHARLOTTE L. COCHRANE

Took Place at Millbrook Yesterday Afternoon.

Impressive Service Moved Congregation to Tears A Writer in the Millbrook Reporter Pays a High Tribute.

The funeral of the late Charlotte Louise Cochrane, of Millbrook, the former organist of St. John's church, town, who died on Monday morning last, took place yesterday in her native village. The impressive burial service was held in the Millbrook Presbytorian church, and was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Johnston, assisted by Rural Dean Allen of the Millbrook Anglican church, Rev. J. C. Davidson, of St. John's church, town, and Rev. Mr. Kennedy, pastor of the Millbrook Methodist church. The church was filled to standing room, and the St. John's choir, together with a large representation of the congregation, were present to the number of over thirty. As the last tribute was paid to this greatly beloved young lady, the congregation was moved to tears.

The interment took place at Gardiner's cemetery, the pall bearers being the deceased's six cousins:—Messrs. Thos. Campbell, Charles Walsh, William Payne, Alf. Walsh, Robert Cochrane and Stanley Johnston.

The Millbrook Reporter, in this week's issue, contains the following tribute:—

We live in deeds, not years,
In thoughts, not breath,
In feelings, not in figures on a dial
We should count time by heart throbs.
He lives most, who thinks most.
Feels the noblest, acts the best.

"Life's measure is not made up of years. He who sits upon the throne knows better than we when our days are full, and we may not complain that the bright and cheerful smile of our Lottie, whom we all loved, has vanished from our midst. Even in her illness and distress she had a smile for everybody, always cheerful and hopeful, never apparently downhearted or sad.

"Someone has said that there are smiles enough to go around all, and we who know Lottie can say, she did her share. The writer, under whom she sat for years, while he feebly opened up the treasures of the Book of Books, can cheerfully say that she lived nobly indeed, for her thoughts and aspirations were pure and true, and her ambitions were for the betterment of mankind. Impulsive and energetic, and withal so kind and true, almost a mother in the house after the 'call home' of Mrs. Cochrane, helpful beyond her strength in all good works. Even the strongest of us may be permitted to let fall a tear to commingle with the rivers of sorrow that have overcome the father, sisters and brothers. We cannot go beyond the veil with her now, but Heaven will seem nearer and brighter because Lottie is there, awaiting with her smile, you and me. Farewell Lottie, but we hope to meet again, and your smile shall beckon us on to nobler life and action."

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. JOHN McMURCHY.

Former Peterborough Lady Died in Brampton Yesterday.

News of the death in Brampton yesterday of Mrs. John McMurchy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Joy, who were former residents of Peterborough, and well known in the Fifth Ward, was received in town yesterday, and will cause sincere regret to the many friends of the deceased lady here. The fact that her death came suddenly makes it all the more to be regretted. She was taken ill on Monday with what was thought to be inflammation, but which was afterwards found to be appendicitis. An operation was decided upon and performed on Wednesday, but Mrs. McMurchy was unable to stand the strain, and she passed away yesterday. There are left to mourn her loss a husband and three children, the youngest about six months of age. Four brothers besides her parents also survive her.

The late Mrs. McMurchy, who was better known in Peterborough as Ida Joy, went to Brampton to reside upon her marriage with Mr. McMurchy some years ago, and about fifteen months ago her father and mother went to that town to live.

Mrs. Alex. Dawson of town is an aunt of the deceased, and Miss Alice Dawson leaves this afternoon on the 5.10 train for Brampton to attend the funeral, which will take place tomorrow.

A PROTEST FROM PETERBOROUGH EAST.

Object to Being Called "Fifth Ward" and Want to be Considered a Part of Peterborough.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The women of Peterborough East object very much to their part of the town being called "Fifth Ward." It has not a pretty sound and the other parts of the town are not designated in that way; then why should we be? As we are annexed to Peterborough please call us by that name that we may not feel in any way separated from you. We are certain that in future you will do your best to comply with the wishes of the

WOMEN OF PETEERBOROUGH EAST

The Examiner has endeavoured since the union on January 1st, to refrain from referring to the newly-annexed portion of the town as "Ashburnham," and "Fifth Ward" has been used, because it was thought that by its use the fact that the former village had become part of the town, would be recognized. This paper is very desirous of avoiding the error of separating the older portion of the town from the new, and has thought that by using the term "Fifth Ward" the idea would be conveyed that it was a part of the town.

This might be a subject on which divergent views may be held, and the Examiner will be glad to receive communications from residents of over-the-river portion of the town on the term they would prefer to have used when referring to that section of Peterborough.

REALIZATION OF THE ALCHEMIST'S DREAM.

Prof. McClennan's Interesting Lecture on Radium.

Under the Auspices of the Fortnightly Club Last Night The Transmutation of Metals.

Prof. McClennan of Toronto University, delivered an absorbingly interesting lecture on radium last night under the auspices of the Fortnightly club in the Y.M.C.A. Hall. Notwithstanding the very short notice given, the lecture attracted a great number of persons, the hall being taxed to its capacity, many so anxious to hear something about this wonderful discovery, standing throughout the lecture, a period of two hours.

Professor McClennan showed himself to be a most enthusiastic scientist, of great ability, and well versed in all that had been learned about radium. He spoke intermittently for about two hours, his talk only being broken by the many experiments he performed. The lecture was illustrated throughout by limelight views, and the audience scarcely moved from the time when he began his discourse until after its conclusion.

The speaker was introduced by the President of the Fortnightly Club, Rev. J. C. Davidson, and began with an explanation of the theories of the early alchemists regarding the then supposed transmutation of metals. This idea was cherished through many ages, and the general theory was repeatedly ridiculed, but still for centuries the chief thought of the alchemist (the transmutation of metals) was never forgotten. In the nineteenth century Farraday, with remarkable boldness, announced his views along the same lines as those expressed by the early alchemists. He believed in the final realization of the transmutation of metals. In 1815 Prof. Prout had also suggested that all kinds of matter might consist of parts of some medium substance. He believed all substances were made of hydrogen and were created according to the different quantities of that gas present. Sir William Crook was the first to put the later day physicists on the high road to the discovery of radium. He discovered what are termed Cathode Rays. These rays have the following properties: They travel in straight lines, excite intense heat, excite flourescence and can be deflected by a magnet. As late as 1895 a young physicist, Gleonard, showed that these rays would pass through aluminum and that they would affect a photographine plate. He said that these rays must of necessity consist of particles of matter, and further that they must be smaller than the molecules of air as they passed through a metal which air did not work through. Further, he theoried that since they could be deflected by a magnet they must be electrified particles and still further that it must be negatively charged electrified matter. Gleonard later discovered that these particles had a velocity of 18,000 miles per second, per second.

Now their actual mass has been ascertained and is less than 1-1000 of an atom of hydrogen.

The learned professor continued with an exact explanation of the Roentgen Rays or X Rays, pointing out the difference between them and the Cathode Rays.

Continuing, Prof. McClennan said that nobody had ever seen radium. Its compounds with bromine and cholorane had been seen. Its atomic weight was estimated at 257.8, thus showing it to be the heaviest substance yet known. The many experiments he did with radium bromide were most interesting and at the conclusion of the lecture Rev. W. J. Jolliffe moved, seconded by Mr. R. B. Rogers, a hearty vote of thanks to Prof. McClennan for his delightful discourse. The audience showed its hearty approval in the usual manner and the lecturer appropriately replied.

It is a matter of pleasant observation that the Fortnightly Club does not merely endeavour to give interesting and entertaining lectures, but to give to the Peterborough public, free of charge, the opportunity of getting an elementary knowledge of something of which they know little or nothing.

WINDOW A SOURCE OF ADMIRATION.

Artistic Display of Dr Pierce's Medicines in Nugent's Drug Store.

The show window of Nugent's drug store, was to-day a source of great attraction and admiration to the crowds which thronged George street. The window was very artistically dressed for the advertising of Dr. Pierce's well-known and justly-celebrated medicines. The various tonics well well-displayed, and a good photograph of Dr. Pierce was in the foreground. So much for the material advertisement. The window was heavily draped at the back and very prettily decorated with red, white and blue paper rosettes, while well to the fore were the red ensign of Britain and the Star-Spangled Banner of the United States.

This artistic triumph was the work of Mr. A. Fowler, to whom great credit is due. Mr. Fred Roy took a photograph of the window this this morning and the print will be sent to Dr. Pierce's dispensary in Buffalo, and enter into the competition open to all Canada for the best dressed window advertising their medicines.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

THE EDUCATION of the rising generation is perhaps the thing above all others which we cannot afford to neglect, and any new system which promises to give greater efficiency must be seriously considered. It is seldom that from the United States any suggested improvement in educational institution comes, but there seems to be one exception to this rule. Mention has already been made in these columns of a system of Public School teaching known as the Individual Instructor, or Two-Teacher System, and a study of the fundamentals of this plan discloses much merit in it. Mr. J. J. Hartley, the chairman of the Board of Education, was in Batavia, N.Y., recently and and while there interviewed the originator of the system, Prof. Kennedy, and the result of that interview is that Mr. Hartley has been converted to the system, and believes that its adoption would prove beneficial to the youth of the land. He points out a fact which everyone who has at any time in his life been n school boy knows, that there are in every school scholars who are not as ready to learn as others, and to whom some special attention must be paid by the teacher, if they are to progress as they should. It is not fair to those who are more apt, that they should be retarded in their studies in order that those who learn more slowly may be accommodated. To obviate this the two-teacher system has been inaugurated, and it has proven a success, according to the evidence of those who have given it a trial. One of the two teachers in the room is delegated to give his or her attention to the scholars who are not as quick to learn as others, while the class teacher gives the regular lessons. It has been the experience of many that the boys who have been slow at school have developed into the brightest men, and the new system is designed to, as far as possible, place all scholars upon the same basis.

• • •

THE WORLD DO MOVE, and in this day of Clubs, Societies, Associations and the like, the proposition to form a Peterborough Press Association is one which will doubtless commend itself to the fraternity, and one which if it is carried out will result in further cementing the ties which already bind the members of local press. Perhaps in no city in Canada do the members of the press work in greater harmony than in Peterborough, and there is reason to believe that were an association formed combining in its membership the business and editorial staffs of the different daily papers in town, the result of such a union would be beneficial both to the members and to the public. There are questions continually arising in a place of the importance of Peterborough in which the press by a collaboration of ideas and a co-operation of energy might materially advance the interest of the town. It must be confessed that the press of Peterborough has shown a loyalty to the town which might be profitably imitated by the press of other towns, and in the proposal made to form an association, there are evidences that the town's interests are in the way of being still better served. This scheme will probably be launched at a Press dinner which it is proposed to hold in the near future.

WITH THE MERCURY hovering around twenty degrees below zero, the coal bin empty, and no means of replenishing the supply, the prospect is not one conducive to an easy frame of mind, but luckily there are not many in Peterborough who find themselves in this condition, thanks to the foresight of the local coal merchants, who, early in the season, purchased good supplies of coal. But, with the continued cold weather and the freight tie up, the local situation is not a reassuring one. The Mayor, however, has taken action, which, it is believed, will bear fruit, and in wiring the general freight agent of the C.P.R., asking that all coal billed to Peterborough be rushed forward as early as possible, has probably averted a fuel famine, which might have resulted rather seriously to the town. There never has been such a winter as the present, and there are many who will hope most earnestly that there will never be another in which the conditions will equal those experienced this winter, and perhaps those who are expressing this wish with greatest fervour are the railway managers, who have been forced to witness the accumulated profits of an extraordinarily good fall's business, dwindle away in keeping the roads clear of ice and snow during the the most trying winter in the history of Canadian railways.

LIBERALITY IN GIVING to support the Gospel, formed the subject of a number of letters from former Peterborough residents who are now living in Manitoba and the Northwest, who, with commendable loyalty, defended the spirit of liberality which characterizes western Canadians. Those writers, and those of whom they wrote, however, had the principles of liberality inculcated in their lives before they left the east, and in no place is that desire to support institutions whose objects are those of benefitting humanity, more general, than Peterborough, the evidence of which is found in the beautiful and costly churches, the Y.M.C.A. building, and other similar institutions. In to-day's issue notice is taken of the fact that a certain church had reduced its debt by $14,000 in less than four years, and that before the end of that period $2,000 more would be lopped off the amount standing against it. This should be sufficient evidence that the era of prosperity has also had its effect on the liberality with which churches are supported.

The scratch of a pin may cause the loss of a limb or even death when blood poisoning results from the injury. All danger of this may be avoided, however, by promptly applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I longed for health. Tried several medicines but none were of any lasting benefit until I took Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I soon realized that I had found the right remedy. It helped nature to throw off the poisons that saturated the system, removed all pains and strengthened the digestive organs, and brought the roses of health back to my cheeks. This medicine if taken occasionally keeps the system in perfect condition, helping it to throw off the disease and consequences of exposure to dampness. I am pleased to give it my endorsement."

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Senior Game for Monday Night—St. George will be Here—Latest News of Sport.

ST. GEORGE SENIORS HERE ON MONDAY.

Will Play a Game With Local Senior Team Which Will be Fast.

On Monday night the Brock street rink will be the scene of one of the fastest hockey games ever seen on local ice. After considerable difficulty the management has secured the St. Georges' senior O.H.A. team to play a game with the local senior team. The St. Georges are city champions of Toronto, and will bring their fastest team here on Monday. A number of the late champion Wellington players are this year on the St. Georges, including Chadwick, McLaren, Chummy Hill, and others, and they have played good hockey. The Peterborough team has a good reputation in Toronto, and there is a belief there that it will pretty nearly take the best city team to defeat them, consequently they will send down the best seven they can get together. The local team is in good shape and will give the best of them a good run. The game will be fast, and full of excitement from start to finish.

CONTEST FOR THE SYKES TROPHY.

Wm. Hamilton and Quaker Teams Will Pull for it To-night.

To-night at eight o'clock, in the drill shed, the tug-of-war contest for the Sykes Trophy between the present holders of the cup, the Quakers, and the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company's team, the challengers. This is the first time that the latter team have attempted to win the trophy, and as they have a good strong team, there will be some interesting contests to-night between them and the present holders. The challengers have been working hard to get themselves into shape, and now feel confident of being able to carry off the pewter, while the holders are equally confident of being able to hold it. The contest to-night will be an interesting one, and doubtless will be witnessed by a large number of supporters of the two teams.

A SERIOUS LOSS TO THE O. H. A.

Is That Caused by Resignation of Mr. Frank Nelson.

Few persons who have an interest in pure amateur sport can but regret the fact that the O.H.A. has lost the services of Mr. Frank Nelson, who is regarded as one of the best sporting men in Canada, and whose presence on the O.H.A. Executive in the capacity of 1st Vice-President was considered as being an element of strength to the Association. Mr. Nelson resigned from the Executive in his support of a principle which he believed was being violated in the reinstatement of Peel, of London, who had been professionalized, and whose application for reinstatement has been regularly turned down by the O.H.A. Mr. Nelson is not a man who acts in a matter of this kind hastily, and there is good reason to believe that it was only after thoroughly satisfying himself that a grievous mistake was being made by the Executive that he decided to resign from the committee.

It is to be hoped that the committee will yet see the error it has made and that its case will be reopened, and the action taken at the previous meeting revoked.

MR. F. NELSON ON MR. COX'S LETTER.

Says he Resigned for Reasons Which Doubtless Mr. Cox Would not Care to Have Made Public.

Mr. A. B. Cox, of London, writes a letter to the Toronto papers, in which he seeks to justify the reinstatement of Harry Peel, one of the reasons given being that a letter from a clergyman spoke of him as being a Christian gentleman.

Mr. Frank Nelson gave the following statement with reference to the letter:—

"Mr. Cox's statement is not a presentation of the issue at all. I tendered my resignation, not because of the reinstatement of a professional, who admitted himself one — which the Guelph Nationals never did — but for reasons far more seriously affecting the policy and usefulness of the O.H.A. executive, as a governing body. If the statement to reinstating a professional were an issue, it would be a simple one for such as accept Mr. Cox's idea, that, if he belongs to your club and has a certificate of good character from a clergyman, the $20 a week professional is entitled to membership in an amateur association. However good intentions, repentance after getting the cash, and clergymen's certificates are not ordinarily accepted in lieu of admission tickets where tickets are required, and the ticket for admission to the O.H.A. is qualification as an amateur. This Peel has not, but instead offers a certificate that he is a thorough Christian gentleman. There is nothing in the O.H.A. regulations which says that a Christian gentleman may play hockey for $20 a week and become an amateur again as soon as he wants to, and can organize sufficient "pull." Nor can I recollect that when we were investigating that disreputable London affair a few years ago, and were met on every hand by the most audacious forgery and perjury in the effort to conceal the truth from us, we had the slightest assistance from this thorough Christian gentleman, who, even if he did not know the "ringer" at the time, was undoubtedly aware of the fraud afterwards and before the investigation closed. So much for that appeal, but, as I have said, the point at issue was something of graver importance than the reinstatement of Peel, and I offered my resignation for reasons which Mr. Cox would probably not like to have made public."

MAX. WILEY READY FOR TUESDAY'S EVENT.

Will Meet the American Champion in Good Condition.

Max Wiley, who is to wrestle George Kennedy on Tuesday night for the American championship in the 135 pound class, arrived in town to-day and will finish his training at the Oriental Gymnasium. He is in good condition and will give a splendid account of himself on Tuesday. Kennedy, who now holds the championship is also in first class condition, and will need to be as Wiley is determined to win back the belt representing the championship which Kennedy took from him. A Montreal paper in commenting on the match in that city said:

"Though Kennedy won and Montrealers are glad of it, it must be acknowledged that Wiley is his superior in the game. He is stronger, quicker, and his long experience shows itself in his neat style. Cool and confident, he knows all the tricks in the game, and there is no hesitation in his movements. First one trick and then another, and so on. He is certainly a marvel.

But Kennedy is a good man and Wiley's own words are his best commendation. After the first go Wiley was asked what he thought of Kennedy. "The best man of his weight I have ever met," was his reply. If Kennedy had some experience in matches with crackerjacks like Wiley, he would be on the top of the heap."

In one of the preliminary events Dave Belland will box Kelly, of Auburn, in a six-round bout for the amateur championship of Peterborough. There is considerable interest being manifested in this event and the North-enders are backing their man, while the Southerners are equally sure that Belland will come out victor.

SUCCESS OF FORMER PETERBOROUGH MAN.

Mr James Noble Attaining Prominence in Engineering Circles.

It is always a pleasure to the Examiner to chronicle the success of Peterborough men, or those who were former residents of this town or county, and it is with this feeling that this paper gives some facts concerning the progress of Mr James Noble, who left Peterborough some time ago for Toronto, where he now holds a position on the engineering staff of the Toronto Asylum. Mr. Noble has studied industriously to master the engineering profession and that he has succeeded in such a large degree is a fact which is to his credit.

Recently he has attained some prominence as a writer on engineering subjects. "Power," of New York, a leading engineering journal, and "The Engineer," of Chicago, are two of the publications which have paid for articles written by Mr. Noble, and the March number of "Power" will contain a further article. The subjects treated in these articles are those of Steam Heating, Hydraulic Engineering and Steam Engineering.

A further recognition of Mr. Noble's work is found in the fact illustrated by an extract from a letter to him from the International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa.:—

"Dear Sir.—Replying to your favour of Jan. 22nd, we beg to say that we take pleasure in accepting your work, and shall have it handsomely bound for the St. Louis Exhibition."

This recognition of merit must be pleasing to Mr. Noble, as it is to his many friends here.

WORLD'S OLDEST LEGISLATOR

Hon. Senator Wark Celebrates Hundredth Anniversary of His Birth To-day—To-timonial From Fredericton.

St. John, N.B., Feb. 19.—Hon. L. J. Tweedie, Premier of New Brunswick, is here and will go to Fredericton to-day to take part in a testimonial to the Senator David Wark, of that city, who will be 100 years old to-day, the oldest Legislator in the world. Public recognition of the anniversary of the venerable Senator is to be made by the Fredericton City Council this afternoon, when an address will be presented to him.

SENATOR DAVID WARK.

Not Afraid to Endorse It.

People have learned to have such confidence in Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for every form of piles that they do not hesitate to endorse it at every opportunity. As a result Dr. Chase's Ointment is probably recommended by more persons than any preparation on the market to-day. There is no guess work about its effects—relief is prompt and cure certain.

Toronto's Municipal Scandal.

Toronto, Feb. 19.—The leading feature of the evidence at the civic investigation yesterday was the story related by Joseph Hazelton, druggist, Yonge street, of the perambulations of himself in company with Controller Richardson, Ald. Ramsden, Ald. Maguire and a Mr. Nichols, or Nicholson through the Ward on the night before the election, winding up at the colored church just as the watch-nights services terminated. Mr. Hazelton said he was working for Controller Loudon and Ald. Ramsden, but admitted he did a little on Controller Richardson's behalf. He was severely reprimanded by the Judge for evasive answering, and Mr. Riddell said as he left the box that he would have him back again. Mr. Riddell also said during the day that he proposed to find out where the large sums of money paid came from.

FIREBRANDS' TALK

Russian Warriors Discuss Possibility of War With Britain.

KAISER WRITES THE CZAR

Great Britain's Attitude Was Its Especial Text—Germany's Unreserved Support Counted Upon in Russian Official Circles—A New Tripartite Arrangement Suggested

Paris, Feb. 19. — The Figaro this morning publishes a telegram said to be from a high Russian official and sent from the frontier, saying that Col. Von Schenck, the commander of the Emperor Alexander Regiment of the German Guards, of which the Czar is honorary colonel-in-chief, was received by the Czar on Monday and handed to His Majesty an autograph letter from Emperor William on the war in the Far East, and especially on the subject of Great Britain's attitude.

Continuing, The Figaro's informant says, official circles in Russia continue to count on Germany's unreserved support, and discuss openly the possible change of the equilibrium of Europe, which might result from the grouping together of Russia, Germany and France, taken in connection with the anti-British feeling.

The increasing possibility of war with Great Britain is discussed without reserve in Russian military circles. Rear-Admiral Rojestvenski, chief of the general staff of the navy, has said it was impossible, according to the Russian official who telegraphs The Figaro, to send to Port Arthur all the naval officers who want to go there, because they may be required in the Baltic. In conclusion, this official says the whereabouts of Viceroy Alexieff has been unknown for three days past, and that the official telegrams are received without signature.

Russia Surprised at May.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 19.—An official of the Government yesterday said that he was surprised May had closed his note without waiting for Russia's reply. He said: "There is no doubt the Government feels somewhat embarrassed by the desire of the United States to instal consuls in the open ports of Manchuria immediately. The Government does not like to be placed in the position of putting obstacles in the way, but that entire territory is now under military control and these posts would be within the sphere of the operations. Furthermore, trade is at a standstill at present, and the authorities cannot comprehend why Washington should press this matter now; none of the other powers is seeking to take immediate advantage of the privileges accorded by the Japanese treaties.

"As far as concerns Port Dalny, to which place an American commercial agent has been appointed, the situation is even worse, as it is not impossible that the military authorities will soon request all foreigners to leave there."

Baltic Fleet Stays at Home.

Copenhagen, Feb. 19.—Notwithstanding all previous circumstantial statements, it is not the intention of the Russian Government to despatch the Baltic fleet on its long journey to the Far East. On the contrary, it will be retained in northern waters, pending eventualities. In view of possible European complications, Russia feels that to denude the Baltic of all naval strength might expose her to serious peril.

Consternation in Russia.

Berlin, Feb. 19.—Consternation prevails throughout Russia over the rapid spread of the revolutionary movement. The secret societies everywhere recognize that the opportunity for decisive action may come at any moment, and the authorities are appalled at the evidences of disaffection which meet them on all sides. Russia's internal stability was never so precarious and is causing the Government the most anxious consideration.

FALL FAIRS ASSOCIATION.

Education of Young Farmers Rather Than Entertainment the Key Note.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Fairs and Exhibitions was opened yesterday afternoon in the City Hall. About 150 delegates were present from all parts of the province. J. T. Murphy, of Simcoe, president of the Association, occupied the chair, and delivered his annual address. He was in favor of the policy to educate rather than entertain. Capt. W. F. McMaster read a report on Agricultural Society statistics, but said he was unable to complete it on account of not having received reports from ninety-five societies in the province. Mr. Creelman said the Government would be perfectly justified in withholding the annual grant to any society that failed to make their reports. A resolution was passed looking in this direction. G. C. Creelman, Superintendent of Agricultural Societies, read his annual report, which noted a marked improvement in live stock and gave statistics showing the great increase in values. A general discussion followed.

Dr. A. W. Bell then read an address on "Pointers on Keeping Fair Books," illustrating it by printed forms for records.

Too Many Small Shows.

At the evening session the chair was taken by Hon. John Dryden, who made a short opening address. He dwelt on the large number of small fairs which were shows. In his riding they had not had township shows for years and would not think of holding them again. Fairs should be kept clean. He wished to see more public spiritedness on the part of young men and this could be greatly increased by clean exhibitions.

Addresses were delivered by Prof. Day of Guelph, Rev. C. B. Clarke of Russell, W. E. Smallfield of Renfrew, and others.

Hon. Mr. Dryden closed the meeting with a reference to the cost of expert judges. He asked that the societies should endeavor to keep the expense within the limits of the $80,000 granted to fairs.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Jas. Atwell's Lumbago and Bladder Trouble.

He is Strong and Healthy now, but Will Never be Without the Great Kidney Remedy in the House.

Campbellford, Ont., Feb. 19th. — (Special,) — Permanently cured of Lumbago and Bladder Trouble, with which he had suffered for years, Jas. Atwell, a well known resident of this place, is not slow to give the entire credit to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I could get no relief until I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills and they cured me," is the way Mr. Atwell put it when interviewed. "I had been troubled with severe pains in my bladder and in passing my urine would shurt me so that the tears would almost come to my eyes. I used medicine and a bandage prescribed by the doctor but could get no relief. I also had Lumbago. A course of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me, and I have had no trouble since. I will never be without Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have made many another cure in this neighbourhood. They are a family medicine in nearly every home, and people declare them to be a sure cure for any form of Kidney Complaint, as well as the greatest tonic in the world.

Japan Takes Russia's Place.

St. Louis, Feb. 18.—As Russia has abandoned her proposed exhibit at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, Mr. Hajimeota, assistant Commissioner General from Japan, announces that every foot of exhibit space that is given up by Russia will be applied for by Japan.

THE ROOT AND THE FRUIT

Bu-Ju is not a remedy for symptoms. It is a cure for disease. Disordered Kidneys will produce many troubles, among which may be mentioned Rheumatism. Sick kidneys cannot properly perform their functions; hence the system is flooded with uric acid and rheumatism in its various forms is the result. Bu-Ju cures rheumatism, because it cures the cause of rheumatism, Disordered Kidneys; for same reason it cures dropsy, blood poison, weak heart, loss of ambition, sleeplessness, brain fag, failing memory irritable temper, sallow complexion, bad breath, lame back, and a hundred and one ailments that spring from disordered kidneys, which is the root of the evil. You may pluck the leaves of a rank weed, or cut its stem, but so long as you leave the root it bears new fruit and spreads until its extermination is almost impossible. If you are suffering from any of the above troubles you cannot afford to neglect them. Neglect means misery, for what joy is there in living without good health? Bu-Ju, the Kidney Pill, has restored thousands and it can do the same for you.

Preston, October 7, 1903.

The Claflin Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.
Dear Sirs:—I have used a box of Bu-Ju Pills and have been greatly benefited by them. I was troubled with piles for years and tried several kinds of medicine, without getting any relief, but I have had no trouble with them since I took the third box of Bu-Ju. I still take them whenever I can get them and I recommend them to all my friends. Yours sincerely,
MRS. GEORGE BOEMAN.

We Will Buy

A 50c. Bottle of Liquozone and Give it to You to Try.

Liquozone is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. It is the only way to end the cause of any germ disease. It is also a vitalizing tonic with which no other product can compare.

It is new in America, and millions who need it don't know of it. For that reason, we make this remarkable offer. We will buy the first bottle and give it to you if you need it. We will do this gladly to let the product itself show you what it can do.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquozone—the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, in this country and others. We paid it because Liquozone does what all the skill in the world cannot do without it. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Every physician knows that medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

Not Medicine

Liquozone is the result of a process which, for more than 20 years, has been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. Its virtues are derived solely from gas, made in large part from the best oxygen producers. By a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time, these gases are made part of the liquid product.

The result is a product that does what oxygen does; and oxygen is the very source of vitality, the most essential element of life. The effects of Liquozone are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetable matter. That is why Liquozone kills every disease germ, and with a product which to the human body is life.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.

WAR NOTES.

May Join About March 4.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 19.—Owing to existing conditions in the field and difficulties in the way of providing suitable accommodations, Viceroy Alexieff has recommended that the foreign military attaches should not join the Russian army until about March 4, and the Viceroy's views on this matter will be communicated to the Governments which have applied for the privilege of observing the war from the Russian side.

No official announcement has yet been made regarding the report from Tokio that a second Japanese torpedo attack at Port Arthur has taken place. There are reports here, but they lack official confirmation that this attack was made.

Port Arthur Besieged.

Paris, Feb. 19.—An eminent military authority connected with one of the embassies said yesterday that Port Arthur was practically besieged, and it was a serious question whether this would not compel either during the bombardment of Feb. 9, the abandonment or the surrender of the fortress with its men and materials.

Repairs Proceeding Rapidly.

Port Arthur, Feb. 19.—The repairs to the Russian warships damaged are rapidly proceeding. The Czarevitch, Retvizan and Pallada will soon rejoin the fleet. The work is being carried on with the aid of caissons. The mishap was not so great as it might have been.

British For Far East.

Hamilton, Feb. 19.—A local broker who represents Japan and India tea houses claims that he has a private message saying that 14 British regiments and 60 batteries of artillery, consisting of 16,000 men, were being sent to St. John. From here the message says they will be sent across the continent by C.P.R. to Esquimalt.

Firemen Breathed Poison Fumes.

Toronto, Feb. 19.—At midnight Fireman Arthur Potter of Hose 1 was reported to be steadily sinking from the effects of the poisoning of the nitric acid fumes at Wednesday's small fire in the Toronto Engraving Company. Cecil Stewart, also of Hose 1, is also in a critical condition, and Foreman William Russell of aerial No. 2 is in a serious condition from pneumonia. The others are off duty, but improving. The fire occurred through the explosion of glass jars in which were contained the nitric acid used in making zinc cuts.

Fireman Arthur Potter succumbed at 3 o'clock this morning.

Fell Down Elevator Shaft.

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—B. T. A. Bell, editor of The Mining Review, sustained severe injuries yesterday, and was taken to the hospital. He walked into an elevator shaft on the ground floor of Orme's building, Spark street, and fell to the basement. He has a broken arm and a fracture at the base of the skull.

Admiral Vesey Dead

London, Feb. 19.—(C. A. P.)—Admiral Vesey is dead, at the age of 81. He conveyed the Prince of Wales between Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and assisted at the opening of the navigation of the St. Lawrence up to Montreal.

Convicts, Mutineers' Prisoners.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Feb 19.—About 200 laborers and convicts at Chatham, Galapagos Islands, belonging to Ecuador, recently mutinied and killed Leonardo Reina, the Governor of the islands, and several others. The mutineers also committed robberies and destroyed valuable property. The assassins fled in a schooner to Tumaco, on the coast of Colombia, where they were captured and handed over to the Ecuadorian authorities. The prisoners will arrive here to-day, and will probably be shot. A German named Hansen was the leader of the mutiny.

Preferences to Canada.

London, Feb. 19.—(C. A. P.)—The Governor of British Guiana announces that a 10 per cent. remission of duties in favor of Britain and Canada has been granted, costing the revenue of the colony $38,000 and $5,400 respectively.

King to Roberts.

London, Feb. 19.—A special army order was issued last evening in which King Edward in highly eulogistic language takes leave of Lord Roberts as Commander-in-Chief of the Army.

THE GOLDEN TREES

$200,000,000 is the Estimated Worth of Our Uncut Pine.

MR. DAVIS' GREAT SPEECH

With Ten Billion Feet of Pine Unsold, He Points Out That the Timber Resources of Ontario Are By No Means Exhausted Another Forest Reserve- Farm Reforestry in Old Ontario.

Toronto, Feb. 19.—An effective answer to the oft-repeated statement of the Opposition that the Government has wasted the timber resources of the Province, and that practically all the pine has been exhausted, was given by Hon. E. J. Davis, the Commissioner of Crown Lands, in his speech in the budget debate in the Legislature yesterday. A low estimate, Mr. Davis said, showed that there was still ten billion feet of good white pine standing on the Crown lands of Ontario, sufficient to permit twenty such sales as that which took place in December last. In bonuses on this the Province would realize probably $75,000,000, and the dues alone would amount to at least $20,000,000. The dues from the timber under license previous to the last sale averaged $800,000 a year, and that would continue for many years to come.

Important Announcements.

Mr. Davis also made several important Government announcements. Another forest reserve of 3,000 square miles in the Mississaga district, between the main line of the C.P.R. and the Soo branch of that road, has been set aside, making the total reservation of virgin forest in the Province 9,000 square miles. Regulations for the cutting of mature trees on these reserves, which are being formulated, Mr. Davis estimated, would add several million dollars a year to the value of timber of the Province, giving as large a revenue as is now received from the Crown lands. The Commissioner also foreshadowed the introduction of a measure by the Minister of Agriculture, providing for Government aid to the reforesting of the farms in the older portions of the Province.

Erroneous Statements Nailed.

Those paragraphs of Mr. Davis' speech respecting the timber of the Province were especially interesting. In discussing them, Mr. Davis said that Mr. Matheson's admission that there was probably enough timber in the Province to permit of two or three sales such as that of last December was somewhat surprising in view of the fact that six years ago the leader of the Opposition and his supporters had stated in various parts of the country that the timber resources of the Province were exhausted. Mr. Davis quoted some of these statements. The Opposition leader was reported as saying, "The timber resources of the Province were all but exhausted, in a few days the sale of almost the last tract would be advertised." A little later at Shelburne the Opposition leader said, "The last of the timber lands were disposed of three weeks ago." The member for West York was reported as making similar statements. This only showed what rash and erroneous statements were sometimes made by hon. gentlemen opposite.

Amount of Pine Still Unsold.

"Anyone looking at this matter fairly," continued Mr. Davis, "will agree that it is not easy to make an exact estimate of the pine standing in the Province, but the estimates made by the department, going back for a good many years, if they have erred at all have erred on the safe side. Our general estimates show that we can say, without any hesitation or doubt, that there is standing on the ground belonging to the people of this Province, and not including the last sale at all, at least ten billion feet of good white pine still unsold. We consider this a very low estimate. That would make sufficient to have at least twenty sales like the one held on December 9 last, and at a moderate estimate we would realize through bonuses from those sales probably seventy-five millions of dollars. (Applause.)

Revenue From Dues.

"The dues prior to the last sale were increased from $1.25 to $2 per thousand, and the dues on that sale will amount to $1,000,000 at least. The dues on the ten billion feet would give us at least twenty million dollars. Then we have the dues coming in from timber under license previous to the last sale, which comprises very large areas. We have received during the last three years in dues alone an average of $800,000—one year it was $1,000,000—and that will continue for a good many years to come." (Applause.) Hon. gentlemen opposite when they could find no fault with any particular policy fell back upon the statement that it was their own policy. They said that the practice of selling small berths was taken from their policy. In the last two or three sales the same system had been in vogue, and it had been increased in order to give the small mills an opportunity to obtain supplies for their local requirements. A search of the journals of the House from confederation failed to reveal a motion by hon. gentlemen opposite expressing an opinion in favor of the sale of small berths.

A Hardwood Policy.

Our pulpwood was a matter of some importance. From explorations it had been ascertained that there were at least 300,000,000 cords of pulpwood standing upon the Crown lands. At the low estimate of 25 cents per cord it would net $75,000,000 to the treasury. Its location was nearly all shown by the reports of the colonization parties that went out in 1900. In addition to pine and pulpwood we had large bodies of hemlock standing in the Province, and various kinds of hardwoods, which would bring in revenue. On lands located by settlers we got no revenue from the hardwood. The department often received letters asking if something could not be done to insure a supply of hardwood for the factories using it in their products. If something could be done in this regard it would be very desirable. There were areas, unsuitable for agriculture, upon which there were quantities of this class of timber. Since 1887 hardwood had been exempted from cutting. It would be the Government's duty to make an effort to see whether some policy could not be submitted with this end in view.

The Government proposed to ascertain the amount of timber on the islands in Lake Temigami. It was proposed to ascertain how these islands can be made available for tourist traffic.

Laborers For Ontario Farms.

After dealing with the cost of immigration, he said the Government was doing something to relieve the scarcity of farm laborers in Ontario. About 2,000 were found employment on farms in the province, and altogether about 5,000 were provided for. This year applications for farm help were coming in very rapidly. During the last week the number was about 50 a day.

He thought the country should congratulate itself on the financial condition of the province and on the prospect of receiving $200,000,000 from our timber lands.

Mr. C. B. Powell, Dr. J. O. Reaume and Dr. M. James also spoke on the budget. Mr. D. Sutherland moved the adjournment.

Shot By Hired Man.

Winnipeg, Feb. 19.—Capt. F. St. G. Gore, who resides near Minnedosa, was attacked by a neighbor's hired man named Sidney Wagstaff, with an axe last evening. He was disarmed and drew a revolver, shooting Gore in the side. The extent of his injuries cannot be ascertained. Constables went out from Minnedosa to arrest his assailant. The injured man arrived from England last spring.

Dr Jameson a Cabinet Maker.

Cape Town, Feb. 19.—Sir John Gordon Sprigg, who was defeated in the Parliamentary election recently held in East London (which he had represented for nearly thirty years), has resigned the premiership. Dr. Jameson of raid fame, the leader of the Progressives, has been summoned to form a new Cabinet.

Permanent Police Posts.

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—It is intended early in May to send up a steamer with coal and additional food supplies for the Canadian expedition in Hudson Bay. The Neptune is not expected back till November. The Government intends to establish permanent police posts on the shores of Hudson Bay.

$500 REWARD! FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

The Vice-President Independent Order of Good Templars.

An experience which many women have was related by Miss Agnes Stebbings of 211 East 24th Street, New York City, as follows: "I had very poor health for a year until life looked dark and dreary to me. Had headaches backache, also pain, my sleep was broken and fitful. I longed for health. Tried several medicines but none were of any lasting benefit until I took Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I soon realized that I had found the right remedy. It helped nature to throw off the poisons that saturated the system, removed all pains and strengthened the digestive organs, and brought the roses of health back to my cheeks. This medicine if taken occasionally keeps the system in perfect condition, helping it to throw off the disease and consequences of exposure to dampness. I am pleased to give it my endorsement."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

It talks, sings, reproduces piano, violin, banjo, cornet or trombone; full brass band or orchestra, church choir or chime bells. It will play for you to dance to. It will sing hymns or repeat sermons. "A child can operate it." It is not only a source of pleasure, but of profit. It teaches you to appreciate and familiarizes you with the latest and best in-music. All this in your own home and at a merely nominal cost. It would cost a fortune in time and money to hear in person one-tenth of the great artists who have made records for the Gram-o-phone—their voices and styles are yours, true to life, on the Gram-o-phone. FUEL SITUATION IS NOW RELIEVED.

A Carload of Coal Received in Town This Afternoon.

The Famine is Raised More Coal Expected in the Course of a few Days.

Kind Providence has come to Peterborough's aid and the sudden breaking up of the very cold weather has probably averted what would have been a most serious coal famine. For the past month no coal has reached Peterborough, owing to snow drifts crippling the freight service, on both the Grand Trunk and C.P.R. lines. At the beginning of the week, with the thermometer at 20 degrees below zero, the situation was beginning to get acute and even the coal merchants expected most serious results. Mayor Roger on being informed of the fuel situation wired the C.P.R. freight manager at Toronto to have all coal on his line consigned to Peterborough, rushed. Immediately the weather began to break up, freights started to move and at a late hour this afternoon the first carload of coal came in. The remainder will be rushed along as fast as possible and all can rest assured that the situation, bad as it was, has now been relieved.

THE DAVIDSONS IN FANCY SKATING.

John and Mabel Davidson to be Here Next Thursday.

Next Thursday night at Brock street rink, John Davidson and his sister, Mabel, of St. Paul, Minn., will give exhibitions of fancy skating. These skaters have been touring Canada during this winter, and everywhere they have given exhibitions which have pleased those who saw them. The management was fortunate in securing them for a night, and next Thursday they will give their exhibition here. This will be one of the best attractions seen at the rink this season, and no one should miss it.

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

The Fluctuations of the Leading Stocks

The Wall Street market was a sickly and uninteresting affair this morning but the Chicago grain market assumed a very spectacular aspect. May wheat opened at 102 3-4 and after running up to 107 closed at 105 3-4. July wheat both new and old was correspondingly strong the high on the old option being 96 5-8 and on the new option 95 5-8. The volume of trading was large and the wheat pit in Chicago was on the verge of a panic.

There will be no New York or Chicago markets on Monday in honour of the anniversary of Washington's birthday.

The Examiner's New Story.

On Monday the Examiner will commence the publication of a new story, and one than which there has been no more interesting piece of fiction published. "Purified by Suffering" by Mary Holmes, has had a phenomenal sale in book form and the Examiner is fortunate in securing the right to publish this story in its columns. The plot is one which will interest the reader right from the first chapter, and no one should miss the opening columns which will appear on Monday.

BANKS IN SCHOOLS

Education Department Asked to Authorize Them.

FOR SAVINGS OF CHILDREN

Government to Revise the Fees of Magistrates—Trouble Over Interprovincial Game Regulations Due to Quebec Law—St. Joe Railway Land Grants Revised—Bill Respecting Houses of Refuge.

Toronto, Feb. 20.—The expansion of the system of savings banks in the public schools was brought to the attention of the Legislature yesterday by Mr. T. H. Preston of South Brant. The system had proved most satisfactory, he said, in inculcating the principles of industry, thrift and economy, and he urged that the Education Department authorize its extension, and relieve the public school trustees of the personal liability they at present carried in case of defalcations. Hon. Mr. Harcourt agreed that the system was a good one, and thought that perhaps the time had arrived when the department might take some action in the matter.

Bills Introduced.

Hon. Mr. Latchford introduced a bill amending the act respecting the granting of land to the Thunder Bay, Nepigon and St. Joe Railway. The bill gives power to the Government to grant land in Thunder Bay instead of Algoma. The lands are to be within 24 miles of the railway, instead of 18, and they must not be situated on the east side of the railway south of Lake Nepigon. This prevents the company from securing the water powers of the Nepigon River. The time for the commencement of the road is extended to April 1, 1905, and the completion to April 1, 1906, and the time for locating settlers on the lands is extended to 10 years from April 1, 1904, instead of 10 years from April 1, 1901.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt introduced a bill relating to the Toronto Board of Education.

A bill was introduced by the Provincial Secretary enabling county councils to enter into agreement with cities or towns for the extention of the water supply and sewerage system to Houses of Refuge, and to issue debentures for Houses of Refuge without obtaining the consent of the ratepayers.

Mr. Lee's bill to amend the Public Schools Act provides that cities and towns shall contribute to the salary of county board examiners, and another bill seeks to reduce the number of petit jurors empannelled to 36 instead of 48 as at present, except in York, Wentworth, Middlesex and Carlton Counties.

The time for introducing amendments to the Municipal Act expired on Friday. Mr. Duff had a bill of this nature, and Hon. Mr. Gibson suggested that its provisions be incorporated in other municipal act amendments before the House.

Dead Meat Industry.

The Premier informed Mr. Duff that the Government had no definite plan in regard to giving assistance towards the establishment of a dead meat industry, by bonus, or otherwise.

To Mr. Smyth (Algoma), the Commissioner of Public Works said the Government had received no petitions for grants for drainage in the Townships of Balfour and Rayside, and the Government was not considering the question of making any such grants.

The Attorney-General told Mr. Clark (Bruce) that the charter of the Vermillion Gold Mine in Denison Township was forfeited, but on cause being shown the forfeiture was cancelled, and the company is now selling the property. The mine was no longer regarded as an asset of the province.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt said, in reply to a question by Mr. Murphy, that classes in cooking and domestic science had not been discontinued at the Provincial Normal School at Ottawa, and that there was a room there properly equipped for the purpose.

The Government would introduce a bill relating to the revision of the fees of certain magistrates, the Attorney-General informed Mr. Hoyle.

In reply to Mr. Murphy, the Commissioner of Public Works said the Government was not aware that the Government of Quebec had granted a license for commercial fishing in Lake Temiskaming. He was advised by the Deputy Minister of Fisheries of Quebec that a license had been granted for fishing for local consumption, and that licenses for fishing for export had been refused. Since then the Government had impressed on the Provine of Quebec the undesirability of granting commercial licenses and had received no reply.

The Fires of Eczema.

So keen is the suffering of many people who endure the stinging, itching sensations of Eczema that they speak of the skin as being on fire. By its soothing, healing, antiseptic influence Dr. Chase's Ointment positively cures Eczema, Salt Rheum, and every form of itching skin disease. It is of inestimable value in every home, and when once introduced becomes a household necessity. Dr. Chase's Ointment is the standard the world over, and has no worthy rival.

116 May Be Burned.

Racine, Wis., Feb. 20.—Late last night the city authorities were notified that the County Insane Asylum, four miles from the city, was on fire, and, owing to the cold weather and lack of fire-fighting facilities, was in danger of being destroyed. It is said there are 116 inmates in the institution.

DEAD BY HER BEDSIDE.

Mrs. Cochrane Found Frozen Stiff in Her Lonely Hut.

Wiarton, Feb. 22.—What appears to be a case of death by freezing, or foul play, was discovered six miles west of here, at Oliphant, yesterday morning. An old lady named Mrs. Cochrane was found dead by her bedside, frozen stiff. For years the old lady has lived a secluded existence, in a little shanty in the woods. She was the possessor of a good bank account. The severity of the recent storm and her helplessness make it probable that she was the victim of the weather. There was no wood and little to eat in the house. An inquest will be held.

Rev. Mr. McLaren Badly Burned.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 22.—Serious disaster was averted by prompt action of church attenders at the Presbyterian Church service at Stonewall last evening. A lamp over the pulpit exploded and spread fire in all directions. The flames were extinguished, but not before the pastor, Rev. Mr. McLaran, was badly burned about the face and hands. The damage to property is slight.

Indians Ended a Feud.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 22.—The long-standing feud between the family of Roderick Thomas, a Hudson Bay fur trader, and the Indians about Lac du Hackett is ended. His body has been found, hacked to pieces, 600 miles north of here.

Every Available Inch of Floor Space Utilized Saturday.

From 10 a. m. till the time of closing Saturday night this store's largely reinforced staff were working shoulder to shoulder earnestly endeavouring to serve satisfactorily the multitudes of people who were waiting their turn patiently. Save for a few moments around the evening eating hour this store was literally thronged all day—and why?

Values (if you dislike the word Bargain) caused the "extra push" of business, and will continue to repeat Saturday's experience every day this week.

As mentioned before the lines are too numerous for all to get a showing at one time—too numerous for all to get a show in the circular—new lines are shown each day.

EVIDENCES OF A SEA ENGAGEMENT.

Indications That Vladivostock Squadron is Out of the Ice.

NAVAL BATTLE NOT UNLIKELY.

Russian Battleship and Four Torpedo Boat Destroyers on the Watch For Japanese Merchantmen—Chased a British Steamer 460 Miles North of Aden—Russian Gunboat at Shanghai Must Leave.

Tokio, Feb. 22.—A telegram from Matsuye, a fortified town of south-western Japan, reports that cannonading was heard on Saturday morning off Minamisaki, on the northern part of the Shimane Peninsula.

The crew of the Japanese steamer Tamagawayaru, which has arrived at Shimonoseki, reports that she was followed seven miles off Fusan, Corea, by four warships. The latter abandoned the chase near Tsushima Island, midway between Shimonoseki and Fusan.

Naval Engagement Not Unlikely.

Four Russian warships that were at Vladivostock when the war started cut their way out of the ice there, and have previously been reported as threatening the northern coast of Japan. Once they were falsely reported sunk by the Japanese. If they are now off the south coast of Japan, as indicated in the above despatch, they are a menace to the Japanese transports carrying the big army to Corea, though the latter are probably convoyed by a strong squadron of warships. A naval engagement is therefore not unlikely.

Watching For Japs.

Aden, Feb. 22.—The Peninsula & Oriental Company's steamer Mongolia encountered at noon on Saturday, 460 miles north of Aden, a Russian battleship and four torpedo boat destroyers. After the vain attempt of a destroyer to cut off the Mongolia, all the warships gave chase, but, being unable to overtake her, they signalled her to stop. The Mongolia obeyed and a destroyer, after a close scrutiny, signalled "Beg to be excused." The fleet is evidently hoping to capture Japanese ships.

Japs Absent Port Arthur.

Port Arthur, Feb. 22.—Sounds of desultory firing at sea are heard almost nightly, and yesterday morning firing was again heard. This is doubtless due to the attempted approach of Japanese torpedo boats, but nothing serious has developed. The garrison is in excellent spirits and is firmly convinced of the ultimate success of the Russian arms.

The Novikrai prints a long article invoking historical precedents to prove the illegality of the Japanese declaration that coal and victuals will in cases be treated as contraband of war. The paper describes Japan's attitude as barefaced presumption and urges the neutral powers to disregard and not to refuse to supply belligerent ships with coal to carry them to their nearest home port.

It follows, therefore, The Novikrai says, that the British Government should allow Russian ships at Singapore to take on sufficient coal to enable them to reach Port Arthur.

Based Within 2 Months.

Che Foo, Feb. 22.—The Russian military authorities are pouring troops into Port Arthur as fast as possible. All non-combatants are leaving, and every preparation is being made for a protracted seige. Nothing has transpired anent the Japanese movements, but high officers declare Port Arthur will be taken within two months. Reliable information as to their plan of campaign cannot be obtained, but the greatest activity prevails.

To Defend Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 22.—A despatch from Port Arthur announces that, by order of Viceroy Alexieff, an irregular volunteer corps is being raised to defend that fortress. The men will be provided by the state with arms, rations and the necessary clothing. It is thought, the despatch adds, that Japan regards foodstuffs consigned to Port Arthur as absolute contraband of war, and that she will undertake the capitulation of Port Arthur by a siege.

Czar to Take Command.

Rome, Feb. 22.—According to The Agenzia Libera, the Czar will go to the Far East at the beginning of spring, to take command of the army.

Wireless Called Back.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 22.—The report that Admiral Wirenius, who, with his squadron has been awaiting orders at Jibutil French Somaliland, had been instructed to abandon his voyage to the Far East is confirmed. The squadron will probably return to the Baltic.

Five New Russian Warships.

Berlin, Feb. 22.—The five new Russian battleships which have been in course of construction for some years have now been completed, and are ready for sea. They will comprise part of the new squadron which is being organized for the Far East and is to sail whenever the necessary arrangements are completed.

Russian Gunboat Not Wanted.

Shanghai, Feb. 22.—Urged by the Japanese consul here The Taotai ordered the Russian gunboat Mandajur to leave the harbor before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but the order was ignored. It is reported that a Chinese squadron has been ordered here to enforce The Taotai's demand and to enable Japanese steamship companies to resume service between Japan and Shanghai.

Japs Seize Russian Steamer.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 22.—A Russian correspondent of the Associated Press at Port Arthur reports that the steamer Shilka left Vladivostock, Feb. 3, and arrived at Tsushima (a Japanese island northwest of Nagasaki), Feb. 6. Here the steamer was seized, and, without explanation, taken to Nagasaki Bay.

Ships Pass in the Night.

Island of Perim, Red Sea, Feb. 22.—A squadron of warships passed here at midnight Friday, bound for Suez. It was believed to be the Russian squadron recently at Jibutil, French Somaliland.

The French Squadron.

Brest, France, Feb. 22.—The torpedo boat destroyers Pistolet and Javelin will leave here for Algiers on Wednesday to join the destroyers Mousequet and Frande and the cruiser d'Assas. All the warships will then proceed to the Far East.

COULDN'T SAVE THEMSELVES.

Two Men Die in Brave Attempts to Save Others.

Ithaca, N.Y., Feb. 22.—In a brave attempt to save the life of Ames G. Allen of Chicago, with whom he was skating on Cayuga Lake, Louis T. Dickinson of New York City, a senior in the college of law at Cornell, lost his life yesterday. The two young men had skated as far as Atwater, 18 miles north of Ithaca, when Allen broke through the ice. While attempting to pull him out Dickinson fell in and sank. Allen was dragged ashore after having been in the water more than half an hour.

Gave His Life For Another.

New York, Feb. 22.—William Mara, a member of the cadet battalion of St. Bartholomew's parish, lost his life yesterday while rescuing women from a fire at a boarding house in East 61st street. When there was a call for help the young man was in uniform and dashed into the house and carried out a young Roman. He died of suffocation. Many women in a hysterical condition or overcome by smoke were rescued from the house. The property loss was small.

Panama's Cabinet.

Panama, Feb. 22.—President Amador has appointed the following Cabinet:

Minister of Government and Foreign relations, Thomas Arias, Conservative; Minister of Justice and Public Instruction, Julio Fabregan, Conservative; Minister of Finance, Francisco Espriella, Liberal; Minister of Public Works, Manuel Quintero, Liberal.

Dr. Amador was inaugurated first President of the Republic of old Panama Saturday afternoon before the National Constitutional Convention.

Admits Stuffing Ballot Box.

Toronto, Feb. 22.—Sam Thompson has made a confession. In it he admits stuffing the ballot box, but says he was not paid for it. Wrong acts were done out of friendship, and he has resigned from secretaryship of Conservative Association.

500 Albanians Killed.

Salonica, Feb. 22.—Another battle occurred between the insurgant Albanians in North Albania and Turkish troops, Feb. 18. The Albanians were beaten; 500 men were killed or wounded. The Turks also lost heavily.

Died at Berlin.

Berlin, Feb. 22.—Mrs. Elizabeth Harriett Moyer, relict of the late P. E. W. Moyer, editor of The Berlin Daily News, died at her residence, "The Retreat," here yesterday afternoon, aged 59. The deceased was born in Toronto and was the eldest daughter of the late Ald. William Ardagh of that city, who died in 1881. W. A. E. Moyer, of The St. Catharines Journal, is a son.

Big Fire at Woodstock.

Woodstock, Feb. 22.—At about 8 o'clock yesterday, fire was discovered in the store owned by Mrs. Kendall, and occupied by J. O. Trotter, clothier. Before the fire could be subdued the store and its contents were completely destroyed. Total loss on stock estimated at $19,000, insurance, $7,000; loss on building as yet unknown, insurance, $5,000.

Dr. Jameson Succeeds.

Cape Town, Feb. 22.—Dr. Jameson has succeeded in completing a Cabinet.

CHINESE NEUTRALITY IS BUT TEMPORARY.

30,000 Chinese Troops Ready to Enter Manchurin at any Minute.

JAPANESE EXPECT NAVAL BATTLE.

Reported Reverse of Russians not Credited by Japanese Minister —Japan May Defer Manchurin Operations.

RUSSIAN REVERSE NOT CREDITED.

London, Feb. 22.—The Japanese Minister here, Baron Hayashi, does not credit the report that 2,500 Russians have been killed in an outpost engagement at the Yalu River, he says there is no Japanese force in that vicinity large enough to inflict such a loss. The only naval development Baron Hayashi expects in the near future is a possible attack on the Japanese fleet by the powerful Russian torpedo Flotilla at Port Arthur and hitherto unused.

TEMPORARY CHINESE NEUTRALITY.

New York, Feb. 22. — The Chinese minister here says a cable from Berlin has proclaimed that China's neutrality is only temporary, and that the Chinese Government may any day decide that its continued neutrality is neither possible nor desirable. The Minister adds: "Thirty thousand well drilled troops are stationed in the province of Chili ready at a moment's notice from Pekin to enter Manchuria. Our nation admires the Japanese and sympathises decidedly with their efforts."

JAPAN MAY DELAY MANCHURIAN OPERATIONS.

London, Feb. 22. — The latest advices of Baron Hay-ashi lead him to believe that the Japanese troops may now wait possibly two or three months before undertaking aggressive operations in Manchuria.

See page eight for earlier despatches.

A WAR DESPATCH.

(Special to the Sky-Scraper.)

Paris, February 28th. — A despatch from Timbucton, via Zanzibar, states that St. Petersburg is in flames; that fifteen Japanese torpedo boats are attacking Moscow, that the Czar had been captured by Napoleon and is being conveyed to St. Helene via the Sault Ste. Marie Canal. It is also stated that the Russians have retreated from Port Arthur and Fort William, and are now strongly entrenched near Tikutsk; that a force of 100,000 Japanese are in possession of Tobolsk; and that they have freed the Siberian prisoners, who are now ravaging the country with great ferocity. It is stated that Admiral Alexcapeovitch, in charge of the Russian squadron at Vladivostok has determined that if the Japanese advance in his direction he will execute a brilliant strategic movement via the North Pole, drawing his battleships with him over the ice, and following this action will fall back upon Archangel. On the other hand it is said the Japanese are about to place in commission a new type of cruiser, which can progress on either land, water or ice at marvellous speed, and with these vessels in pursuit Alexcapeovitch can have but little hope of escape. On all hands it is admitted that the Russians are on their last legs, and that if the Japanese Port Arthur fleet can effect a junction with the flying squadron at Black Rock, and the coaling vessels now in the Crow's Nest Pass, the war is as good as finished.

MAIL AND EMPIRE WAR NEWS.

People who wish to be posted on the progress of the Japanese-Russian War should subscribe for the Toronto Mail and Empire, which will cover the field with the same thoroughness that witnessed its handling of the Spanish American and Boer Wars. Not only will the Mail and Empire be served by the Laffan Bureau and the Associated Press, but it will publish the cables of the special correspondents of the London Times, London Daily Mail, and the Paris Edition of the New York Herald.—Advt.

NEWS OF TO-DAY.

An Index to Prominent Paragraphs in this Issue.

Local news will be found to-day and every day on the second and third pages, upon which matter as interesting as that in any part of the paper appears.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Doran took place this afternoon.

An engagement is expected off Port Arthur at any time now.

Sermons were preached last night by local clergymen to young men at the request of the Y.M.C.A.

A Japanese Minister has given his opinion that the reported defeat and destruction of 2500 Russians is not correct.

At the Brock street rink on Saturday night the C.G.E. "Works" defeated the "Office" staff in a game of hockey, the score being 10—3.

Mr. R. B. Rogers delivered a most instructive lecture on the "Pulp Industry of Canada," in the Y.M.C.A. Hall Saturday. The lecture was illustrated by limelight views.

A fire occurred in Lakefield this morning early, by which the bake shop and grocery store belonging to Mr. Northey, were destroyed. The residence was also damaged, but by hard work the brigade saved it from destruction. The loss will be $1500.

The Chinese attitude of neutrality in the East is believed to be but temporary, and at any minute 30,000 troops are ready to march into Manchuria.

OUR TIMBER WEALTH.

The most important source of provincial revenue is the exploitation of our provincial forest resources. Since confederation there have thus come into the coffers of the province nearly 30 millions of dollars, which have been expended in services giving the splendid public buildings we now possess and in services contributing to the advantage and welfare of the people. All these years the revenue from our forest resources has stood between the people and a direct levy of taxes for the services now carried on by the aid of provincial funds; and the contrast of the manner in which Ontario has dealt with its timber wealth and the manner in which the neighbouring State of Michigan, is instructive. Michigan began with areas of forest wealth equal in importance and productivity those of Ontario. Now Michigan's pine is gone as a source of revenue or even industrial operations. And the people of that State have to pay direct taxes for services which in Ontario are largely maintained with provincial funds, largely derived from our timber resources. The contrast is possible, because in one case — Michigan—the pine timber has been wastefully dealt with, while in this province the forest domain has been carefully handled. The best of prices have been obtained and measures adopted to prevent destruction by forest fires and additional measures have been adopted by setting apart forest reserves. These reserves, including the latest set apart —the Misaissauga reserve, of 3,000 square miles—now amout to 9,000 square miles or 5,760,000 acres. On these reserves the arrangement proposed is to cut only the matured timber and under such conditions as will lead to the least danger of forest fires, and permit the growing timber to stand, by which means the increase by growth over these five and a half million acres will amount in the aggregate to many millions of square feet.

Years ago, and year after year, the Opposition pessimists have declared that our pine timber was gone. According to them, every timber sale was the last; there was no more timber to sell. Yet the last sale was the most successful ever held in the province, the sum secured as bonus being the largest in the history of the province. And we have yet ten billion feet of white pine still unsold, and even at the rate of the last sale this would realize at least 75 million dollars in bonuses alone, not counting timber dues, which at the advanced rate of $2.00 per thousand, would yield at least 20 millions more, which added to the dues from past sales, which will amount to about $800,000 for years to come, give us a very tidy prospective revenue from our crown timber. Then we have an estimated total of three hundred million cords of pulp wood, which at even half the present price of forty cents per cord, is good for sixty millions more. We have besides an immense amount of hard wood in our Crown lands, which is in constant and growing demand in the manufacture of furniture and other articles, and this can be made a fruitful source of revenue, for since 1887 hard wood has been exempted from cutting.

Looking over the field of our present resources in their relation to revenue, it can be seen that they afford prospects of yielding a princely permanent income for two or three generations to come, that is, if the same careful policy of conservation is carried out. On our forest reserves, consisting of cut-over lands, a new crop, equal in value to the original growth, will be available in another fifty years.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL MEETING.

The Township Legislators Transacted Considerable Business.

The second regular meeting of the council of the Township of North Monaghan was held in the town hall on Monday, February 8th, 1903 at 1.30 p.m. All the members were present, the Reeve, Jos. Madill, Esq., presiding. Owing to the absence of the clerk, the reading of the minutes was deferred until the next meeting. A communication having been presented, asking the council to have the extension of the fourth line through the seventh concession opened to the River Otonabee, it was, on motion of Messrs. Brown and Fowler, referred for further investigation with a view of having the regular steps taken to have the said road opened for public traffic. Moved by Messrs. Morrow and Fowler, that a committee consisting of the reeve and Messrs. Brown and Smith wait upon the Hon. J. R. Stratton in regard to having a grant from the provincial government to expend upon the highways in the Township of North Monaghan. This was carried. On motion council then adjourned until Saturday, 13th at 1.30 p. m., to meet in Peterborough.

Saturday, Feb 13.—The adjourned meeting of the council of North Monaghan was held to-day in Peterborough. There were present Mr. Jos. Madill, reeve, and Messrs. Smith, Morrow and Fowler, councillors.

The minutes of the meeting of January 11th were read and confirmed. Accounts were presented as follows:—Peterborough Examiner, balance of printing account, 1903, $4.00; P. Connat & Co., 100 lbs. flour for the Close family, $2.00. These accounts were passed and ordered paid. The clerk presented a return of the result of the vote taken on January 15,1904 on the by-law to fix the assessment of the Peterborough Sugar Company's property at the sum of $10,000 for a term of 20 years, as follows: Polling subdivision No 1— Votes for, 59; against, 4. Polling subdivision No 2, votes for, 33; against, 1; majority for the by-law, 87. The total number of qualified ratepayers was 240. This return was received and ordered to be fyled. A communication was received from F. Brownscombe, treasurer of the Town of Peterborough, showing that the sums of $12.60 for repairs to culvert equivalent, and $17.70 for gravel, in all $30.30, had been paid by him to the treasurer of North Monaghan in 1903. This was received and ordered to be handed the township auditors for 1903. The clerk fyled a receipt from the treasurer of the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto acknowledging the receipt of the donation of $5.00. This was fyled. The committee appointed to repair the bridges in Road Division No 1, reported having done so and presented accounts for the same as follows: Yelland Bridge, $29.25; Dunlop Bridge, $5; Payne Bridge, $7; total, $41.25, and as this amount had been paid by cheque from Road Commissioner of Road District No. 1, in 1903, the Commissioner recommended that the amount be credited to the Commutation Account against Road District No. 1 in 1904. Their report was, on motion of Messrs Smith and Fowler, received and adopted. The clerk reported having received a communication from Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson, asking to have the Peterborough Radial Railway Franchise by-law finally passed at the next regular meeting of the council and stating that the necessary notice to the ratepayers of the passing of this by-law had been published according to law. This was received and, on motion of Messrs Morrow and Smith, the request was granted. On motion, By-law No. 536, "A By-law to Authorize the Reeve and Treasurer of the Township to Borrow Sum or Sums of Money to Meet the Current Expenditures for 1904," was then introduced, given the necessary readings and passed, signed and sealed. The clerk was then instructed to notify the auditors of accounts of 1903 to complete the work and report forthwith.

The council then adjourned until the next regular meeting on Monday, March 14th, 1904 at 1.30 p. m., in the Town Hall.

THE BREEDING OF SHEEP.

Practical Suggestions by the Department of Agriculture

Canada Particularly Suited for Developing an Immense an Immense Sheep Raising Industry.

That there is room in Canada for an immense development of the sheep-raising industry will readily be admitted. In this country we are almost entirely free from the ravages of those diseases which interfere so seriously with the profits of the sheep grower in some other lands. Then, too, we grow in abundance nearly all the foods best suited for feeding sheep. We have excellent pastures in summer, and with rape and turnips there is no lack of succulent food for fall and winter. Where clover hay and pea straw are not available, some other suitable roughage can usually be found. Oats and bran are everywhere convenient grain feeds, while peas and beans may also be provided in many localities. Unfortunately, too, we have in nearly all parts of Canada an abundance of weeds, which may partially be kept in check by maintaining large flocks of sheep. It is said that 85 per cent. of our common weeds are readily eaten by sheep, and consequently we find, as a general rule, that a sheep farm is a clean farm.

Sheep-breeders, like all other live stock growers, should start out with some definite aim in view. In Canada this will doubtless be the production of mutton for the home and foreign markets, with wool growing merely as a side line. The breed chosen should be one adapted to the purpose in view, as well as the one for which the farmer has a liking. In addition to this, it must be a breed suited to the conditions of soil and climate prevailing in the locality. As a general rule the heavier breeds do best on somewhat low lying or level land, while the lighter breeds prefer upland or even mountainous country. These characteristics are largely due to the nature of the soil in the district where each breed originated, as has been shown by Mr. Primrose McConnell, in his excellent work on Agricultural Geology. If a purebred stock is to be kept the farmer should choose a popular breed or one gaining in popularity, in order to be reasonably sure of a demand for his stock. Whether the flock be purebred or grade a knowledge of the anatomy of the sheep, and of the methods of treating common disorders of sheep will prove of decided value to the owner.
